Mrs. Freer, Swingle Take New Positions On Executive Body; Election Dec. 4

By Merrell W. Whittlesley

The nominating committee of the District Women's Golf Association yesterday cast a unanimous preference for Mrs. Walter L. Weible as president for a second term and included as vice presidents Mrs. Frank H. Kramer and Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts in the slate for another year.

The committee, consisting of representatives of 12 of the 13 member clubs (Belle Haven MRS. WEIBLE was absent) met at the home of Chairman Mrs. Theodore Peyser and in replacements for the secretary and treasurer positions nominated Mrs. Gorham Freer and Mrs. E. A. Swingle, respectively.

Mrs. Freer, of Washington Golf and Country Club, succeeds Mrs. H. J. Cooper, Kenwood, resigned, and Mrs. Swingle succeeds Mrs. P. J. Winkler, Congressional.

Although additional nominations are permitted before the annual meeting, December 4, at a club to be named, the above nominations will undoubtedly receive a unanimous vote from the floor.

Favorite Ideas

Mrs. Weible will attempt to carry out three of her favorite ideas in the coming year, she said last night, that of getting a local club to make a bid for the Women's National Championship; having all courses remeasured for correct yardage, and installing a handicapping system for better team play with strokes.

Mrs. Weible, of Kenwood; Mrs. Kramer, former tournament chairman from Manor Country Club, and Mrs. Letts, who captained the champion Chevy Chase team in 1940, all served as officers for the first time in 1940. Mrs. Letts is a former Washington Post Cup champion.

Mrs. Weible will hold the first meeting in mid-January, following the annual meeting and election, a fixture on the first Thursday in December.

The nominating committee dispensed with the business at hand in short order without any opposition for the entire slate, Mrs. Peyser announced. Those attending were: Army and Navy, Mrs. W. F. Sadler; Argyle, Mrs. Ed Widmayer; Beaver Dam, Mrs. Edgar Heimer; Bannockburn, Mrs. Allen Laing; Chevy Chase, Mrs. Landra Platt; Columbia, Mrs. William Hall; Congressional, Mrs. F. G. Awall; Indian Spring, Mrs. W. F. Patterson; Kenwood, Mrs. J. C. Dale; Manor, Mrs. W. M. Baker; Washington, Mrs. R. E. Hotze, and Woodmont, Mrs. Peyser.

Weible Slate Takes Office

Links Women Induct Officers for 1942

The entire slate headed by Mrs. Walter L. Weible of Army and Navy and Kenwood Country Club was officially inducted into office yesterday at the nineteenth annual Women's District Golf Association luncheon-meeting at the Army War College Officers Club.

Mrs. Weible, in her presidential acceptance speech, stressed sportsmanship and more friendly relations among the feminine golfers and also said she thought the present high costs would affect the association's tournament entries next year. Mrs. Helen Hicks Harb, the former women's champion, who now resides in Washington, also spoke to the club delegates and in her talk warned the girls to turn in their good scores for handicap ratings instead of talking about them.

Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, of Indian Spring Country Club, first vice-president, and Second Vice-president Mrs. F. D. Letts, of Chevy Chase Club, were the only other holdovers on the slate put up by the executive committee. New appointments were Mrs. Gorham Freer, of Washington, to succeed Mrs. H. J. Cooper, of Kenwood as secretary, and Mrs. E. A. Swingle, of Congressional, to succeed Mrs. P. J. Winkler, a clubmate, as treasurer.

Mrs. Weible said after the meeting she expected that most of her chairmen of various committees would remain in office.

Women Golfers Will Re-elect Mrs. Weible and Assistants

Dr. Paul M. Stewart Named Golf Chairman At Columbia for Fourth Straight Term

BY WALTER McCALLUM.

Women golfers of the town, anxious to start working for 1942, will install new officers December 4. For the first time in the 17-year history of the Women's District Golf Association, the annual meeting will be held at a spot other than a country club.

The meeting will be held at the Officers' Club at the Army War College, at 12:30 p.m. December 4. Mrs. Walter L. Weible of Kenwood again will be chosen president of the association, with Mrs. F. H. Kramer of Manor and Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts of Chevy Chase slated to be re-elected vice presidents.

Usual custom of the women has been to gather at one of the country clubs. Mrs. Weible, however, has other ideas. She has moved the annual meeting to the War College Officers' Club, which used to be the gathering point for the newspapermen at the old Cleland Cup tournaments. Mrs. Weible's husband is an Army officer.

Among the speakers at the annual meeting may be Helen Hicks Harb, the former national women's champion, who now is making her home in Washington. Mrs. Weible will ask Mrs. Harb to speak informally to the women at the annual luncheon meeting. Reservations for the luncheon will be taken up to December 1 by Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association, at Chestnut 8431.

D. C. Women Golfers Will Draw Schedule Disregarding War

Will Card Major Events And Then Curtail Plans If It Is Necessary

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Feminine golfers of Washington will proceed with compilation of their normal schedule, although they do not yet know how far the war may affect their 1942 season.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, announced today that the executive committee will meet at Kenwood January 15 to take initial steps toward lining up the major tournaments for 1942. Mrs. Weible is closely associated with the military. Her husband is a lieutenant colonel in the Army. But she has no true idea how war will affect the feminine links schedule next year and in the lack of definite knowledge will ask her executive committee to proceed as if a normal year was coming up.

Tournaments To Be Scheduled.

"None of us know now what will happen in 1942," said the feminine prexy. "Many golfers may go into Red Cross work or into other war activity. There may be a complete blackout of all golf. Just now we do not know what will happen, and probably we won't know until spring, and our tournaments actually start. But meanwhile we will go on with our preliminary steps as if the coming season was to be a normal one."

Meanwhile Mrs. Weible, who already has reappointed Mrs. P. W. Rutledge to the important post of tournament chairman for the links-women, is looking for two experienced and capable executives to handle handicaps for classes A and B next year. She considers (naturally) the job of handicap chairman among the more important posts within the association. She served as handicap chairman for a year before she was elevated to the presidency.

"Handicaps have become one of the more important parts of our work," she said. "It is important that experienced women fill the posts of handicap chairmen, women with ability and knowledge. I have several in mind, but the appointments won't be made right away."

Mrs. Weible said that if budget book sales do not justify the diversion of considerable prize money the tournament list may be reduced to the major affairs in 1942. This would mean the championships and a few of the larger affairs.

Leading Woman Pros To Exhibit Skill in Exhibition Here

Opening event of the feminine golf season around Washington outside of the regular tournament schedule will be an exhibition match featuring four nationally known woman professionals. Three of them, under plans now being worked out by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, prexy of the Women's Golf Association, will be Helen Hicks Harb, 1931 national champion, now living in Washington; Patty Berg, the Minneapolis red head, who won the national title in 1938, and Helen Dettweiler, Washington girl who turned pro golfer three years ago.

Patty Berg and Helen Dettweiler appeared at Kenwood last year in an exhibition match staged by the women, which also included District men's champion Ralph Bogart, and Roger Peacock.

Mrs. Weible plans several more exhibition matches during the season, some of them to raise funds for Army Relief, Navy Relief, Red Cross the United Service organizations.

Feminine golfers of the town had before them today a picture of a successful administration of the Women's District Golf Association, a little disappointed because no moves have been made to bring the national women's champion here, but one which has seen the growth of the organization continued, with larger tournaments fields than ever before and an administration which in all its essential elements will function again in 1942.

The 1941 president and two vice presidents have been re-elected and the tournament chairman has been retained for 1942. Chosen yesterday at the annual meeting of the Women's District Golf Association at the Officers' Club of the Army War College were the following officers: President, Mrs. Walter L. Weible, Kenwood and Army-Navy; first vice president, Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, Indian Spring; second vice president, Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, Chevy Chase; secretary, Mrs. Gorham Freer, Washington; treasurer, Mrs. E. A. Swingle, Congressional.

Mrs. Rutledge Renamed.

First move of Mrs. Weible was the reappointment of Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, her tournament chairman for the last half of 1941. One of the first questions to come up at the initial Executive Committee meeting in January will be a proposed revision of the team match method, suggested by Mrs. Theodore Peyser of Woodmont. The Peyser plan would modify the present team-match method in some important details, while retaining the handicap features and would provide a fall schedule for the championship of Washington without handicap.

"I have been very much disappointed that no club here has come forward with a request for the women's national championship," Mrs. Weible declared in accepting the presidency again for the second year. "Some people said it is too hot in Washington. The tournament will be held next year at Tulsa, Okla., which happens to be a hot place. So I don't believe the heat argument will hold water."

"Again I ask for only constructive criticism next year. I am sure we will all pull together for better sportsmanship, good fellowship and the fun in golf."

Mrs. Harb Is Speaker.

Helen Hicks Harb, the 1931 national women's champion, made a gracious little talk. With all the savoir faire of an experienced speaker Helen told the 91 women gathered at the luncheon that she is a newcomer to Washington, but from her experience has found all golfers and all links organizations have common problems.

"I think we should hold sportsmanship as our ideal," said Helen. "If we don't have sportsmanship we lose the essential part of the grand game of golf. We should all see that handicaps are properly adjusted and that all scores made and recorded are turned in for handicaps." Helen Hicks is an accomplished talker. She made a very favorable impression on the women golfers, and was the Hon of the hour.

Feature of the committee chairmen reports was the compilation made by Mrs. Rutledge, who said that 1,323 golfers entered the dozen tournaments staged in 1941 by the association. Other reports were made by Mrs. I. E. Peterson of Kenwood, class A handicap chairman; Mrs. E. A. Swingle of Congressional, class B handicap chairman; Mrs. P. J. Winkler, retiring treasurer; Mrs. Edward Widmayer, prize chairman, and Mrs. Walter D. Barkdull, year book chairman.

Golf Body to Discuss Team Match Policy At First Session

Tournament Sponsorship, Nature of Prizes Also Will Be Debated

By WALTER McCALLUM.

There isn't any secret about the fact that the gals, banded together in one association, produce more activity throughout the season than any single men's organization in this neighborhood. But they will have three problems before them tomorrow.

There is a disposition to change the team match schedule by spreading the team schedule throughout the year and in some quarters the women want the matches abandoned entirely, on the claim that so many women will be busy in war work they won't have time for team matches.

Debate Over Prizes.

Talk also crops up about eliminating from the schedule those tournaments which do not have current sponsors; that is, those which do not have money or prizes furnished.

The other angle concerns the kind of prizes in the 1942 tours. Many of the women favor prizes in Defense bonds or stamps. Others want to keep on with distribution of the dinky little prizes of previous years, on the theory that when a competitor wins a prize it should be something tangible, even though not necessarily valuable in terms of money.

Nowhere along the line of future probabilities has there been disposition among the women to abandon their long-built-up tournament schedule and the summer of 1942 undoubtedly will find them doing business at the old stand, the country clubs around town. Tomorrow's meeting will cover the broad phases of policy in view of changed conditions. Arrangement of a tournament schedule will come later.

Travel Problem Intrudes.

Looming large behind the entire setup is the transportation problem. "I think we should eliminate insofar as possible a lot of the needless traveling we have done in past years," said Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association. "We should arrange a slate which will require the minimum of traveling. That may mean spreading the team matches over the entire season, or even their cancellation."

Another major consideration will be that old problem child—handicaps. The women want to do something about them, probably by lowering the par ratings of the local courses, which would have the effect of raising handicaps. But there's division among some of the lower-handicapped competitors on this point, too, some claiming a low handicap is a mark of distinction while others say present handicaps are too low by comparison with handicaps in other feminine golf centers.

W.D.G.A. Approves Full Tournament Schedule

Officers Drop Only Duffer Cup, Corby Matches

Women to Give Part Of Entry Fees to Service Charities

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

The Corby and the Duffer Cup tournaments will be dropped from the Women's District Golf Association schedule for 1942 but otherwise the usual extensive tournament schedule will be played. This was decided yesterday at a meeting at Kenwood Golf and Country Club attended by President Mrs. Walter L. Weible, the executive committee and delegates from the various member clubs.

This came as a surprise as it has been announced earlier in the year that not only the unsponsored Corby and Duffer tournaments would be dropped but the annual team match championships as well. But the chairmen of the various golf club committees decided that the team matches were to be included in the regular tournament schedule.

Lauds Lady-Pro Golf

Last year's schedule listed 13 tournaments but the decision of the delegates to eliminate only two reduces the number of events to 11. That list, of course, will include the annual women's District Championship.

Mrs. Weible told the delegates that the most important thing about this year's tournaments was that they would have to be played at courses easily accessible by bus in case of a curtailment in the use of automobiles. She also said that she intended to set aside a percentage of entry fees from each tournament and that the monies so received would be turned over to the U.S.O. and Army and Navy Relief Societies.

Because of the success of last year's Lady-Pro tournament, Mrs. Weible told delegates that she thought the association should donate $50 toward the professional prizes. She also suggested that the tournament campaign begin a little later than usual this year because of the existing caddy shortage.

Another suggestion of Mr. Weible's was that nothing definite be done about the inter-city team matches with Baltimore until next month's meeting, at which time all of the president's suggestions will be officially passed upon. Should the inter-city matches become a part of the regular schedule, Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia will be named to captain the locals.

Mrs. Brantley Honored

Mrs. J. P. Brantley of Kenwood was appointed class B handicap chairman to succeed Mrs. E. A. Swingle of Congressional, while Mrs. Frederick Evans of Kenwood was named to a similar post in class A. The new handicap chairmen were instructed that their duties would include using exceptional scores of feminine golfers published in newspapers but not reported to the handicap committee.

Mrs. Carter Magruder of Army and Navy was appointed to take the place of Mrs. Paul W. Rutledge of the same club as tournament chairman, while Mrs. Rutledge was assigned, at her own suggestion, as assistant tournament chairman. The only other appointment announced was that of Mrs. Theodore Peyser of Woodmont as team chairman.

Attending yesterday's meeting were:

President Weible, Vice President Mrs. F. W. Kramer, of Indian Spring; Second Vice President Mrs. F. D. Lettis, of Chevy Chase; Mrs. E. A. Swingle, Congressional treasurer, and Mrs. Gorham Freer, Washington, secretary. Delegates were Mrs. G. E. Horner, Argyle; Mrs. W. F. Sadler, Army and Navy; Mrs. Ralph Buyers, Prince Georges; Mrs. N. F. Hollander, Bannockburn; Mrs. L. E. Platt, Chevy Chase; Mrs. F. G. Awalt, Congressional; Mrs. W. F. Peterson, Indian Spring; Mrs. I. E. Peterson, Kenwood; Mrs. James Hill Jr., Manor, and Mrs. S. C. Hopkins, Washington.

Women Are Avoiding Winter Rules With Late Golf Start

First Tourneys in May; Association Will Hold Session February 11

By WALTER McCALLUM

Woman golfers of Washington who heretofore have gotten their schedule under way in April's showers, won't start their competition this year until mid-May. The women will meet at Kenwood February 11 to take final action on several matters referred back to the clubs by the meeting held last month. These include a cash fund for the woman-pro tournament; payment of professionals who aid in running tournaments of the Women's District Golf Association; prize distribution in all feminine tournaments in Defense bonds and stamps, and a cut of the entry fees for war relief purposes.

Winter Rules Big Objection

Because of the spreading of inter-club team matches throughout the entire season, and for another reason, the girls won't start their competition until weeks after the normal starting time of other years. Last year the Keeler Cup tourney was played at Washington on April 21, and the team matches started four days later. But the team tourneys, which were cleaned up last year in two months, will run for more than four months this year, and won't start so early.

Main objection to the previous early start, however, is based on the winter rule situation. Mrs. Walter L. Weible, feminine prexy, who is a stickler for adherence to the rules, says that competition under winter rules means little, and that scores made under winter rules mean less. Course conditions in April, she says, may make winter rules necessary, and she would have the opening of the season put back to May so regular rules will be in force for all tournaments.

Belittles Winter Rule Scores

"Scores made under winter rules mean little," says Mrs. Weible. "When you tee the ball you wipe out the rules of the game. Possibly winter rules will lower the average score by several strokes. I rather would have the tournaments start later and have all of them played under regular rules." Last year the Keeler and Keefe Cup tourneys, at Washington and Chevy Chase, were played in April, under winter rules.

Probably three woman-pro tourneys will be played this year, with several groups of women rated according to handicaps, competing with the professionals. Bob Barnett has suggested the change, in view of the wish of the women to play in these tourneys. He has proposed that women in the 1-12 handicap group play in one woman tourney; those in the 13-18 group in another and those with higher handicaps in another. This type of tournament has been popular with the women for several years.

Junior Girls' Trophy Returned to Awards For Linkswomen

Last Played For in 1935, It Will Be at Stake In Association Event

Women golfers around town will have another cup in competition next year, further increasing the imposing list of silver mugs for which the fair golfers play every year.

The cup is the Junior Girls' Championship Trophy, and it isn't a new one. It was presented to the Women's District Golf Association eight years ago by Mrs. Morris Simon and only thrice has been won. Last winner was Helen Dettweiler in 1935. Where it has been since and why a junior girls' tournament hasn't been played is a mystery.

But Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, says the organization will schedule a junior girls' tourney next year. She happens to be a valiant booster for junior girls' golf and would seek the co-operation of the local pros in mass lessons for instruction of college girls.

"Such class lessons," says Mrs. Weible, "would be the biggest spur for promotion of golf among the younger women we ever have had around Washington. We do not have enough young golfers coming along. Almost all our better players are past the youngster stage. And the girls would turn out for a series of class lessons. I know of two local colleges where large classes of students will come out for lessons if the professionals will work with us." She probably won't find any opposition from the pros, who want to see the game progress.

The feminine association prexy sees in the coming of Helen Hicks Harb to Washington a lift along the road to better golf. Although Helen will not be a competitor in the women's tournaments she will be playing next year in friendly matches at all the clubs. Her husband probably will join Congressional. Helen has been a top-notch competitor for many years.

"Many of our golfers will watch Mrs. Harb with benefit to themselves," said Mrs. Weible.

Fair Sex Golf Tests Here to Cost $1 For Each Affair

Elimination of the usual budget book sale this year, as recommended by the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association, will raise the cost of feminine golf if the women O. K. the proposal to charge a straight fee of $1 a tournament. Budget books cost $4 for the past several years, and not only assured the association of a certain income, but reduced the cost of each tournament. Entrants who did not buy budget books paid $1 for each tourney in which they played last year. Mrs. Walter Weible, president, said 11 tournaments will be on the schedule this year.

The girls apparently are more concerned about caddies and the tire shortage than the cost of golf. Already they have proposed a late start, preferably in June, for their tourneys, to be sure of plenty of caddies from the schoolboy ranks, and they are planning to double up on transportation as well as assigning their big tournaments to clubs which can be reached by bus.

Women's Golf Association Picks Committees; Tourney Schedule Will Begin Month Later

Committee appointments were approved and several questions of policy governing play for 1942 were acted upon yesterday as 20 members of the executive committee and the board attended a regular meeting of the Women's District Golf Association, at Kenwood Golf and Country Club.

With Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the W.D.G.A., speeding things along, the women voted:

1. To abandon the printing of budget books. Women can subscribe the regular $4 or pay a separate entry fee as in the past.
2. To use defense stamps as prizes throughout the season, with the exception of those which are purchased in the various golf club shops.
3. To launch the tournament schedule in May this year instead of April, and to hold the team matches in June; and,
4. To donate a defense bond to the winning pro in each lady-pro tournament.

The committee members were approved as follows:

Rules—Chairman, Mrs. H. A. Knox, Congressional; Mrs. H. J.

Simons, Manor; Mrs. D. Platt, Manor, and Mrs. John Barron, Kenwood.

Prizes—Chairman, Mrs. Frank Mirth, Indian Spring.

Yearbook—Chairman, Mrs. Walter B. Barkdull, Columbia.

Auditing—Chairman, Mrs. D. H. Henderson, Congressional; Mrs. Marvin Wire, Kenwood.

Teams—Chairman, Mrs. Theodore Peyser, Woodmont; Mrs. F. Gross, Columbia.

Mrs. T. D. Brandon, Columbia, was named captain of the first team. Second and third-team captains have not yet been approved.

D. C. Linkswomen Plan to O. K. 15 Events at Confab Monday

List, Almost as Large as Usual, to Be Played On 18-Hole Courses Near Bus or Car Lines

By WALTER McCALLUM.

A schedule of 15 golf tournaments, almost as large as the list in any previous year, will be made public by the Women's District Golf Association next Monday when the executive Committee announces the results of months of work on tournament allocations. The schedule will start in mid-May and will run through October, with several events to be played during the summer months, as was done for the first time last year.

All tournaments will be played on 18-hole courses in 1942, and all will be on layouts which are located near or on bus or streetcar lines. The complete schedule is now ready, but the announcement by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the District Golf Association, that the women will hold their events at easily reached courses means outlying clubs will not be favored with as many events as in other years. Outlying clubs are Manor and Congressional.

Two Clubs Seek Championship.

Two clubs are in the running for the District women's championship for the title now held by Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor. These are Chevy Chase and Washington, with the latter club making a determined bid for the title tourney.

The Corby Cup affair, listed several months ago as one of the tourneys to be abandoned this year, is back on the calendar and will be played in September at Columbia. At the same time, many of the women, irked by the fact that the "duffers" tourney has been abandoned, want it back. Mrs. Weible made plain two months ago that tourneys which are not sponsored by individuals or organizations such as the newspapers will not be held this year.

But the "duffers" cup event, while not sponsored last year, has been a very popular affair, and rumors have it that the dear gals, irked by the failure of the women who run golf affairs to reschedule it this year, are planning a strenuous protest to bring back the tourney in which the better players may not compete. It is one of the events which strictly is for "duffers," with handicaps over 18. Some of them, of course, don't fancy being called "duffers," but that is what they are, in the golfing sense, with such high handicaps.

Major item on the feminine schedule will be the team matches, which are to be played this year under a revised schedule. Mrs. Weible considers the team contests the most important of all the events sponsored by the W. D. G. A.

Mrs. Davy in California.

Meanwhile Mrs. Myron Davy, top woman golfer of last year, is on the Pacific Coast, where she has been since Christmas. She has competed in several of the events in the Los Angeles area and writes that there is no interruption to feminine golf affairs in that area because of the war.

Women Golfers Plan Season Card Today; May Begin in June

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, and her executive committee will meet this morning at Kenwood Golf and Country Club for the purpose of drawing up the body's 1942 tournament schedule.

Because of the much-feared caddy shortage, it is believed the association will decide to begin its team championship matches in June instead of the original early April date. Mrs. Weible also is expected to suggest several benefit exhibition dates for the crowded schedule.

Kenwood, Columbia Clubs Named as Sites For 1942 Times-Herald Golf Tournaments

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

At a meeting of the Women's District Golf Association executive committee yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club, Columbia Country Club and Kenwood were named as the sites for the 1942 edition of the annual Times-Herald Cup tournaments.

Columbia plays host to the higher handicap players, while the Class A players will compete over Kenwood's course. Both events are slated for Tuesday, August 18.

One of the most important decisions of the committee was the reinstatement of the Duffers' tournament. It was decided at an earlier meeting that all nonsponsored tournaments would be dropped from this year's schedule. The Duffers fell in that category, but was salvaged in a last-minute move by the officers of the association.

Fourteen tournaments, practically the same schedule as that of last season, was announced by the committee. Included on the list are three pro-lady tournaments in which Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president, intends to recruit every member of the association for at least one day of competition despite the size of handicaps.

The District championship was awarded Chevy Chase Club for the week of June 15. Opening the schedule will be the Mrs. Frank B. Keefer Cup Tournament on April 28-29 at Chevy Chase Club.

Mrs. Theodore Peyser, who is in charge of the team championship schedule, announced that entries for that competition close on May 1, and that play begins in June. Originally slated to begin early this month, the team championships were moved back because of the caddy shortage.

A change in the Association's handicapping system also was announced. Heretofore new members were forced to turn in 10 scores over a period of three months before an official handicap could be established, but now all that is required are the 10 scores.

Another change came in the entry fee of the Association's championship which was raised to $3 instead of the old fee of $2.

Attending the meeting yesterday were: Mrs. George Jani, Mrs. E. B. Heimer, Mrs. W. F. Sadler, Mrs. N. F. Hollander, Mrs. G. D. Horner, Mrs. C. Clark, Mrs. L. B. Platt, Mrs. Frank Cramer, Mrs. I. E. Petterson, Mrs. C. McGowan, Mrs. S. C. Hopkins, Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. Gorham Freer, Mrs. Fred Evans, Mrs. J. B. Brantley and Mrs. Weible.

The schedule:

One-Day Golf Events Appear Logical Program for Women

Lengthy D. C. Title Test Apparently Doomed;
Clubs on Transportation Lines to Be Hosts

Future of women's competitive golf this year hung by a slender thread today as Mrs. Walter L. Weible, Women's District Golf Association president, considered a recommendation to the Executive Committee to cancel many of the tournaments proposed in a schedule originally planned for announcement about February 15.

Already planning to hold most of their 1943 tournaments at clubs which can be reached by public transportation, the women's schedule took a body blow today when one of the two largest clubs near the city told Mrs. Weible the club will not accept any feminine tournaments this year. Another club hinted at the same action, although no decision was announced, pending a Golf Committee meeting.

"If both these clubs refuse to take any tournaments this year," said Mrs. Weible, "our schedule will be pretty well shot to pieces."

Meanwhile the feminine schedule, nearing completion, is held up, although Mrs. Weible says strong sentiment exists among the women golfers for continuance of at least a partial slate of tournaments.

"The District championship is the tournament which will give us trouble," Mrs. Weible said. "We are committed this year to a policy of splitting the field into two parts, by handicap, thus having a Class A and a Class B tournament. Each tournament would run five days. That involves a lot of traveling, probably on buses and streetcars, by the competitors. I'm not sure they would want it that way."

"But there isn't any doubt the women want the one-day affairs. They have said so often, and we will make every effort to have some of them, at least. But the situation is very much up in the air now. If two big clubs refuse to take tournaments, it would put a heavy burden on the others."

"In the schedule already arranged," she added, "we have not set a single tournament at a club which cannot be reached by public transportation."

The District proxy probably will call an early Executive Committee meeting to go over the situation.

Columbia Country Club Bans Outside Golf Tournaments

Columbia Country Club will not be host to any outside tournaments for the duration of the war, it was announced last night following a meeting of the golf committee.

The District Women's Golf Association has already announced its schedule without an event at Columbia and the announcement means the club will not share tournaments of the District, Maryland or Middle Atlantic Amateur associations or the Mid-Atlantic P. G. A., for the time being.

With a championship golf course ideally located on a bus line, Columbia was first in line for tournament bids by sectional and city associations. Any events at Columbia will be club affairs.

Linkswomen Here Likely to Hold Complete List of Events, Mrs. Weible Says

Clubs on Car and Bus Lines Would Stage One-Day Affairs

Tournament at Pinehurst This Week May Be Last Big Test for Duration

Feminine golfers, who undoubtedly will form the biggest segment of competitive golf around town this year, will meet Monday, March 29, to go over a schedule for this year. Chances are good, according to Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, for holding a complete schedule of events this year, although the District championship may be abandoned.

"I will recommend a complete schedule of one-day affairs, to be held at clubs on established transportation lines," said Mrs. Weible. "The transportation situation probably won't ease off to the point where we can use automobiles as we did last year, so we will have to use clubs located on bus or streetcar lines."

That means about half a dozen clubs will carry the burden of feminine golf this year. Columbia will not hold any tournaments. But clubs such as Washington, Chevy Chase, Indian Spring, Bannockburn and Kenwood will be busy, provided the girls can get to 'em.

Many Suggestions Made.

"We have had many suggestions as to what to do," Mrs. Weible said. "Some women want to play The Star and Keefer Cup tournaments and see how they go before embarking on a complete schedule. Others want to arrange the slate regardless. Many want to abandon the District championship, since it is a five-day affair played in two classes and will take a lot of time and gas. Frankly we hope to go through with a schedule, which may have to be cut off at any time, but we'll try just the same."

"Whether our entries will be cut down to the vanishing point we do not know, but probably we'll have a few less than normal. Requests for handicap cards are off this year, but as soon as good weather comes along, they'll multiply."

Mrs. Myron Davy, Mid-Atlantic and Maryland champ a couple of years ago, is at Mexico City, playing in tournaments, and doesn't know when she'll be back in Washington, Mrs. Weible said.

Women Golfers Will Announce Schedule Today

The executive committee of the District Women's Golf Association will vote on a tentative schedule today in a meeting at Kenwood Country Club at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. W. L. Weible, president, will preside.

The week-long District championship tournament will not be played, barring a sudden change of heart by the club delegates. A schedule of the usual one-day affairs will be made, however, with all tournaments on courses available by car and bus lines.

APRIL 4, 1943.

Kenwood to Be Main Host This Season To Fair Golfers

Will Be Scene of Three Of Nine Tournaments; Others Are Divided

Kenwood Golf and Country Club gets three of the woman's golf tournaments this year, more than any other club in the nine-event schedule arranged by the women. Others are to be held at Chevy Chase, Washington and Indian Spring. Kenwood is on a bus line and is one of the most crowded courses around town, but it isn't far from the center of the city for those who use their own gasoline.

For the first time in nearly 30 years the women will not have a District championship this year. Cancellation of the championship for the duration of the war was decided upon by the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association because the championship tourney is a five-day affair. "It takes too long, and transportation is too involved," explained Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the association.

Capital Linkswomen Plan to Play Nine One-Day Affairs

All Tentative, However;
Mrs. Tully Is Named
Tourney Chairman

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Feminine golfers here virtually have a complete schedule of one-day tourneys facing them this year, following adoption of the slate by the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association. They also have a new tournament chairman in the person of Mrs. Charles Tully of Indian Spring, who will succeed Mrs. C. P. Magruder of Army Navy.

Two fixtures of other years will not be played this year, but nine events have been scheduled at four clubs, with a wartime arrangement by which the entire slate or the remaining part may be canceled any time the Executive Committee deems it desirable.

Title Event Not Listed.

The District Championship, high spot of the season, has been canceled for the duration. "This was a five-day tourney and took too much time," Mrs. Walter L. Weible, association president, explained. "In addition it took too much gasoline." The Washington Golf and Country Club, which has staged the Phyllis Keefer Miller memorial tourney for several years, did not ask for a date for this event. The schedule follows:

April 27-28, Keefer Cup tourney at the Chevy Chase Club; May 20-June 15, Star trophy in two classes, Class A, May 20 and Class B, June 15, both at Chevy Chase; May 14-24, Post Cup tourney in two classes at Kenwood; June 18-28, Times-Herald Cup tourneys in two classes at Kenwood; September 10, Corby Cup tourney at Indian Spring; September 14, National Broadcasting Co. tourney, Washington; September 21, Columbia Broadcasting System tourney at Washington; September 27, Duffers' tourney at Indian Spring, president's plate at Kenwood on a date early in October to be decided.

War Stamps as Prizes.

All tourneys will be completed on a single day, and prizes will be in War stamps. An entry fee of a dollar is to be charged for each event, with entries to close three days prior to the tournaments. The association sent a $30 check to the Red Cross. There was no discussion of team matches at the committee meeting held at Kenwood.

So Mrs. Walter R. Stokes remains District champion for the duration. Unless the Maryland State Golf Association schedules a women's championship here will be no title affairs this year. The Middle Atlantic Association did not schedule the usual feminine title tourney for 1943.

D. C. Women Golfers Plan To Carry On

Washington's fair golfers will carry on despite difficulties it was indicated yesterday when the District Women's Golf Association made up a tentative schedule for one-day tournaments that, if adopted would bring action from late April until late September on local courses. However, the yearly program will not be without curtailment as the District championship has been shelved for the duration and the Phyllis Keller Memorial Cup tournament will not be played this year.

Mrs. Walter L. Wieble, association president, presided at yesterday's meeting of the constitutional executive committee and said that response to the tentative schedule would determine the future of the program.

The tentative schedule follows:

Keefer Cup, Chevy Chase, April 27-28; Star Cup, Chevy Chase, Class A, May 20; Class B, June 15. Post Cup, Kenwood, Class A, May 14; Class B, May 24. Times-Herald Cup, Kenwood, Class A, June 18; Class B, June 28. National Broadcasting Co., Washington Golf and Country, September 14; Columbia Broadcasting Cup, Washington Golf and Country, September 21. Corby Cup, Indian Spring, September 10. Duffers Cup, Indian Spring, September 27. President's Cup date to be announced.

Keefer Cup Event April 27-28 Opens Women's Golf Season

Evening Star Tournament Will Be Next;
Federal Players Apparently Stymied

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Feminine golfers open their competitive season April 27 with the playing of the Keefer Cup tourney, presented to the Women's District Golf Association several years ago by Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, a former president.

The tourney, billed at Chevy Chase for April 27 and 28, will be a 36-hole medal-play affair, the low 30 and ties to play the last day. Opening event of a comparatively full season, the women plan to continue through most of the usual affairs this year, with only one definitely abandoned.

This is the District championship, a five-day event which was tossed out because of its length and the consequent transportation troubles sure to arise in the wake of a long tourney. The Keefer competition will be the first to be run by Mrs. Charles Tully, new tournament chairman for the WDGA.

Next event following the Keefer affair will be the first section of the contest for The Star Trophies. The Star this year, at least, will award War bonds to the winners.

Chevy Chase's Offer Seen Clearing Way To Women's Golf

WDGA Believes Slate
Will Be Completed

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Heartened by willingness of Chevy Chase Club to hold one of the major tourneys of the year, the Women's District Golf Association will meet next month to draw up a complete schedule. Earlier the women thought their entire schedule might be jeopardized by apathy on the part of one or two of the clubs toward tournaments this year.

The matter still must come before the association Executive Committee for approval, but Chevy Chase has offered to hold The Evening Star tourney, one of the major meets of the slate, probably late in May and early in June. This affair, with the exception of the District women's championship, is the oldest feminine tourney consecutively held around Washington.

Way to Schedule Cleared.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the association, said the schedule situation now has worked around to the point where the women can proceed toward formulation of plans without too much uncertainty crippling the probable slate. For a time there was considerable doubt whether the women would hold more than one or two events.

"It is quite possible the Executive Committee may decide to hold the new type of District championship in September instead of June," said Mrs. Weible. "By that time the transportation situation may be eased to the point where we may be able to use automobiles. Of course no one can tell at this time, but a feeling of hope about availability of gasoline is in the air."

Mrs. Davy in Golf Troupe On Pan-American Tour

Mrs. Myron Davy, Middle Atlantic and Maryland women's golf champion of 1941, will not be back in Washington to compete in tournaments this year, she writes from Mexico.

She is planning an exhibition tour of Central and South America, playing matches for the Red Cross, accompanied by Betty Jameson, former United States woman champion; Aurora Olagaray and Gabrielle de la Torre, the latter pair famed Mexican players. Miss Olagaray is champion of Mexico.

Mrs. Davy, who plans to stay at Mexico City for some time, won the Tampico championship a few days ago, beating Betty Jameson 6 and 5 in the final, after winning a semifinal match from Miss Olagaray.

War Bonds, Stamps Prizes as Women Open Golf P

Keefer Cup Tourney at Chevy Chase

Field of 39 Players In 36-Hole Event; Big Names Missing In Low Gross Play

With war stamps and bonds to be used almost exclusively for prizes, the 12-event schedule of the District Women's Golf Association gets under way today with a field of 39 Class A contestants opening a two-day battle for the Keefer Cup.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, starting her third term as president of the association, and Mrs. Frank Mirth, chairman of the prize committee, announced virtually all prizes would be in stamps and bonds.

Last year the association, in one of its biggest years, purchased $1155 in war bonds for prizes; spent nearly $100 with the AWVS and contributed $100 to the Red Cross and varied relief agencies.

A majority of the prizes in the past have been in golf balls, shoes and silver, but no balls are available for prizes now, shoes are rationed and silver is scarce, making stamps and bonds the logical prizes.

Play Starts at 9 A. M.

Play starts at Chevy Chase at 9 a. m. and players will leave the first tee in twosomes through 10:55. The field of 39 is the smallest in years, and everybody who turns in a card is virtually sure of playing Wednesday when the field is pared to the low 32 net scores and ties for the final 18 holes.

The thirteenth annual event, for the cup donated by Mrs. Frank R. Keefer of the host club, is limited to Class A players, those with handicaps of scratch through 18. Mrs. H. W. Bashore of Kenwood, the defending champion, is in the field.

While the play for the Keefer Cup, which goes to the low net scorer of the two days is wide open, the low gross honors will probably be between Mrs. Betty Meckley, who won last year, a

Entries to Close Friday for Keefer Cup Tourney

Mrs. Charles Tully, new tournament chairman of the District Women's Golf Association, will close entries Friday at noon at her home, 1421 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest, District 3978, for next week's annual Keefer cup tournament.

The Keefer cup, opening tournament of the women's golf season scheduled next Tuesday and Wednesday at Chevy Chase Club, is limited to players in Class A, the scratch to 18 handicap group. The low 32 scorers and ties of the first day's play will qualify for the final 18 holes.

The field will undoubtedly be smaller than in past years due to transportation difficulties and the number of women golfers in war work but Mrs. Tully had 24 entries in hand last night and expects two or three times that number. Mrs. H. W. Bashore, of Kenwood, won the tournament last year.

39 Women to Tee Off In Keefer Cup Golf Meet Tuesday

Event Starts Tentative 11-Tourney Schedule DWGA Would Stage

Thirty-nine entrants will tee off Tuesday morning at Chevy Chase to start the two-day Keefer Cup tournament, first of 11 tourneys tentatively scheduled this summer by the District Women's Golf Association. Mrs. H. W. Bashore and Mrs. Betty Meckley, both of Kenwood, winners of low net and low gross, respectively, in last year's Keefer Cup are playing. There were 68 players in last year's tournament.

The turnout for this and other events of the early season will determine whether the association goes through with the entire schedule. It already has decided not to hold the District championship.

Keefer Deadline At Noon Today

Entries for the Keefer Cup tournament chairman of the District Women's Golf Association. The deadline is noon.

The Keefer Cup, opening event on women's golf card for a number of years, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Chevy Chase Club. The entire field will play Tuesday and low 30 scorers and ties on Wednesday in the 36-hole medal play handicap event.

Cup, which goes to the low net scorer of the two days is wide open, the low gross honors will probably be between Mrs. Betty Meckley, who won last year; a Kenwood clubmate, Mrs. W. H. Wise, the long-hitter; and Mrs. L. G. Pray, a former Keefer Cup winner from Columbia C. C.

Mrs. Stokes Out of City

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the District and Maryland State champion of last year, is out of the city, and Mrs. Myron Davy, who with Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Meckley formed the "big three," is currently in Mexico, where she won an invitation tournament on Sunday with a 6-and-5 triumph over Betty Jameson, the two-time national champion. Mrs. Davy's victory was one of the most impressive ever scored by a District golfer in outside competition. Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Columbia, and Mrs. Leo Walper, Indian Spring, consistent low scorers, also are missing from the starting field.

The second tournament on the women's schedule is the Class A competition for The Washington Post Trophy on Friday, May 14, at Kenwood Country Club. The Class B section of The Post Cup will be played May 24, also at Kenwood.

Mrs. W. H. Wise Takes Keefer Cup

Mrs. Pray One Stroke Off With 81

Kenwood Shotmaker Shows No Effect
Of Winter Layoff;
Mrs. Price Third

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
Post Staff Writer

Mrs. W. H. Wise, the long-hitting Kenwood Club player whose work with the A. W. V. S. and civilian defense activities kept her off the golf course from last October until last week, took the lead at the halfway point of the Keefer Cup play yesterday at Chevy Chase with an 87-7, 80.

Mrs. Wise, two-time Tidewater Virginia champion, whose husband, Col. W. H. Wise, is in the Army Air Corps, was consistent with nines of 44 and 43 for the 87, a score tied by Mrs. L. G. Pray, Columbia, who also had an 87 and took second in the low net division with an 81 after subtracting six handicap strokes.

Thirty-six players started in the first tournament of the year and only nine broke the 100-mark as most of them showed the effect of a winter's layoff due to war work.

Wood Shots Good

Mrs. Wise had trouble only with approach shots, where a layoff hurts first, as her usual long and accurate wood shots behaved nicely and she played the entire 18 holes without a three-putt green.

Mrs. Pray, one of the two former champions in the field of the Twelfth Annual Tournament, ran into trouble on the first nine but came back with a 41, best back nine of the day, to tie for gross honors and stand in good position to be the first two-time champion since Mrs. Alma von Steinner.

The Kenwood delegation monopolized the runner-up spots as Mrs. Harold L. Price, who stayed out of competitive golf last year, came back with a pair of 47s for a 94 minus 12 handicap strokes for a net 82. Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the District Women's Golf Association, made her foremost bid in a major cup event with 102-18, 84, a round which she said "should have been much better."

Mrs. F. W. Evans of Kenwood also had 84 with 93-9, 84. Mrs. John Ives was five shots off the pace with 94-9, 85, while the 100 scorers included Mrs. F. G. Awaft, Congressional, who had 101-10 on the third hole and required 55 strokes on the front nine, only to come back with a 44 for a 99-13, 86. Mrs. J. C. White, Chevy Chase, and Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, Columbia, has 86 with 103-97, and 98-12, respectively.

Stages Comeback

Mrs. H. W. Bashore, the defending champion from Kenwood, was another who pulled a comeback on the second nine, rallying for a 46 after taking 10 more going out. Mrs. Bashore was virtually out of the running for a successful title defense, however, with 102-13-89, nine strokes behind the leader.

Mrs. Pray and Mrs. Wise will play together today at 10 a. m. with an eye on both net and gross honors. Second to the 87s of the low scorers was Mrs. Betty Meckley, Kenwood, low gross winner last year, who blasted out of a trap into the cup on the third hole for a birdie three but still took 45-47-92, for the round, her highest competitive score locally in some time.

Mrs. Meckley has also remained away from golf throughout the winter months with nursing and her duties as an airplane spotter.

Keefer Tourney Success Elates Golfing Group

Mrs. Helen Wise Set's
Early Pace; M. A. Pros
Will Meet Monday

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Elated over the success of their first tournament of the year, although the affair was not to end until today, woman golfers of the town believe they can carry through this year their scheduled list of affairs. Up to yesterday there had been some doubt about the success of the tourneys, in wartime, but they are over the hump now. So says Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association.

"We knew there wouldn't be the big fields of past years," said Mrs. Weible. "This Keefer Cup tournament in a way was a trial. But the field has been good, the golf fair and all in all we feel we can go ahead with our schedule unless something unforeseen happens to put a crimp in the show."

"Forty players is not a big turnout, but we didn't expect the big fields of other years. So many of the golfers are in war work or doing something in connection with the war. But the girls wanted golf, and we will give it to them; at least until they demonstrate they don't want it any more or unless conditions put a stop to all play."

Full Slate to Be Played.

Mrs. Weible and the other officers of the association predicted that the entire schedule of 10 tournaments, announced a month ago, will be played this year. Only major affair not scheduled is the District championship, which has been cancelled because of its length. It is a five-day event.

Following the Keefer Cup tourney, due to wind up at Chevy Chase today, next affair on the feminine schedule is The Star Cup tournament in Class A, also scheduled at Chevy Chase, a course which happens to be a favorite with the feminine players. This event probably will draw one of the biggest fields of the year on May 20.

But the girls haven't yet found their scoring eyes, or drawn a steady bead on that elusive par of 78 at Chevy Chase. Only two broke 90, and only nine shattered the century mark over a course made no easier by a high wind, although the markers were well up on the front of the tees. Betty Meckley, billed by some as the gal to lick, got no medals for her 92. Betty usually is around the top of the heap in gross scoring in feminine events and may wind up there today.

Mrs. Wise Early Leader.

Mrs. Helen Wise, whose husband is an Air Corps colonel on duty in the Southwest Pacific area, stole the show on the opening day with 87-7-80. A shot behind was steady Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray of Columbia, who used to play from Manor. Mrs. Pray had 87-6-81, while slim Mrs. Harold Price of Kenwood was next with 94-12-82. Other leaders going into today's final round were:

Mrs. F. W. Evans (Kenwood), 93-9-84. Mrs. Walter L. Weible (Kenwood), 102-18-84. Mrs. John Ives (Congressional), 94-9-85. Mrs. F. G. Awaft (Congressional), 99-13-86. Mrs. M. M. Maxwell (Columbia), 98-12-86. Mrs. J. C. White (Chevy Chase), 103-97-86. Mrs. G. D. Dickey (Army Navy), 98-11-87. Mrs. H. W. Bashore (Kenwood), 102-13-89.

Mrs. Bailey's 78 Leads Field

Sets Low Net Pace In Keefer Tourney

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. George H. Bailey jr. (she's the former Wilda Martin), of Washington Golf and Country Club, took the first-day lead in the eleventh annual Keefer Cup Tournament yesterday at Chevy Chase Club with a net score of 78.

Getting to the turn in 43 and returning in 45, Mrs. Bailey ditched her second shots at the twelfth and sixteenth holes and was forced to take penalty strokes. Her round of 88 was further reduced by her handicap of 10 strokes to give her a one-stroke lead over her nearest rival.

Mrs. Meckley Second

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley took the lead in the low gross division and was second to Mrs. Bailey for low net in the first wartime tournament under the sponsorship of the Women's District Golf Association. The former holder of every title in this area and present Maryland State champion, posted a fine round of 81 and her two-stroke handicap deduction gave her a net of 79.

The water hazards of the long Chevy Chase course added two penalty strokes to Mrs. Meckley's card which could have been even lower had she not run into a pair of 6's at the same holes that cost Mrs. Martin her penalties. The Kenwood Golf and Country Club star was out in 42 and returned in 39 to be four shots in front of Mrs. Myron Davy, of Columbia.

Third place in the net was taken by Mrs. A. C. Olney, of Army and Navy Country Club, who posted a 94 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 14 strokes for an 80. The service-club golfer made her way around the harder out-nine in 50 strokes and then returned with a fine 44.

Mrs. Davy Has 82

Three nets of 81 were posted by Mrs. H. W. Bashore, of Kenwood, and Mrs. L. G. Pray and Mrs. Max Taylor, of Manor. Mrs. Pray turned in a gross card of 85, while Mrs. Bashore had a 97, and Mrs. Taylor a 99.

Next in line for scoring honors came Mrs. Davy and Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, of Army and Navy, with 82's. Mrs. Davy, fresh from her southern tournament tour, was out in a great 40 but went into a bad putting slump on the journey home to take a 43 while the service club star was 92-10-82.

Six players were bunched in a deadlock for ninth place at 83. They were Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, of Columbia; Mrs. A. A. Morrill, Mrs. W. L. Weible, Mrs. H. H. Hughes, all of Kenwood; Mrs. Mack Myers, of Manor, and Mrs. O. M. Reed, of Congressional.

Kenwood Entry 3 Shots Ahead Of Mrs. Olney

Rallies After Faulty
Start; Mrs. Meckley
Low Gross Victor

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. H. W. Bashore, of Kenwood Golf and Country Club, a comparative unknown in Women's District Golf Association competition, yesterday came from behind to capture the annual Keefer Cup tournament at Chevy Chase Club with a 36-hole net score of 159.

In fourth place going into yesterday's final 18 holes, Bashore posted a gross of 94 to add to her previous day's 97, and was aided by a handicap of 16 strokes per round. While Mrs. Bashore was overcoming a very shaky start, Mrs. George H. Bailey Jr., of Washington Golf and Country Club, first-day leader, was floundering clear out of the running with a poor round of 100.

Makes Comeback

The Kenwood player took an eight on the very first hole and then at the eighth hole she took another eight after having just taken a seven at the seventh. Getting to the turn in 51, the identical score of her previous day's round, Mrs. Bashore came breezing home with an in nine of 43. In both her rounds, Mrs. Bashore played poorly on the first nine and both times she made gallant comebacks to achieve her first tournament victory.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley made it a perfect day for Kenwood when the Maryland State champion filed an 85 to add to her previous day's score of 83 to win the low gross award easily with her 166 total. It was a remarkable victory in view of the fact that Mrs. Meckley worked all of last night and had but three hours' sleep before beginning her round.

Second low net honors went to Mrs. A. C. Olney, of Army and Navy Country Club. The service club player was in second place in Tuesday's rounds with a 94-14-80 and yesterday finished with 96-14-82 to remain in that same position with her net total of 162.

Mrs. Widmayer Third

Mrs. Ed Widmayer, of Argyle, took the third low net award in a draw from Mrs. Max Taylor, of Manor. Both players finished with net scores of 165. The Argyle player posted rounds of 98 and 95 and was aided by a combined handicap of 28 strokes, while Mrs. Taylor had scores of 99 and 102 and a handicap of 36 strokes.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, of Kenwood, president of the Women's District Golf Association, grabbed the last remaining prize place in a draw from Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor. Mrs. Weible posted twin rounds of 101 and finished with a 166 total made possible by a 36-stroke handicap. Mrs. Stokes had rounds of 89 and 83 and was allowed only a six-stroke deduction in handicap.

Mrs. Bailey Soars

Finishing down in a tie for eleventh place came Mrs. Bailey, the first-day leader, who, after posting an 88 on opening day, fizzled out in the stretch drive yesterday with a final round of 100. It was by far one of the worst rounds in competition for Mrs. Bailey and her downfall was attributed to her pressing on the first nine and then failing to overcome the 53 shots piled up in that portion of her journey.

The net winner of the tournament received a replica of the coveted Keefer Cup and the others were all given defense stamps.

Mrs. Bashore Winner Of Popular Keefer Cup Golf Event

More tournaments of the same general winning pattern as the Keefer Cup affair for women will be welcomed by the rank and file of feminine golfers around town. The victor is a woman who never before has won a big event. Mrs. H. W. Bashore of Kenwood, who won the Keefer trophy at Chevy Chase yesterday with 97-94-32-159, is a woman who seldom has edged into the prize list before. Several more among the prize winners are infrequently in the winning list. That, of course, is as it should be in such a large organization as the District Golf Association, where in the main the women who pay the freight do not win many of the prizes.

Betty Meckley, Kenwood veteran, got away to her usual flying start by grabbing another gross prize with consistent rounds of 81-85-166. Other net leaders were:

Mrs. A. C. Olney, Army-Navy, 94-96-28-102; Mrs. Edward Widmayer, Aryle, 98-95-28-105; Mrs. Max Taylor, Manor, 99-102-30-105; Mrs. Walter L. Weible, Kenwood, 101-101-30-100; Mrs. W. R. Winter Rules Will Govern D. C. Handicap

Local Women Agree To Golfing Change For Tourney Play

A drastic change in the handicapping system of the Women's District Golf Association was announced last night by Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the local body.

In previous years, only scores made under summer rules of play were accepted for handicaps in the association, but because of the water shortage and the failure of local courses to respond to treatment, the association decided to accept scores made under winter rules. Only a few of the local courses are in good enough condition to play the ball as it lies and it was because of this and the fact that new players to this section are having trouble getting official handicaps that the change was made.

Mrs. Weible pointed out that the scores being turned in under summer rules were high and were giving the girls false handicaps.

WDGA Calls Off Matches

The effects of the war were felt yesterday by the Women's District of Columbia Golf Association, which yesterday announced cancellation of the interclub team matches, owing to the shortage of gasoline.

Slated to start June 6, the matches long have been a popular feature of the association's golf calendar. Should gasoline restriction be lifted, the association may go through with the schedule, it was said.

Transportation by bus to the various courses would be too slow, the association head, Mrs. Walter L. Weible, said.

Stevens Makes Debut Today In Lady-Pro Golf Tourney

Claggett Stevens, Manor Country Club's new pro, will make his local tournament debut since coming back to his home town today at Kenwood Golf and Country Club where he has been accepted as a post entrant in the Women's District Golf Association Lady-Pro tournament.

The former pro at Elks Club of Richmond, Ind., will pair up with Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the W. D. G. A. and her pretty daughter, Gerry, a co-ed at American University. Stevens' name brought the total entry list of pros to 11 and the post entries of Mrs. Weible and Gerry the women's list to 22.

All entries, with the exception of Stevens, were drawn from a hat by tournament chairman Mrs. C. B. Magruder.

Meckley Team Wins Lady-Pro

Stokes-Houghton 2d In Kenwood Tourney

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood Club's Maryland State champion, and Lew Worsham, of Burning Tree, this section's most consistent money-winning professional, collaborated in winning the Women's District Golf Association lady-pro tournament held yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club, with a combined net score of 149.

Mrs. Meckley, armed with a two-stroke handicap, fired a round of 78, while the 23-year-old Burning Tree professional was around the River Road layout in 73 strokes to win by the slim margin of two strokes. That winning effort came only after a sensational finish on the last hole—Mrs. Meckley getting down in two strokes from 100 yards off the green and Worsham sinking a 15-footer for a bogey five.

Diffenbaugh Falters

Worsham's five on the last hole cost him a tie for the defense bond put up by the W.D.G.A., for just ahead of him finished host club pro George Diffenbaugh with an individual round of 72. George nearly chucked away the bond himself with a six on the eighteenth after having played the previous 17 holes in one under par.

Getting out in 38 after having three-putted the second green, the diminutive Kenwood professional birdied the thirteenth and sixteenth holes to go one under regulation figures for the course. But at the long eighteenth, Diffenbaugh hit a bad iron and his approach shot wasn't much better. In his attempt to be the only player in the field to break par, Diffenbaugh took his second three-putt green of the round to finish one over Kenwood's par of 71.

Mrs. Walter L. Stokes of Manor and Al Houghton of Prince Georges took second place with a 151 score. Mrs. Stokes duplicated Mrs. Meckley's feat of negotiating the tricky course in 39-29-78, while Houghton after getting out in a par 35 blew himself to a 41 on the back nine and all but blew himself completely out of the money. Houghton, one under par going into the ninth took a bogey there to finish the nine even to par and then took a double bogey five at the short tenth and another bogey at the eleventh. Mrs. Stokes, too, was well on her way to a better round, but ran into a double bogey five at the eighth after having been only two over men's par for that distance.

Tied With Worsham

Third place in the tournament went to Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, of Columbia, and Bob Barnett, of Chevy Chase, at 152. The Chevy Chase pro tied with Worsham for second money in the individual pro sweeps with a 73 and Mrs. Maxwell posted a gross score of 90 and was aided by an 11-stroke handicap.

Weible, president of the Women's District. Mrs. Harb, who is leaving Washington soon to make her residence in Boston, was out in 41 and back in 38 for a 79.

174 net, winning over Mrs. John Ives of Washington Golf and Country Club, after they tied in scoring, and also by matching cards, but Mrs. Ives was not on hand for the necessary playoff.

Mrs. Pray, who won a three-day medal tournament at Miami C. C. and several one-day events during a winter in Florida, played careful golf throughout the two days of the tournament and by far the most consistently good golf of the field. The Chevy Chase greens were perfect but lightning fast and Mrs. Pray's feat of no three-putt greens was a tribute to an accurate touch. The winner's longest putt of the day was a 7-footer for a birdie deuce on the tenth hole, but all her long putts were close and safe.

Mrs. L. G. Pray Wins Kee Margir

Winner Scores 87-86, Minus 12 Handicap; Mrs. Wise, Halfway Leader, Takes 5th

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Pray Wins, Winner

Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray of Manor and Columbia Country Clubs, completed 36 holes of play at Chevy Chase without a three-putt green yesterday and that tells the story of her success in the Keefer Cup tournament which the former Manor Club champion won for a second time. Mrs. Pray had 87-86, minus a six-shot handicap each day for net 161.

Mrs. Pray started the second day's play with Mrs. W. H. Wise, the first round leader, and took a three-stroke lead on the first hole as Mrs. Wise required four strokes to reach the green and then took five putts for a ruinous nine. Mrs. Wise followed up with a four-putt green on the second hole and finally finished the first nine with a 55 which left her out of the running, despite a nice comeback on the return trip for a 43.

Second Two-time Champ

Mrs. Pray, who won the Keefer Cup in 1940 after a play off with Mrs. Ellen Kincaid Harris, became the second two-time champion in the 12-year history of the cup. Mrs. Alma Von Steinner scored a repeat in the first two years of competition.

Mrs. Harold L. Price, who finished in second place and led the Kenwood Club delegation to five of the eight prizes, was five shots back of Mrs. Pray with rounds of 94 and 96, minus a 12 handicap each round for 166. Mrs. Price played consistent golf on eight holes of each nine yesterday but on the seventh and fourteenth holes she was in traps, rough, ditches and even whiffed a shot to run up nine strokes on each hole and blast her chances.

Mrs. Pray's score took both low net and gross honors but as she was eligible for only one prize the Manorite took the cup and left low gross to Mrs. Betty P. Mecklen, Kenwood, who knocked a nubile shot into the cup on the eighteenth hole for an 89 for the day and a gross count of 92, 89—181. Mrs. Meckley also saved two or three strokes Tuesday by blasting into the cup from a trap on the third hole.

Mrs. F. W. Evans, Kenwood, continued consistent shotmaking with 94—9—85, which added to a net 844 in the first round was good for third low net. Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the District Women's Golf Association, entered the prize list with fourth low net, rounds of 102 and 104 minus an 18-hole handicap each time for a 170 net.

Mrs. Wise, whose 98 was 11 strokes higher than the 87 which led the first round, came in for fifth low net with a net of 171, deducting a 7 handicap each round. Mrs. F. G. Awalt, Congressional golfer, who was playing her second round since Thanksgiving, duplicated her odd scoring of Tuesday when she required 55 strokes on the front nine and again came back in 44, 11 strokes less, for a 99 and a 172 net.

Mrs. J. C. White Wins

The host club golf committee chairman, Mrs. J. C. White, completed the prize winners with a 174 net, winning over Mrs. John Ives of Washington Golf and Country Club, after they tied in scoring, and also by matching cards, but Mrs. Ives was not on hand for the

Repeat Victory for Mrs. Pray

Mrs. L. G. Pray, whose victory in the annual Keefer Cup tournament yesterday at Chevy Chase was her second in the 12-year history of the cup. Mrs. Pray had rounds of 87 and 86 and deducted a six handicap from each for a winning net 161.

The Corby Cup tourney for women golfers, originally scheduled for Indian Spring September 16, has been shifted to Columbia on the same date. The Columbia women wanted the tourney, honoring a former president of the WDGA, over their courses.

Next feminine tourney is the affair for the Post Cup, to be played at Kenwood May 14. Entries are being taken by Mrs. C. W. Tully, tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association, and already nearly twoscore women have entered. Following this one will come the Class A tourney for The Star Trophy, to be played May 20 at Chevy Chase.

Winter Golf Play Seen Big Help To Mrs. Pray in Keefer Win

Takes Cup With 173-12-161; Hoyas Rout Loyola, Face Keen G. W. Team Saturday

By WALTER McCALLUM

Recipe for winning early feminine golf tournaments around Washington: Have yourself a winter in Miami or some sunny spot where golf is played when winter snows blanket the Capital. Then remain in the scoring groove when you get back to town.

That, of course, isn't all that won the Keefer Cup tourney, initial event of the women's schedule, for slender Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray. For Mrs. Pray has been an outstanding linkswoman around the Capital a good many years. She has won several tournaments, but the major championships have escaped her, and she won't have a chance to grab a title this year, for the tournaments carrying titles won't be played.

Did Workmanlike Job.

But the modest woman who recently has transferred her club affiliation from Manor to Columbia did a workmanlike job of winning the Keefer Cup affair. It came on the heels of several victories at Miami, where she and her husband have spent many winters. "We couldn't play the Biltmore during the winter," she said. "The Army had taken it over, but we played at the Miami Country Club. Perhaps it helped my game."

Mrs. Pray not only led in the gross scoring at Chevy Chase with a two-day total of 173, composed of consistent rounds of 87 and 86, but she also topped the net scoring with 161, aided by a single round handicap of 6 strokes. She elected to take the net prize. Indeed she won by five strokes from a good field, an indication of how winter practice helps those lucky enough to have it. Next to her was Mrs. Harold L. Price of Kenwood, a slender woman who has played in few tourneys over the last year. Mrs. Price had 94-96-24-166.

Mrs. Keefer Presents Prizes.

Mrs. Pray is one of the few women around town who can boast a victory over Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, reigning District and Maryland champion. She accomplished the win a couple of years ago in the Manor championship. A steady player with a well-grooved swing Mrs. Pray seldom strays from the middle 80s.

Prizes were presented by Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, donor of the main trophy, and by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association.

Final scores:

Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray (Columbia) 87-86-12-161; Mrs. Harold L. Price (Kenwood) 94-96-24-166; Mrs. F. W. Evans (Kenwood) 93-94-18-169; Mrs. W. L. Weible (Kenwood) 102-105-24-170; Mrs. W. H. Wise (Kenwood) 87-88-14-171; Mrs. F. G. Awalt (Congressional) 99-99-26-172; Mrs. John Ives (Washington) 94-98-18-174; Mrs. J. C. White (Chevy Chase) 103-105-24-174; Mrs. Betty P. Mecklen (Kenwood, gross winner) 92-89-6-175; Mrs. G. D. Dickey (Army Navy) 98-102-22-178; Mrs. M. M. Maxwell (Columbia) 98-108-24-180; Elmer Fincke (Columbia) 102-105-24-183; Mrs. Albert Walker (Chevy Chase) 106-110-32-184; Mrs. H. W. Bashore (Kenwood) 102-109-26-185; Mrs. Edith Widmayer (Arling) 105-107-26-186; Mrs. F. L. Williams (Arling) 107-114-32-189; R. P. Keebler (Kenwood) 112-166-32-189; Mrs. H. A. Knox (Congressional) 111-108-28-191.

Among the next tourneys on the feminine schedule is the Class A affair for The Evening Star trophy, also to be played at Chevy Chase, on May 20. Mrs. Weible expects a large entry in this event.

Field of 46 to Compete in Post Cup Golf Tourney Today

18-Hole Play Scheduled At Kenwood

Two Newcomers Threaten Reign Of District Stars In Women's Test

Two newcomers to District women's golf circles, Mrs. Donald D. Weiss, former Michigan State champion from Detroit and Mrs. John J. Madigan, a six-handicap played from Chicago, offer threats to the District tournament golfers in the eleventh annual play for The Washington Post Cup today at Kenwood Country Club.

A field of 46 Class A players will compete over the 18-hole medal play route for the original trophy and a $25 War Bond for first low net, donated by The Post, and prizes for other low net scorers and low gross given by the District Women's Golf Association.

Play will start at 9:10 a. m. and the 20 twosomes and 2 threesomes will leave the tee at five-minute intervals through 11:05. Host Pro George Diffenbaugh requests all players to bring their own caddies.

Mrs. D. H. Henderson, who posted the lowest score of her golfing career—by three strokes—last year at Columbia, an 85, minus a 9-stroke handicap for a net 76, is the only former champion entered. Mrs. Fritz Williams, Argyle Club champion, and Mrs. W. Marion Falls, finalist in the Columbia Club title play, who tied for second last year, are entered as also is Mrs. Betty Meckley, host club champion and five times low gross winner or medalist in The Post play.

Mrs. Meckley, a clubmate, Mrs. W. H. Wise and Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray, recent winner of the Keefer Cup for a second time, who had figured to wage a three-cornered scrap for gross honors throughout the season, will have added competition in Mrs. Weiss and Mrs. Madigan, who have won numerous trophy tournaments in their home cities, in addition to Mrs. Weiss' State titles.

The scratch to 18 handicapped members of the District Association have their day today and on May 24, also at Kenwood, the Class B players will take over for the second section of The Post Cup, an added starter to the schedule three years ago when the field became too large to accommodate in one day.

Post Women's Golf Draws Field of 46

Prominent Midwest Players in First Tournament Here; Kenwood Club Host

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
Post Staff Writer

Class A section of the eleventh annual Washington Post Cup tournament, to be played Friday at Kenwood Country Club over the 18-hole medal play handicap route, has drawn two outstanding women golfers from the Midwest who will make their first tournament appearances here.

Mrs. Donald D. Weiss, former Michigan State champion and a two-handicap played in Detroit before she moved to Washington, and Mrs. John J. Madigan, who played to a six-handicap in the Chicago District, are the new threats to both low net and gross honors.

Field of 46 to Compete

Mrs. Charles Tully, tournament chairman of the District Women's Golf Association, announced a field of 46 for the first section of the event. The Class B Post Cup tournament will be played May 24 at Kenwood, with a May 20 entry closing date.

The Post trophy, donated 11 years ago when the tournament was inaugurated as a match play event, and a $25 war bond will go to the winner, while other prizes in war stamps will be given by the association.

George Diffenbaugh, professional at the host club, asks all players to bring their own caddies.

Only former champion entered is Mrs. D. H. Henderson of Congressional, who won the tournament last year at Columbia.

Mrs. Weiss has been playing at Indian Spring for several weeks and scoring consistently in the low 80's. Pro Mel Shorey has termed Mrs. Weiss' swing one of the finest he has ever seen by a woman golfer and the long-hitting ability of the newcomer has amazed Shorey. Mrs. Madigan has not been playing much golf of late, but, like Mrs. Weiss, is anxious to play the local courses and become a part of the tournament program here.

Mrs. Weiss and Mrs. Madigan will be particular threats for low gross honors, in addition to the regulars, Mrs. L. G. Pray, the Keefer Cup winner two weeks ago with both low net and gross score; Mrs. Betty Meckley, a consistent gross winner, and Mrs. W. H. Wise, the former Tidewater, Va., champion who led the Keefer at the end of the first day's play.

Play will start at 9:10 a. m. and continue through 11:05 from the first tee, with 20 twosomes and two threesomes paired.

Mrs. Weiss has drawn Mrs. K. S. Giles, Indian Spring Club champion, and Mrs. R. E. Zuber, of Manor, as playing partners, while Mrs. Madigan will play with Gerry Weible, daughter of Mrs. W. I. Weible, association president. Mrs. Weible is also entered.

The Post Cup was played at match for six years, a six-day event, and was reduced to one-day medal play at the request of the D. C. Women's Association when the schedule became too heavy. A "B" class was added three years ago when the field became too large for one day's play.

Mrs. Cushing Wins Post Cup Golf Event

Tops Field With Card Of 87-12-75

By Al Costello
Post Staff Writer

Mrs. Alexander Cushing, a resident of the District only since last Christmas, yesterday won the eleventh annual Washington Post Cup Golf Tournament at Kenwood, emerging victorious in a star-studded field of 35 by a 7-stroke margin.

Mrs. Cushing, who has been playing golf for five years, made The Post Cup her first major tournament victory by putting together rounds of 42 and 45, aided by a 12-stroke handicap, for a net 75, for top honors in the 18-hole medal event.

Formerly from Piping Rock Club, Long Island, the beautiful blonde with the Veronica Lake sweep to her naturally curly tresses, is the wife of Lieut. Alexander Cushing, U. S. N. R., now stationed here at the Navy Department.

Her round of 87 was not only the best round she ever shot in tournament competition but also represented the low gross card for the event. However, ineligible for two prizes under District Golf Association rules, she accepted the handsome Post Cup and the $25 war bond. The low gross prize went to Mrs. Betty P. Meckley of Manor, who carded 89, with her handicaps of only 3; Mrs. Meckley finished tenth in the field.

Mrs. Cushing did not card over a six in spread eagling the field and required the half-dozen strokes on only four holes, carding nine fives, four fours and a pair of trays.

Seven strokes behind in second place was Mrs. K. S. Giles of Indian Spring, with 91-9-82. Mrs. John Ives of Washington, and Mrs. D. H. Henderson of Congressional, tied for third with 83's. Mrs. Ives shot 92 and Mrs. Henderson a 91, with the Washington star enjoying a nine-stroke handicap to eight for Mrs. Henderson.

Mrs. T. B. Banks of Washington, was a stroke behind in fifth place with a card of 102-18-84, a stroke ahead of Mrs. F. L. Williams of Argyle, and Mrs. W. J. Wise of Kenwood, who netted 85's. Mrs. Williams with a 16 handicap against 7 for Mrs. Wise.

Eighth place and final among prize winners was taken by Mrs. C. B. Magruder of Army and Navy, with 97-14-83.

Mrs. Alexander Cushing (right) of Army-Navy Club and wife of Lieut. Alexander Cushing, U. S. N. R., now stationed here, yesterday became the eleventh winner of The Washington Post Golf Cup, emerging victorious in a strong field of 35 with an 87-12-75 to win by seven strokes. Mrs. W. L. Mrs. Cushing Sweeps Post Cup Golf in Her First Tourney Here

Scores 87-12-75, Takes Net Prize; Yields Gross Award to Mrs. Meckley

Influx of wartime residents is aiding golf as it is other sports in the Capital. A welcome addition to links competition is Mrs. Alexander Cushing, wife of a naval officer, who has been here only since Christmas and who yesterday won the Post Cup in her first local tournament.

Representing Army Navy Club, she toured the Kenwood course in 87 and with a 12 handicap got both low gross and low net. She ran into 6s on the 13th and 18th holes of her second round, but had little trouble topping the field. Her net, was 7 strokes better than the second-place card of 91-9-82 turned in by Mrs. K. S. Giles from Indian Spring.

Ineligible for two prizes under District Golf Association rules, Mrs. Cushing elected to take the low net Post Cup trophy and the $25 War bond, leaving the low gross prize to Mrs. Betty Meckley of Kenwood with 89. This is the second time this season Mrs. Meckley has taken low gross honors.

Star Cup Golf Meet Draws 52, Top Field of Women's Season

Class A Division Will Compete Thursday At Chevy Chase; B Play Slated June 15

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Fifty-two competitors, largest entry in a feminine golf tourney this year, will play Thursday at the Chevy Chase Club in the Class A division of The Evening Star Cup tournament, oldest of the established golf trophies for women in competition around the Capital.

Mrs. Rex J. Howard, wife of an Army officer, who won the tourney last year, has left the city and will not defend. As usual The Star will furnish the top prize in the tourney. The second section of The Star tourney, for Class B linkswomen, with handicaps over 18, will be played at Chevy Chase June 15.

"We are delighted with the entry in The Star tourney," said Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association. We are pleased that it is the largest entry so far this year. It shows that the women want golf tournaments."

The Star Cup, presented in 1916, is the oldest existing trophy in competition for the feminine golfers. The original was destroyed about 15 years ago, in a fire which razed the old Beaver Dam clubhouse, and the replacement was a duplicate of the original. It is older than the women's District championship trophy, presented by Herbert T. Shannon in 1927.

Here are the pairings of the 52 competitors Thursday:

Star Cup Golf Marks New High For Women's Wartime Fields

War Bond Goes to Winner at Chevy Chase; Reeder, Bowie Gain Cummings Playoff

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Today's tourney at Chevy Chase for the class A section of The Evening Star Cup event marks a new high in feminine golf entries this second year of the war and according to Mrs. Walter L. Weible, Women's District Golf Association prexy, is proof that the women want to carry on their tournaments. The Star Cup tourney is the third of their scheduled events this year with more than half a dozen to follow.

To the winner of The Star tourneys in each of two sections goes a War bond, presented by The Star. Other prizes were to be awarded by the feminine association.

"The 52 entries in this tourney," Mrs. Weible said today, "is proof enough that The Star event is popular and that the women want golf affairs. Before the war we used to have 150 players in the tourney, with both sections running on the same day. We expected a drop in entries, but it hasn't amounted to as much as we anticipated. Further, the entries nowadays all are starters. In the old days many women bought budget books, entered their names and did not play. Nowadays every entrant starts."

The second or B section of The Star tourney will be played at Chevy Chase June 15.

Reeder-Bowie Qualify.

Army officers do not get much time for golf nowadays. Usually if they like golf they take their half-day off a week on the links. That's what Col. Russell P. Reeder did to win, with Buddy Bowie as his partner, the challenge spot in the Cummings Cup tourney at Columbia.

Reeder and Bowie scored a subpar 69 for the right to challenge Martin F. McCarthy and George F. Miller, present holders of the Cummings Cup, representing the two-man team championship at Columbia. The four probably will get together next Sunday to play off for the mug. McCarthy and Miller had 71 in the medal round, while the duos of Joe Barse and George Ritta and Dr. H. L. Smith and Walter B. Jarvis had 72s.

At the same time the southpaw golfers of the club will play over the coming week end for the Chris Heurich trophy. The donor himself is a southpaw golfer of note, who smacks a tee shot a long way and can, given a good day, win the cup. Heurich is a very long hitter, one of the longest around town. He could be a very good golfer with more time to practice the short game.

Post Tourney Entries Open.

Entries are being taken by Mrs. Charles W. Tully, tournament chairman for the WDGA, for the Post Cup Class B tourney to be played Monday. This is the high handicap section of the affair whose low handicap section was played a few days ago.

Today's Star Cup event is being played without the presence of Mrs. Rex J. Howard, 1942 winner. Mrs. Howard, whose husband is an Army officer, left the city when her husband was moved to another post.

About 20 members of Columbia have taken over Victory garden plots between the ninth and tenth fairways. "We have had many inquiries about these plots," said Green Supervisor Pitts, "and we hardly have enough to go around. We may have to make more ground available."

Star Cup Meet Win Sets Mark For Mrs. Cushing in D. C. Golf

Army Navy Star's Triumph Second Big One In Row, Unprecedented in Women's Play

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Slender, athletic Mrs. Alexander Cushing, who confesses to having a yen for all sports, is setting something of a record among feminine golfers around town. It isn't often that a linkswoman wins two tournaments a year, so careful are the handicappers who watch scoring among the women. But to win two big ones in a row is unprecedented.

Mrs. Cushing, Army-Navy Club golfer, won the Class A section of The Evening Star Cup tourney yesterday at Chevy Chase with a card of 88-12-76, her net score being a stroke below the rigid women's par of 77 at Chevy Chase. Last week she won the Post Cup tourney at Kenwood. Yet she plays to her handicap and by the scores she has turned in is not handicapped too high. So says Mrs. F. W. Evans, handicap chairman for the Women's District Golf Association.

Likes Golf Best.

Mrs. Cushing is an attractive, tall, blond woman, with a Veronica Lake hairdo. Her husband is a Navy lieutenant, senior grade, on duty in the Navy Department. As a member of the exclusive Piping Rock Club on Long Island she was a golfer, a swimmer, a tennis player and an athlete of many sorts. Yet golf, she says, is the game she likes best. She has been playing the game "off and on" about five years and "likes all kinds of sports," including swimming.

The Cushings came to Washington around last Christmas and now make their home in Alexandria.

Despite an 8 on the comparatively easy par-5 eleventh hole, where she played safe and then flubbed a shot into the ditch, she played the nines at Chevy Chase yesterday in 45 and 43 to win the historic Star Cup by six strokes. Her card included a trio of 3s, which is unusual on that tough layout, where the par 3 holes are testing. Here is the card:

Mrs. Meckley Gross Winner.

Winner of the gross award was the steady campaigner, Betty Mackley of Kenwood, who led for a long time, only to drop behind when Mrs. Cushing returned her victorious score. Betty shot 42-43-85 to win the gross prize by a wide margin.

Second in the net competition was Mrs. G. D. Dickey, also of Army Navy, who had 91-11-80. Mrs. John Jago of Kenwood was next with 98-16-82, while Mrs. Donald Weiss of Indian Spring, one of the best of the newcomers around town, had 88-5-83.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, awarded Mrs. Cushing a War bond, presented by The Evening Star.

Leaders in The Star Cup tourney were:

Mrs. Alexander Cushing (Army Navy), 88-12-76; Gross—Mrs. Betty P. Mackley (Kenwood), 85-3-83; Mrs. G. D. Dickey (Army Navy), 91-11-80; Mrs. John Jago (Kenwood), 98-16-82; Mrs. Donald Weiss (Indian Springs), 88-5-83; Mrs. K. S. Class B Event June 15.

The Class B tourney for another Evening Star trophy, presented several years ago to the WDGA, will be played June 15 at Chevy Chase. This event is open to feminine golfers with handicaps over 18.

Chevy Chase men are in the middle of their annual tourney for the Treasurer's Cup, presented to the club by William F. Ham. Match-play rounds now are being played.

Triumph in Star's Class B Golf Big Surprise to Mrs. Hartman

Women's Rules Get Her Trophy After Tie With Mrs. H. G. Pratt, Mrs. F. I. Williams

By WALTER McCALLUM.

No winner of a women's golf tournament ever has had a more complete surprise or has been more a surprise to the rest of the field than Mrs. Calvin B. Hartman of Prince Georges Golf and Country Club, winner of the Class B section of The Evening Star Trophy tourney. "Please, some one, hold me up," jokingly said Mrs. Hartman, a newcomer to competitive golf, at Kenwood. "Do you really mean I am the winner? I can't believe it."

She couldn't believe that she had won one of the first major tourneys in which she had entered. For Mrs. Hartman, victor over a field of 75 starters on a day when showers played hide and seek with low-hanging clouds and nearly half the field gave up in discouragement at the conditions, hasn't become blasé about winning golf tournaments. To her the sensation is new. And she likes it.

Three Tie at Finish.

But she won only after a three-way tie. Deadlocked with her for the big Star trophy and the war bond which goes to the winner of the net award were Mrs. Henry G. Pratt, Jr., of the Washington Golf and Country Club, and Mrs. Fritz L. Williams of Argyle, all with net scores of 81, very good going under the abominable conditions. The Kenwood putting greens, for example, oftentimes were running streams of water when the clouds opened up and dropped their burden. And most of the Class B women had little experience under those conditions.

After all, most women with handicaps over 18 have not had wide tournament training, and didn't know, for instance, that you could lift a ball around casual water and seek a comparatively dry path to the cup.

The Women's District Golf Association, which has a complete set of rules to cover every situation, came up with the solution to the three-way tie. In previous years the three women would have had to play off. But it isn't done that way nowadays.

Scores Matched Against Par.

They took the handicap of each player in the tie and matched her score against women's par. Mrs.

Hartman, playing with a handicap of 34 strokes, finished 1 down to par. Mrs. Williams, with 21, finished 5 down and took the gross prize for which she had tied with Mrs. Pratt. And Mrs. Pratt took the second net award.

Mrs. Hartman, who succeeds Mrs. F. H. Kramer as the Class B champion, has been playing golf only 2½ years, exactly the length of time in the game of Mrs. Rex Howard, who won the Class A tourney last Tuesday. So truly The Star tourneys this year have become stepping stones to greater glory for comparative neophytes in feminine golf.

The Leading Scores:

Mrs. Calvin B. Hartman (Prince Georges), 115-34-81; Mrs. Fritz Williams (Argyle), 102-21-81; Mrs. Henry G. Pratt, Jr. (Washington), 102-21-81; Mrs. Helen L. Hafner (Argyle), 114-31-83; Mrs. Don Lee (Washington), 103-20-83; Mrs. Marty Gordon (Indian Springs), 120-36-84; Mrs. H. C. Fisher (Columbia), 110-26-84; Mrs. H. B. Wiley (Washington), 111-26-85; Mrs. E. S. Doub (Indian Springs), 114-29-85; Mrs. Jarrett White (Chevy Chase), 108-25-85; Mrs. T. S. O'Halloran (Washington), 119-33-88; Dr. Elizabeth Chickering (Kenwood), 106-20-86; Mrs. Betty Tully (Indian Springs), 108-20-86; Mrs. T. P. Bank (Washington), 108-22-86.

D. C. Title Meet Next.

Next tourney for the fair golfers is the District championship, scheduled at the Chevy Chase Club starting June 15. They won't have their usual team matches this year. In other years they were in the middle of their team schedule at this season.

Second Lowest Score of Links Career Wins for Mrs. Howard

Ekes Into Class A, Gets Star Cup With Net 70; Mrs. Meckley Shoots 79 for Gross Award

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Seventy-eight feminine golfers will compete Friday in the class B tourney for The Evening Star links trophy, completing the circle of a tournament that may be the biggest in point of entries in any women's golf affair this year. With 75 entered in the class A tourney, won yesterday at Kenwood by Mrs. Rex T. Howard, a total of 155 linkswomen will have played in the two sections of the event started 25 years ago, now in its silver anniversary year. As in the class A tourney yesterday, the winner of the class B affair Friday will receive a War bond, presented by The Star. The class B section of The Star tourney is open to women with handicaps from 19 to 36, inclusive.

Scoring in the class B section will not be as low as that of yesterday, when winsome Mrs. Howard, a bride of two and a half years ago and a golfer about the same length of time, scored 88-18-70 to win the historic trophy with one of the lowest scores in the lengthy history of the affair. Mrs. Howard, born in South Africa, and, according to her, a descendant of Boer settlers, played her home course at Kenwood in the second lowest score she ever has recorded. A few days ago she scored an 87. Her consequent handicap reduction put her in class A instead of class B. And naturally she was happy about the whole thing.

Is Long Driver.

Born Danita Pretorius, in South Africa, she met Cap. Rex Howard in New York while on a 'round-the-world trip. Capt. Howard now is in the Legal Division of the War Department. Mrs. Howard has been in the Capital nearly two years, and plays regularly at Kenwood, where she has a reputation as a long hitter. A few days ago she reached the twelfth green in two shots. The hole is a par-5 affair, around 475 yards in length.

Steady Betty Meckley, a tournament veteran and last year's winner of The Star class A tourney, won the gross award with 78, but was far back in the net event. Mrs. Howard won by six strokes.

Mrs. Price Finishes Second.

In second place, half a dozen shots away, was Mrs. Harold Price of Kenwood, a woman who soon will begin winning tournaments. Mrs. Price scored 87-11-76. Prizes were presented by Mrs. Walter E. Stokes (Manor), president of the Women's District Golf Association. Leading scorers in the tourney were:

Mrs. Rex T. Howard (Kenwood), 88-18-70; gross: Mrs. Betty P. Meckley (Kenwood), 78; Mrs. Harold Price (Kenwood), 87-11-76; Mrs. J. B. Jones (Army Navy), 95-18-77; Mrs. R. D. Young (Washington), 95-18-77; Mrs. J. W. Jago (Kenwood), 99-16-77; Mrs. J. H. Bullock (Kenwood), 95-15-77; Mrs. A. McIntee (Kenwood), 97-15-78; Mrs. W. Marion Fells (Columbia), 90-10-78; Mrs. W. L. Weible (Kenwood), 97-18-79; Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith (Woodmont), 87-8-79; Mrs. John Ives (Congressional), 88-9-79; Mrs. Walter E. Stokes (Manor), 82-3-79; Mrs. John R. Daily (Manor), 93-13-80; Mrs. C. B. McFarland (Army Navy), 93-12-81; Mrs. Ed Widmayer (Argyle), 95-14-81; Mrs. J. Franklin Gross (Columbia), 92-11-81; Mrs. Sara Murphy (Washington), 99-18-81; Mrs. A. A. Morrill (Kenwood), 97-10-81; Mrs. W. H. Wise (Kenwood), 96-6-81; Mrs. H. H. Hushes (Kenwood), 98-18-82; Mrs. George Dittenbach (Kenwood), 99-17-83; Mrs. P. W. Rutledge (Army Navy), 98-14-83; Mrs. Max Taylor (Manor), 98-16-83; Mrs. T. D. Peyer (Woodmont), 94-12-83; Mrs. J. J. Darby (Columbia), 100-13-83; Mrs. Gale E. Pugh (Manor), 93-10-83; Mrs. Leo Walper (Indian Springs), 88-5-83.

Mrs. Hartman's 115 Wins Golf

Mrs. Pratt 2d Low In 'B' Tournament

The Women's District Golf Association's system of matching cards instead of playing-off decided yesterday's Star Cup Class "B" tournament and, when the auditing was over, Mrs. C. B. Hartman, of Prince Georges Country Club, walked off with the main award.

Three players—Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. F. L. Williams, of Argyle, and Mrs. H. G. Pratt, of Washington—all slushed their ways around the rain-swept Kenwood course in nets of 81. But Mrs. Hartman's 115-34-81 took low net, Mrs. Pratt's 102-21-81 was second low net and Mrs. Williams elected to take low gross with her round of 102.

Playing in torrents, Mrs. Hartman was to the turn in 59 and back in 56, while Mrs. Williams' nines were 53-49 and Mrs. Pratt's card showed nines of 54 and 48. Two more players tied at nets of 83 for third low net and in the card matching and Mrs. Helen Horner, with 114-31-83, took third, while Mrs. Don Lee, of Washington, with 103-20-83, took fourth.

Mrs. Marty Gordon, of Indian Spring, posting 120-36-84, finished fifth, and Mrs. H. C. Fisher, of Columbia, came next with 110-26-84.

Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring; Mrs. Thomas Brandon, of Columbia; Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, and Elizabeth Houghton of Chevy Chase, are others to be reckoned with in the week-long city championship.

Mrs. John Ives, Congressional's new star, also is included in the long list which include such names as Senora de Espil, the wife of Senor Don Felipe de Espil, the Argentine ambassador, and the Baroness de Gruben, wife of the counselor of the Belgian embassy.

Triumph in Star's Class B Golf Big Surprise to Mrs. Hartman

By WALTER McCALLUM.

No winner of a women's golf tournament ever has had a more complete surprise or has been more a surprise to the rest of the field than Mrs. Calvin B. Hartman of Prince Georges Golf and Country Club, winner of the Class B section of The Evening Star Trophy tourney. "Please, some one, hold me up," jokingly said Mrs. Hartman, a newcomer to competitive golf, at Kenwood. "Do you really mean I am the winner? I can't believe it."

She couldn't believe that she had won one of the first major tourneys in which she had entered. For Mrs. Hartman, victor over a field of 75 starters on a day when showers played hide and seek with low-hanging clouds and nearly half the field gave up in discouragement at the conditions, hasn't become blasé about winning golf tournaments. To her the sensation is new. And she likes it.

Three Tie at Finish.

But she won only after a three-way tie. Deadlocked with her for the big Star trophy and the war bond which goes to the winner of the net award were Mrs. Henry G. Pratt, Jr., of the Washington Golf and Country Club, and Mrs. Fritz L. Williams of Argyle, all with net scores of 81, very good going under the abominable conditions. The Kenwood putting greens, for example, oftentimes were running streams of water when the clouds opened up and dropped their burden. And most of the Class B women had little experience under those conditions.

After all, most women with handicaps over 18 have not had wide tournament training, and didn't know, for instance, that you could lift a ball around casual water and seek a comparatively dry path to the cup.

The Women's District Golf Association, which has a complete set of rules to cover every situation, came up with the solution to the three-way tie. In previous years the three women would have had to play off. But it isn't done that way nowadays.

Scores Matched Against Par.

They took the handicap of each player in the tie and matched her score against women's par. Mrs.

Hartman, playing with a handicap of 34 strokes, finished 1 down to par. Mrs. Williams, with 21, finished 5 down and took the gross prize for which she had tied with Mrs. Pratt. And Mrs. Pratt took the second net award.

Mrs. Hartman, who succeeds Mrs. F. H. Kramer as the Class B champion, has been playing golf only 2½ years, exactly the length of time in the game of Mrs. Rex Howard, who won the Class A tourney last Tuesday. So truly The Star tourneys this year have become stepping stones to greater glory for comparative neophytes in feminine golf.

The leading scores:

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Seventy-eight feminine golfers will compete Friday in the class B tourney for The Evening Star links trophy, completing the circle of a tournament that may be the biggest in point of entries in any women's golf affair this year. With 75 entered in the class A tourney, won yesterday at Kenwood by Mrs. Rex T. Howard, a total of 155 linkswomen will have played in the two sections of the event started 25 years ago, now in its silver anniversary year. As in the class A tourney yesterday, the winner of the class B affair Friday will receive a War bond, presented by The Star. The class B section of The Star tourney is open to women with handicaps from 19 to 36, inclusive.

Scoring in the class B section will not be as low as that of yesterday, when winsome Mrs. Howard, a bride of two and a half years ago and a golfer about the same length of time, scored 89-18-70 to win the historic trophy with one of the lowest scores in the lengthy history of the affair. Mrs. Howard, born in South Africa, and, according to her, a descendant of Boer settlers, played her home course at Kenwood in the second lowest score she ever has recorded. A few days ago she scored an 87. Her consequent handicap reduction put her in class A instead of class B. And naturally she was happy about the whole thing.

Is Long Driver.

Born Danita Pretorius, in South Africa, she met Cap. Rex Howard in New York while on a "round-the-world" trip. Capt. Howard now is in the Legal Division of the War Department. Mrs. Howard has been in the Capital nearly two years, and plays regularly at Kenwood, where she has a reputation as a long hitter. A few days ago she reached the twelfth green in two shots. The hole is a par-5 affair, around 475 yards in length.

Steady Betty Meckley, a tournament veteran and last year's winner of The Star class A tourney, won the gross award with 78, but was far back in the net event. Mrs. Howard won by six strokes.

Mrs. Price Finishes Second.

In second place, half a dozen shots away, was Mrs. Harold Price of Kenwood, a woman who soon will begin winning tournaments. Mrs. Price scored 87-11-76. Prizes were presented by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association. Leading scorers in the tourney were:

Mrs. Rex T. Howard (Kenwood), 88-18-70; gross: Mrs. Betty P. Meckley (Kenwood), 78; Mrs. Harold Price (Kenwood), 87-11-76; Mrs. J. B. Jenks (Army Navy), 95-18-77; Mrs. R. D. Young (Washington), 95-18-77; Mrs. J. W. Jago (Kenwood), 93-15-77; Mrs. J. H. Bullock (Kenwood), 95-15-77; Mrs. A. A. McKenney (Kenwood), 87-8-78; Mrs. W. Marion Falls (Columbia), 90-12-78; Mrs. W. L. Weible (Kenwood), 97-18-79; Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith (Woodmont), 87-8-79; Mrs. John Ives (Congressional), 88-8-79; Mrs. Walter R. Stokes (Manor), 92-3-79; Mrs. John R. Daily (Manor), 93-13-80; Mrs. C. Mrs. Hartman's 115 Wins Golf

Mrs. Pratt 2d Low In 'B' Tournament

The Women's District Golf Association's system of matching cards instead of playing-off decided yesterday's Star Cup Class "B" tournament and, when the auditing was over, Mrs. C. B. Hartman, of Prince Georges Country Club, walked off with the main award.

Three players—Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. F. L. Williams, of Argyle, and Mrs. H. G. Pratt, of Washington—all slushed their ways around the rain-swept Kenwood course in nets of 81. But Mrs. Hartman's 115-34-81 took low net. Mrs. Pratt's 102-21-81 was second low net and Mrs. Williams elected to take low gross with her round of 102.

Playing in torrents, Mrs. Hartman was to the turn in 59 and back in 56, while Mrs. Williams' nines were 53-49 and Mrs. Pratt's card showed nines of 54 and 48. Two more players tied at nets of 83 for third low net and in the card matching and Mrs. Helen Horner, with 114-31-83, took third, while Mrs. Don Lee, of Washington, with 103-20-83, took fourth.

Mrs. Marty Gordon, of Indian Spring, posting 120-36-84, finished fifth, and Mrs. H. C. Fisher, of Columbia, came next with 110-26-84.

Mrs. Patterson Wins Post Golf Cup

Class B Tourney

Mrs. Thomas Is Defeated In Play-Off

Mrs. William F. Patterson, a consistent campaigner in District women's golf circles for the last several years, won her first trophy tournament yesterday, the Class B section of The Washington Post Cup play at Indian Spring Club.

Mrs. Patterson of the host club won after a two-hole playoff with a clubmate, Mrs. John E. Thomas of Indian Spring, after they tied with net 79's. A field of 37 competed out of the original list of 54 despite the pleasure-driving ban and the fact the tournament was transferred from Kenwood to a course accessible by bus line.

Mrs. Patterson was out in 49 and back in 56 for a 105 and deducted 26 handicap strokes for a 79 while Mrs. Thomas had 51 and 50 for 101, minus 22 for a net 79. They tied with sixes on the first hole of the playoff and Mrs. Patterson won the second with a six to Mrs. Thomas' seven by playing an approach shot within inches of the cup.

Mrs. Thomas actually had the low gross score of 101 but forfeited gross honors by playing for the cup, the low gross thus going to Mrs. H. H. Goodman, a former champion, with 103 after matching cards with Mrs. M. M. Wire of Kenwood, who also had 103. The matching cards method was used instead of a playoff due to the late hour.

Mrs. J. D. Morgan of Kenwood actually had low score of the day, 111—35, 76—but she was playing on a handicap derived from five scores instead of the necessary 10 and entered the tournament for experience.

Mrs. Wire was the third net winner with 103—23, 80, and other net prize winners, in order, were: Mrs. W. L. Horner, Washington, 107—27, 80; Mrs. M. H. Dineen, Washington, 110—30, 80; Mrs. C. A. Olmstead, Washington, 107—26, 81, and Mrs. V. B. Bagnall, Washington, 107—31, 82. Mrs. F. E. Duehring won the prize for the best sport.

Mrs. Patterson will receive a $25 war bond from The Post, while other prizes were awarded by the District Women's Golf Association. Mrs. W. L. Weible, president, and Mrs. Charles Tully, tournament chairman, conducted the event.

Linkswomen Expected to Flock To The Star's Class B Tourney

Accessibility of Chevy Chase Lures Entries; D. C. Seniors May Play in National Event

By WALTER McCALLUM.

With entries to close at noon Friday Mrs. Charles W. Tully of Indian Spring, tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association, expects a large entry in the class B tourney for The Evening Star Trophy. The event, open to players with handicaps over 18, will be played at the Chevy Chase Club next Tuesday.

Chevy Chase is one of the fortunate clubs around town, in being directly on a bus line, the same line which runs farther out to Columbia. Because of this the tourney probably will draw a banner entry list. "We have heard from a few clubs and the entry list is around 30 now," Mrs. Tully said. "But we expect many more between now and Friday."

"This event may bring the biggest entry of the year," said Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the WDGA. "Two tournaments have been postponed, but this one at a club which can be reached by convenient transportation should be very popular."

Winner Will Get Bond.

Following usual custom The Star will present a War bond to the low net winner, Mrs. Charles B. Hartman of Indian Spring, who won last year, has lowered her handicap and now is in class A and ineligible to play in class B events.

Several Washington senior linkswomen are planning to play later this week in the national senior golf tourney at the Apawamis Club of Long Island. John F. McCarron of Manor, Walter R. Tuckerman of Burning Tree, Col. Edward Clifford of Chevy Chase and Ray H. Pickford of Columbia are among those expected to compete in the event for men of 55 and over.

The United States Senior Golf Association long has held these affairs, described as among the "best" golf events held annually. Seniors come from all over the country to play at Apawamis. The championship was won last year by Ellis Knowles of the host club. Tuckerman has been a prominent senior player for several years. McCarron won one of the classes last year.

Mrs. Foley Transfers Twice, Walks Mile to Win Golf Cup

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
Post Staff Writer

Mrs. William E. Foley, who rode three buses and walked a mile to get to the Chevy Chase Club yesterday, lugged her golf bag and shoes, decided it was worth it as she won the Class B section of the Star Cup Tournament with her best competitive round of golf over the long, perfectly conditioned layout. Of the original field of 58, 57 played.

Mrs. Foley, a Kenwood member, who plays daily at Rock Creek, as it is near her home, had the best out nine of the day, a 46 with a 5-4 4-3 start, only one over men's par, and came back in 49 for the 95, lowest score of the day by three strokes.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, who was crowned City of Washington women's tennis champion last Sunday, was second off the tee and posted a net 78 which stood up for nearly three hours before Mrs. Foley turned in her score.

Mrs. Van Ryn, of the host club, equaled her best score with a 104, which included a birdie deuce on the fourth hole when she dropped an 8-foot putt, and a disastrous nine on the fifth where erring shots found all kinds of trouble.

Mrs. C. F. Greene, like Mrs. Van Ryn, playing in her first local golf competition, was one of the two 100-breakers of the day and won low gross with a 48, 50-98, as Mrs. Foley was eligible for only one prize. Mrs. Greene, from Indian Spring, recently moved here from Minnesota.

Third low net went to Mrs. H. H. Goodman of Washington, former Post Cup Class B champion and low gross winner of the '43 Post Cup tournament, who posted a 100-21-79. Mrs. Goodman posted a pair of 50s.

Mrs. E. E. Herrmann of Army and Navy won fourth low net over Mrs. J. Y. York, also of the service club, by matching cards, Mrs. Harrman scoring 52-48, 100-19-81, and Mrs. York 49-51, 100-19-81.

Mrs. Frank Murray, Congressional, with 109-27-82, won sixth low net by matching cards with Mrs. M. M. Alexander, Washington, who had 118-36-82. The prize list was completed with Mrs. W. T. Horner, Washington, who had 105-22-83, and won in a draw over Mrs. L. A. Wells, Kenwood, whose 112-29-83 was drawn out of the prize list.

Mrs. Foley's Golf Victory Due To Practice, Perseverance

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Constant practice did the work for Mrs. William E. Foley, newest winner of the class B tourney for The Evening Star Trophy. Gasoline rationing restrictions forbade daily practice at her home course at Kenwood Golf and Country Club, but a little thing like lack of transportation didn't faze the genial woman, who, by her winning round of 95-20-75 at Chevy Chase yesterday, is due for a handicap slash that will put her in class A in the Women's District Golf Association tourneys.

Her home is near Rock Creek Park, which is a long way from Kenwood. So she totes her clubs several times a week over to the hilly Rock Creek layout and plays with a little group of women who have banded together to hold twice-a-week tourneys. To this steady practice she gives credit for her victory yesterday. But she admits walking nearly a mile, as she did yesterday, from Chevy Chase Circle to the Chevy Chase Club, carrying a golf bag, is no sinecure.

Could Use Fewer Clubs.

"I could get along with about four clubs," she laughed, "instead of the eight I carry. Some are useless weight."

Mrs. Foley is the wife of a telephone company official and never before has figured high in the winning of an important tourney. But yesterday she was all alone, three strokes in front, and near the end of the parade of 57 starters in The Star tourney. She will receive a War bond, donated by The Star.

For hours winsome Mrs. John Van Ryn, a two-sport star, winner three days ago of The Star's City of Washington tennis tourney singles title, topped the field with 98-19-78.

The gross award went to Mrs.

C. F. Greene of Indian Spring, one of the two women to break 100, with a 98. Mrs. Foley, with her leading 95, elected to take The Star Trophy and first net prize. Mrs. Charles B. Hartman, last year's winner, graduated into Class A, as will Mrs. Foley, and was not eligible to defend in the tourney for women with handicaps over 18.

The Star tourney is the last major women's event until September, unless the District Golf Association stages a mixed foursome tournament. This is being arranged, according to Dr. A. T. Utz, prexy of the DGA.

Here are the scores in The Star class B. tourney:

Mrs. W. E. Foley (Kenwood), 95-20-75.	Mrs. John Van Ryn (Chevy Chase), 104-26-78.	Mrs. C. F. Greene (Indian Spring), 98-19-79.	Mrs. H. H. Goodman (Washington), 100-21-79.	Mrs. J. Y. Year's Top Golf Field Of 57 Women After Star's B Trophy

Tourney at Chevy Chase Tuesday; Mrs. Pray Sets Hinshaw Meet Pace

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Fifty-seven competitors, the largest group yet to start in a 1943 feminine golf tourney, will play in the class B event for The Evening Star Trophy Tuesday at Chevy Chase Club over a carefully groomed course. The class B tourney is open only to women with handicaps over 18 strokes and the affair has drawn entries from all the clubs around town.

To be played at a course easily reached by bus, the tourney may be the high mark in entries in womens golf affairs this year. It will bring forth a new winner, since Mrs. Charles B. Hartman, last year's victor, has so reduced her handicap that she is in class A.

Following usual custom The Star will present the winner with a War bond. Other prizes will be given by the Women's District Golf Association.

Aug 9/43

Six Meets for Women.

Mrs. Walter L. Welble, president of the Women's District Golf Association, reminds of six events still on the summer schedule. These are:

August 24, Duffers tournament at Indian Spring; 31, Times-Herald Class A at Kenwood.

September 10, Corby Cup at Columbia; 14, Columbia Broadcasting at Washington; 21, Times-Herald Class B at Kenwood; 28, National Broadcasting at Washington.

Entries for these tourneys must be in by four days prior to start with Mrs. Charles Tully, chairman of the Tournament Committee.

Mrs. Karl S. Giles and H. M. Byington, jr., were medalists in the starts of two club events yesterday. Mrs. Giles posted an 87 for low honors in the women's club championship at Indian Spring in which she is defending champion. Mrs. Frank Mirth and Betty Ling followed with 91s, while other championship flight qualifiers were Mrs. J. T. Powell, 94; Mrs. Charles Tully, 96; Mrs. John Madigan, 96; Mrs. Willard Edwards, 99, and Mrs. M. C. Gordon, 104.

Mrs. Murray Wins Duffer Golf

Mrs. Frank Murray of Congressional Country Club triumphed over a field of 32 feminine golfers at Indian Spring yesterday to win the DCWGA annual Duffer's Cup Tourney. In addition to the mug, she also laid claim to a $25 war bond and the Class B championship of the District by virtue of her card of 103-26-77.

It was no easy victory, however, for Mrs. E. A. Swingle, also of Congressional, turned in a similar net score, posting a 102-25-77. In matching cards for the trophy, Mrs. Murray was one down to par while Mrs. Swingle's three down to par was good for runner-up honors of the tournament.

The low gross golfer of the day was Mrs. George Jani, also representing Congressional, with a 97.

Other prize winners of the tourney, which was played over a sweltering, but fast course, were: Mrs. V. A. Catozella (Army-Navy Country Club), 100-22-78; Mrs. E. L. Duffies (Washington Golf and Country Club), 98-19-79, and Mrs. Ed Fay (Washington Golf and Country Club), 104-24-80.

Mrs. H. O. Porter of Columbia also posted a net 80 with a score of 101-21-80, but in matching cards Mrs. Fay's two down to par was good for the final prize.

Mrs. F. G. Butler of Indian Spring turned in a 111-31-80, to barely miss finishing in the money.

Extensive Golf Schedule Set At Indian Spring

District women golfers will open an extensive late summer-fall schedule Friday as guests of the Indian Spring Women's Golf Committee in Field Day events, open to all association members.

On the same day Mrs. Charles Tully, tournament chairman of the DCWGA will close entries for the Duffer's Cup event to be played next Tuesday at Indian Spring over the 18-hole medal play handicap route. Tully will close entries at noon Friday and will accept them at the Four Corners Club. The Duffer's is for players with handicaps of 19 through 36.

A field of more than 50 players is expected for the Indian Spring Field Day. The usual 18-hole medal handicap tournament will be supplemented by driving, approaching and putting contests. Prizes will be in War Stamps.

Entries will be accepted on the tee as pairings will not be made in advance. The Four Corners bus, from the District Line in Silver Spring, runs within a hundred yards of the club.

Mrs. Frank Murray Wins Golf Tourney

Mrs. Frank Murray, Congressional, won yesterday's District Women's Golf Association's duffers tournament at Indian Spring, turning in a net score of 77. She went around in 103 strokes, and was aided by a 26 handicap.

Mrs. E. A. Swingle, likewise representing Congressional, also had a 77, with 102-25, but in matching cards against par, Mrs. Murray was 1 down and Mrs. Swingle 3 down, giving Mrs. Murray the trophy and a $25 War bond.

Low gross of the day was registered by Mrs. George Jani, Congressional, with 97. Other low scores were: Mrs. V. A. Catozella (Army Navy Country Club), 100-22-78; Mrs. E. L. Duffies (Washington Golf and Country Club), 98-19-79, and Mrs. Ed Fay (Washington Golf and Country Club), 104-24-80.

"That's what's so discouraging—get on the green in eleven and then take four putts!"

Golf Slate Crowded, Women May Shift September Dates

Are Deemed Too Many
By WDGA Official

Women golfers have three Class B events scheduled for the week of September 20 at three clubs, but Mrs. Charles W. Tully, tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association, doesn't think this rigorous schedule will stick.

The events are on September 20 for the Times-Herald Cup at Kenwood, September 21 for the Columbia Broadcasting Co. Trophy at Washington and September 27 for the Duffers' Cup at Indian Spring.

"Three in one week is too many," said Mrs. Tully. "We'll have to make a change in that schedule." Two more tourneys are slated during the same month, the Class A Times-Herald Trophy affair September 6 at Kenwood and the Corby Cup—a Class A event—on September 10 at Columbia. If the present schedule is retained September will be a busy month for the linkswomen. Indian Spring will stage a field day August 20.

Some of the gals, concerned over getting home by bus and streetcar, favor rescinding the Women's District Golf Association rule that would take away a prize from a competitor who doesn't remain for the prize presentation.

Some complained after The Star Cup event at Chevy Chase that they had to wait three hours and more for the presentation. "With transportation as it is that isn't fun," one woman said. "Couldn't prizes be mailed or distributed in some other way?"

Gerry Weible Winner At Kenwood With 76

A. U. Grad Takes Times-Herald Cup;
Mrs. Meckley Wins Low Gross With 80.

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
Post Staff Writer

Gerry Weible, 22-year-old American University graduate who will give up golfing for school teaching next week, yesterday won the Times-Herald Cup at Kenwood Country Club with a gross 88, minus 12 handicap strokes for a winning net 76.

Miss Weible, daughter of Brig. Gen. Walter L. Weible and Mrs.

Weible, president of the District Women's Golf Association, accepted the cup from her proud mother at the conclusion, a first-time occurrence in DCWGA records.

Miss Weible, who tied for the Corby Cup two years ago but lost in the playoff, won by a single stroke over Mrs. J. Y. York of Army and Navy, mother of another young girl golfer, Ann York. Mrs. York had a pair of 47s for a 94, minus 17 handicap strokes for a net 77.

Jane Nelson Fails

The expected low-scoring competition for low gross between Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley, winner of many gross awards over a period of years, and the young challenger, Jane Nelson, failed to develop as the youngster took a 10 on the fourth hole in a fit of temperament after a fine start on the first three holes.

Mrs. Meckley was low scorer for the day by seven shots with a 42, 38—80, a round which included a half-dozen one-putt greens and four three-putters. The only other 90-breakers were Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Columbia, 87; Miss Weible and Mrs. L. G. Pray, Manor, 89.

Miss Weible played consistent golf from tee to green in winning her first cup tournament, going over fives only three times and then on the longest holes. She was seldom out of the fairway and putted in workmanlike fashion, with no three-putt greens and only a pair of one-putt efforts. On the third hole an approach shot spun around the cup but refused to drop for a birdie.

Starts Off Well

Miss Nelson, the 15-year-old girl golfer whose improvement and practice scores have been sensational, started 4—5—4 and was on the fourth green in two, but when her second putt missed the cup she raked at the ball in disgust and before she had finally holed out she had taken 10 strokes. She posted a 48, 45—93 for the day.

Other net prize winners were, in order: Mrs. E. E. Herrmann, Army and Navy, 96-17, 79; Mrs. A. A. Morrill, Kenwood, 96-16, 80; Mrs. R. E. Zuber, Manor, 97-17, 80; Mrs. J. C. White, Chevy Chase, 97-16, 81, and Mrs. Frank Mirth, Indian Spring, 95-14, 81. Three just missed out with net 82s, Mrs. Weible with 100-18, 82; Mrs. Arnold Wilcox, 94-12, 82, and Mrs. F. L. Williams, 98-16, 82. More than $75 in war stamps and bonds were presented the winners.

Tops Tourney At Kenwood With Net 76

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Gerry Weible, the pretty 22-year-old daughter of a brigadier general in the United States Army and the president of the Women's District Golf Association, walked off with the Times-Herald trophy yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club with a net score of 76.

Miss Weible, who only recently graduated from American University and who is to begin a teaching career this fall, toured her home course in 88 strokes and was aided by a handicap allowance of 12. Getting out in 45 and returning in 43, Miss Weible was able to eke out victory by the slim margin of a stroke over Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, a clubmate, and Mrs. J. Y. York of Army and Navy Country Club.

War Bonds as Prizes

Mrs. Meckley, the duration Middle Atlantic champion, was one of the first to finish and her posted card of 80-3-77 stood until Miss Weible came along to displace it. But Kenwood Club's big star took down her second consecutive low gross prize in the tournament with her 80.

Mrs. Meckley was out in 42 and returned in 38, and she could have finished in a tie for the coveted trophy had she not three-putted the seventh green from 15 feet away. Both Mrs. Meckley and Miss Weible received war bonds as prizes from the Times-Herald.

Mrs. York, a late finisher, took the second low net award after having posted a gross round of 94 in the Class A tourney for low handicap players. The service club player's 17-stroke handicap further reduced her score to 77.

Mrs. Hermann Third

Mrs. E. E. Hermann, another Army and Navy Country Club entrant, took down the third low net award with a 79. Turning in a gross card of 96, she had the use of a 17-stroke handicap.

Two players, Mrs. A. A. Morrell, of Kenwood, and Mrs. R. E. Zuber, of Manor, finished with net scores of 80, but the River Road Club representative toted off the fourth low net, and this time Mrs. J. C. card-matching system. Mrs. Morrell had a gross round of 96 with a 16-stroke handicap, while Mrs. Zuber had a gross of 97 and a 17-shot handicap, the latter gaining the fifth-place award.

A tie also developed for sixth low net, and this time Mrs. J. C. White, of Chevy Chase Club, earned the nod over Mrs. Frank Mirth, of Indian Spring. Mrs. White posted a round of 97-16-81; Mrs. Smith had 95-14-81.

Thirty-four players teed off in the tournament and, oddly enough, all but two turned in scores.

The biggest disappointment of the tourney was Jane Nelson, the 16-year-old protege of Kenwood Club's professional, George Dffenbaugh. This young star, who hits the ball off the tee like a man, was 93 for her first major tournament effort.

Mrs. Herrman Wins Corby Tou

Second Start In Class A Captures Cup

Winner of Third
Net in Herald Cup
Play Upsets Dope;
Mrs. Meckley Gross

Mrs. E. E. Herrmann of Army and Navy Club made her second start in a Class A tournament of the District Women's Golf Association a winning one yesterday and won the Corby Cup at Columbia Country Club with a 94-17, 77.

Less than a month ago Mrs. Herrmann reduced her handicap from Class B to Class A and in her first venture in the select group won third net in the Herald Cup play last week.

Scoring in yesterday's tournament hit an unexplainable high as only 27 players of the 54 starters turned in cards and only Mrs. Betty Meckley, who won gross for the fifth time, broke 90.

Mrs. Herrmann was out in 51 but came back in 43, the second lowest back nine of the day. The new Corby Cup winner had only one 6 on her back nine card and won by a margin of 4 shots among the net scores.

Mrs. Meckley paired consistent 42s for an 84 in dominating the gross scores. The next best efforts were 90s by Mrs. L. G. Pray and Mrs. W. H. Wise and a 92 by Jane Nelson, the 15-year-old girl golfer from Kenwood.

Second low net went to Mrs. W. H. Wise, the long hitter from Kenwood, with 90-7, 83, while other net prize winners, in order, were Mrs. J. Y. York, Army and Navy, playing partner of the champion, 100-16, 84; Elinor Finckel, Columbia, 93-9, 84; Mrs. W. B. Severn, Chevy Chase, 94-9, 85; Mrs. L. G. Pray, Manor, 90-5, 85; Mrs. J. F. Gross, Columbia, 98-12, 86, including a 9 on the par 3 sixteenth; Mrs. Douglas Tschiffely, Washington, 100-14, 86, and Mrs. A. A. Morrill, Kenwood, 102-16, 86. The matching cards method of deciding ties left Mrs. Fritz Williams, Argyle, and Mrs. McNitt, Kenwood, out of the prime list.

A New Champion Is Crowned

Five Players Tie for Low Gross of 101

Mrs. E. A. Swingle Gets Gross Prize Because of Best Of Low Net Scores

Mrs. E. C. Atwood, another of the comparative newcomers to District women's golf, from Springfield, Mass., won the CBS Cup yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club with a gross 104, minus 28 handicap strokes for a net 76, low score for the day by two strokes. Mrs. Atwood's prize was the cup for a year and a war bond.

Mrs. Atwood won the fourth annual tournament for the Class B players with an out nine of 50 and a return trip of 54, aided by a well-behaved putter. In a previous start in Class B play Mrs. Atwood finished out of the prize list, but was a playing partner of the winner, Mrs. W. E. Foley, in the Star Cup.

No One Broke 100

The golfing gals ran into complications in awarding the gross prize as five tied with the lowest score of the day, 101, as not a single player in the starting field of 36 managed to break the century mark despite perfect conditions.

Of the five 101 shooters Mrs. E. A. Swingle, association handicap chairman from Kenwood, was awarded gross on the basis of finishing highest on the net prize list. Mrs. Swingle was out in 47 and despite higher scoring on the back nine still had an opportunity to win the cup until she ran into a big eight on the 18th hole for 47-54, 101-23, 78.

The other 101 scorers were drawn from a hat and awarded on the net list in the following order: Mrs. M. S. Shahan, Indian Spring, another inconsistent scorer with 56-45, 101, 22, 79; Mrs. J. R. DeFarges, a charter member of the DCWGA from Columbia, 50-51, 101-19, 82; Mrs. V. B. Barnall, Washington, 47-54, 101-22, 79, and Mrs. H. A. Carragher, also of the host club which supplied half of the entries and half of the prize winners, 50-51, 101-22, 79.

Mrs. Hutchinson Sixth

Sixth low net went to Mrs. L. E. Hutchinson, Washington, 54, 53-107-28-79; seventh to Mrs. J. E. DeLashmutt, Washington, 56, 55-111-27-84; eighth to Mrs. Frank Murray, Kenwood, 52, 51-103-24-79, and the prize list was completed with Mrs. E. A. J. Fay, Washington, 55, 50-105-24-81.

The next tournament the schedule for the Class B players is the Times-Herald Cup next Tuesday at Kenwood. Entries close Friday at noon with Mrs. Charles Tully, tournament chairman.

Red Cross Golf To Be Played As Scheduled

Although the Class B section of the Times-Herald Cup play scheduled yesterday at Kenwood was postponed due to the soggy condition of the course, the District Golf Association's Mixed Scotch Four-some event will be played as scheduled today at Chevy Chase.

The last tournament of the season for the women golfers in the upper handicap bracket will be played next week, probably on Friday. The postponement will mean a slight extension in the women's schedule as the last scheduled event is the NBC Cup for Class A players next Tuesday at Washington Golf and Country Club. Entries close on Friday.

The Red Cross is already assured of $100 from today's mixed tournament at Chevy Chase from entry fees of $5 per team with 20 duos entered to date. Dr. W. C. Barr, secretary of the DGA, will accept post entries on the tee and field may be doubled by the late starters.

Play will be selective drives and alternate shots with half the combined handicap allowance. Club handicaps may be used. Prizes will be in war stamps.

Helen Dettweiler Soon to Gain Her Wings in Ferry Command

Links Queen Is Natural Flyer, Declares Dick Flynn From D. C., Her Instructor

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Winging her way soon over the airways of the world will be Helen Dettweiler, former feminine golf pro and sometime holder of all the links titles in this sector. Helen is at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Tex., finishing training as a member of the Women's Auxiliary Flying Service, a division of the Army Air Force Ferry Command.

Until the middle of the last winter Helen held an important post in the War Department, but she always has had a yen for flying. In March she transferred to the Ferry Command and went to Cleveland, where she took many hours of flying instruction, some of the time with Dick Flynn, former Washington golf salesman, now an Army flight instructor.

Helen Proves Natural Flyer.

Flynn predicts a brilliant career for Helen in this new field of aviation. "I gave her about 20 hours of instruction," he said, "and she took to it like a duck to water. She has the same smoothness of control, the same quiet determination and the same keen spirit she showed in golf."

When Helen gets her flying commission she will be piloting the big transport ships anywhere, perhaps to England, perhaps to other spots along the far-flung fronts of this global war. Women are doing the job and doing it well, releasing male pilots for service in combat areas.

The Ferry Command is a non-combat service, ferrying planes and materiel to theaters outside combat areas. In the combat zones the Troop Carrier Command takes over. They are the boys who ferry troops in the zones where bullets fly. Women have not been used in this work.

A Topflighter in Golf.

Helen Dettweiler was a top links-woman. She won the Middle Atlantic and Maryland championships and generally was rated—around 1937—at the crest of the women in this area. She turned pro a year or two later and won the Women's Western Open championship, one of the major feminine tourneys held in this country. Soon after Pearl Harbor, when the golf manufacturing companies turned to war work, she went with the War Department. Now she is on her way to becoming a glamour girl of the air, as she was on the fairways.

Women Golfers Seek NBC Cup

Low handicap players of the District Women's Golf Association will bring their season to a close today in the Class A NBC Cup Tournament at Washington Golf and Country Club with a field of 60, largest of the season.

Today is also the second entry closing date for the Times-Herald Class B Tournament which will be played Friday at Kenwood. The event was originally to have been played last week but was postponed due to rain.

Gerry Weible Wins Women's Class A Cup Play After Tie

Golfers Have Biggest Week of Year With Three Tourneys

Biggest week of a skimpy competitive links season finds three tournaments scheduled as the grand windup of a year of comparative inaction among the golfers.

Two feminine tourneys and one for the men are billed this week. Tuesday at Washington the National Broadcasting Co. affair for Class A women will be played. Friday at Kenwood the postponed Times-Herald event for Class B linkswomen is scheduled, moved forward from September 21 because of weather.

For the men the Kenwood Golf and Country Club invitation affair Thursday, an 18-hole event which normally would be just another one-day affair, becomes the biggest tourney of the season. Invitations have been sent to a selected group of about 30 amateurs and to all the pros around town. A small entry fee will be charged.

Today at the Washington Golf and Country Club Claude Rippy, probably the best amateur golfer around Washington, will meet Maj. R. F. Alexander for the club championship.

Rippy has been the hottest amateur around town this year, although he hasn't played in competition up to the Washington club title tourney. His stunts include a 62 and a 64 at Washington, which happen to be 8 and 6 under par over a short course where the premium is on putting ability.

Manor will revive its annual field day after a season of comparative inactivity. The affair will be staged October 16 with the usual array of golf events for special prizes. A dinner, with entertainment, will follow.

Indian Spring Country Club members take off today in a chase after Volney Burnet; and the par-busting 69-the fireman shot to lead the pack in the medal round of the club championship. Pairings will be made tonight for match play.

60 in N.B.C. Women's Golf on Tuesday

The National Broadcasting Company Trophy tournament, last Class A women's event of the golf season here, will be played on Tuesday at Washington Golf and Country Club. Sixty players have entered.

The postponed Times-Herald tourney has been rescheduled for Friday at Kenwood, with same times and pairings as originally announced. Additional entries may be made until noon tomorrow, however.

Mrs. Godfrey In Deadlock At Net 77

Mrs. Halloran's 79 Lowest Gross Total But Official Ruling Disallows Score

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
Post Staff Writer

Gerry Weible, the 22-year-old girl golfer, who aspires to be a school teacher, won the NBC Cup tournament yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club, the Kenwood player's second Class A cup triumph in three weeks.

Miss Weible won over the largest field of the season but it was close as the winner's score of 89-12, 77, was tied by Mrs. John Godfrey, Congressional, who had 87-10, 77, in her third round of golf in a year but lost out by matching cards.

With most of the field reported Miss Weible's mother, Mrs. Walter L. Weible, the DWGA president, was low for the day with one of her best rounds, 96-18 76, but along came daughter Gerry to top her mother's score by a stroke and then Mrs. Godfrey, last player to finish, tried hard for an 8-foot putt on the last hole but missed and dropped into a temporary tie.

Confusion Covers Awards

The association officials ran into confusion in awarding the low gross prize but there was no doubt as to who posted the best score. The honor went to a comparative newcomer, Mr. F. J. Halloran, an 11-time club champion in New York and Connecticut and 10-time qualifier for the women's national.

Mrs. Halloran, also of Kenwood, one of the principal stockholders of the New York Yankees, played the course in 39-40, 79, but the rules committee, in an extremely complicated ruling, announced she could not compete for low gross because she had not reported five outside net scores. That left Mrs. Betty Meekley as "official" low gross scorer with an 84.

More than $100 in war bonds and stamps were included as prizes with Miss Weible winning a $25 bond. Gerry ran into trouble with a big six on the par 3 second, but she was consistent from that point with nines of 46 and 43. Mrs. Godfrey was off to an excellent start on both nines, par-birdie on the first and birdie-par on the second, but she was erratic from lack of play. Mrs. Weible had three sixes on par 3 holes which hurt her score.

Mrs. Wise Wins

Fourth low net went to Mrs. William Wise, the long hitter from Kenwood, whose back nine of 40 in an 86, 7-79 was one of the best of the day. Mrs. Alexander Cushing, Army and Navy's Post and Star Cup champion, was next with another 86, 7-79, followed by Mrs. A. C. Minnix, Columbia, 93, 14-79.

Five ties at net 80 were decided in the following order by matching cards: Mrs. W. M. Falls, Columbia, 83, 8-80; Mrs. J. F. Gross, Columbia, 92, 12-80; Mrs. F. W. Evans, Kenwood, 89, 9-80; Mrs. H. H. Goodman, Washington, 77, 17-80; and Mrs. H. A. Knox, three-time president of the association, 94, 14-80.

The event concluded the season for the low handicap players. Next event will be the postponed Times Herald Class B Cup play Friday at Kenwood and by invitation only the President's Plate will conclude the season October 12 at Kenwood.

Burns (Army and Navy), Mrs. N. A. Chapin (Army and Navy); 2:00, Mrs. M. S. Shahan (Indian Spring), and Mrs. F. E. Berquist (Kenwood).

Mrs. Burns Wins Class B Golf Tourney

Mrs. Robert B. Burns of the Army-Navy Club, a newcomer to Washington women's golf ranks, yesterday captured low net honors in the Times-Herald Cup Class B Tournament at Kenwood with a card of 96—22—74.

Wife of a naval lieutenant, Mrs. Burns abandoned golf for a period of 10 years until resuming the game five months ago in her native Los Angeles. She qualified for yesterday's tournament by playing a special round last week in order that her handicap could be established.

Mrs. E. C. Atwood of Kenwood was the low gross winner with a card of 107—34—73, acquiring that honor in a draw with Mrs. H. B. Willie of Washington, who had a 107—21—86 score and was awarded second low net.

Other scores:

Mrs. M. M. Alexander (Washington), 117—30—87; Mrs. M. S. Shahan (Indian Spring), 109—21—88; Mrs. G. O. O'Neil (Washington), 118—30—88; Mrs. J. P. Brantley (Kenwood), 113—24—89; Mrs. J. Klopp (Indian Spring), 124—34—90; Mrs. H. C. Fisher (Columbia), 116—24—92; Mrs. H. L. Lacey (Manor), 113—21—92; Mrs. Charles Jostes (Indian Spring), 115—22—93.

Event for Woman Golf Officials Next on List; Mrs. Burns Wins

One and possibly two more tourneys face the woman golfers around town before they call the 1943 season a closed book. The President's Plate event, open to present officers and past presidents of the Women's District Golf Association, will be held at Kenwood October 12 and the girls are talking about holding a mixed foursome tourney as a variation to the round of 18-hole medal play affairs.

These wound up yesterday with another new winner in the person of Mrs. Robert B. Burns of the Army Navy Country Club, who won the Times-Herald Class B trophy at Kenwood with a card of 96—22—74. Coming in late at the end of a day of unpleasant weather, Mrs. Burns, wife of a Navy lieutenant and a former resident of Los Angeles, Calif., won the mug by nine strokes. Mrs. Burns had played little golf for 10 years, but took it up again a few months ago. She won both gross and net awards, but took the net and the cup.

Second both in gross and net was Mrs. E. C. Atwood of Kenwood, with 107—24—83. She took the gross prize. Other winners were:

Mrs. H. B. Willie (Washington), 107—21—86; Mrs. M. M. Alexander (Washington), 117—30—87; Mrs. M. S. Shahan (Indian Spring), 109—21—88; Mrs. G. O'Neil (Washington), 118—30—88; Mrs. J. P. Brantley (Kenwood), 113—24—89; Mrs. J. Klopp (Indian Spring), 124—34—90; Mrs. H. C. Fisher (Columbia), 116—24—92; Mrs. H. L. Lacey (Manor), 113—21—92; Mrs. C. Jostes (Indian Spring), 115—22—93; Mrs. F. E. Berquist (Indian Spring).

Testimonial to the wish of the women to play despite bad weather was the fact that 34 started, most of whom turned in scores.

Admiral William H. Standley, until recently Ambassador to Russia, had no chance to play golf in Moscow, although he batted cotton practice ball around his quarters at the American Embassy. Now he has a chance and time to play. He played at Columbia with Lt. Gen. Ben Lear. The score was not recorded, but he did all right. Before the war Admiral Standley frequently played at the Army Navy Country Club.

"Concede it?"

New Golf Rules Likely to Get Few Followers

Strictly unimportant in a war year when tournaments (around Washington) are rare occasions, are the changes in the rules of golf just announced by the United States Golf Association. The USGA remains the bellwether of the game, and the official rules body, but it has not held a tournament since 1941.

Since all the clubs around Washington use winter rules (in all seasons) nowadays, in order to save golf balls and turf, it isn't important that under the rules a ball now may be lifted from a flock of situations which had not before been defined by the USGA. Under winter rules the player would just place the ball and forget the rule anyhow. But when golf becomes normal again, and the ball must be played where it lies it may be important to know that if your ball rolls into a paper bag in a bunker, or up against a bottle, you can move it (the ball). That opponent with the eagle eye should know it, too.

Nor is it important that a section of the 14-club rule making it a rule violation to borrow clubs from your boy friend has been left out of the newest rule book. Most people forgot it anyhow.

A couple of years ago, in a District championship, some of the woman golfers, who go by the book anyhow, were exercised because one competitor felt the grain of the grass before she stroked her putt. There were frowns and whispers and talk of possible penalty, but nothing was done. Now it can't be done, under the new rule, which says: "A practice stroke with a ball during a round is not permissible, nor is rolling a ball by hand or other similar act to test a putting surface."

The new rules are all apple sauce anyhow. None but the extreme purists will abide by them, and the rest don't care. Maybe the USGA had better save printing until the end of the war and people begin again (if they do) to regard those things seriously.

"No, Lady, it's you hit the ball, and I carry the clubs"

Although Mrs. Walter L. Weible, thrice president of the Women's District Golf Association, will be considered for a fourth term when the nominating committee meets next month, she prefers, she says, to turn the presidency over to some one else. "I'd like to see a low handicap player, with her experience and her knowledge of the game, as president," said Mrs. Weible.

Women Golfers Ask Fourth Term For Mrs. Weible

District Women's Golf Association officials will conclude the season in the annual President's Plate tournament today at Kenwood Club, and in an informal meeting Mrs. Walter L. Weible is expected to be petitioned to serve a fourth term as president.

The President's Plate is for officials and past Presidents only and more than 30 players are expected to tee off between 10 and 11 a. m.

The annual business meeting and election of officers, to be held in December, will be discussed informally today and a date will be set for a November meeting of the nominating committee. Mrs. W. H. Wise of Kenwood, has taken over the duties of handicap chairman, succeeding Mrs. Fred Evans of the same club, who has left the city to join her husband, Brig-Gen. Evans, in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Bullock Wins Kenwood Officers' Play

Mrs. J. H. Bullock won the District Women's Golf Association's annual President's Plate tournament yesterday at Kenwood Club, the annual event for officers and past presidents which brought an end to a highly successful competitive season.

Mrs. Bullock, of the host club, posted a gross 95 and minus 14 handicap strokes her net 81 stood up over a field of 27 players. Low gross went to Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Columbia, with an 89.

Mrs. Frank Mirth, the association's prize chairman from Indian Spring, was second with 96-14, 82, while other low net scores were turned in by Mrs. W. E. Hall, Columbia, 95-12, 83; Mrs. C. B. Hartman, Indian Spring, 99-16, 83; Mrs. Robert Keebler, Kenwood, 100-16, 84; Mrs. Marvin Wire, Kenwood, 107-22, 85; Mrs. W. H. Wise, Kenwood, 92-7, 85, and Mrs. Garrett White, Chevy Chase, 100-15, 85.

Mrs. M. H. Dineen, Washington, won low putts with 35, to par 36 for Mrs. W. C. Geleng, Columbia. Match play against par winner was Mrs. Hall, four down.

Mrs. Stokes' 81 Captures Low Gross Honors

Manor Star Shoots
37 on Outgoing Nine,
Finishes With 2 Sixes

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, diminutive Columbia Country Club golfer, negotiated the rolling hills of Washington Golf and Country Club's course in a net of 16 yesterday to capture the annual Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Tournament.

The pretty wife of a Navy Lieutenant Commander posted a gross card of 87 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 11 strokes. Reaching the turn in 44, Mrs. Maxwell faltered a bit on the last two holes but was still good enough to win by a margin of two shots. And those same two holes tripped the chances of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor Country Club, of stealing the entire show.

Scores 37 on First Nine

The Manor player breezed around the front nine of the hilly Virginia course in a great 37, but ran into trouble aplenty on her journey home. Coming to the last two holes needing par to duplicate Mrs. Betty P. Meckley's 1941 feat of taking both the low gross and net awards, Mrs. Stokes sent an erring tee shot into the ditch on the seventeenth to take a six and then three-putted the home green to take another six.

Mrs. Stokes first ran into trouble on the back nine when she took a disastrous seven at the unlucky thirteenth and then a hooked tee shot put her into a ditch at the fifteenth to give her another six. By accepting low gross with her 81 Mrs. Stokes automatically dumped second low net into the lap of Ann Reh of the host club, who took the honor in a draw from Ann York, of Army and Navy.

Has 15-Stroke Allowance

Miss Reh, getting out in 49 and back in 45 for a gross of 94, was aided by a handicap of 15 shots while Miss York was to the turn in 49 and back in 46 and was allowed a 16-stroke deduction in handicap. Mrs. Max Taylor, of Manor, came next among the Class A players with 96-16-80.

Second low gross was divided between Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, and the defending champion, Mrs. Meckley, of Kenwood, with 85's. Mrs. Meckley with a 5-6-6 start on the first three holes got to the turn in 44 and returned in 41 while Mrs. Pray was out in 42 and back in 43.

Mrs. T. S. O'Halloran, of Washington, took down the laurels in Class B with a net of 74 made possible by a gross score of 109 and a handicap of 35 strokes. Mrs. J. Y. York, of Army and Navy, was second with 98-21-77 and Mrs. Don Lee of the host club third with 103-21-82.

Washington made a clean sweep of the prizes in Class C. Mrs. J. H. Farrar, with 111-26-85, won first on the draw from Mrs. J. E. McCabe, 107-22-85; and Mrs. S. C. Hopkins, 109-24-85. Mrs. McCabe took second and Mrs. Hopkins finished third.

Cards of the victors are as follows:

Mrs. Maxwell:

Mrs. Rex J. Howard, a pretty girl from South Africa, who is married to a captain in the United States Army, turned yesterday's Women's District Golf Association tournament for the Star Trophy into a rout.

The long-hitting protege of Kenwood Golf and Country Club's George Duffenbaugh negotiated her home course in 88 strokes and aided by a handicap allowance of 18 strokes posted a net of 70 to win by a walkaway of six shots. Getting to the turn in 40 strokes, the inexperienced Kenwood golfer faltered a bit on the journey home to take a 48, but even then her nearest competitors, clubmates Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Harold Price, were held handily at bay.

Mrs. Meckley Has 78

Mrs. Meckley, the Maryland State champion, who was playing companion to Mrs. Howard's great round, carried off the first low gross award with a fine round of 39-39-78. Mrs. Price came into second low net when her round of 42-45-87 was reduced to 76 by a 11-stroke deduction in handicap.

Mrs. Howard, who couldn't break 100 when she came to Kenwood last year, has had remarkable success with her game and only a few days ago had her handicap lowered enough to compete in yesterday's Class A division of the tournament. The B class field does not compete until Friday.

Mrs. George H. Bailey, of Washington, broke the Kenwood monopoly by taking third low net with a net of 77—earned by the card-matching system from 10 other 77 shooters. Mrs. Bailey posted a 43-42-85, and aided by an eight-stroke handicap, automatically took third, while the others had to go out to play or

Mrs. Jenks Wins Playoff

Mrs. A. B. Jenks, of Army and Navy Country Club, wife of the Congressman from New Hampshire, who posted 48-47-95-18-77, defeated Mrs. R. D. Young, of Washington, who had an identical score, on the very first hole of their play-off with a five. Then Mrs. J. W. Jago and Mrs. J. H. Bullock, both of Kenwood, and both of whom posted cards of 92-15-77, were forced to go four holes before Mrs. Jago won from her clubmate.

Marion Brown Back In Golf as Bidder In Star Tourney

Class A Action Slated Tuesday and Section B Friday at Kenwood

Marion Brown, former Middle Atlantic and District women's golf champion, returns to links competition Tuesday in the 25th tourney for The Evening Star Trophy.

The Class A section of the tournament, for women with handicaps up to 18, will be held Tuesday at Kenwood.

The Class B section of the annual event, inaugurated in 1917, will be held Friday over the same course. Entries for the Class B section close tomorrow with Mrs. Carter Magruder, tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association.

War bonds are to be given by The Star to the net winner in each class, supplanting the usual silver cups. This is in line with wartime custom this year among the feminine golfers.

Marion Brown will be competing in her first big tourney in three years. After winning the Middle Atlantic and District championships in 1938, she dropped out of competition with the exception of one tourney and has played only occasional rounds of golf at Manor, her home course. She says she has not played enough to bring her game back to its old peak of perfection, when she was a highly rated tournament competitor and one with a future in national links affairs.

All the top-ranking feminine stars around town are included in the entry list of 73 women.

Gas Rationing Cuts Field for Tuesday

A field of 73 feminine golfers will participate in the Star Cup tournament to be conducted Tuesday at Kenwood Country Club, starting at 8:45 a.m.

Although the field has been reduced by the gas rationing, virtually all of Washington's top-notch women golfers will be in action.

Mrs. Betty Meckley and Mrs. A. A. McEntee, both of the host club, will tee off at 9:40, while Mrs. Walter Stokes of Manor; Mrs. Myron Davy, Columbia star, and Mrs. Leo Walper of Indian Spring, will play together at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Walper's 79 Wins D. C. Amateur Golf Medal

Mrs. Meckley Trails Winner By 3 Strokes

Mrs. Brandon, 1941 Medalist, Cards 83; Mrs. Stokes Fires 86

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Leo Walper of the Indian Spring Country Club, knowing exactly what she had to shoot at, breezed home with a great round of 79 at the Chevy Chase Club yesterday to capture low medal honors in the qualifying rounds of the annual Women's District Golf Association Championship.

One of the last players to tee off in the tournament's record field of 152 players, the long driving wife of a driving range professional was out in 41 and back in 38 to displace Mrs. Betty P. Meckley of Kenwood, as the medalist. Mrs. Meckley, who won the District Championship in 1930-31 and 1936 and who was a finalist in last year's tournament, was out in 42 and back in 40 in her 18-hole trial.

Mrs. Walper, the city champion of 1939, produced her best round of the year in winning the coveted medal and, but for a couple of bad breaks, could have lowered her score. Her first bad break came at the fifth hole, where the determined Indian Spring color-bearer stabbed for a birdie, but three-putted.

Back In Running

Apparently unnerved, the former titlist took an almost disastrous seven at the eighth. But the wife of the former Middle Atlantic P.G.A. champion wasn't long in adjusting herself, for she got a great par three at the ninth and still another par three at the equally tough tenth and was back in the running again—this time to stay.

Her only birdie against men's par came at the twelfth, where she dunked a 15-footer into the cup. Just when things looked rosy disaster struck again at the sixteenth, where Mrs. Walper's tee shot struck the top of the ditch and, after hanging there for a second, rolled back into the water. Mrs. Walper was forced to take a penalty stroke, and then finished out the hole in six.

Eight Break 90

After a fine four at the seventeenth, Mrs. Walper came to the home green with an eight-footer to break 80 and a couple of putts to win the medal. Without hesitation the Indian Spring player walked up and knocked the putt squarely into the back of the cup for the only round of the tournament below 80.

Mrs. Meckley's round of 82, which stood for a brief time as the low round, included nines of 40 and 42, and was just one shot better than Mrs. T. O. Brandon, of Columbia, who was last year's medalist. Mrs. Brandon was out in 40 and made the journey home in 43 for her qualifying place.

Defending champion, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor, finished far off the pace with an 86, but her score was still good enough to land her safely into the championship division, where she today begins her title defense in earnest. Despite the large field, only eight players were able to break 90 over the long, windswept course, and a pair of 94's played off for the sixteenth place in the title division.

Mrs. Walper's opening round opponent this morning will be Mrs. Helen Wise, of Kenwood, who earned her place with a 90. Mrs. Stokes' first hurdle in her title defense will be Mrs. G. H. Bailey Jr., of Washington, whose place in the title flight of 16 was made possible by a round of 92.

Mrs. Meckley Tested

Mrs. Meckley, the Maryland State champion and a finalist in last year's District, faces Mrs. A. A. McEntee, a clubmate from Kenwood who qualified with a 91, and Mrs. Brandon's first opponent will be Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, of Army and Navy, a qualifier with a 91. Eight full flights of 16 and an eighth flight of four qualified for

Mrs. Stokes' victory over Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood Club's three-time champion, was not nearly as surprising as Mrs. Brandon's victory over Mrs. Leo Walper champion in 1939. The real thrill of the day was the ease with which Mrs. Stokes stemmed Mrs. Meckley's campaign for a fourth title.

Mrs. Stokes easily routed her opponent, 5 and 4, while Mrs. Brandon completely upset the dope by winning almost as easily from Mrs. Walper, 4 and 3. But the golf in the Stokes-Meckley affair was as different as night and day from the brand of golf displayed in the Brandon-Walper match.

Mrs. Stokes made sure that a repetition of last year's Middle Atlantic was not going to take place at Chevy Chase for the defending titlist made few mistakes. Starting the first five holes in men's par of 44434, Mrs. Stokes took all but the fourth and that was won by the Kenwood player with a birdie2.

Mrs. Stokes increased her lead to 4 up by winning the long eighth hole with a par 5, and retained that lead to the turn. After

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Maryland State champion from Kenwood, worked out a 18-hole victory over Mrs. L. B. Platt of Chevy Chase in the outstanding match of the day.

Mrs. Meckley, with the match even, holed a 15-foot putt for a half on the 17th hole, patted the 18th in par 4's and sank a chip shot for a winning four on the extra hole. Other championship flight results were:

Ace Trio of Woman's Golf Here Remains In Title Fight

Mrs. McNitt Is Surprise Contender as Play Goes Into Quarterfinals

The big three of local feminine golf remained in the title chase at Chevy Chase today as the top links-women of the town moved toward the semi-final match in the District women's championship.

Today's quarter final matches in the title affair found Medalist Mrs. Leo Walther meeting Mrs. Arnold McNitt, a surprise contender from Congress; Mrs. T. O. Brandon of Columbia meeting Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith of Woodmont, Maryland; Mrs. Betty Meckley meeting Mrs. L. B. Platt of Chevy Chase and Defending Champion Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor clashing with Mrs. G. Gray, also a Manor star.

The big three, of course, are Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Meckley and Mrs. Walper, and students of golf form expected them to reach tomorrow's semifinal. That if, unless today's quarter-final matches produced the upsets that were lacking in yesterday's first round, where no upsets of any consequence were recorded. The only one that might have been called a mild upset was Mrs. McNitt's 19th-hole victory over Mrs. Harold Price of Kenwood. Otherwise the women's tourney moved into the second round without any semblance of fireworks.

The girls are having a lively affair, however. They start around 8 a.m., and they don't finish their last match until well into the middle of the afternoon. In succeeding years probably they'll have to split the field or limit the entries only to lower-handicapped women. The current tourney is their biggest and the next ones may even be bigger, so big for one course to handle all the entries.

Secretary Bob Kelly of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association has asked all member clubs to furnish him with information as to their efforts to raise money for war funds and is keeping a record of the amounts raised by golf clubs in this area.

wiped out at the tenth where she three-putted to allow Mrs. Walper to win with a par.

It was there that the prognosticators began to regain their equilibrium but that was the last chance Mrs. Brandon gave the 1939 champion. Four of the next five holes went to the pretty wife of a Naval officer and the mother of the present District Junior champion.

Meet in Final Today

Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Brandon will tee off this morning at 10 a.m. in the final round of the championship, and should Mrs. Stokes win she will become the third person to win the title twice in succession.

Mrs. Meckley was the first and Winifred Faunce, a former Manor Club player, was the other.

Mrs. Stokes Defends D. C. Golf Title, Defeating Mrs. Brandon

Third Player To Win Crown Twice in Row

Columbia C. C. Rival No Match; Champion Leads 2 Up at Turn

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor Country Club, successfully defended her Women's District Golf Association championship yesterday at Chevy Chase Club, where in the final round Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, of Columbia Country Club, fell victim to the methodical firing of the champion, 4 and 3. It was the third time since Herbert L. Shannon donated the championship trophy in 1929 that a player has won the championship in successive years. Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, semi-final-round victim of Mrs. Stokes, turned the trick in 1930 and '31, while Winnie Faunce, formerly of Manor Club, did it in 1934 and '35.

Mrs. Stokes Out in 42

Mrs. Brandon, who won the medal in the 1941 tournament at Manor, and who turned out to be the only player in this year's championship to score an upset, was no match for Mrs. Stokes, and it was only because of a stroke at the thirteenth hole that the match didn't end earlier. Out in 42, Mrs. Stokes reached the turning point with a 2-hole lead, and won the eleventh and fourteenth holes to finally end the match on the fifteenth green, where the champion was stymied again, but at no cost, because all she needed to do was to get down in two putts for a halve and the match.

Beginning in a drizzling rain and over a soft, soggy course, Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Brandon halved the first three holes in fives. Mrs. Stokes took the fourth hole when she dunked a 15-footer for a birdie and there began a lead which from that point on was never relinquished.

Mrs. Brandon three-putted the fifth green to send Mrs. Stokes into a 2-up lead which was increased to three at the seventh, where the champion won with a great 4. Both played the long eighth sloppily and Mrs. Brandon finally won the hole with a 6 to cut the lead to 2 where it stood at the end of the ninth.

New Golf Dynasty Looms.
Perhaps a new dynasty in feminine golf around town is in the making nowadays to take the play away from the women who have dominated the game locally over the last decade.

Sure to be in any new top ranking list this year are the two finalists in the District women's championship at Chevy Chase today, where Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor, 1941 winner, defended her title against Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon of Columbia, champion of the latter club.

Mrs. Stokes, of course, is well known to the headlines and to the feminine golfers who have admired her skill and courage under fire. Although she has been playing golf only half a dozen years she has won all the major titles in this area, including the coveted Middle Atlantic crown.

Mrs. Brandon isn't so well known. Medalist in the District championship last year, she has been around town only two or three years, and today marked her first appearance as a finalist in an important title affair.

But she is a golfer with plenty of ability. Last summer her son won the Columbia junior championship. Then she won the women's club title. Her husband, a Navy officer, went a long way in the men's championship and for a while it seemed a triple for the Brandon family was in the making at Columbia.

Son Hom, now 18 years of age, is the District junior champ, and will defend his title at Washington next Tuesday, June 23, if arrangements can be made. Tom enters Harvard University on the 24th, and he'll have to hustle to get to Cambridge, Mass., if he plays Tuesday at Washington. Any one can see the Brandon family are golfers.

Mrs. Stokes Brilliant.

Mrs. Brandon played no spectacular golf yesterday to beat Mrs. Leo Walper of Indian Spring 4 and 3. She simply played steadily, and well enough to win. But the other semifinal, in which Mrs. Stokes linked Betty Meckley, produced the real fireworks. Mrs. Stokes oozed determination and had plenty of golf shots to back it up as she won the first three holes from the Maryland champ with three straight 4s. After that she didn't relent a bit as she turned 4 up and ended the match on the 14th, at which point she needed par for a '76. It was by far the best golf of the tourney over a lengthy course where Mrs. Stokes' long tee shots gave her a conclusive edge.

Mrs. Wise Takes Consolation

Mrs. Helen Wise, of Kenwood, a recent importation from Virginia, won the championship flight consolation defeating Mrs. J. E. Frank, of Woodmont, another newcomer hereabouts, 2 and 1. Mrs. Wise limped through the entire tournament with her left leg tightly bandaged in tape.

Mrs. John Ives, of Congressional, still another Johnny-come-lately, was the winner of the second flight. The tall Congressional player, who should have been in the championship flight, defeated Mrs. Gale E. Pugh, of Manor, in the final round, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Hartman Wins C.B.S. Golf Trophy With 71

25-Stroke Handicap
Gives Her First Prize;
Mrs. Dennis Low Gross

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

It looks as though Mrs. C. B. Hartman of Prince Georges Country Club can now lay claim to the championship of this city's high handicap players. The recent winner of the Star Cup toured the tricky Washington Golf and Country Club course in 96 strokes yesterday to post a net of 71 to win the annual Women's District Golf Association competition for the CBS Trophy.

It is very seldom that a high handicap player repeats in Class B tournaments, but Mrs. Hartman's handicap allowance of 25 strokes gave her a four-stroke margin in the tournament, and her second victory in that type of play this season. While Mrs. Hartman was collecting the rewards for her achievements, Mrs. Lloyd Dennis of the host club was being awarded the prize for low gross.

Mrs. Dennis Out in 44

Mrs. Dennis got out in 44, but slumped badly on the trip home to take a 51. In winning low net Mrs. Hartman toured the outward nine in 46 strokes and then made the journey home in 50.

Indian Spring Country Club came in for a portion of the glory when it placed Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. D. Stuart in second and third places, respectively. Mrs. Thomas, with a round of 52-49-101, posted a net of 75 with the aid of a 26-stroke handicap while Mrs. Stuart turned in a card of 52-47-99 and used a deduction of 22 strokes in handicap for a net of 77.

Two players—Mrs. David M. McPherson of Manor, and Mrs. W. R. Russell of Army and Navy, posted net 78s, but the Manor Club player won via the card matching system. Mrs. McPherson was out in 46 and back in 53 for a score of 99 and used a 21-stroke handicap, while Mrs. Russell was 55-52-107 and was allowed a 29-stroke handicap.

Three Post Net 80s

Mrs. H. C. Fisher, of Columbia; Mrs. M. A. Hill, of Manor, and Mrs. R. W. Ayers, of Washington, all posted nets of 80. The draw put Mrs. Fisher on top with her round of 105 and 25-stroke handicap; Mrs. Hill second, with her score of 104 and 24 stroke-handicap, and Mrs. Ayers had to be content with last place award with her round of 107 and handicap of 27 strokes.

Just missing the prize winning circle were Mrs. Don Lee, Mrs. M. M. Alexander and Mrs. S. W. Hauser, all of the host club. The three Washington players posted nets of 81 to barely miss getting into a tie by a single shot.

Handicap Slice Looms For Mrs. Hartman, CBS Meet Victor

Win Is Second in Major
Prince Georges Golfer

Considerable handicap slicing is sure to come the way of Mrs. Calvin B. Hartman of Prince Georges Golf and Country Club, following her second victory in a major women's handicap tournament this year.

Mrs. Hartman, who previously had won the Class B section of The Star Trophy tourney, yesterday won the Columbia Broadcasting System affair with a card of 96-25-71 at the Washington Golf and Country Club. She won by four strokes, in the Class B affair for higher handicapped women, leading Mrs. John Thomas of Indian Spring by that margin, despite an 8 on the par 3 eleventh hole.

Gross winner was Mrs. Lloyd Dennis of Washington, with 95. Other low net scorers, including the prize winners, were:

Mrs. John Thomas (Indian Spring), 101-26-75; Mrs. D. Stuart (Indian Spring), 99-22-77; Mrs. D. N. McPherson (Manor), 99-21-78; Mrs. W. R. Russell (Army-Navy), 107-29-78; Mrs. M. A. Hill (Manor), 104-24-80; Mrs. R. W. Ayers (Washington), 107-27-80; Mrs. H. C. Fisher (Columbia), 105-25-80; Mrs. Don Lee (Washington), 100-18-81; Mrs. M. M. Alexander (Washington), 117-36-81; Mrs. S. W. Hauser (Washington), 117-36-81.

Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Kerr Win Cups

Betty Meckley Takes Award For Low Gross

Madeline Bast First
In Class B; 136 Women
Compete Despite Heat

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. David H. Henderson, of Congressional, and Mrs. W. F. Kerr, of Prince Georges, emerged the victors in yesterday's Women's District Golf Association tournaments for the Post Cups. Mrs. Henderson, posting 85-9-76, walked off with the low net award in the Class A event at Columbia Country Club while over at Kenwood Golf and Country Club Mrs. Kerr was recording a 94-21-73 to capture the Class B tourney.

The Congressional player was out in 41 and back in 44 to win by two shots and miss tying for the low gross award by the same number of strokes. Mrs. Kerr, who made it three consecutive Class B trophies for Prince Georges, was out in 47 and back in the same score to be victorious at Kenwood.

Wins Low Gross Award

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, carted away the low gross award at Columbia with an 83 which was composed of nines of 44 and 39. Low gross in the class B event went to Madeline Bast, of Manor, who took the honors from Mrs. Marty Gordon, of Indian Spring, via the draw after having deadlocked at 94.

Despite the torrid heat 70 players started at Columbia and 66 showed up at the first tee at Kenwood. And as usual practically every player in the B division turned in cards while the low handicappers were staging a wholesale no card party at Columbia.

Mrs. Fritz L. Williams, Mrs. H. W. Sharpe of Kenwood and Mrs. W. Marion Falls of Columbia, posted net cards of 78 at Columbia, and finished in that order following the draw for prizes. Four players—Mrs. Charles Vorhees, Congressional; Mrs. George Bailey Jr., Washington; Mrs. John W. Godfrey, Congressional, and Mrs. Norman Frost of the host club, deadlocked for fifth and sixth low net and after the drawing Mrs. Vorhees took the fifth prize and Mrs. Bailey the sixth.

Second Low Net

Mrs. L. M. Cuvillier, of Indian Spring, with 104-30-74, took the second low net at Kenwood among the high handicappers while Mrs. Gordon dropped down to take the third place award after losing the low gross draw. Other prize winners were: Mrs. Samuel Hauser, Washington; Mrs. Bessie Taylor, Prince Georges; Mrs. T. P. Banks, Washington; Mrs. C. B. Hartman, Prince Georges; and Mrs. W. W. Southworth, Washington.

Hot Golf in Post Tourneys.

The girls played good golf in the Post Cup tourney at Columbia and Kenwood, but those twin devil-high-temperature and high humidity—won the real battle. Few hotter days have been chosen for a golf tourney than yesterday and a good many women aren't sure today whether it is smart to play big tournaments in the middle of summer. But the silver lining was that it produced a lot of work for the laundries, for any one who couldn't work up perspiration out in that hot sun didn't play much golf.

The tourney was the first of the year in which two handicap classes played on the same day on different courses. Victor in class A at Columbia was Mrs. David H. Henderson of Congressional, a newcomer to the winning spot in Women's District Golf Association tourneys, but one who will win again, if her game keeps improving. Mrs. Henderson, a pupil of Wiffy Cox and a hard worker on her golf, shot 85 with a 9 handicap for a net of 76, good enough to win by two strokes. Betty Meckley, Kenwood veteran, won the gross award with 83, which was no surprise. Betty is consistency itself over any course, under any conditions.

Another Surprise Winner.

Another surprise winner popped up in the class B affair at Kenwood when Mrs. W. F. Kerr, another woman who hasn't won a major tourney, scored 94 with a 21-stroke handicap for a winning net of 73. At that she won only by a stroke, for two more had net 74s. Mrs. Kerr hails from Prince Georges.

Here were the top scorers in the hottest tourney of the year so far:

Class B at Kenwood: (Gross), Madeline Bast (Manor), 94; cup winner, Mrs. W. F. Kerr (Prince Georges), 94-21-73; Mrs. L. M. Cuvillier (Indian Spring), 104-30-74; Mrs. Marty Gordon (Indian Spring), 94-18-76; Mrs. S. Hauser (Washington), 111-36-75; Mrs. Bessie Taylor (Prince Georges), 98-22-78; Mrs. T. P. Banks (Washington), 98-22-76; Mrs. C. B. Hartman (Prince Georges), 95-21-76; Mrs. W. W. Southworth (Washington), 94-22-78; Mrs. C. B. Hartman (Prince Georges), 98-22-78; Mrs. W. W. Southworth (Washington), 101-24-77; Mrs. R. C. Dunbar (Indian Spring), 10-34-78; Mrs. W. D. Barkdull (Columbia), 103-28-78; Mrs. John Thomas (Indian Spring), 101-24-78.

Prizes, as is customary for the Women's District Golf Association nowadays, were in War bonds and stamps.

New Champs Crowned In Post Cup Golf

Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Kerr Victors
In Annual Play Over Two Courses

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

The Washington Post Cup tournament for the District Women's Golf Association members once again produced personal scoring records for two players yesterday—Mrs. David H. Henderson of Congressional, the new Class A champion, and Mrs. W. F. Kerr of Prince Georges, the proud possessor of the Class B Cup.

Mrs. Henderson, who is playing her third year of tournament golf in the District after battling the sand greens of Montana for the first seven years of her golfing career, posted her all-time low score, an 85 for the steaming Columbia course, and deducted nine handicap strokes for a net 76, the best net total in Class A by two strokes.

Mrs. Kerr continued the Prince Georges Club monopoly on the Class B cups by breaking 95 for the first time since first swinging a club, shooting a 94, to be exact, at Kenwood and subtracting 21 handicap strokes for a net 73; the winner by the margin of a single shot in the third annual competition for the Class B Cup, for those with handicaps of 19 and over. Mrs. C. B. Hartman, a clubmate, who finished seventh, won the previous Star and C. B. S. Class B affairs.

Heat a Hazard

The excessive heat was hazard in itself and although there were only 11 withdrawals from the combined field of 157 players, a fine showing, most of the players had just two intentions when they straggled off the eighteenth green, a cooling drink and a cold shower. Mrs. Henderson, the tenth different winner of the Class A Cup in its 10-year history, was one of those who merely made it. The Congressional representative thought for a while on the back nine she would have to withdraw due to the heat and sun but her fine score encouraged her to finish.

District and Maryland State champion Mrs. Walter R. Stokes was one of 44 at the two clubs who failed to turn in a card, most of them complained of heat inter-

Low gross in Class A went to Kenwood's remarkably consistent shotmaker, Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley, who hit her shots in championship style, putted in streaks, some good and some bad, and finished with an 83. It was the fifth time Mrs. Meckley had won gross honors in the Class A competition of the Post Cup, this time from nines of 44 and 39 for 83.

Madeline Bast of Manor and Mrs. Marty Gordon, of Indian Spring, settled low gross honors in Class B in sociable style. They tied with 94's each, flipped a coin and Miss Bast took low gross on the toss and Mrs. Gordon third low net. Miss Bast put together eight consecutive fives on the first nine and finished with a six for a 46, and came back in 48 for a 94. Mrs. Gordon, who in the last six weeks has reduced her handicap from 36 to 19, paired 47's for a 99 and deducted 19 handicap strokes for a net 75, third low net.

Mrs. Henderson snapped a temporary three-way deadlock for the cup in Class A when she finished late and posted her winning 76. At that time Mrs. H. W. Sharpe, Kenwood, whose 90-12, 78, matched her score for the past two years in The Post Cup, was tied with Mrs. F. L. Williams, Argyle, making her debut in Class A after winning gross honors in two other newspaper tournaments in Class B and Mrs. W. Marion Falls, of the host club. Mrs. Williams had 47-49, 90-19, 78, and Mrs. Falls, with her third lowest competitive score, was deadlocked with 44-45, 89-11, 78. The matching cards method was used to break the tie or second through fourth low net and they finished Mrs. Williams, Sharpe and Falls.

The Post presented $25 War Savings Bonds to the Class A and B net winners, while they take the Post cups to their home clubs for a year. The association awarded war stamps and miscellaneous prizes to the other prize winners.

Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, assistant tournament chairman, was forced to use the matching cards system to break a four-way deadlock for net 79s in Class A for the final net prizes. Mrs. Charles Voorhees, Congressional, with 46, 50-96-17-79, won fifth and Mrs. George H. Bailey, jr., Washington Munster Cup champion, sixth net with 42, 45-87-8-79. That left Mrs. John W. Godfrey, who brought the winner home, and Mrs. Norman Frost, Columbia, barely out of the prize list. Mrs. Godfrey had 88-9-79, and Mrs. Frost, playing in her first tournament for several years, 91-12-79.

At Kenwood Mrs. L. M. Cuvillier of Indian Spring, was second low net winner with a 104-30, 74, missing a tie by only one stroke. With gross going to Miss Bast and third low net to Mrs. Gordon that left Mrs. Samuel Hauser of Washington, fourth with 111 strokes and the maximum handicap of 36 for a net 75. Mrs. Bessie Taylor, Prince Georges, was fifth low net with 98-22, 76, Mrs. T. P. Bank, Washington, next with 98-22, 76, including an out nine of 46. Mrs. Hartman seventh with 98-22, 76 and Mrs. W. W. Southworth, Washington, the last prize winner with 101-24, 77 as a clubmate. Mrs. A. Carragher, lost in the draw with 104-27, 77.

Only six players broke 100 in Class B and in Class A only Mrs. Meckley, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Falls, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. Leo Walper, and Mrs. T. O. Brandon were under 80.

The secret of Mrs. Henderson's low round was posting par threes on all four of the difficult one-shotters at Columbia. The winner had just one bad hole, the fourteenth where she took a seven. Mrs. Kerr, a long-hitter among the Class B players simply said she was consistent all the way around, and could have saved several shots here and there.

Star July 28, 1942 Holing Approach Shot, Mrs. Stuart Annexes Duffers' Tourney

Every women's tournament nowadays turns up with some competitor who hasn't previously figured at the top of the winning list, which is a testimonial to the accuracy of the handicapping system of the Women's District Golf Association.

Newest candidate for the winning circle is Mrs. D. E. Stuart of Indian Spring, who yesterday won the Duffers' trophy at Congressional. Mrs. Stuart holed an approach shot on the long 13th hole and went on from there to an outstanding 7-stroke victory. She carded 100—20—80, to lead Mrs. J. Y. York of Army-Navy, with 106—19—87. The gross award went to Mrs. John Thomas of Indian Spring with 105.

Other net winners were:

Mrs. Claude Chapman (Argyle), 111—88; Mrs. M. S. Shahan (Prince Georges), 110—22—88; Mrs. W. Edwards (Indian Spring), 114—26—88; Mrs. William Stewart (Prince Georges), 115—24—89; Mrs. Walter D. Barkdull (Columbia), 114—25—89; Mrs. H. J. Klossner (Congressional), 109—19—90; Mrs. H. B. Willey (Washington), 114—24—90; Mrs. F. E. Berquist (Kenwood), 112—22—90; Mrs. P. T. Banks (Washington), 111—21—90.

Duffers Crown To Mrs. Stuart With Net of 80

Wins Harris Trophy;
Mrs. Thomas Victor

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Delbert E. Stuart, of Indian Spring Country Club, a rank outsider, captured the annual Women's District Golf Association Duffers Tournament yesterday over rain-soaked Congressional links with a net score of 80.

The Indian Spring player posted a gross round of 100, but, because only one prize is allowed a player, Mrs. Stuart elected to take the Harris Trophy, emblematic of supremacy among high handicap players. Mrs. John Thomas, a clubmate, automatically became the low gross winner with a round of 105.

Course Too Soft

Scores were higher than usual because of the soft condition of the course and it was also unusual in the fact that Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Thomas won all by themselves. Mrs. Stuart, getting out in 52 and back in 48, was aided by a 20-stroke handicap in succeeding her clubmate, Mrs. Frank Mirth, to the title.

Mrs. Thomas, in winning low gross, was out in 51 and back in 54 and would have been second in the net scoring with a handicap allowance of 23 strokes for an 83 if she had not been displaced as the low gross victor. From Mrs. Thomas' 82 the scores jumped to 87, the score with which Mrs. J. Y. York, of Army and Navy, won second low net. The service club player turned in a gross round of 106 and used a 19 stroke handicap.

Deadlock for Third

Three players—Mrs. Charles Chapman of Congressional, Mrs. M. S. Shahan of Prince Georges, and Mrs. W. Edwards of Indian Spring—finished with 88's to deadlock for the third place award among the nets. Mrs. Chapman, who posted a 111 score and was aided by a 23 stroke handicap, got third via the Women's D.G.A. card matching system, and Mrs. Shahan with 110 and a handicap of 22 strokes took fourth. Mrs. Edwards, who had a gross round of 114 and a 26 handicap drew the fifth place.

Mrs. William Stewart, of Prince Georges, took sixth place with 113 24—89; while Mrs. Walter Barkdull, of Columbia, who also had 114-25—89, was drawn into the seventh place. The other prize winners in order, were: Mrs. H. J. Klossner, of Congressional, 109-19—90; Mrs. H. B. Willey, of Washington, 114-24—90; Mrs. F. E. Berquist, of Kenwood, 112-22—90, and Mrs. P. T. Banks, of Washington, 111-21—90.

Mrs. Stuart's card follows:
In—764 745 555-48—100-20—80

Mrs. Stuart Wins Duffer's Cup Golf Play

Mrs. Delbert E. Stuart's 100-20, 80, stood out as the lowest total in a wave of high scoring by the Class B members of the District Women's Golf Association yesterday at Congressional, and Mrs. Stuart took the Duffer's Cup to Indian Spring.

As in The Post Cup play last year at the same course, none of the 19 to 36 handicapped players was able to break the 100 mark, and Mrs. Stuart's score stood up for both net and gross honors, but as the winner was eligible for only one prize she accepted the Elizabeth Harris Duffer's Trophy for low net.

An Indian Spring clubmate, Mrs. John Thomas, thus won gross honors with the second best score of the day, a 105, and also qualified for second low net with a 23 handicap for an 82.

Indian Spring Pro Mel Shorey was informed of Mrs. Stuart's victory at the Manor Pro-amateur and he was pleased with the progress of one of his latest pupils. Mrs. Stuart was out in 52 over the long course and back in 48, playing the last five holes in one under fives to hold a two-stroke margin over the field.

Mrs. J. Y. York of Army and Navy, was alone at 108—19, 87, for second low net while three tied for third, winning by the matching cards method in the order named: Mrs. Charles Chapman, Congressional, 111—23, 88; Mrs. M. S. Shahan, Prince Georges, 110—22, 88, and Mrs. Willard Edwards, Indian Spring, 114—26, 88.

Other prize winners, in order, were: Mrs. William Stewart, Prince Georges, 113—24, 89; Mrs. Walter Barkdull, Columbia, 114—25, 89; Mrs. H. J. Klossner, Congressional, 109—19, 90; Mrs. H. B. Willey, Washington, 114—24, 90; Mrs. F. E. Berquist, Congressional, 112—22, 90 and Mrs. P. T. Banks, Washington, 111—21, 90.

The winner received a $25 war bond.

Mrs. Davy, Out of City, Likely to Default M. A. Golf Title

Mrs. Myron Davy, Middle Atlantic women's golf champion and holder of the Maryland State medal play championship is in Chicago and probably will not be back in Washington to defend her Mid-Atlantic title, according to word received from her by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association. But Mrs. Davy indicated that she may be back in time to defend her tourney slated for a Washington club late in September. Mrs. Davy left the Capital early in June for California, and, according to Mrs. Weible, now plans to play in several tournaments around Chicago.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor, District and Maryland women's champion, will try to complete the grand slam of feminine titles in this territory by winning the Middle Atlantic crown at Congressional two weeks hence. No woman around town ever has won the three big titles in a single season. Soon after the Mid-Atlantic Dr. and Mrs. Stokes expect to leave for New Mexico, where Dr. Stokes will be assigned to an Army post.

Mrs. Walper Wins Mid-Atlantic Golf Title by 1 Up

MRS. W. R. STOKES DEFEATED IN FINAL

Attempt for 'Grand Slam' Fails;
Topped Tee on 16th Disastrous

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Leo Walper, the wife of a golf professional and a former District champion, halted the grand slam aspirations of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor, yesterday at Congressional Country Club where, in the final round of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association women's championship, Mrs. Walper won, 1 up.

Mrs. Leo Walper

Mrs. Stokes who had already won the District and Maryland State crowns, needed only to win the Middle Atlantic title to become this section's first grand slam champion, but blew skyhigh in the stretch, literally tossing the coveted sectional title into the Indian Spring player's lap. And when the blow up came Mrs. Stokes was 2 up and eight holes to play.

But, despite the wiping out of her big lead, Mrs. Stokes didn't really lose the match away until the sixteenth hole where, following Mrs. Walper (who had just hit a long drive down the middle) she topped her tee shot, and the ball didn't even get out of the long rough.

Lead Alternates

The match seesawed back and forth on the first nine, with Mrs. Stokes taking a lead at the second hole and losing it again at the third. Mrs. Walper took her first advantage on the fourth only to toss it right away again at the very next hole. Mrs. Walper then won the sixth, only to lose the seventh, and the match was even again for the fourth time. On the eighth hole, Mrs. Stokes, after watching Mrs. Walper blast out of a trap to within a foot of the hole for a sure par, stepped up and knocked in a 25-footer for a birdie—the only one of the match.

Retains Advantage

Mrs. Walper three-putted the ninth to allow Mrs. Stokes to retain her one hole advantage and on the very next hole the Manor Club champion knocked in a 10-footer for a par to increase her lead to two up. And it looked like Mrs. Stokes would go three up at the eleventh where her ball lay just to the left of the green in two shots and Mrs. Walper 15 feet away from the pin in three.

Mrs. Stokes' head popped up and the ball went into the back of the green, and then after a good chip to within a foot of the pin the Manor Club star blew the putt to lose the hole. She then proceeded to completely blow her lead on the short twelfth where it took her three shots to get on the green after a topped tee shot and two putts for a double-bogey five.

Mrs. Walper's erratic putter cost her a chance to going one up at the fifteenth when Mrs. Stokes knocked her second shot out of bounds and still got a halve a five. But the lucky break short-lived, however, as Mrs. V per came right back to win sixteenth and the match. In the second flight of the tional tournament Mrs. F. Awalt, of Congressional, was winner on the twenty-fourth gr from Mrs. F. H. Powell, of Pri Georges.

Mid-Atlantic Golf Opens Today; 2 Va. Women Compete

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

The sixteenth edition of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association's women's championship grew in importance last night when Dr. Robert A. Kelly, secretary, received the entries of Mrs. Nell Wessells, of Roanoke, Va., and Mrs. George Owens, of Petersburg, Va.

Both Mrs. Wessells and Mrs. Owen are well-known tournament campaigners down through Virginia and their addition to today's starting field in the Middle Atlantic championship makes it truly a sectional event. Not only will Virginia be well-represented in the small, but select, field of 37, but so will Baltimore with its contingent of seven aspirants to the title vacated by Mrs. Myron Davy.

Will Play Together

Mrs. Wessells, who is the club champion at Roanoke Country Club, is a nine-handicapper, while Mrs. Owens boasts a seven handicap. The Virginians have been paired together for today's eighteen-hole qualifying round.

Two other additional entries received yesterday were those of Mrs. Joseph Welsh and Mrs. D. H. Henderson, of the host club. Dr. Kelly said last night that he expected at least a dozen more entries before teeing off time.

Because of the recent heavy rains the golf committee has decided that winter rules will prevail during the week-long championship, but that the ball must be teed up within a club-length of its original lie and must be set up with the head of the club only. Enforcement of this rule, Dr. Kelly feels, will eliminate all possible chance of disputes arising during the match play rounds.

MRS. BETTY MECKLEY

The entries of the two Virginians not only adds luster to the field from a sectional standpoint, but also will aid materially in making up for the absence of the defending champion. Without Mrs. Davy, a climax to a grand slam victory for Mrs. Walter R. Stokes would have been discolored a bit, but now the tournament appears a real credit to any competitors who survive the four gruelling rounds.

Seeks Third Title

Mrs. Stokes, who has already won the Maryland State and District titles, needs only to add the Middle Atlantic to become the first woman in this section ever to have won all three titles in the same year. Several times Mrs. Betty Meckley, of Kenwood, has had a chance to turn the trick, but met with failure every time.

Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Giles Win Golf Awards

Shoot 79, 77 in Times-Herald Play

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Karl Giles, of Indian Spring, the finest feminine left-hander in this section, and Mrs. H. H. Goodman, of Washington, carried off the main awards in the Times-Herald tournaments yesterday at the Kenwood and Columbia Country Clubs.

Mrs. Giles, in winning the low net prize among the low handicappers at Kenwood, broke a jinx of long standing. The Indian Spring player, despite the fact that she has always been one of the better players hereabouts, had never won a Women's District Golf Association sponsored trophy until yesterday.

Mrs. Giles posted twin nine of 43 and was aided by a handicap allowance of nine strokes for her winning net of 77. In winning the Class B tournament at Columbia, Mrs. Goodman posted a round of 102 and her handicap allowance of 23 strokes gave her a net of 79 that led the field by eight shots.

Low Gross Prize

Low gross prize in the Class A division was deadlocked for by Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray, of Manor, and Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring, with scores of 84, but in a quick-death playoff, the Manor Club star won on the very first hole. Mrs. C. B. Hartman, of Prince Georges, who has already won the Washington Post and CBS trophies, captured low gross among the high handicap players with a score of 102.

Both courses were still in soggy condition from the recent rains and, because of those conditions, the scores were unusually high. While Mrs. Walper and Mrs. Pray were out getting their 84's, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the District and Maryland champion, was falling to turn in a card. And, strangely enough, Mrs. Pray was out in 43 and back in 41, while Mrs. Walper just reversed those figures.

In the play-off Mrs. Walper hooked her tee shot into the deep rough and it took her four more shots to get on the green, while a long putt put her down in six. Mrs. Pray played the hole safe for a sure five to take the War Bond award.

Ann York Third

Mrs. George H. Bailey Jr., of Washington, the only other player in the Class A tournament besides the winner to break 80 with a net score, carried off the second low net prize. Mrs. Bailey, posting a 42-45-87 card and aided by a handicap of eighth strokes, finished with a net of 79.

Ann York, the soon-to-be bride and an Army and Navy Country Club player, took third prize with 93-13-80, and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, of Columbia, recent runnerup in the District championship, was fourth with 85-4-81. Mrs. Charles Voorhees, of Columbia, a former nationally ranked tennis player, posted a 95-14-81 to tie with Mrs. Brandon but was drawn into fifth place.

Other Class A prize winners were

Mrs. Bailey Wins Corby Cup At Columbia

Mrs. George H. Bailey, jr., Washington Golf and Country Club's women's champion, won the Corby Cup Tournament yesterday at Columbia Country Club to climax her best year in local tournament competition, one which has found her a prize winner in virtually every start.

Mrs. Bailey played the best competitive round of her life, a 42-41, 83, including only 24 putts, and minus an eight handicap gained the 18-hole medal play handicap event by a single stroke over her clubmate and playing partner, Mrs. Lafayette Franklin.

Mrs. Franklin and the winner were tied in net scoring coming to the 18th but Mrs. Bailey finished with a five and her partner with a six for the stroke edge. The latter had 42-43, 85-9, 76.

Low gross went to Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley of Kenwood, who paired 40s for an 80, one of the best rounds of the season. Mrs. Meckley made few mistakes, holed a reasonable number of putts and was seldom off the fairway.

Elinor Finckel, who excels at both golf and tennis at the host club, won third low net with a 91-12, 79, coming back in 41 after an out nine of 50.

Mrs. William Wise, Kenwood, won fourth net in a draw from Mrs. Elbert Harris, a clubmate. Mrs. Wise scoring 86-5, 81, and Mrs. Harris, the former Ellen Kincaid, 91-10, 81, despite a bad start on the back nine.

Mrs. Leo Walper won sixth net with 87-4, 83, over Mrs. Marion Falls, Columbia, 94-11, 83, by matching cards. Mrs. G. D. Dickey, Army and Navy, completed the prize winners with 96-11, 85. Mrs. Leo Butler, Manor, 99-14, 85, and Mrs. K. S. Giles, Indian Spring, 94-9, 85, were drawn out.

Mrs. G. Bailey Wins Corby Cup At Columbia Club With Net 75

Mrs. George H. Bailey, jr., of Washington Golf and Country Club, won her first big tournament yesterday at Columbia Country Club where she fired a net score of 75 to capture the annual Corby Cup event.

Using only 24-putts for the 18 holes, Mrs. Bailey, the former Wilda Martin, was out in 42 and back in 41 and was allowed an eight-stroke handicap. In winning the tournament Mrs. Bailey barely nosed out her clubmate and playing companion, Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, who finished with 42-32, 85-9-75 to be second.

Both came to the last hole tied up, but Mrs. Bailey took a five against a six for Mrs. Franklin and the Women's District Golf Association tournament belonged to Mrs. Bailey. The Washington Golf and Country Club player started off by playing the first four holes in men's par, a feat worth being proud of.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, out in 40 and back in the same score, was the low gross winner. Elinor Finkel, of the host club, was third low net with 91-12-79.

Other prize winners were: Mrs.

William Wise, Kenwood, 86-5-81; Mrs. Elbert Harris, Kenwood, 91-10-81; Mrs. Leo Walper, Indian Spring, 87-4-83; Mrs. Marion Falls, Columbia, 94-11-83, and Mrs. G. D. Dickey, Army and Navy, 96-11-85. Mrs. Harris' 76 Wins Low Net in NBC Tourney

Noses Out Clubmate, Mrs. Harry W. Sharpe; Mrs. Walper Low Gross

By MAURY FITZGERALD Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Ellen Kincaid Harris led Kenwood Golf and Country Club's feminine golfers to what was a partial clean sweep of prize places in the annual Women's District Golf Association tournament for the N.B.C. trophy.

Taking advantage of their knowledge of their home course, Mrs. Harris gathered in not only the low net but the low gross as well and was followed in order by Mrs. H. W. Sharpe, Mrs. H. W. Bashore and Mrs. Richard Kreuzberg. Because only one prize is allowed a contestant Mrs. Harris with her score of 85-9-76 elected to take low net, the chief award in the 18-hole medal play tournament.

Mrs. Sharpe Stroke Behind

Getting out in 43 and returning in 42, Mrs. Harris barely nosed out clubmate Mrs. Sharpe, who literally tossed away the event on two holes—the tenth and seventeenth. Mrs. Sharpe, who was out in 43 and back in 46, took a pair of double bogey fives at those disastrous short holes to toss away her chances of taking possession of the trophy. But her luck wasn't all bad, for her handicap allowance of 12 strokes gave Mrs. Sharpe a net of 77 to take second.

By virtue of Mrs. Harris' decision to take the low net, Mrs. Leo Walper, the wife of the local driving range pro, became automatic possessor of low gross with her round of 86. Mrs. Walper, who represents Indian Spring Club, posted twin nines of 43 to grab the gross honors.

Mrs. Bashore, in capturing third low net, posted a round of 92 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 13 strokes for a 79. Getting to the turn in 47, Mrs. Bashore returned in 45.

Three Tie for Fourth

Three players tied for the fourth low net prize but the association's system of matching cards gave Mrs. Kreuzberg the place over Mrs. Frank Mirth, of Indian Spring, and Mrs. Marion Falls, of Columbia. All three players turned in nets of 81 but the Kenwood golfer's 90-9-81 outmatched the others.

Mrs. Mirth took fifth with her 98-17-81 and Mrs. Falls fell heir to sixth place with a score of 91-10-81. Mrs. F. L. Williams, of Argyle, with 99-17-82, tied with Mrs. J. W. Godfrey, of Congressional, who had 91-9-82, but the Argyle player won the seventh place via the draw.

Mrs. F. A. Powell, of Indian Spring, with 98-15-83, took the ninth place award, and Gerry Weible, of Kenwood, ended the prize list with 96-12-84.

The rain soaked course sent the scores soaring and players like Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Helen Wise, of Kenwood, took 87s.

A few years back Ellen Kincaid was hailed as a future champion and a star player. Ellen is married now. Her name is Mrs. Ellen K. Harris, and she plays at Kenwood.

She won the NBC Trophy by a single stroke yesterday, topping the field in both gross and net divisions with her card of 85-9-76. She elected to take the net award, which gave Mrs. Leo Walper, the Middle Atlantic champion from Indian Spring, the gross prize with her 86.

One stroke back of the winner was Mrs. Harry W. Sharpe, with 89-12-77. Other prize-winners were:

Mrs. H. W. Bashore (Kenwood), 92-13-79; Mrs. Richard T. Kreuzberg (Kenwood), 90-9-81; Mrs. Frank Mirth (Indian Spring), 98-17-81; Mrs. W. M. Mrs. Hartman Scores

Handicap of 17 Strokes Slices Card to Net 78

Mrs. Brandon Takes
Low Gross Honors
With Total of 87

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Finis was written to the Women's District Golf Association schedule for 1942 yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club, where 26 officers and committee-women of the organization competed for the President's Plate which was won by Mrs. C. B. Hartman, of Prince Georges Country Club. The Prince Georges Country Club golf chairman was out in 45 and back in 50 to post a 95, which was further reduced to net of 78 by a handicap allowance of 17 strokes.

Mrs. T. O. Brandon, captain of the W.D.G.A. first team, captured low-gross honors in the annual affair started a decade or so ago by Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, of Chevy Chase. The Columbia Country Club champion turned in nines of 44 and 43 to carry off the gross honors with an 87.

Mrs. Weible Second

Mrs. W. L. Weible, association president, came next among the prize-winning officials with a net of 81 to take second. The Kenwood Club representative was 48-50—98, and was allowed a deduction of 17 strokes in handicap.

Two players finished with net scores of 82, but Mrs. Frank Mirth, of Indian Spring Country Club, the association's prize chairman, took third low net via the draw from Mrs. J. F. Gross, of Columbia, assistant team chairman. Mrs. Mirth finished with a card of 99 and a handicap of 17 strokes, while Mrs. Gross was reporting a score of 92 and being allowed a handicap of 10 strokes.

Deadlock With 83's

Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, of Chevy Chase, and Mrs. C. B. Magruder, of Army and Navy, deadlocked with nets of 83 for fifth place, but Mrs. Letts took the place via the draw and the service club golfer had to be content with sixth place. Mrs. Letts, who is second vice president, and Mrs. Magruder, who is tournament chairman for the women's organization, both had gross rounds of 95 and handicaps of 12.

Mrs. Marvin M. Wire, auditing committee chairman, was awarded the prize for the least number of putts and Mrs. C. E. Clark, tournament chairman at Belle Haven Country Club, the award for the highest score of the day. The Virginia player collected 133 strokes in her sojourn at Kenwood.

The end of one of the most successful Women's District Golf Association seasons closes tomorrow with the playing of the President's Plate at Kenwood Golf and Country Club.

Asked whether the 1943 season would be curtailed because of the war, Mrs. W. I. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, said that her members had asked for a full schedule. And, said Mrs. Weible, "we expect to draw up a complete tournament schedule at our annual meeting to be held at Kenwood on December 3."

Mrs. Weible also said that most of the local women golfers were doing their part in war work and feel that there is no need to cut down on golf, for, after all, it is golf that keeps them in condition and makes it possible to continue such work. "We did away with the team match championship this year but practically the rest of this year's schedule will be re-played next year," explained the wife of an Army colonel.

May Serve Third Term

Mrs. Weible has been asked to serve a third term and already has consented to have her name head the slate for the 1943 season. And the Kenwood Golf and Country Club golfer has been one of the most successful presidents in the history of the association.

Among the past presidents who will compete in tomorrow's 18-hole tournament will be Mrs. H. A. Knox, Mrs. Robert A. Lacey, and Mrs. Weible. Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, of Chevy Chase Club, the originator of this tournament, will not be among the former prexy's as the wife of General Keefer, head of the Washington chapter of the Red Cross, spends all of her time at various and too numerous to mention war jobs.

Mrs. Stokes, Beaten Only Once

Misses Title Cleanup By Lone Hole Lost To Mrs. Walper

Mid-Atlantic Conquerer
Gains Second Ranking;
Mrs. Brandon Third

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes is the No. 1 ranking feminine golfer around Washington this year, and a competitor who came within a hole or two of achieving a little slam of all the major feminine titles in this sector. The District and Maryland women's champion tops the ranking list of woman competitors in a sport which has made great strides over the last decade. Women's golf this year attracted bigger competitive fields than did the men's tournaments, and the women plan, barring unforeseen events, to carry on their affairs next year.

In a field where there are half a dozen standout competitors, Mrs. Stokes was the top performer, and rates the No. 1 spot without any question, although Mrs. Myron Davy, No. 1 woman golfer last year, did not compete in the major affairs around Washington in 1942.

Loses to Mrs. Walper.

Mrs. Stokes' list of achievements this year is a resume of the winning—or losing—of the important tournaments. Starting at Chevy Chase in defense of her District championship, she waded through the field without serious opposition, winning in the final from Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, the Columbia champion. She accomplished much the same stunt in the Maryland women's championship. In both tournaments she beat Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, long a standout performer, setting at rest any doubt that she was not the best.

Lone beating of the year in championship competition came to Mrs. Stokes in the Middle Atlantic title tourney. In this one she was defeated on the last hole in the final by Mrs. Leo Walper, who came from behind to beat the District champ when she appeared well on the way to winning her third straight major crown, something no woman in this town has accomplished. Mrs. Walper's victory was well earned, and was no fluke, although through the 11th hole Mrs. Stokes appeared the winner.

Mrs. Walper Banks Second.

Here is the way the ranking of the top feminine stars around town looks this year:

No. 1, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, District of Columbia and Maryland champion.

No. 2, Mrs. Leo Walper, Middle Atlantic champion.

No. 3, Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, runnerup for the District championship and Columbia titleholder.

No. 4, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, semi-finalist in the District and Maryland championships and Kenwood champion.

No. 5, Mrs. Lloyd G. Pray, a consistent performer and runner-up in the Manor championship in addition to her semifinal position in the District championship.

Mrs. Stokes also won the Manor Country Club title and only a few days ago underwent an emergency appendectomy. She has resigned from the Manor Country Club and soon will join her husband at his Army post in New Mexico.

Capital's Linkswomen Hopeful Of Full 1943 Tourney Season

Group Is to Nominate Officers Friday;
Mrs. Hartman Wins President's Plate

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Feminine linkswomen have written the final chapter and closed the book on the 1942 competitive season, but already they are committed, under certain circumstances, to the holding of at least part of their normal tournament schedule in 1943. The certain circumstances hinge on who is chosen president of the Women's District Golf Association, most active links group in this area.

If Mrs. Walter L. Weible of Kenwood, president of the WDGA for the past two years, is elected again (which appears likely), she will ask her Executive Committee for authorization to proceed with a more or less normal competitive schedule next year. If some other candidate is nominated, the issue is not clear. It isn't important, naturally, in a world at war, whether the women play in golf tournaments or not. But they want them and they'll get 'em, if there is any way to put through a program next year.

1943 Officers to be Named.

Friday the Nominating Committee of the WDGA meets at the home of Mrs. Edward Widmayer, chairman of the group which is composed of the chairmen of Golf Committees of the 13 member clubs. This group will nominate the 1943 officers to be installed at the annual meeting in December. Nomination has been equivalent to election among the women golfers. Never has a candidate for office been presented from the floor.

Mrs. F. H. Kramer, vice president and former tournament chairman, is withdrawing from further active participation in the feminine links picture. She has announced she is not a candidate for any office.

Victor in the final tourney of the year for the women was Mrs. Calvin B. Hartman of Prince Georges, a competitor with a fine record this year. Mrs. Hartman won section B of The Star Cup tourney, the Columbia Broadcasting System event, and now has won the President's Plate, closing event on the schedule. Through constant improvement she has kept ahead of steady handicap reductions, brought about by her bettered game.

She played Kenwood, scene of her Star Cup victory, in 95 strokes, and with a handicap of 17 strokes walked off with the main prize with a net of 78. Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, Columbia champion, took down the gross award with 87. Other net winners were:

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, (Kenwood) 98—17—81; Mrs. Frank Mirih, (Indian Spring) 99—17—82; Mrs. J. F. Gross, (Columbia) 92—16—83; Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, (Chevy Chase) 95—12—83; Mrs. Carter Magruder, (Army-Navy) 95—12—83. Low putts, Mrs. Marvin Wire, (Kenwood); high score, Mrs. C. E. Clark, (Belle Haven).

New Financing Plan.

Next year, if a full schedule is approved, the usual budget book system of financing the purchase of prizes will not be carried forward. Each event will carry an entry fee. This is because of the uncertainty surrounding the entire situation.

But there's every probability there will be a links season next year for the women.

In one of their banner seasons in 1942 they spent more than $1,000 in War bonds and stamps, and around $500 in purchase of lesser merchandise prizes. They've had a good year under the clever direction of Mrs. Weible.

Golf for Women in '43 Assured With Mrs. Weible Again Head

Gains Approval for Regular Schedule;
Lew Fahrenwald Killed in Action

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Feminine golfers apparently are committed to at least partial playing of the usual grist of tournaments during 1943.

Choosing Mrs. Walter L. Weible of Kenwood for her third consecutive term as president of the Women's District Golf Association, the Nominating Committee has set the seal of approval on Mrs. Weible's wish to stage a regular schedule next year. They knew how she felt before yesterday's meeting at the home of Chairman Mrs. Edward Widmayer and wasted no time in nominating again the wife of the Army colonel who has headed women's links activities here for two years. Nomination is equivalent to election.

Mrs. J. H. Bullock of Kenwood was nominated for first vice president, succeeding Mrs. F. H. Kramer of Manor, while Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts of Chevy Chase again will be second vice president. Mrs. G. K. Heiss of Army Navy was chosen for secretary, and Mrs. E. A. Swingle was nominated for treasurer for the second year.

Thinks Golf Should Continue.

Mrs. Weible does not string along with those who think feminine golf should go into a tailspin for the duration, and has made no secret of her attitude on women's golf next year. She has been outspoken in favor of the holding of at least a major part of the schedule, and will work for resumption of most of the affairs played in past years. The Women's District Golf Association is by long odds the most active links group in Washington, and in many ways is the best organized outfit.

"Certainly many of us are in war work," said Mrs. Weible. "But I am sure all of us can get away to play in a tournament once in a while. It doesn't take a whole day and it is definitely a health measure. Many women who play considerable golf would miss the competition and the exercise. I think we should go ahead with our schedule, holding the tournaments at clubs which can easily be reached by public transportation lines."

Chicago Also Is Bidding for 1942 Classic

New Club Executive

Elected to Succeed

Mrs. Robert A. Lacey

By MAURY FITZGERALD

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. W. L. Weible, of Kenwood Golf and Country Club, yesterday was elected president of the Women's District Golf Association and, in her acceptance speech at Columbia Country Club, announced that negotiations were under way for the playing of the 1942 and 1943 U.S.G.A. Women's Championship here.

The new prexy told officials and delegates of the District body that requests for the championship must be in the hands of the Women's U.S.G.A. committee two years in advance and she had been told that Chicago also was bidding for the 1942 classic, and might have first call on that date. Mrs. Weible was named to succeed Mrs. Robert A. Lacey as president of the local association.

Mrs. Winkler Renamed

Mrs. Weible served last year in the capacity of handicap chairman and it was her great work in that job that resulted in her selection as head of next year's entire association. Mr. Frank Kramer, of Manor Club, chairman of last year's tournament committee, was named first vice president, while Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, of Chevy Chase Club, was elected second vice president.

Mrs. Harvey J. Cooper, of Kenwood, was named to the post of secretary, and Mrs. P. J. Winkler, of Congressional, was retained as treasurer. Mrs. Winkler was the only officer from last year to be renamed.

Makes Recommendations

Mrs. Weible made several recommendations after her year's experience at handicapping, and the main one had to do with the playing of the annual team matches. The new president has asked that the matches be patterned after the U.S.G.A. system of playing the first team at scratch and the second and third teams with handicaps.

She also asked that all teams be composed of six players and that the team field day events be played at the home clubs of the victorious teams.

But the team captains had other ideas. They recommended that the same system of eight players on the first team, six on the second, and four on the fourth be retained along with the scratch systems for all competitors. Mrs. Weible's argument against the old system was that some clubs had too much advantage over the others and that handicapping the second and third teams would put the competition on a more even basis.

Unanimous Vote Needed

It also was pointed out by the retiring president that several of the new recommendations would mean the changing of the association's constitution and to be able to arrive at that action delegates from more than five clubs must vote unanimously in favor of the changes. Mrs. Weible, in her annual report as handicap chairman, said that 1,336 entries had been made in the association's 14 major tournaments and that 414 of these were in Class A and 503 in Class B.

Mrs. Kramer, in her report as last year's tournament chairman, requested several changes. The main one was that all ties in tournaments must be played in July and August. She also recommended that the team match field day be played at the end of the team competition instead of the present plan of being played at the end of the season.

Mrs. Lacey, the retiring president, was presented with a gold pin in recognition of her two years of service as prexy.

Women Golfers to Add Richmond to Schedule

Plan to Increase Inter-City Matches Next Year; Inter-Club Team Matches To Be Changed Before Next Season

Washington's women golfers will probably extend their series of inter-city matches to an annual home-and-home series with Richmond, according to plans formulated in the last executive committee meeting of the year yesterday at Columbia Country Club.

Mrs. Robert A. Lacey, retiring president, other officers, club committee chairmen and Mrs. W. L. Weible, the nominee for 1941 president, reviewed the season and made several recommendations to be presented at the annual meeting December 5, also at Columbia.

The local women's golf team played Richmond several years ago but the series was discontinued. It was hoped the rivalry would be renewed next season, in addition to the matches with the Baltimore and Philadelphia representatives.

The interclub team matches will undoubtedly be changed before next spring, with first teams composed of six players. Second and third teams will be played under a handicapping system and the rule whereby clubs had to be represented by a first team to enter a second and third will be abolished.

Woman Golfers Plan Several Changes as New Officers Meet for First Time

Several important changes in association procedure were before the initial meeting of the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association today at Kenwood, where 5 officers and 13 club chairmen met for the first time to inaugurate the 1941 feminine links season.

Most important in the minds of the women was a proposed change in the method of playing the inter-club team matches, as set forth in a report to the association by Mrs. G. E. Stratemeyer, chairman of a special committee appointed to revise the team match rules. Another change involved a revision of the constitution to make the handicap chairman an officer of the association and a member of the Executive Committee.

New officers, meeting for the first time in committee session, are Mrs. Walter L. Weible, Army Navy, president; Mrs. Frank Kramer, Manor, first vice president; Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, Chevy Chase, second vice president; Mrs. Harvey J. Cooper, Kenwood, secretary, and Mrs. P. J. Winkler, Congressional, treasurer.

The team match report lays down rigid rules for the conduct of the matches, sets an official starting time and handicap restrictions, while an appended report recommends changes in the intercity match regulations, including resumption of contests with Richmond and abandonment of the Washington-Philadelphia match as a contest between women from the two cities. In its place would be a match between members of the Women's District Golf Association and Maryland women, playing as a team, and a team drawn from the Pennsylvania State Golf Association.

W.D.G.A. Adopts Measures to Improve Golf

Vote Full Accord With U.S.G.A.; Plan To Change Handicaps

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Under the leadership of President Mrs. Walter L. Weible, the Women's District Golf Association yesterday adopted a policy of complete co-operation and accord with the United States Golf Association at the annual meeting of the executive committee held at Kenwood Golf and Country Club.

Reforms in local methods of establishing handicaps based on women's pars at the several clubs around Washington; a survey of the courses to accurately establish women's par, and a broadening of the scope of activity for the organization were approved.

Handicaps Recognized

As a result of the new program, long advocated by Mrs. Weible, the handicaps of the local women golfers will be recognized by the United States Golf Association. The parent body at present takes no official cognizance of the ranking District players. This is due, insiders stated, to the fact that on several courses in the metropolitan area permit winter rules to be played the year round. It is fundamental that such procedure makes scoring easier. It also lowers handicaps.

The practice boomerangs, however, when the District players meet teams from cities where the old St. Andrews custom of playing the ball as it lies, governs play. The low handicap player on courses where orthodox golf is customary usually is a better and more consistent performer than the player favored by local rules.

Par Does Not Conform

It was pointed out to the executive committee that women's par on the local courses did not conform to the standards long established in the royal and ancient game. Fred McLeod, veteran professional at Columbia Country Club, informed Mrs. Weible and her associates that par from the front tees at Columbia was established at 76. This, the old champion declared, was three strokes higher than United States Golf Association would make it. McLeod said that women's par at Columbia; Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 73.

Distance and winter rules, it was evident to Mrs. Weible, called for study. Accordingly the president appointed Mrs. George Stratemeyer, of Congressional Country Club, to head a committee on research to correct a situation which militated against the chances of success of local women in team matches.

Appoints Committee

Upon hearing the report of the research committee, Mrs. Weible appointed Mrs. Walter Jarvis, of Columbia; Mrs. J. A. Anderson, of Argyle, and Mrs. Charles Vaile, of Kenwood, to survey all courses in the local area, establish standard pars, and by adopting the orthodox rule of playing through the green, to fix handicaps in accordance with the rules of the United States Golf Association. By carrying out this work, District women's teams will meet players from other cities on a more even basis.

Mrs. Edward Fox, of Kenwood, was named tournament chairman, with Mrs. C. M. McGowan, of Manor Club, her assistant. It was decided that this year tournament play would be continued through July and August. Heretofore play had been abandoned in those months because of the number of players who left the city on vacation. It was decided to make all teams of six players. Previously the first team had eight, the second team had six, and the third team had four.

Mrs. Myron Davy, of Congressional, was named captain of the District Intercity team, and her first lieutenant is Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor.

Mrs. Bishop Hill was named captain of the District first team; Mrs. Theodore Peyser, of Woodmont, captain of the second team, and Mrs. Phelps Adams, of Washington, captain of the third team.

New Team Rules Are Passed By Women's Golf Committee

Mrs. Weible's Plans Given Unanimous Vote By Executive Group and Chairmen

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

The executive committee of the District Women's Golf Association, consisting of officers and chairmen of the 13 member clubs, passed by a unanimous vote all new recommendations of the 1941 president, Mrs. Walter Weible, and her committee in a meeting yesterday at Kenwood Country Club.

Most important was adopting the new system of team play including many radical changes over last year's method. The new system was presented by Mrs. George E. Stratemeyer.

The executive committee also approved of scheduling tournaments through July and August, to lift the burden from the spring and fall months and give the schedule a more even distribution. Heretofore association members complained they worked on their games, reached a peak around June, and then the tournaments were dropped until September and they lost the touch. This was a recommendation of Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, former tournament chairman.

To Remeasure Courses

Mrs. Weible's move to have a "B" class handicap chairman named as well as an "A" class chairman was also adopted, and the president named Mrs. H. J. Beech, Manor, as "A" chairman, and Mrs. E. A. Swingle, Congressional, to the "B" division. A proposed amendment to the constitution to have the handicap chairman made officers will probably be passed at a later meeting.

It was also approved that a committee be named to remeasure the courses in order to get the exact yardage for computing women's par. Mrs. W. B. Jarvis, Columbia, was named chairman, with Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Argyle, and Mrs. Charles L. Vaile, Kenwood, as assistants.

Principal changes in the team play, announced by Mrs. Stratemeyer and committee and approved by Mrs. Weible two weeks ago, are: It will not be necessary to enter a first team to be represented by a second; first teams will play from scratch and second and third from handicaps, six members on each; there will be no substitutes allowed, no postponements and two defaults will disqualify a player; matches will start late in April, only one a week will be played, and the Field Day will follow the matches, to be played over the winners' courses.

It was decided to leave the intercity team problems up to the players concerned, and for them to work out a schedule and system of matches. Mrs. Myron Davy is intercity team captain and Mrs. W. R. Stokes assistant.

Mrs. Weible also announced committee appointments, the most important being naming Mrs. Edward Fox, former Bannockburn chairman and now of Kenwood, to the post of tournament chairman of the association. Mrs. C. E. McGowan, Manor, will be her assistant.

Mrs. H. A. Knox will head the rules committee with Mrs. Betty Meckley, A class, and Mrs. Gorham Freer, B class. The appointments of Mrs. G. E. Stratemeyer and Mrs. W. E. Hall as team chairman and assistant have already been announced, while Mrs. Bishop Hill, Chevy Chase, was named District team captain; Mrs. Theodore Peyser, Woodmont, second team captain, and Mrs. Phelps Adams, Washington, captain of the third team.

Mrs. Edward Widmayer, Argyle, was named chairman of the prize committee and Mrs. W. B. Barkdull, Columbia, chairman of the rule book.

Mrs. Weible named a new auditing committee of Mrs. Gale E. Pugh, Manor, and Mrs. J. C. Dale, Kenwood.

The new president plans meetings every two or three weeks to get the entire new program of changes lined up well before the golf season.

Handicaps Recognized

As a result of the new program, long advocated by Mrs. Weible, the handicaps of the local women golfers will be recognized by the United States Golf Association. The parent body at present takes no official cognizance of the ranking District players. This is due, insiders stated, to the fact that on several courses in the metropolitan area permit winter rules to be played the year round. It is fundamental that such procedure makes scoring easier. It also lowers handicaps.

The practice boomerangs, however, when the District players meet teams from cities where the old St. Andrews custom of playing the ball as it lies, governs play. The low handicap player on courses where orthodox golf is customary usually is a better and more consistent performer than the player favored by local rules.

Par Does Not Conform

It was pointed out to the executive committee that women's par on the local courses did not conform to the standards long established in the royal and ancient game. Fred McLeod, veteran professional at Columbia Country Club, informed Mrs. Weible and her associates that par from the front tees at Columbia was established at 76. This, the old champion declared was three strokes higher than United States Golf Association would make it. McLeod said that women's par at Columbia; Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 73.

Distance and winter rules, it was evident to Mrs. Weible, called for study. Accordingly the president appointed Mrs. George Stratemyer, of Congressional Country Club, to head a committee on research to correct a situation which militated against the chances of success of local women in team matches.

Appoints Committee

Upon hearing the report of the research committee, Mrs. Weible appointed Mrs. Walter Jarvis, of Columbia; Mrs. J. A. Anderson, of Argyle, and Mrs. Charles Valle, of Kenwood, to survey all courses in the local area, establish standard pars, and by adopting the orthodox rule of playing through the green, to fix handicaps in accordance with the rules of the United States Golf Association. By carrying out this work, District women's teams will meet players from other cities on a more even basis.

Mrs. Edward Fox, of Kenwood, was named tournament chairman, with Mrs. C. M. McGowan, of Manor Club, her assistant. It was decided that this year tournament play would be continued through July and August. Heretofore play had been abandoned in those months because of the number of players who left the city on vacation. It was decided to make all teams of six players. Previously the first team had eight, the second team had six, and the third team had four.

Mrs. Myron Davy, of Congressional was named captain of the District intercity team, and her first lieutenant is Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor.

Mrs. Bishop Hill was named captain of the District first team; Mrs. Theodore Peyser, of Woodmont, captain of the second team, and Mrs. Phelps Adams, of Washington, captain of the third team.

Mrs. Harry Beech, of Manor, was named chairman of the Class A, or low handicap division, with Mrs. E. Swingle, of Congressional, chairman of the Class B, or higher handicap division. Mrs. George Stratemyer was named team chairman, with Mrs. W. E. Hall, of Columbia, her lieutenant.

The rules committee has as its general chairman Mrs. H. A. Knox, of Congressional, with Mrs. Betty Meckley, of Kenwood; Mrs. H. J. Simon, of Manor; Mrs. Gorham Freer, of Washington, and Mrs. J. Brantly, of Argyle, as aides. Mrs. Edward Widmayer, of Argyle, will head the prize committee. Mrs. Walter Barkdull, of Columbia, is chairman of the Year Book committee, and Mrs. Gale Pugh, of Manor, heads the auditing committee.

well as an "A" class chairman was also adopted, and the president named Mrs. H. J. Beech, Manor, as "A" chairman, and Mrs. E. A. Swingle, Congressional, to the "B" division. A proposed amendment to the constitution to have the handicap chairman made officers will probably be passed at a later meeting.

It was also approved that a committee be named to remeasure the courses in order to get the exact yardage for computing women's par. Mrs. W. B. Jarvis, Columbia, was intercity team captain and Mrs. W. R. Stokes assistant.

Mrs. Weible also announced committee appointments, the most important being naming Mrs. Edward Fox, former Bannockburn chairman and now of Kenwood, to the post of tournament chairman of the association. Mrs. C. E. McGowan, Manor, will be her assistant.

Mrs. H. A. Knox will head the rules committee with Mrs. Betty Meckley, A class, and Mrs. Gorham Freer, B class. The appointments of Mrs. G. E. Stratemyer and Mrs. W. E. Hall as team chairman and assistant have already been announced, while Mrs. Bishop Hill, Chevy Chase, was named District team captain; Mrs. Theodore Peyser, Woodmont, second team captain, and Mrs. Phelps Adams, Washington, captain of the third team.

Mrs. Edward Widmayer, Argyle, was named chairman of the prize committee and Mrs. W. B. Barkdull, Columbia, chairman of the rule book.

Mrs. Weible named a new auditing committee of Mrs. Gale E. Pugh, Manor, and Mrs. J. C. Dale, Kenwood.

The new president plans meetings every two or three weeks to get the entire new program of changes lined up well before the golf season.

Women's Golf Group To Meet February 13

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, announced yesterday that a meeting of the budget committee would be held Thursday, February 13, at Kenwood Golf and Country Club for the drawing up of plans for prizes to be awarded in this year's tournaments. The meeting is to begin at 10 a.m. and will be presided over by Mrs. Weible.

Maryland Title Golf For Women Is Sent To Chevy Chase

Rolling Road Club Gets Low Handicap Event For Payne Trophy

Chevy Chase Club gets the Maryland State women's links championship in June 1941.

The tourney for the Payne Trophy goes to the Rolling Road Golf Club on October 1, 2 and 3. The women's Eastern Golf Association championship, played last year at Baltimore, goes to the Westchester Country Club of Rye, N. Y., June 10, 11 and 12.

These dates and tournament sites were announced today by Mrs. Ralph W. Payne of Congressional, who again will be in charge of the Washington section of Maryland State feminine golf affairs this year.

Trophy Given Maryland Body.

The Payne Trophy tourney is a 54-hole medal play affair, limited to women with low handicaps. Played for the first time last year, at Congressional, it was won by Mrs. Myron Davy, who donated the cup to the Maryland State Golf Association in honor of Mrs. Payne.

Grace Amory of Long Island won the Eastern championship last year.

The Women's District Golf Association team won the Osgood Shield, a medal play affair, in the Eastern championship tourney last year, but it is not likely it will defend this year.

Meanwhile Washington woman golfers are lining up their lengthy tournament list for 1941, and will have their schedule ready by late March.

Miller Meet Opens Season.

Team matches will start April 25, under a new setup, with the Miller Memorial tourney at Washington again slated to open the season. Tournament courses have not yet been decided, but The Star tourney will go to Chevy Chase and Columbia.

Mrs. Payne is in favor of a joint team from the Women's District Golf Association and the Baltimore Women's Golf Association to play in matches against formidable out-of-town opponents such as Philadelphia. The Baltimore women held their annual meeting last week and set their local tournament dates.

Feminine links legislators today are to release their complete season schedule, at a meeting at Kenwood, the third of the year for the new Executive Committee. Mrs. Edward Fox is the new tournament chairman.

Women's National Title Golf May Be Staged at Columbia Or Chevy Chase This Year

By WALTER McCALLUM.

The United States Golf Association today has before it a bid offering one of two Washington golf courses for the women's national championship in 1941 or in a future year.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, said today she has written Mrs. J. H. Hjul, chairman of the U. S. G. A. Women's Committee, offering either Chevy Chase or Columbia for the national tourney.

Mrs. Weible also announced that the major feminine tournaments around Washington this year may be broadcast over an N. B. C. station. "Carlton Smith of N. B. C. suggested this himself," she said. "I was talking with him about the N. B. C. tournament this year and he suggested that possibly a broadcast from the scene of the big women's golf tournaments around Washington could be arranged this year," Mrs. Weible said.

The attempt to get the women's national tourney for Washington is in line with an earlier statement by the Women's Golf Association head. When she took over the presidency early in December Mrs. Weible said one of her main objectives during her term in office would be to bring the national championship here.

The women's national title event was played at the Chevy Chase Club in 1908, won by Kate C. Harley. Chevy Chase also staged the Curtis Cup international matches in 1934. Both Chevy Chase and Columbia courses have watered fairways, which is one of the considerations for the championship award. "Mrs. Hjul said my letter on the national championship will be turned over to the association secretary," said Mrs. Weible.

Patty Berg and Helen Dettweiler to Give Links Exhibition

Match at Kenwood Club And Clinic at Rock Creek Planned

Patty Berg, the Minneapolis redhead who dominated women's golf for two or three years before she turned pro last summer, is scheduled to appear in a brace of exhibition matches at Washington courses next month. With her will appear Helen Dettweiler, the Washington girl who turned pro in 1939, with the same outfit which employs Patty.

Arrangements for one match just were completed today by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District of Columbia Golf Association, which will handle the contest, to be played at the Kenwood Golf and Country Club, starting at 1:30 o'clock April 27. Tommy Doerer, Rock Creek Park manager, is making arrangements for an exhibition match and links clinic at the Rock Creek Park course on April 30.

In the Kenwood Club match two of Washington's top male amateurs will appear, Mrs. Weible said. One of them will be Ralph Bogart, the 20-year-old District amateur champion, and the other will be Roger Peacock. There will be no admission charge.

Patty Berg has appeared here before. In 1938, when she was the woman's national champion, she played at Congressional with Helen Dettweiler, Roland MacKenzie and Bob Barnett, touring the Congressional course in 77.

Patty turned pro last summer and has been touring the country on an exhibition schedule. She has been in constant demand. Helen has been a pro since May, 1939. She has been in Florida for several months, and has played many exhibition matches.

At Rock Creek Park on April 30 Doerer plans to put on a golf clinic, following an exhibition match between the two linkswomen, who will explain their shot-making technique.

Mrs. Fox Appointed.

Topping the important Tournament Committee is Mrs. Edward

Fox of Kenwood, who served for two years as women's golf chairman at Bannockburn, when that club was named Capital. With Mrs. Fox will serve Mrs. C. E. McGowan of Manor, who was aide to Mrs. Frank Kramer as tournament head last year. Other committee appointments announced at the first meeting of the new executive group at Kenwood yesterday were: Handicaps, Mrs. H. J. Beech, Manor, Class A, and Mrs. E. A. Swingle, Congressional, Class B. Rules—Mrs. H. A. Knox, Congressional, chairman; Class A, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood, and Mrs. H. J. Simons, Manor; Class B, Mrs. Gorham Freer, Washington, and Mrs. J. Brantley, Argyle. Teams—Mrs. G. E. Stratemeyer, Congressional, and Mrs. W. E. Hall, Columbia. Captains, District teams: First teams, Mrs. Bishop P. Hill, Chevy Chase; second teams, Mrs. Theodore Peyser, Woodmont; third teams, Mrs. Phelps Adams, Washington; intercity teams, Mrs. Myron Davy, Congressional, and Mrs. W. R. Stokes, Manor; prizes, Mrs. Ed Widmayer, Argyle; year book, Mrs. Walter D. Barkdull, Columbia; audits, Mrs. Gale E. Pugh, Manor, and Mrs. J. C. Dale, Kenwood.

The meeting, over which Mrs. Walter L. Weible presided in her new role as president of the Women's District Golf Association, moved further along the road of organization for 1941 by adoption in full of the new team regulations proposed several weeks ago by a special committee headed by Mrs. Stratemeyer. These regulations previously have been printed, and set up new team match rules which will tend, Mrs. Weible said, to make the matches more businesslike.

The Executive Committee also voted to lift the ban on tournaments in July and August, which means that some affairs will be played in those months. Action also was taken to include in the list of officers of the association the two handicap chairmen, making the officers now number seven in all.

Courses to Be Remeasured.

One of the important steps was authorization for appointment of a committee to include Mrs. W. B. Jarvis of Columbia, Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Argyle, and Mrs. Charles L. Vaile of Kenwood, to take steps toward remeasuring of all the golf courses included in the association membership.

"Our handicaps here are too low," Mrs. Jarvis said, "because the courses are not accurately measured and the pars for them are too high. I am sure when we have the courses accurately measured, and the pars for them are lowered—as they will be—most of our golfers will find their handicaps raised. It's ridiculous, for example, on some of the courses around Washington. And by and large most of us feel our handicaps are too low as measured by the par of the courses on which we play. What we are seeking is a fair par and fair handicaps. We think we will get these things by accurate measurements and strict adherence to the par regulations of the United States Golf Association."

Play Starts in April And Will Run Until Early November

Keeler Memorial Event Is First; Congressional May Get D. C. Tourney

By WALTER McCALLUM

The complete schedule of feminine golf events for 1941, in a crowded slate to start late in April and to run through every month until early November, will be announced Thursday when the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association holds its third meeting at Kenwood.

First of the feminine links affairs will be the tourney for the Keeler Memorial Trophy, at the Washington Golf and Country Club late in April, to be followed within a few days by the event for the Keefe Trophy at Chevy Chase. The first named tourney will be open to all players, while the Keefe event is to be open only to class A players, with handicaps up to 18.

Congressional Gets Tourney.

Congressional Country Club, according to the advance dope, will get the District women's championship, although a decision may not be made on this most important tourney of the year until tomorrow, Congressional, because of the reorganization of that club, has not been able to set definite dates for one or two of the women's events.

The tourney for The Star Trophies will be played this year at the Washington Golf and Country Club late in May. The first day class A players will compete, while the second day those in class B, with handicaps between 18 and 36, will play for the trophies to be donated by The Star.

One of the most important issues to come before the association in months will be decided Thursday. This is the question of completing one-day tournaments in a single day and involves the vexing problem of play-offs of ties for the top net and gross prizes. Ties for the top prizes long have been problems for the women golfers to handle. Under the present rule all ties must be played off the following day.

But backed by the Women's Committee of the United States Golf Association, which asked the cogent question: "Is it a one-day tournament when you carry over a playoff to the next day?" Mrs. Weible will seek revision of the present rule to force playoffs of all ties for gross prizes the same day as the tournament proper, and in the case of ties for the net award, will seek a rule forcing matching of cards to settle the tie at once.

Wants Rules Understood.

Mrs. Weible happens to be a stickler for written rules. Jokingly she admits she is forced into such an attitude by some of the golfers themselves. Some have insisted on justification of certain regulations, so Mrs. Weible, in self-protection, wants the rules written and understood in advance of competition. Rules should be flexible enough to cover all situations, she says, but at the same time should unmistakably state their purpose.

So the women, with their rules brought up to date and their tournament schedule complete, have about a month before the schedule gets under way. The coming season looms as another big one in a long series of increasingly big seasons.

Nine-Hole Courses and Winter Rules Out as Linkswomen Announce 11 Tourneys

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Major tournaments over 9-hole courses are out of the Women's District Golf Association competitive picture this year. So are major affairs over courses on which winter rules are in effect.

These are the main changes in a well-rounded schedule of eleven links events announced by the feminine golf organization. In addition another tourney, known as the "bonus" event, will be held, if any money from the prize budget is left after the close of a season opening April 21 and running through October 14.

The annual team match of past years with Philadelphia is out, but two team contests will be played against Baltimore in home and home engagements. The women also did not, as expected, schedule team contests with Richmond. The linkswomen of the Virginia capital, realizing the supremacy of the Washington women, asked that matches be played on a handicap basis, which the local women refused to do.

One-Day Tourneys O.K'd.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, women's association proxy, announced that henceforth all one-day tournaments will end the same day and that playoffs, if necessary, will be staged the day of the tourney. This, she explained, is in line with United States Golf Association practice. Membership in the association for unattached players now will cost $10, instead of the $5 fee of previous years.

In addition to the major tournament schedule, the women announced the schedule for their team matches, in three divisions, starting April 25 and winding up June 30. First teams, with only four clubs entered in this division, will play at scratch, while in the well populated second division, and the third division, players will compete with association handicaps under a new series of regulations adopted several months ago.

Here is the tournament schedule:

A road is to be built from the new houses near the old second and sixth holes to connect with the crossroad from the Colesville pike to Hyattsville. The green for the new sixth hole will be built near the first bunker on the old sixteenth, while a new sixteenth tee will be built alongside the new green. The new sixth and fifteenth hole will become a lengthy par 4, while the next hole will remain a par 5, but will be a shorter hole than its predecessor.

Tourney at C. C. of Maryland Good News to Golfers Here; Mrs. Meckley Again Victor

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Washington's tournament-minded golfers, of whom there happen to be quite a few nowadays, have another big event beckoning them next month. In the light of the fact that only one private club around town has announced an invitation affair for this spring, the tournament players will be interested to learn that the Country Club of Maryland, which has gone by two other names, today announces an invitation event.

The Country Club of Maryland started its links life as Rodgers Forge. Later it became Terra Mariae on its sale to interests headed by C. H. Spedden. Now it is the Country Club of Maryland. It is located near the pleasant little village of Towson, 10 miles north of Baltimore.

Tourney May 29, 30, 31.

The club today announces its invitation affair for May 29, 30 and 31. Invitations will be sent to all interested members of country clubs in the Washington area, and you can be sure a flock of the tourney-playing youngsters will troop over to Towson to play.

Only private invitation event listed this spring is the Chevy Chase Club tourney for the Taft Cup, to be held in mid-May. In addition, the East Potomac Golf Club and the Anacostia Golf Club jointly are sponsoring an invitation event at East Potomac Park early in May, but in the main the private course players do not now seem to be intensely interested, although they may be so later.

Dearth of tournaments around town has the boys who like to play in them wishing for more such affairs. For a time Columbia thought of staging one this spring, but that plan now has been abandoned, according to the club Golf Committee. So the Towson affair may draw a big entry from the Capital area.

Mrs. Meckley Washington Victor.

Betty Palmer Meckley, Washington's steadyest feminine golfer, remains the most remarkable of the several top flight woman competitors who have played in the tournaments over the past decade.

Whatever Betty does with the ample chunks of silver she wins because of her prowess with driver and putter must mean that sooner or later she will have to hire a small warehouse, for during her 11-year stay in Washington she has won a generous supply of valuable silverware. She won another chunk yesterday in typical Meckley fashion — by scoring a 79, which led her nearest rival by eight strokes, to lead in both gross and net classes in the Miller Memorial Cup tourney at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

She elected to take the net award, which went to the winner of the tourney, Mrs. Leo Walper's 87 took the gross prize.

Since Betty first shook the dust of Schenectady, N. Y., from her golfing brogans back in 1930 and came to Washington to make her home, she has been the woman to lick in the local golf tourneys. Handicapped by a sacra-iliac condition (she is said to sleep on a board) she has fought back against her ailment, and has managed to win all the major sectional championships in this area. Her run of victories dates back to a day in June of 1930 when she licked Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, then the king pin of local women's golf, to win the District championship at Chevy Chase. The Middle Atlantic, the Maryland State and countless minor tournaments have gone to steady Betty and today—11 years after her first major victory—she still seems able to lead the local field in almost any tournament.

Wins by Eight Strokes.

Betty hasn't won a sectional title in two years now, which would seem to indicate that the procession has passed her. But the facts belie that assumption. In a tourney which had nearly all the top competitors of the town entered yesterday she scored a 79 to lead by eight strokes; Mrs. Myron Davy, holder of the Payne Trophy; Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the Maryland champion, and many club titleholders were in the affair, but Mrs. Meckley topped them all by a wide margin. Like Ol' Man River, she keeps on rolling along.

From time to time, of course, Betty will take a licking. All good competitors have that experience every once in a while. But in the main Betty does all right in the business of outscoring and outplaying the rest of the field. She takes all the medals for consistency that any one could hand out. It takes quite a chunk of golf and spirit and skill to remain around the top over such a stretch of years.

Winners in the Miller Cup tourney were:

(Gross), Mrs. Leo Walper, Bannockburn, 87; net, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood, 79—4—75; Mrs. Richard Thornburg, Kenwood, 85—18—77; Mrs. G. E. Stratenyer, Columbia, 88—9—79; Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, 90—11—79; Mrs. W. S. Masten, 93—14—79; Mrs. W. Marion Falls, Washington, 98—17—81; Mrs. M. K. Barroll, Army Navy, 91—9—82; Mrs. J. Darby, Columbia, 100—18—82; Mrs. Rosemary Evans, Kenwood, 106—18—82; Mrs. William E. Hall, Columbia, 96—14—82.

Miller Tourney May Be Dropped.

Women golfers of the Washington club, headed by Mrs. S. C. Hopkins, will vote soon on whether to stage the Miller Memorial Cup tourney next year. Some members of the committee favor a tournament in the fall rather than in the spring, and would revive the "Falling Leaves" tourney in October.

Next local feminine tourney is the Keefe Cup event, next Monday and Tuesday. The opening series of team matches will be played Friday at half a dozen courses.

Women's Golf Season Opens

Miller Cup Tourney Draws 114 Entries

When Mrs. Whipple slams her tee shot down the first fairway at Washington Golf and Country Club this morning in the annual Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial tournament she will be officially opening the local women's golfing season here.

A field of 114 feminine players will tee off in the tournament, which is held every year in memory of one of the finest players ever developed at the Virginia club. It is to be an 18-hole medal play handicap tournament with the entire field playing in pairs instead of the usual procedure of teeing off in threesomes.

Mrs. R. E. Hotze, chairman of the women's golf committee at Washington, has requested the visiting players to bring caddies as it is doubtful if there will be enough sack-toters to go around. Included in the large field are such well known stars as Mrs. Walter Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor; Mrs. Myron Davy, of Congressional, and Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood.

Kenwood Club Star Chooses Low Net Award

Fifth Year She Has Set Pace in Play;
Walper Gross Victor

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, toured the rolling, wind-swept hills of Washington Golf and Country Club's course in 79 strokes yesterday to dominate play in the annual Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial tournament.

The former Middle Atlantic and Maryland State titlist got out in 38 and returned in 41 to not only be the low gross victor by a margin of eight shots, but low net as well with a score of 75, made possible by a four-stroke handicap. Because a competitor is allowed to win but one prize in a tournament, the Kenwood star decided to take the low net award and Mrs. Leo Walper, of Bannockburn, with an 87, automatically became the gross prize winner.

Worked All Winter

The most remarkable part of Mrs. Meckley's victory was the fact that she worked all winter while many of the other competitors were in the South playing tournament golf. And even more remarkable, it marked the fifth consecutive year that Mrs. Meckley has posted the lowest score in this tournament played in memory of one of the Virginia Club's most admired golfers.

By accepting the low net award Mrs. Meckley cost one of her own club members first place in that division. For hardly had the Kenwood star decided upon which prize to accept than Mrs. Richard Thornburg finished with a net of 77, which was dropped back to second low net by Mrs. Meckley's decision.

Mrs. Thornburg, who has only been playing golf a little less than four years, posted a 46-49-95 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 18 strokes. Next in line for scoring honors came Mrs. George Stratemeyer, of Columbia with 44-44-88-9-79; Mrs. A. E. McEntee, of Kenwood, with 42-48-90-11-79, and Mrs. W. S. Masten, of the host club, with 46-47-93-14-79.

Mrs. Falls Has 98

Mrs. Marion Falls, of Washington, finished just back of the prize winners with a net of 81 which included a gross round of 98 and a handicap allowance of 17 strokes. Next at nets of 82 came Mrs. W. E. Hall, Columbia; Mrs. M. K. Barroll, Army and Navy; Mrs. J. J. Darby, Columbia; and Mrs. Rose Mary Evans, Kenwood.

Among the nets of 83 was Mrs. Walper, the gross winner who registered nines of 44 and 43. Other 83's were Mrs. Charles Penn, Congressional; Mrs. R. D. Young, Washington; Mrs. D. H. Henderson, Congressional, and Mrs. W. M. Maxwell, Army and Navy.

Mrs. Meckley had a chance to establish a new scoring record for the tournament when she came to the last hole needing a par for a 77 but her tee shot ran afoul of a sand trap and she finished with a six. She started off with a par on the first hole and a birdie at the second to be a stroke under men's par to that point.

Has Four Straight Fours

A water hazard at the third cost her a six and after taking fives at the fourth and fifth holes Mrs. Meckley finished with four straight fours for her 38. Mrs. Meckley used 34 putts for the round which is high for her although her card included but one three-putt green and that came at the seventeenth.

Mrs. Meckley Has 79 in Miller Tournament

Mrs. Betty Meckley outclassed a field of 85 competitors yesterday to win the Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Tournament at the Washington Golf and Country Club, her round of 79 giving her lowest gross and net scores.

The Kenwood star, who has had little practice all winter, chose the low net award with her 75, and put Mrs. Richard Thornberg, who has only been playing four years, in second place with 95-18-77.

Mrs. Leo Walper, a former District champion from Bannockburn, won the low gross prize. She carded an 87, eight more strokes than Mrs. Meckley required. Mrs. G. E. Stratemeyer of Columbia was third with 88.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley won gross honors by eight shots and low net by two to completely dominate the Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Tournament yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club.

The Kenwood Club player, who has won gross for the past five years in the season's initial tournament, broke 80 by a shot with a 38-41-79 and deducted four handicap strokes for a net 75.

Mrs. Leo Walper, the former District champion from Bannockburn, was next lowest in the starting field of 85 with an 87, and Mrs. G. E. Stratmeyer, Columbia, had 88, while the other star players were all way off their expected form. Mrs. L. G. Pray posted an 89, Mrs. Myron Davy a surprising 92, while Mrs. Walter Stokes, Maryland State champion, did not turn in a card. Other scores under the 92 mark included a 90 by Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. M. K. Barroll's 91. Mrs. Meckley preferred the low net prize, leaving gross to Mrs. Walper.

Mrs. Richard Thornburg, also of Kenwood, who won 12 gross and three match play prizes during the 1940 season, won second low net with nines of 46 and 49 for a 95, minus 18 handicap strokes for a net 77.

and Mrs. W. S. Masten just missed the prize list with net 78s.

Mrs. Meckley, who holds the competitive course record over the Washington layout with a 76, needed four for a 77 coming to the eighteenth hole, but drove into a sand trap and finished with a six for the 79. The winner averted a bad starting hole by knocking a four wood shot on the edge of the green and shipping dead to the cup for a par, after opening with a topped drive.

After dropping a 10-foot birdie putt on the second hole and then taking six on the third with a penalty shot, Mrs. Meckley played near regulation golf up to the eighteenth hole, hitting her shots well and getting down in regulation putts.

Opening D. C. Women's Team Match

22 Fair Golf Teams Open Play Tomorrow for D. C. Laurels; Albert MacKenzie Feted

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Embarking on their most ambitious schedule in a decade, 22 teams of feminine golfers will swing into action tomorrow over three courses in the opening series of matches between line-ups from a dozen clubs. First-team matches have but four entries, from Chevy Chase, the titleholder; Kenwood, Manor and Army Navy. But 12 teams have entered the second-team matches, while seven clubs have entered the third-team contests.

First-team matches for the city championship will be played at scratch. Second and third team matches will be played with Women's District Golf Association handicaps. It's all very new and the women admit it is a trial, but with characteristic energy they are all for it now.

First teams at Kenwood—Chevy Chase vs. Kenwood, Manor vs. Army Navy. Second teams at Woodmont—Chevy Chase vs. Congressional, Kenwood vs. Army Navy, Washington vs. Columbia, Woodmont vs. Argyle, Indian Spring vs. Beaver Dam, Manor vs. Belle Haven.

Third teams at Columbia—Manor vs. Congressional, Army Navy vs. Washington, Kenwood vs. Woodmont, Columbia draws a bye. Belle Haven Club of Alexandria, newest member of the Women's District Golf Association, is a new candidate for the second team championship. Women from that club have entered association tourneys before, but tomorrow's matches mark the start of the Alexandria club representatives in the team tourney.

Sisters' Illness Takes Kenwood Leader to N. Y.

Woodmont Site of 2d Team Matches; Third at Columbia

Kenwood Golf and Country Club's team will be without the services of Mrs. Betty P. Meckley today when they tee off in the opening Women's District Golf Association team matches over their home course.

Mrs. Meckley has been called to Albany, N. Y., because of the serious illness of her sister. This is the second setback to Kenwood, for earlier in the season Mrs. Harvey J. Cooper was forced to idleness because of a serious operation.

The second team matches will be held at Woodmont Country Club, while the third teams are slated to see action at Columbia. The schedule follows:

SECOND TEAMS at Woodmont—Chevy Chase vs. Congressional, Kenwood vs. Army-Navy, Washington vs. Columbia, Woodmont vs. Argyle, Indian Spring vs. Beaver Dam, Manor vs. Belle Haven.

THIRD TEAM at Columbia—Manor vs. Congressional, Army-Navy vs. Washington, Kenwood vs. Woodmont, Columbia draws a bye.

Kenwood Wins Team Match

Kenwood golfers today scored a big surprise in the opening session of the Women's District Golf Association team matches on their home course when they whipped the defending champions, Chevy Chase, 6 to 3. In another match, Manor and Army and Navy played a 4½-4½ deadlock.

Both Kenwood and Chevy Chase were minus their stars for today's match, with the result that Virginia Kreuzburg, of Kenwood, had to play best ball of Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra Platt. Mrs. Betty Meckley, of Kenwood, was in New York with her ill sister.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, No. 1 member of the Manor team, turned in the best card of the matches. She reeled off a 43, 38—81.

Feminine team matches which opened today at three clubs have put a crimp in the regular Friday tourneys staged for women of several clubs. Army Navy Country Club women have postponed their regular Friday tourneys until the team match schedule is completed, while congressional women have scheduled their usual weekly tourneys on Thursdays instead of Fridays. They held an event yesterday, won by Mrs. H. J. Klossner with 47-9-38 for the nine selected holes.

Army Navy Club women will play May 5 in the Peabody cup tournament, an 18-hole medal play affair with full club handicaps. Winner for the last two years was Mrs. J. S. Phillips.

Kenwood Beats Chevy Chase.

Feminine golfers were wondering today whether that strong Chevy Chase Club women's team is going to be as strong this year as last, when they waded through all opposition to win the first team matches. Although Kenwood was handicapped by the absence of Betty Meckley and dropped all 3 points in the top foursome, they came through to win all points in the other matches on their home course, winning the team match, 6 to 3. It's the first time in quite a stretch that Chevy Chase has been licked by that margin. On the Kenwood team were Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg, playing the best ball of Elizabeth Houghton, and Mrs. L. B. Platt in the absence of Mrs. Meckley; Mrs. Fred Evans, Mrs. H. L. Price, Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas. In the other first team match, at Kenwood, Manor licked Army Navy, 5 to 4.

Woodmont sprang into the lead in second team matches at Woodmont with an 8½-to-½ victory over Argyle. Other results: Army Navy beat Kenwood 6 to 3; Chevy Chase beat Congressional 5½ to 3½; Belle Haven beat Manor 5½ to 3½; Indian Spring beat Beaver Dam 5½ to 3½ and Columbia beat Washington 8 to 1.

Woodmont also took the lead in third team matches played at Columbia with a 6½-to-2½ win over Kenwood. Other results: Manor beat Congressional 6 to 3; Army Navy beat Washington 5 to 4.

Kenwood Upsets Chevy Chase By 6-3 Score

Army-Navy Defeats Manor as Women's Golf Series Opens

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Twenty-two teams began competition yesterday in the annual Women's District Golf Association team championships and when the show was over Kenwood Golf and Country Club's entry in the first team division had stolen the spotlight.

Kenwood, with two of its outstanding players missing from the line-up, defeated Chevy Chase Club, the defending champion, 6 to 3, over the Kenwood course. Chevy Chase, also weakened by missing stars, was only able to make a clean sweep in the opening match, in which Mrs. Virginia Kreuzburg was forced to play the best ball of Mrs. Landra Platt and Elizabeth Houghton, the Chevy Chase lead team.

Goes It Alone

Because the rules of the competition do not allow substitutions, Mrs. Kreuzburg was forced to go it all alone when Mrs. Betty Meckley was called away because of the serious illness of her sister. While Mrs. Kreuzburg was out trying to do the impossible, Mrs. H. L. Price and Mrs. Fred Evans, of Kenwood, were scoring a clean sweep over Mrs. Y. E. Booker and Baroness de Gruben, and Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, of Kenwood, were gaining all three points against Mrs. J. B. Patterson and Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts.

In the other first-team match Manor and Army and Navy battled to a 4½-to-4½ deadlock. Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Manor Club's lead-off player, scored the low round of the day with a 43-38-81, which enabled her and Mrs. L. G. Pray to earn a 2½-point-to-½-point victory over Mrs. David Clark, the former Middle Atlantic and Virginia State titlist, and Mrs. M. K. Barroll.

Host Club Clicks

In the second-team matches at Woodmont Country Club it remained for the host club team to steal the show. The Woodmont players took the lead in scoring with an 8½-to-4½ win over the players from Argyle Country Club.

Nearest in pursuit of the new leaders was Columbia with an 8-to-1 victory over Washington. Indian Spring edged out a 5½-to-3½ win over Beaver Dam; Belle Haven defeated Manor, 5½ to 3½; Army and Navy bested Kenwood, 6 to 3, and Chevy Chase won over Congressional, 5½ to 3½, in the other matches played.

At Columbia Country Club, where the third teams played, Woodmont again was the leader. Woodmont defeated Kenwood, 6½ to 2½, while Army and Navy was eking out a 5-to-4 victory over Washington and Manor was beating Congressional, 6 to 3.

Crippled Manor Team, Army-Navy Battle to Tie In First Matches

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

A surprisingly strong Kenwood team proved the opening day sensation of the District Women's Golf Association first team matches yesterday, over its home course, doubling the score on the defending champion Chevy Chase sextet, 6-3, although without the services of its top player.

In the other first team encounter a crippled Manor lineup and Army and Navy played to a 4½-all tie, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes leading the Manorites with the best individual scoring of the day, an 81. Mrs. Stokes was playing with Pro George Diefenbaugh's clubs, having locked her own sticks in her car.

In all 22 teams inaugurated the three-month team match competition, a dozen second teams playing at Woodmont while six of the seven third teams matched strokes at Columbia. The hosts drew a bye.

Upset Is Recorded

Mrs. H. L. Price and Mrs. Fred Evans upset Mrs. Y. E. Booker and the Baroness de Gruen for all three points in the second foursome of the Kenwood-Chevy Chase encounter, Mrs. Price supplying the winning punch while her partner played the consistent golf. The Kenwood players won both nines, 1 up. In the next match, Kenwood scored another shutout as Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas won both nines and the eighteen from Mrs. J. B. Patterson and Mrs. E. Dickinson Letts by rather comfortable margins.

Mrs. Myron Davy made a surprise appearance with Columbia's second team and under the new handicapping ruling won all three points with Mrs. T. O. Brandon as a partner against Mrs. R. I. Bailey and Mrs. S. Whipple, of Washington. The top Columbia duo spotted its opponents 11½ strokes, Columbia won the match, 8-1.

Woodmont was high scorer in the third team play at Columbia, defeating Kenwood, 6½ to 2½. Manor was a 6-3 victor over Congressional and Army and Navy shaded Washington, 5-4.

Kenwood Six Starts Without Top Player; Defending Champs Out After 6th Title

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Boasting five titles, including the 1940 crown, in the records of the District Women's Golf Association first team championships, Chevy Chase opens the current series today at Kenwood heavy favorites to add the club's name to the big trophy a sixth time.

Under a brand new system of play introduced by the association president, Mrs. Walter L. Weible, 22 teams in all will start the series that will extend through June 30. The four first teams meet today at Kenwood, a dozen second teams will get under way at Woodmont while six of the seven third teams will open up at Columbia, the hosts drawing a bye.

The present style of play allows absolutely no substitutions or changes, barring a handicap alteration of which there will be few, if any; so today's starting line-ups will continue through the series intact. An effort has been made by the committee members to secure players who will be available for all matches, thus reducing the players who will be unavailable to a minimum. A default will disqualify a team while any player missing two matches in a row will be dropped.

Kenwood Dealt Blow

Kenwood's hopes received a blow at the very outset, however, as Mrs. Betty Meckley, their No. 1 player, was called to New York by the illness of a sister, leaving Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg to carry on alone in Kenwood's top bracket against District Champion Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra Platt, of Chevy Chase.

Chevy Chase won the nine-team division last year with 77 points while scores of this year's competitors were Manor, 75; Kenwood, 71½; and Army and Navy 47½.

Bishop Hill, Louise Clayton, Mrs. Hugh Rowan and Mrs. L. O. Camenson will not play with Chevy Chase this year, but even so their line-up looks the strongest of the four clubs seeking the major title.

All are strong in the first bracket, particularly Manor which will send Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray after the three points in the No. 1 match, but for balance through the six players no club can match the defending champions. After Miss Houghton and Mrs.

Mira (Indian Spring) scored 0 points to 3 for Mrs. Frances Libby and Mrs. Ben Dyer (Beaver Dam); Mrs. S. R. Smith and Mrs. W. E. Patterson (Indian Spring) scored 3 points to 0 for Mrs. Porter Miller and Mrs. George Luce (Beaver Dam).
 Belle Haven, 3½; Manor, 3½.
 Mrs. J. A. Luce and Mrs. Verner Smith (Belle Haven) scored 2 points to ½ for Mrs. H. I. Beech and Mrs. J. W. Kramer (Manor); Mrs. S. Caldwell and Mrs. Carl Peterson (Belle Haven) scored 0 points to 3 for Mrs. W. Baker and Mrs. D. S. Pronheiser (Manor); Mrs. Eugene Almi and Mrs. H. Roush (Belle Haven) scored 3 points to 0 for Mrs. W. S. Lunger and Mrs. Edgar Puryear (Manor).
THIRD TEAMS—AT COLUMBIA
 Manor, 6; Congressional, 3.
 Mrs. H. L. Lacey and Mrs. J. Hill, Jr. (Manor), scored ½ point to 2½ for Mrs. C. T. Penn and Mrs. Martin Johnson (Congressional); Mrs. C. E. McGowan and Mrs. D. B. Platt (Manor) scored 2½ points to ½ for Mrs. P. J. Winkler and Mrs. G. Jant (Congressional); Mrs. W. A. Hill and Madeline Bost (Manor) scored 3 points to 0 for Mrs. W. Swinale and Mrs. Houston Harper (Congressional).
 Army and Navy, 5; Washington, 4.
 Mrs. R. C. Jones and Mrs. L. T. Haugen (Army and Navy) scored 2½ points to ½ for Mrs. W. Baker and Mrs. P. H. Adams (Washington); Mrs. E. H. King and Mrs. J. H. Chadwick (Army and Navy) scored 0 points to 3 for Mrs. L. Harr and Mrs. W. E. Niles (Washington); Mrs. W. McIntosh and Mrs. Betty Nuttman (Army and Navy) scored 2½ points to ½ for Mrs. E. E. Kochersperger and Mrs. H. Rudlo (Washington).
 Woodmont, 6½; Kenwood, 2½.
 Mrs. D. Rosenthal and Mrs. Martin Beum (Woodmont) scored 1½ points to 1½ for Mrs. G. Jago and Mrs. R. Thornburg (Kenwood); Mrs. Milton Gladstein and Mrs. Morris Jaffe (Woodmont) scored 3 points to 0 for Mrs. R. Keebler and Mrs. L. Wells (Kenwood); Mrs. Herman Sauber and Mrs. Morris Calritz (Woodmont) scored 3 points to 0 for Mrs. P. Lyon and Mrs. J. Barron (Kenwood).

four clubs seeking the major title. All are strong in the first bracket, particularly Manor which will send Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray after the three points in the No. 1 match, but for balance through the six players no club can match the defending champions. After Miss Houghton and Mrs. Platt, Chevy Chase will counter with Baroness deGruben and Mrs. Y. E. Booker and Mrs. James B. Patterson and Mrs. F. Dickinson Lettis in the third bracket.

Pair to Return

After tomorrow, Kenwood will have Mrs. Meckley and Mrs. Kreuzburg up top, Mrs. Fred Evans, a two handicap player at Quantico, and Mrs. H. L. Price in the second spot and Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas in the third position.

Following Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Pray for Manor will be Mrs. Bert Gamble and Mrs. H. J. Simons and Mrs. J. T. Powell and Mrs. Gale E. Pugh. Army and Navy's first two-some will be Mrs. David Clark and Mrs. M. K. Barroll with Mrs. M. J. Torlinski and Mrs. J. S. Phillips next, followed by Mrs. R. T. Schlossberg and Mrs. Felix Gyax.

Based on past performances of the team members, the standings at the conclusion of the first team matches this year are apt to duplicate the 1940 finish. Chevy Chase, Manor, Kenwood and Army and Navy.

The second and third team championships rate as tossups between any three of four clubs.

First team captains are Mrs. R. T. Kreuzburg, Kenwood; Mrs. R. T. Schlossberg, Army and Navy; Mrs. W. R. Stokes, Manor, and Baroness deGruben, Chevy Chase.

The most outstanding golf of the day was shot by Mrs. David Clark, the former Middle Atlantic and Virginia State champion, and Mrs. Walter Stokes, of Manor. Mrs. Clark, forced to play the best ball of Chevy Chase Club's lead team of Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra Platt, was barely beaten by 1 up on each nine.

Mrs. Stokes recorded a great round of 78 which included an out nine of 37, to enable her and Mrs. L. G. Pray to beat the Kenwood top team of Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Virginia Kreuzburg, 8 and 6. Getting to the turn in a best-ball of 35, the Manor Club first pair won three holes in succession on the back nine, to end the match on the twelfth green.

Entries, coming in slowly for the Chevy Chase invitation tourney, now total around 30, but will jump up to the expected 100 by Friday when the list will be closed. Pairings will be made Saturday, for Sunday publication.

Among the expected entries is that of George Dawson, famed Chicago amateur, who played in a British War Relief match at Chevy Chase April 10. Dawson at that time said he would be here, if he could possibly make it. Several more crack out-of-town golfers are expected to come to Washington for the affair.

Kenwood Rolls Over Army-Navy By 9-0 Margin

Defending Champs
Lose First Match,
But Take Final Two

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Taking advantage of playing on their home course, Chevy Chase Club's golf team defeated Manor Club yesterday, 6 to 3, to retain the Women's District Golf Association team championship lead.

The defending champions dropped their first match, but came through in the other two foursomes to barely earn enough points to keep Kenwood Golf and Country Club from overhauling them. Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra B. Platt, of Chevy Chase, were defeated, 2½ points to ½, by the Manor Club lead team of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray.

Put Champs Back in Lead

Baroness deGruben and Mrs. Y. E. Booker put the champions back into the lead when they scored a clean sweep of all three points against the Manor second tandem of Mrs. Bert Gamble and Mrs. H. J. Simons. In the last match, Mrs. James Patterson and Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts came from well back in the ruck to defeat Mrs. J. T. Powell and Mrs. Gale E. Pugh, 2½ to ½.

The Manor Club third team was two up on the Chevy Chase pair going to the fifteenth, but there Mrs. Letts holed a mashie-niblick shot for a birdie to slice the advantage in half and then went on to win both the 18-hole point and the back nine point.

Kenwood moved up to within a stroke of the leading Chevy Chase team by rolling to a 9-to-0 victory over Army and Navy Club. Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Richard T. Kreuzburg, of Kenwood, started the lopsided victory with a clean sweep over Mrs. David Clark and Mrs. M. K. Barroll.

Mrs. Evans, Price In Sweep

In the second match, Mrs. Fred Evans and Mrs. H. L. Price, of Kenwood, took all three points from Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, who was forced to go it alone when Mrs. J. S. Phillips notified her team that she was leaving town. Mrs. Torlinski gave up her futile battle on the twelfth green, conceding all three points.

In the last match, Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas completed Kenwood's whitewashing of Army and Navy by taking all three points from Mrs. R. T. Schlossberg and Mrs. Felix Gygax. Mrs. McEntee was out in 42 to build up a big lead and then Mrs. Thomas took up where her partner left off and played the back nine in 42. On the very last hole, Mrs. Thomas chipped her third shot to within a foot of the pin to make possible the clean sweep.

In the second team matches played at Beaver Dam, not a single combination was able to report a clean sweep. Chevy Chase defeated Columbia, Kenwood won over Argyle, and Washington beat Beaver Dam by 5 and 4 scores while Woodmont trounced Belle Haven, 7 to 2.

Indian Spring won over Manor by a 6-to-3 score and Army and Navy rolled up the biggest score of the day by defeating Congressional, 7½ to 1½.

In 9-0 Loss

Chevy Chase maintained its place at the head of the Women's District Golf Association first team standings with a 6-3 victory over Manor yesterday over the former's course. Kenwood moved into second place with a 9-0 shutout of Army and Navy.

Manor's top bracket of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray won 1½ points over Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra Platt but Manor was able to salvage but a half point out of the other two matches.

Army and Navy lost its No. 3 player, Mrs. J. S. Phillips, for the remainder of the schedule and Mrs. M. J. Torlinski played alone in the second bracket against Mrs. Fred Evans and Mrs. H. L. Price, of Kenwood. Mrs. Phillips is moving to California.

Mrs. Betty Meckley and Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg put together a good best ball for Kenwood's first three points while a chip shot by Mrs. Woodlief Thomas on the eighteenth, dead to the pin, clinched three points in the last bracket for Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. A. A. McEntee.

In the second team matches at Beaver Dam, Mrs. S. Whipple and Mrs. C. F. Freer led Washington to a 5-4 victory over Beaver Dam. Manor bowed to Indian Springs, 6-3, when Mrs. N. A. Cone came up with three points. Mrs. W. F. Patterson, 2½, and Mrs. S. R. Smith added a half for the victor.

Woodmont Golfers Continue Hot Pace

Hold Lead in Women's Second Team Matches
With Victory Over Indian Spring; Manor Bows

Woodmont maintained its pace at the head of the Second Team matches of the Women's District Golf Association by doubling the score on Indian Spring, 6-3, yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club and boosting its four-match total to 29 points. Army and Navy defeated Manor, 7-2, and climbed into second place, 1½ points back of the leaders.

The third team leaders, Manor and Army and Navy, met at Kenwood, and the Manorites defeated the Service Club sextet, 5½ to 3½, to top the clubs with a 15½-point total for the three matches. Army and Navy is a point back in second place.

The first teams were idle yesterday and will resume play May 16.

Columbia's No. 1 bracket of Mrs. Myron Davy and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, two of the city's ranking women golfers, found giving handicap strokes too tough a proposition again yesterday and dropped 2½ points to Mrs. F. J. Godfrey and H. A. Knox, of Congressional. The latter team went on to win the match, 5½-3½.

Cancellations hit the teams again yesterday, but of the two women golfers forced to carry on alone, each salvaged a point. Mrs. D. Lockette, Indian Spring, was the heroine for the Four Corners club in the second team play, while Mrs. G. F. Freer, Washington, scored a point for her team in the second matches, although playing against two others.

Mrs. Neblett Is Out of Match With Baltimoreans Because Handicap Is Not Cleared

Feminine golfers ran afoul of one of their own handicap snags today as Mrs. T. F. Neblett of Manor, rated No. 1 on the Women's District Golf Association team, withdrew from a match with Baltimore because her handicap had not been cleared by the association. An association rule has it that club handicap chairmen must certify to the handicaps of their club members. Since Mrs. Neblett's handicap had not been cleared through the District association, she cannot play today against Baltimore. The dear gals have a lot of rules, some good and some not too good.

Woodmont's surprising links team, aided by the handicap system now in vogue, still leads in second team matches of the feminine association. They licked Manor 7½ to 1½ yesterday at Belle Haven, remaining at the top of the second team list with 38½ points won. Army Navy is next with 30½ points, while Columbia is third with 30 points. Yesterday's results: Beaver Dam beat Chevy Chase 6 to 3; Columbia beat Army Navy 6 to 3; Washington and Indian Spring tied; Belle Haven beat Kenwood, 8½ to ½; Woodmont beat Manor, 7½ to 1½; Argyle beat Congressional, 7½ to 1½.

Washington Women Beat Baltimore.

Washington's top feminine links team faces future intercity matches with equanimity as they look back on a decisive 14-to-4 victory scored yesterday over Baltimore's best at the Baltimore Suburban Club.

Top performer for the women from the Capital was demure Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor, who tuned up for defense of her Maryland championship by scoring a fine 76, and with Mrs. Davy, No. 1 player, put together a best ball of 74.

Mrs. Myron Davy and Mrs. W. R. Stokes, Washington, 3 points; Mrs. E. B. Morrow and Mrs. M. L. Bell, Baltimore, 0; Mrs. Leo Walper and Elizabeth Houghton, Washington, 3 points; Jeanette Myers and Mrs. E. B. Morrow, Baltimore, 0; Mrs. L. G. Pray and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Washington, 3 points; Emma Bowes and Mrs. Nat Holman, Baltimore, 0; Mrs. K. S. Giles and Mrs. L. B. Platt, Washington, 1 point; Mrs. H. C. Trace and Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, 3 points; Mrs. F. J. Godfrey and Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Washington, 3 points; Mrs. F. H. Parsons and Mrs. W. H. Evans, Baltimore, 0; Mrs. F. W. Evans and Baroness de Gruenen, Washington, 1 point; Gladys Greiner and Mrs. C. C. Barr, Baltimore, 3 points.

Kenwood's First Team Leader.

Kenwood's first women's links team today tops the team standings in the championship division played at scratch, three points in front of last year's title-holders, the Chevy Chase Club team. Kenwood has won 23½ points, while Chevy Chase is next in the four-team contest with 20½ points. Yesterday's results: Manor beat Army Navy, 5 to 4; Kenwood beat Chevy Chase, 6½ to 2½.

Woodmont leads in second-team match standing with 44½ points. The summary: Kenwood beat Indian Spring, 5 to 4; Woodmont beat Washington, 6 to 1; Columbia beat Manor, 7 to 2; Beaver Dam beat Congressional, 6 to 3; Chevy Chase beat Belle Haven, 8 to 1; Army Navy and Argyle split, 4½ to 4½.

Manor tops the third-team list with 21½ points, while Columbia and Army Navy are tied for second, each with 18½ points. Results: Columbia beat Washington, 7½ to 1½; Woodmont beat Army Navy, 5 to 4; Manor beat Kenwood, 6 to 3.

Army Navy is third with 36 points.

Other results yesterday were: Argyle defeated Columbia, 6 to 3; Washington defeated Manor, 8 to 1; Chevy Chase defeated Indian Spring, 5½ to 3½; Congressional defeated Belle Haven, 6 to 3.

Woodmont's Second Team Golfers Win

Woodmont's contenders for the second team title of the Women's District Golf Association increased their lead yesterday, although winning only 5½-3½ over the next-to-last place Kenwood team at Indian Spring.

While the leaders were scoring fewer than six points for the first time in seven matches, the runner-up teams, Army and Navy and Columbia, were losing to Beaver Dam and Argyle, respectively, thus tightening the second-place race, while Woodmont pulled 10 points ahead.

The handicapping system of the second team matches is proving to be nearly 100% correct as virtually every match is carried to the eighteenth green for a decision and with two exceptions the teams are closely bunched. The good golfers are having trouble giving strokes in wholesale allotments but as a whole everyone is well satisfied.

Columbia Upset

Argyle's first two brackets accounted for 5½ points in upsetting Columbia, 6-3, while Beaver Dam players used strokes to advantage in handing Army and Navy a surprising 8-1 defeat. Woodmont dropped 2½ points in the last bracket but beat Kenwood, 5½-3½.

Argyle and Beaver Dam pulled into a tie for fourth place, only a point back of Army and Navy. Chevy Chase moved up with a 5½-3½ victory over Indian Spring as each side played with just five players.

Congressional won over Belle Haven, 6-3 and Washington pushed Manor deeper into the cellar with an 8-1 victory.

First and third teams enjoyed an off day in the schedule.

This advance was made possible by Army and Navy Country Club's unexpected 8-to-1 defeat by Beaver Dam. Argyle remains in fourth position, a point behind the Service club.

Kenwood Women's Golf Team

Now Ahead and Likely To Increase Lead in Closing Matches

Woodmont Is Favored
To Carry Off Title
In Section B Group

By WALTER McCALLUM.
The feminine team championship of the country clubs about Washington in Class A, or "first teams" as they are called by the Women's District Golf Association, is about over. All that remains to be done is for the four competing clubs to run through their final match and to crown the Kenwood Golf and Country Club team the new women's champions of the clubs which make up the W. D. G. A.

Here is the situation today, following the next-to-final match yesterday among first teams, with the final scheduled June 17 at Beaver Dam: Kenwood, which has maintained a steady pace since the opening of the matches April 25, has amassed 31½ points. Chevy Chase, victor last year and in 1938, has won 26 points. Manor, with 20½ points, and Army Navy, a badly beaten fourth with 12 points, have no chance to win.

Appears to Be All Over.

In the final series of matches Kenwood will meet Army Navy, a weak team by comparison with the others, and probably will increase its present lead of 5½ points, while Chevy Chase, the champion, will meet a hard-fighting outfit in Manor.

Everything points to a Kenwood victory and the stage is set for the transfer of the big first team championship cup to Kenwood. But in fairness to Chevy Chase it must be said that their team has been crippled this year. Mrs. Bishop P. Hill and Louise Claytor, both former club champions, have not played this year. While Kenwood has been strengthened, Chevy Chase has been weakened. The net result is that Kenwood undoubtedly will win.

First team matches at Indian Spring yesterday just about settled the race, for Kenwood took 8 points from Manor while dropping 1 and Chevy Chase took 5½ from Army Navy while losing 3½.

Woodmont Looms as Victor.

The situation among second teams, while not exactly the same, points to a probable victory for a scrappy and hustling Woodmont team. Woodmont, in the lead in the handicap matches since the first contest April 25, steadily has added to its advantage and now leads, following yesterday's matches at Chevy Chase, by 14½ points, with three matches to go. Mathematically, Woodmont has not yet won. Practically, they are so far in front that nothing less than a complete upset can lick the gallant women from the Bethesda club, who finished far down the list in last year's matches.

Second team standings among the top outfits are Woodmont, 57; Columbia, 42½; Army Navy, 41½. Yesterday's results: Army Navy beat Belle Haven, 5½ to 3½; Argyle beat Manor, 5 to 4; Washington beat Kenwood, 5 to 4; Woodmont beat Chevy Chase, 7 to 2; Congressional beat Indian Spring, 6 to 3; Beaver Dam beat Columbia, 6½ to 2½.

Kenwood Downs Manor, 8-1,

Stretches Lead To 51-2 Points Over Champions

Chevy Chase Pressed To Beat Army-Navy;
Woodmont Scores

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Kenwood Golf and Country Club's entry in the Women's District Golf Association team championship practically clinched the title yesterday at Indian Spring where the River Road clubwomen downed Manor Club, 8 to 1.

Leads by 5½ points

The surprising victory over the strong Manor Club team gives Kenwood total of 31½ points in the standings and a lead of 5½ points over the defending championship Chevy Chase team. While Kenwood was mowing down Manor, Chevy Chase was having trouble disposing of Army and Navy, 5½ to 2½.

In the next and final match in the series, Kenwood takes on the last place Army and Navy team, and Chevy Chase faces Manor, and the only way that Kenwood could possibly lose is to drop a clean sweep victory to the Service club team and the champions to win by a goodly margin over Manor. Kenwood started its winning ways in the very first match where Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg posted a clean sweep victory over Manor's top team of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray.

Mrs. Gamble, Simons Win

Manor's lone tally came in the second match when Mrs. Bert Gamble and Mrs. H. J. Simons were able to gain one of three possible points against the Kenwood pair of Mrs. H. L. Price and Mrs. Fred Evars. Kenwood again took all three points in the last match in which Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas defeated Mrs. J. T. Powell and Mrs. G. E. Pugh.

Woodmont continued its winning streak in the second division by toppling Chevy Chase, 7 to 2, and thereby increased its lead by seven and a half points. Columbia despite a 6½ to 2½ loss to Beaver Dam still retained their hold on second position with 42½ points.

Army and Navy and Beaver Dam moved into a tie for third with 41½ points apiece. While Beaver Dam was taking the measure of Columbia, Beaver Dam was rolling to an easy 6½ to 2½ point victory over Columbia.

Congressional Scores

In the other matches, Congressional defeated Indian Spring, 6 to 3; Army and Navy defeated Belle Haven, 5½ to 3½; Argyle nosed out Manor, 5 to 4, and Washington eked out a 5 and 4 decision over Kenwood.

Kenwood Women Golfers Rout Manor, 8-1; Increase Lead

Chevy Chase Team Holds Second Place
With Victory Over Army-Navy in League Play at Indian Spring

Kenwood handed Manor a surprising 8-1 defeat to increase its lead in the Women's District Golf Association first team matches yesterday at Indian Spring. The defending champion Chevy Chase sextet defeated Army and Navy, 5½-3½, and remained in second place, 6½ points back of the leaders.

The defeat was the worst in the series for the Manor team which averted a shutout with a point in the second bracket. Kenwood's top twosome of Mrs. Betty Meckley and Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg avenged a recent 8-and-6 beating at Manor by sweeping three points from Mrs. W. R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray. Mrs. Price and Mrs. Evans in the second bracket and Mrs. McEntee and Mrs. Thomas in the third continued their good work for the leading Kenwood aggregation.

Chevy Chase won over the service club despite the loss of 2½ points in the first bracket where Mrs. David Clark and Mrs. M. K. Barroll defeated Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Landra Platt. The Chevy Chase players then won five of the next six points.

Woodmont held its lead in the second team play at Chevy Chase, which produced the following results: Woodmont 7, Chevy Chase 2; Congressional 6, Indian Spring 3; Beaver Dam 5½, Columbia 2½; Army-Navy 5½, Beaver Dam 3½; Argyle 5, Manor 4, and Washington 5, Kenwood 4.

Women Seeking To Change Site Of Team Final

Army-Navy Course Requested in Place Of Beaver Dam Club

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, has received a petition signed by all competitors in the first team championship asking that the final match in the title event be shifted from Beaver Dam to Army and Navy Country Club. The match slated for June 17 at the Ardmore (Md.) Club can only be shifted by action of the executive committee and the petition asks Mrs. Weible to call a meeting to decide upon the request. Signers of the petition point out that the action taken by them is not a discrimination against the Beaver Dam Club but an effort to rectify a mistake made in scheduling the matches.

Club Deserves Date

The petitioners feel that Army and Navy Country Club, with a team in the first division championship, deserves a date while Beaver Dam, without representative in the league, does not. There are only four teams in the championship—Chevy Chase, Kenwood, Manor, and Army and Navy—and as there are six matches to be played, a couple of extra courses had to be assigned dates.

Those dates were given to Argyle, Indian Spring and Beaver Dam, and Army and Navy was left high and dry. At the present time matches have been played at Chevy Chase, Manor, Kenwood, Indian Spring and Manor and the final match is scheduled for Beaver Dam without Army and Navy having ever played a match over their home course.

The petition was drawn up Tuesday at Indian Spring following the playing of the next to the last matches of the series and every member of the four teams signed asking that the change be brought about. Just what action will be taken on the shift will not be known until Mrs. Weible is able to call a meeting of her executive committee.

Golf Deadline Today

Mrs. Edward Fox, chairman of the Women's District Golf Association tournament committee, announced last night that the deadline for District Championship entries has been set for today at 1 p.m. All entries must be in the hands of Mrs. Landra B. Platt, of Chevy Chase Club, at that time.

All entries must be phoned in to Mrs. Platt at Georgia 4847. More than 118 entries already have been received.

Not To Defend Shield

Washington is not going to defend the Shield won last year by the Women's District Golf Association team in the Women's Eastern championship played at Baltimore Country Club's Five Farms course. The Shield, which has been in competition for nearly three decades, is at the present time hanging on the walls of the Manor Country Club.

The Eastern is to be played next month at New York's Westchester Country Club, and—the way things appear at the present time—it is doubtful if Washington even has an entrant in the tournament. Neither Mrs. Betty P. Meekley, captain of last year's winning team, nor Mrs. Myron Davy, one of the team's mainstays, will be able to make the trip.

Woodmont's Players Just About Clinch Second Section

Kenwood Also Appears Certain Main Champ; Other Race Red Hot

By WALTER McCALLUM

Two of the sections in the feminine team matches staged annually by the Women's District Golf Association are just about finished. In the third a winner probably may not be determined until the final match scheduled June 30.

Two weeks ago the first team matches, which constitute the city championship series, played at scratch, were just about clinched when the Kenwood Golf and Country Club team moved away out in front of Chevy Chase, the 1940 champions, with one more match to play. Mathematically it is possible for Chevy Chase to retain the title, but practically Kenwood is the new champion.

Today the same situation exists among second teams, which have been playing with association handicaps since the matches started late in April. A gallant Woodmont County Club team suddenly arose from obscurity in past years to the top this year, and today the Woodmont women, with two more matches listed, are in such a happy strategic position that nothing short of complete collapse can keep them from winning the second team series.

Have Won 63½ Points

Following yesterday's matches at Argyle the Woodmont women have rolled up a winning total of 63½ points. Argyle Country Club women, also away down the list last year, are in second position with 47 points. Army Navy has won 46½ points, and Columbia has 46. With nine points to be won in each of two matches scheduled June 17 and June 30, Woodmont now leads by 16 points. If Woodmont drops all 18 points in the two matches to come (highly unlikely on their record this year) and Argyle wins all its 18 points, the latter club could win. But practically Woodmont is in. The women from the Bethesda club probably will clinch the victory when they meet Army Navy June 17. A win of two points would do it.

The Woodmont women have another good record. They haven't had a single absentee in their matches this year, and have worked together as a unit to win points. Their achievement bespeaks co-operation all along the line. Members of the Woodmont team are Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. Henry Goodman, Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Mrs. T. D. Peyser, Mrs. Milton Harris and Ruth Simon.

Yesterday's second team results: Manor and Kenwood tied, 4½ to 4½; Argyle beat Beaver Dam 7 to 2; Belle Haven beat Columbia 5½ to 3½; Army Navy beat Indian Spring 5 to 4; Woodmont beat Congressional 6½ to 2½; Washington beat Chevy Chase 5 to 4.

Third-Team Matches Close

In the third-team matches three teams are bunched in a position where a spurt or a decisive win by any one of Manor, Army Navy or Columbia will put that team out in front. Third teams also have two matches to play. Today the leading teams are bunched as follows: Manor, 24½ points; Army Navy, 24; Columbia, 23. But Army Navy draws a bye next Tuesday and Manor draws a bye on June 30. Columbia, which has already had a bye, should pick up some points while its top rivals idle. So Columbia, in reality, has the edge. The women of that club are sure to pick up a few points while the others look on. Yesterday's third-team results at Washington: Congressional beat Kenwood, 6½ to 2½; Woodmont beat Manor, 6 to 3; Army Navy beat Columbia, 5½ to 3½.

No Change in Site for Final Round of W.D.G.A. Team Play

Mrs. George E. Stratemeyer, chairman of the Women's District Golf Association teams, announced yesterday that regardless of the petition drawn up by members of the first teams asking for a change in sites, the last round of the first-team championship will be played June 17 at Beaver Dam. Mrs. Stratemeyer pointed out that rules of the Women's Association call for three neutral courses on the team schedule and that Army and Navy was not overlooked when the listings were made. She also pointed out that the captain of the service club team was informed of those facts, as was every member of the other teams.

Woodmont Strengthens Lead In D. C. Women's Golf Series

Woodmont Country Club continued its runaway race of the Women's District Golf Association second team championship by romping to an easy 6½ to 2½ point victory over Congressional at Argyle.

The leaders now have accumulated 63½ points to gain an advantage of 16½ points over the second place Argyle team. Argyle, once in last place in the league standings, has gradually forged from behind to pull itself into second position.

Jumps Into Second

Going into yesterday's matches Argyle was fourth place behind Army and Navy and Columbia, but with a 7-to-2 victory over Beaver Dam jumped up into second. Columbia was in second place, but lost to Belle Haven in a surprise, 5½ to 3½, to drop down into fourth.

The second-place Army and Navy team nosed out Indian Spring, 5 to 4, to remain in third place. In the race for the third team title Manor Club retained its lead, though dropping a 6-to-3 decision to Woodmont.

Columbia Loses Chance

Columbia Country Club had a chance to overhaul the leaders in the matches played at Washington, but it, too, suffered defeat. Army and Navy upset the hopes of the Columbia players by handing them a 5½-to-3½ defeat.

Woodmont Nears Team Golf Crown

Woodmont defeated Congressional, 6½ to 2½, and with a 63½ point total is 16½ ahead of the Argyle sextet which moved into second place with a 47-point total. Army and Navy is just a half-point back and Columbia a point back in the race for the runner-up position. Argyle defeated Beaver Dam, 7-2; Manor and Kenwood tied, 4½ each; Belle Haven won over Columbia, 5½ to 3½; Army-Navy won over Indian Spring, 5-4, and Washington defeated Chevy Chase, 5-4.

Manor barely held to its lead in the third team matches at Washington as it lost to Woodmont, 6-3. The Manorites lead Army and Navy by a half point, Columbia by one and Woodmont by two.

Congressional defeated Kenwood, 6½ to 2½; Army and Navy defeated Columbia, 5½ to 3½.

Mrs. Meckley And Kreuzberg Sweep 3 Points

Kenwood Golf and Country Club won its first Women's District Golf Association first team championship yesterday at Beaver Dam Country Club where all it had to do was to go through the motions in a match against Army and Navy.

Needing but four of a possible nine points, the new champions defeated the service club team, 6 to 3, after having been virtually forced to concede three points in the second foursome. Chevy Chase Club, defending titlist, finished in second place, after handing Manor Club a 7½-to-1½ defeat.

Clinches Coveted Award

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Richard Kreuzberg practically clinched the coveted award for the River Road club team by scoring a clean sweep of all three points against the lone efforts of Mrs. M. K. Barroll. Mrs. Barroll was forced to meet the strong Kenwood pair when Mrs. David Clark, Army and Navy's number one player, failed to show up.

In the second foursome Mrs. Fred Evans of Kenwood also had to play alone when her partner, Mrs. Harold Price, was forced out by illness, and lost three points to Mrs. M. J. Tortinski and Mrs. Felix Gygax. But victory was assured in the final foursome when Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas came trudging home with a clean sweep victory over the service club tandem of Mrs. R. T. Schlossburg and Mrs. E. L. Lyons.

The victory gave Kenwood a total of 37½ points for the season while the Chevy Chase Club's defense of the title fell short by a 33½ score. Manor finished in third place with 22 points and Army and Navy finished in the cellar with 15 points.

Fifth Winning Team

Woodmont Country Club clinched the second division title by routing Army and Navy by a 9-to-0 score. With but one match remaining on schedule Woodmont has amassed 72½ points to lead the parade by 18 points. Argyle is in second place with a total of 54½ points and appears likely to finish there when the final matches are played next week. The surprise package of the series, Argyle, turned in a 7½-to-1½ win over Belle Haven to all but clinch second in a drive that has brought it up from twelfth place.

In winning its first team title Kenwood became the fifth team to hold the championship in the 10-year duration of the competition.

Congressional won the first championship back in 1931 and since that time the only team other than Congressional, Columbia and Chevy Chase to win the title has been Indian Spring. And strangely enough Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, No. 1 player for Kenwood yesterday, led that same Indian Spring team to victory.

Kenwood Wins D. C. Women's Title

Winners Post 37½ Points to 33½ for Second Team; Manor A Disappointing 3d

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Kenwood broke the Chevy Chase monopoly on the first team championship of the District Women's Golf Association, posting a 37½-point total at the conclusion of the six-match series yesterday at Beaver Dam.

The triumph was the first for Kenwood in the 11-year team series, while Chevy Chase, runner-up with 33½ points, has won it five times. Manor finished a disappointing third with 22 points and Army and Navy last in the four-team circuit with 15 points.

The second team series has a match to go, but Woodmont pulled 18 points ahead and clinched the title in the 12-team league by blanking Army and Navy, 9-0, yesterday at Columbia.

4 Teams in Running

The third teams have a match to go and four teams have a mathematical chance of winning that class but Manor leads by seven points and although drawing a bye in the final matches it looks like the winner. Woodmont, Columbia or Army and Navy must score almost a clean sweep of the nine points to overtake the leaders, and Woodmont and Columbia play each other.

Kenwood entered the first team finals needing four points to protect its lead should Chevy Chase blank Manor. The new champions scored more than enough, trouncing Army and Navy, 6-3, with one player missing, while Chevy Chase came through with a 7½-1½ triumph over the Manorites to take the runner-up spot.

Mrs. Betty Meckley and Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg finished the season as Kenwood's top-bracket combination with two losses; once when the former was absent and the other to Manor's No. 1 combination. Mrs. Meckley was a member of the championship Indian Spring team of 1938. Mrs. Kreuzburg was captain of winners.

Army-Navy Wins

Kenwood's second tandem was unbeaten entering the final series but Mrs. H. L. Price was unable to play yesterday and her partner, Mrs. Fred Evans, lost all three points to Army and Navy's second two-some. Mrs. Price and Mrs. Evans were the co-heroines of the Kenwood triumphs throughout the series.

Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, also beaten but once, scored another shutout triumph in the final series to complete the Kenwood triumph. The new champions were ranked back of both Chevy Chase and Manor in the pre-tourney ratings but except for a 7-2 defeat at Manor by the hosts they excelled throughout.

Argyle continued its surprising march in the second-team division and retained second place back of the Woodmont team with 54 points. Woodmont has been ahead since the first matches, however, and most of the second team interest has centered on the runner-up berth.

Woodmont's steady sextet of Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. Henry Goodman, Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Mrs. T. D. Peyser, Mrs. Milton Harris and Ruth Simon will receive the trophy at the final matches at Kenwood.

Women's Team Play in Final Round Today

The second and third team series of the District Women's Golf Association will be concluded today at Kenwood and Manor, respectively, with Woodmont already in as the second team finalist and Manor heavily favored to retain its place at the head of the third teams.

The other competitive event on the golf card today is a pro-amateur at Washington Golf and Country Club. Pros will play with partners in three handicap classes.

Tomorrow the women golfers will conclude the inter-club team matches with a field day at the home club of each champion. Kenwood will play host to the first teams and Woodmont the second. Manor can be ousted from the third team lead today but it is improbable and the Norbeck linkswomen will more than likely be host to the third teams.

Pairings for the second team field day tomorrow at Woodmont released by Mrs. Theodore Peyser.

Manor Women Golfers, Idle, Are Victors as Fluke Robs Army Navy of Team Title

Feminine golfers, their inter club team matches completed, played for fun today at Kenwood. Woodmont and Manor, the clubs of the three victorious teams in the series which officially wound up yesterday.

First and second team contests were completed, insofar as the winning outfits were concerned, two weeks ago, but the third team match winner was decided only yesterday, when Manor, drawing a bye, won the title without firing a shot when the other teams cut each other out of a winning chance.

Mrs. Weible Grins, Although Goat.

As always there's a goat somewhere in a golf match. The goat this time, in the third team matches, is smiling Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Woman's District Golf Association.

But her action was entirely unwitting, and she didn't know what consequences might arise when she carelessly hit a 4-inch putt on the final green at Manor. Mrs. Weible has been playing on the second team of the Army Navy Club. Yesterday she played on the third team against Kenwood. Thinking her putt meant nothing (she played in the first two some) she carelessly hit it, and the ball popped over the rim of the cup, staying out. She got a 6 instead of a 5. As it turned out had the ball stayed in Army Navy would have won the title by a point. But it didn't stay in and Manor won by a half point over Army Navy.

Mrs. Weible was sorry about it, but she could laugh, even when informed she was cast as the goat. Here are the final third team standings: Manor 32; Army Navy 31½; Columbia, 30½; Woodmont, 28; Washington, 27; Congressional, 26½; Kenwood, 13½. Yesterday's results: Army Navy beat Kenwood, 7½ to 1½; Columbia beat Woodmont 6 to 3, only three women playing for Woodmont; Washington beat Congressional 5½ to 3½.

Second teams played out the string at Kenwood, although Woodmont had won the title two weeks ago. Final standings among second teams are: Woodmont, 81½; Argyle, 61½; Army Navy, 55; Columbia, 51; Chevy Chase, 49; Beaver Dam, 48; Indian Spring, 43½; Congressional, 43½; Belle Haven, 43; Washington, 42; Kenwood, 39½; Manor, 36. Yesterday's results: Woodmont beat Columbia 9 to 0, Columbia having three players absent; Argyle beat Indian Spring

Kenwood Linkswomen Capture First Team Title, Woodmont Scores in Second Section

Feminine golfers of Kenwood and Woodmont today brought to their clubs two of the three team championship trophies of the Women's District Golf Association.

As expected, Kenwood won the first women's team championship yesterday in the final contests for first teams held at Beaver Dam, dethroning Chevy Chase, the 1940 winners.

Woodmont's gallant second team, on top all through the series, won the second team championship, although one match remains to be played.

Kenwood wound up the first team season with a total of 37½ points. Chevy Chase was next with 33½ points, Manor was third with 22 and Army Navy brought up the rear with 15. In yesterday's final matches Kenwood won, 8 to 3, from Army Navy, while Chevy Chase, fighting a losing battle, beat Manor, 7½ to 1½. The Kenwood championship team is composed of Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Mrs. Richard Kreuzburg, Mrs. F. W. Evans, Mrs. Harold Price, Mrs. A. A. McEntee and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas.

Woodmont women went through their winning campaign with the same combination. They have won 72½ points, against 54½ for the second-place Argyle team, and 51 for Columbia. The final match will be played June 30 at Kenwood. Members of the Woodmont team have been Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. Henry Goodman, Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Mrs. Theodore Peyser, Mrs. Milton Harris and Ruth Simon. Yesterday's second team results at Columbia: Washington beat Congressional, 5 to 4; Chevy Chase beat Kenwood, 5 to 4; Woodmont beat Army Navy, 9 to 0; Columbia beat Indian Spring, 5 to 4; Argyle beat Belle Haven, 7½ to 1½; Manor beat Beaver Dam (the latter with only three players), 8 to 1.

Manor Leads Third Teams.

Manor is on top among third teams with 32 points with one match to be played. But Manor draws a bye in the final match, which means that all the other teams will pick up points while Manor idles. Woodmont is in second place with 25 points, needing 7½ points to win, and Columbia is third with 24½ points, needing 8 points to win. Yesterday's results at Army Navy: Manor beat Columbia, 7½ to 1½; Congressional beat Woodmont, 6½ to 2½; Washington beat Kenwood, 7 to 2.

Woodmont C. C. Takes W.D.G.A. 2d Team Title

Whips Columbia, 9-0, In Final; Manor Wins In 3d Team Series

Woodmont Country Club completed its runaway for the Women's District Golf Association second team title yesterday at Kenwood by whipping Columbia, 9-0, while over at Manor Country Club the host team won the third team championship while sitting on the sidelines.

Woodmont amassed 81½ points in winning the second division, and its nearest rival was Argyle with a total of 61½ points. Manor had completed its schedule last week, and both Columbia and Army and Navy had chances of winning out.

Short Putt Costly

Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, missed a putt the width of her hand to literally toss the championship into the Manor women's laps. Had Mrs. Weible made her costly putt, it would have meant victory for the service team, but, instead, Manor nosed out Army and Navy by the slim margin of ½ point.

Columbia needed eight points to win the title, but Woodmont proved a Tartar, and Columbia had to be content with third place, just a point and a half behind the victors. Manor totaled 32 points for the season, while Army and Navy finished with 31½ and Columbia 30½.

Field Days Today

Because of its victories, Manor will play host today to all the competitors in the third teams, while Woodmont will do likewise at its club. The first team field day also will be held today at Kenwood.

Players competing in the first and third teams field days will make up their own pairings while, because of the large field participating at Woodmont, pairings and starting times were made.

Manor Women Win Team Match Title

Woodmont Easily Wins Second Team Crown, Increasing Final Margin to 20 Points

By the margin of a 6-inch putt Manor won its third consecutive Third Team Championship of the District Women's Golf Association yesterday as the long, drawn out team schedules were completed.

The Second Teams completed their play at Kenwood with Woodmont, already home as winner before the final matches, increased its margin over the second place Argyle outfit to 20 points, scoring 81½ over the 11 matches to 61½ for the runners-up. Kenwood won the first team trophy as play was completed last week.

Manor entered the third teams finals yesterday leading by eight points. They drew a bye so Army and Navy, Columbia, and Woodmont all stood a chance of overtaking the hosts.

Columbia defeated Woodmont, 6-3, eliminating both teams from first place contention and Army and Navy won, 7½ to 1½ over the last-place Kenwood outfit to fall just a half-point shy of a tie with the three-time winners. Woodmont had only three players present.

Army and Navy lost its chance to overtake Manor in the first foursome when Mrs. Walter L. Weible missed a six-inch putt on the eighteenth green to decide 2½ points. Mrs. Weible was surprised the putt wasn't a "gimmie" and she stepped up to it hit it and to the surprise of the entire foursome, it hit the back of the cup and glanced off.

Manor thus finished with 32 points Army and Navy 31½ and Columbia 30½.

Mrs. W. A. Hill, jr., and Madeline Bast were the leaders in the Manor victory with 18 out of a possible 18 points over the six-match series. Mrs. Doran S. Platt was the only regular player who helped win the cup last year while Mrs. C. E. McGowan, captain was an alternate. Mrs. H. L. Lacey and Mrs. James Hill, jr., a member of the winning team in 1939, completed the victorious sextet.

Champion Woodmont Golf Team Wins Again

Ruth Simon Tops Field With Net 67

Two Indian Spring Women in First Five at Club Invitation Play

Woodmont Country Club's sparkling lady golf team, winner of second team honors in the recently concluded Women's District Golf Association matches, played host in a field day to the losers of other clubs yesterday, and proceeded to steal the glory again. Three of its stars finished in the first five during an 18-hole handicap tournament.

Top place went to Ruth Simon, whose 73 with a 17 handicap gave her low net of 76. One stroke back was her teammate, Mrs. T. D. Peyser, who registered low gross of the day, 90. Mrs. Henry Goodman, another Woodmont stroker, was fourth with 91-12-79.

In third and fifth spots, respectively, were Indian Spring's Mrs. W. F. Patterson, 106-23-78, and Kenwood's Mrs. J. W. Jago, 97-15-81.

Members of the winning club opened yesterday's program by presenting Pro Gene Larkin with a handsome gift in token of their appreciation for assistance during the season.

At Manor the W. D. G. A. third team victors also entertained at golf, but could take only two places in an impromptu tourney. Low net of the day went to Mrs. B. M. Giles, of Columbia, 92-17-75, and the best Manor scorer was Mrs. James Hill, Jr., who managed for second with 98-19-77.

Other prize winners in order were Mrs. Robert Keebler, Kenwood, 97-20-77; Mrs. P. J. Winkler, Congressional, 97-18-79; and Madeline Bass, Manor, 103-25-80.

Keefer Cup Golf Tourney

Mrs Walper

Gains 3-Stroke Lead Over Foes On Opening Day

Mrs. Platt Deadlocks Mrs. Meckley for Runner-up With 80

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Leo Walper's six-month sojourn in the South began to pay dividends yesterday at Chevy Chase Club, where the Indian Spring Country Club golfer fired a net of 77 to take the first day's lead in the annual 36-hole medal play handicap tournament for the Mrs. Frank R. Keefer Cup.

The wife of the former Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association champion was out in 42 and back in 40 over the long course and, aided by a five-stroke handicap, took a three-stroke lead over the field.

Pair of Sixes

Mrs. Walper might have been even lower had not a pair of sixes sneaked into her card on the fourteenth and eighteenth holes. Her disastrous six at the fourteenth was caused by a ditched second shot which cost her a penalty stroke, while her trouble on the home hole was caused mostly by a poor approach shot to the green. Not only was Mrs. Walper's score tops among the low net players, but also was two strokes better than any of the other 81 competitors for low-gross honors.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, and Mrs. Landra B. Platt, of Chevy Chase, finished in second place in the net division with scores of 80. The Kenwood golfer posted an 84, which was second low gross, and, with her handicap allowance of four strokes, deadlocked with the host club player, who finished with a gross of 88 and a handicap of eight strokes.

Cards Fine 41

Mrs. Meckley got to the turn in 41 strokes to be low for that portion of the journey, but ran into a string of four three-putts greens for a 43 on the journey home. Mrs. Platt just reversed her troubles by getting out in 47, and then returning in a fine nine-hole score of 41.

Mrs. J. V. Brownell, of Manor Club, the mother of Bobby Brownell, recent winner of the Southern Intercollegiate championship, and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, of Columbia, came next among the leaders with net scores of 81. Mrs. Brownell, who rarely ever plays tournament golf, was out in 47 and back in 48 for a gross of 95, and was aided by a handicap allowance of 14 strokes, while Mrs. Brandon was out in 44 and back in 42 for an 86 gross, and was allowed a five-stroke deduction in handicap.

Shoots 82 Net

Only one player, Mrs. A. A. McEntee, finished with an 82 net, and the Kenwood player's score included a gross round of 93 and an 11-stroke handicap. Next in line for scoring honors came Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the Manor Club star; Baroness de Gruben, of Chevy Chase; Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, of Army and Navy; Mrs. J. H. Bullock, of Kenwood; Eleanor Hawley and Mrs. Kurtz Hanson and Mrs. W. B. Jarvis, of Columbia, at 83.

Scores of 89 made the qualifying limit of 32 and ties, and the 38 players who made the grade will tee off today in the final round of the tournament sponsored each year by the former president of the Women's Golf Association. Mrs. Walper's card:

Mrs. Leo Walper Leads in 'Keefer'

Three Strokes Less Than Mrs. Meckley

Mrs. Leo Walper, of Bannockburn Club, led the field at the end of the first 18 holes in the Mrs. Frank R. Keefer Cup tournament at Chevy Chase Country Club.

Mrs. Walper scored a gross 82, which, with her handicap of 5, gave her a total of 77, three better than Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, who scored a gross 84. Mrs. Meckley's handicap was 4.

Other scores: Mrs. L. B. Platt, Chevy Chase, (88-8) 80; Mrs. J. V. Brownell, Manor, (95-14) 81; Mrs. T. D. Brandon, Columbia, (86-5) 81; Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, (93-11) 82; Mrs. W. R. Stokes, Manor, (86-3) 83. The tournament is 36 holes handicap medal play.

Mrs. Leo Walper Leading in Keefer Cup Tournament

Mrs. Betty Meckley has a battle today defending her laurels as star of the Keefer Cup Golf Tournament at Indian Spring Club. She must make up two gross and three net shots to overtake Mrs. Leo Walper's leading net 77 in the final round. Mrs. Walper has a gross 82.

Mrs. Meckley was favored yesterday over the field of the District's best women players and led to the turn with a 41, but required 43 blows on the way home.

More than 10 players with bunched scores of 82 and 83 still have a chance to overtake the leaders in today's 18 holes.

Indian Spring Club Member's 82-5, 77 Is Low; Mrs. Brandon, Brownell Are Third

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

If the Keefer Cup Championship was a one-day affair Mrs. Leo Walper would have taken home both the low gross and net trophies after yesterday's round at Chevy Chase. She had a gross 82 minus five handicap strokes for a net 77.

As it is the Indian Spring player, District champion in 1939 and runner-up last year, holds a three-stroke lead over the net 80s of Mrs. Betty Meckley and Mrs. Landra Platt entering today's final round and a two-shot lead over the former for gross honors.

Mrs. Walper was out in 42 despite a pair of three-putt greens and returned in 40 strokes despite two bad holes, the fourteenth, where a ditch shot cost her a penalty stroke and the eighteenth, where she took three to get on and three more putts for a six. The leader's best effort was the fifteenth, where she spanked a long drive down the middle and then came within inches of holing a full four-wood shot, getting an easy birdie.

Mrs. Meckley Loses Touch

Mrs. Meckley, who dominated the Keefer Cup play last week and has won gross honors in this tournament several times, including last year, was the leader at the end of nine holes with a 41, but she lost her putting touch on the return trip and was guilty of four three-putters for an incoming 43 and 84. At that, she picked up two shots on Mrs. Walper with a par four on the eighteenth. Mrs. Platt, a prominent host club representative, tied for second low net with an 88-8, 80, a shot ahead of Columbia's comparative newcomer to local tournaments, Mrs. T. O. Brandon, who had 86-5, 81, and Mrs. J. V. Brownell, Manor, a familiar name on the scoresheets several years ago, who posted a 95-14, 81.

Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, reported putting trouble but stayed within five shots of the leader with a 93-11, 82, while seven others were deadlocked with net 83s, still given a chance to take down the big cup in today's final 18 holes.

Mrs. Walper Leading in Keefer Golf

Mrs. Platt Deadlocks Mrs. Meckley for Runner-up With 80

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Leo Walper's six-month sojourn in the South began to pay dividends yesterday at Chevy Chase Club, where the Indian Spring Country Club golfer fired a net of 77 to take the first day's lead in the annual 36-hole medal play handicap tournament for the Mrs. Frank R. Keefer Cup.

The wife of the former Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association champion was out in 42 and back in 40 over the long course and, aided by a five-stroke handicap, took a three-stroke lead over the field.

Pair of Sixes

Mrs. Walper might have been even lower had not a pair of sixes sneaked into her card on the fourteenth and eighteenth holes. Her disastrous six at the fourteenth was caused by a ditched second shot which cost her a penalty stroke, while her trouble on the home hole was caused mostly by a poor approach shot to the green. Not only was Mrs. Walper's score tops among the low net players, but also was two strokes better than any of the other 81 competitors for low-gross honors.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, and Mrs. Landra B. Platt, of Chevy Chase, finished in second place in the net division with scores of 80. The Kenwood golfer posted an 84, which was second low gross, and, with her handicap allowance of four strokes, deadlocked with the host club player, who finished with a gross of 88 and a handicap of eight strokes.

Cards Fine 41

Mrs. Meckley got to the turn in 41 strokes to be low for that portion of the journey, but ran into a string of four three-putt greens for a 43 on the journey home. Mrs. Platt just reversed her troubles by getting out in 47, and then returning in a fine nine-hole score of 41.

Mrs. J. V. Brownell, of Manor Club, the mother of Bobby Brownell, recent winner of the Southern Intercollegiate championship, and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, of Columbia, came next among the leaders with net scores of 81. Mrs. Brownell, who rarely ever plays tournament golf, was out in 47 and back in 48 for a gross of 95, and was aided by a handicap allowance of 14 strokes, while Mrs. Brandon was out in 44 and back in 42 for an 86 gross, and was allowed a five-stroke deduction in handicap.

Shoots 82 Net

Only one player, Mrs. A. A. McEntee, finished with an 82 net, and the Kenwood player's score included a gross round of 93 and an 11-stroke handicap. Next in line for scoring honors came Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the Manor Club star; Baroness de Gruhen, of Chevy Chase; Mrs. M. J. Torlinaki, of Army and Navy; Mrs. J. H. Bullock, of Kenwood; Eleanor Hawley and Mrs. Kurtz Hanson and Mrs. W. B. Jarvis, of Columbia, at 83.

Lesson From Husband Helps Mrs. Walper Take Golf Cup

Proves What Her Game Needed to Win Keefer Tourney With Net 172

Marie Walper's casually tossed-in instruction by her husband bore fruit. Marie today holds the Keefer Golf Trophy, won by a single stroke in the 36-hole handicap tourney which ended today at Chevy Chase.

She took a short lesson from her husband Sunday night. Leo happens to be one of the top pros around town. "Swing that clubhead like a flail," said Leo. It worked, for prior to that Marie had been playing indifferently. Despite a four-over-par 7 on the 10th hole, she scored a 90 over the last round yesterday, to give her a two-day gross total of 172, and a net total of 162. That was good enough to win by a stroke, for Mrs. Kurtz Hanson of Chevy Chase had 99-96-195-32-163.

Yesterday's proceedings were made merrier by one of those little arguments that come up in golf every once in a while. Mrs. Walter R. Stokes hadn't signed her score card, which added up to 87, according to her partners. But she had a 3 on the 10th hole, and an actual 86. The 87 put her in a tie with Betty Meckley for the gross prize, both with 173. The Women's District Golf Association Tournament Committee went into a huddle on it, but Betty cut the Gordian knot by withdrawing from the tie. That settled the whole thing without an official ruling. But there were interesting angles. The card wasn't signed, for example. It had been posted, for another item, and so on.

Here were the leading scores in the tourney:

Mrs. Leo Walper (Bannockburn), 82-90-172-10-162; Mrs. Kurtz Hanson (Chevy Chase), 99-96-195-32-163; Mrs. J. V. Brownell (Manor), 95-97-192-28-164; Mrs. J. F. Gross (Columbia), 99-88-187-29-165; Eleanor Hawley (Chevy Chase), 99-98-197-32-165; Mrs. L. B. Platt (Chevy Chase), 88-93-181-18-165; Mrs. Betty P. Meckley (Kenwood), 84-89-173-8-165; Mrs. T. O. Brandon (Columbia), 86-81-167-10-167; Mrs. L. G. Pray (Manor), 90-87-177-10-167; Mrs. W. R. Stokes (Manor), 86-87-173-8-167; Mrs. A. A. McEntee (Kenwood), 93-96-198-22-167.

Mrs. Leo Walper Wins Keefer Cup Tourney

Mrs. Leo Walper of Indian Spring has possession of the Mrs. Frank Keefer Cup today, her 36-hole total of 172-10-162 being low net for the two-day tournament. She also had the lowest gross score at Chevy Chase yesterday, but as a player can accept only one award, she chose the net prize.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor won the low gross prize after a dispute over her score. She had sunk a long putt on the short 13th hole for a par, but a four was entered on her card, giving her 86-87-163 to tie Mrs. Betty Meckley's gross. Ordinarily a play-off would have been necessary, but Mrs. Meckley retired in favor of Mrs. Stokes who was then credited with 162.

Mrs. Walper led the field in Monday's round with an 82, but played raggedly yesterday for the greater part of the round for a card of 90. Mrs. Kurt Hanson of Chevy Chase was second and Mrs. J. V. Brownell third in low net honors.

Mrs. Walper Overcomes Trap Trouble to Win

Mrs. K. Hanson 2d; Mrs. Stokes Takes Gross Prize After Mixup Over Score

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. Leo Walper recovered nicely after some midround trap trouble to win the tenth renewal of the Keefer Cup Championship yesterday at Chevy Chase by a single stroke.

Leader at the end of Monday's first 18 holes, Mrs. Walper was comfortably protecting her margin for the first eight holes of the second round but in quick succession on the par three ninth and tenth holes she ran into a five and seven after finding sand traps.

From that point to the eighteenth Mrs. Walper struggled to hold the lead and at the finish was just one shot ahead of Mrs. Kurtz Hanson, of the host club, who was making her debut in local medal play competition. Mrs. Walper's first round 82 and yesterday's 90 left her with a gross 172 and with 10 handicap shots off a net 162. Mrs. Hanson lowered her opening 99 by three shots with a 96 and deducted 16 handicap strokes from each round for a net 163.

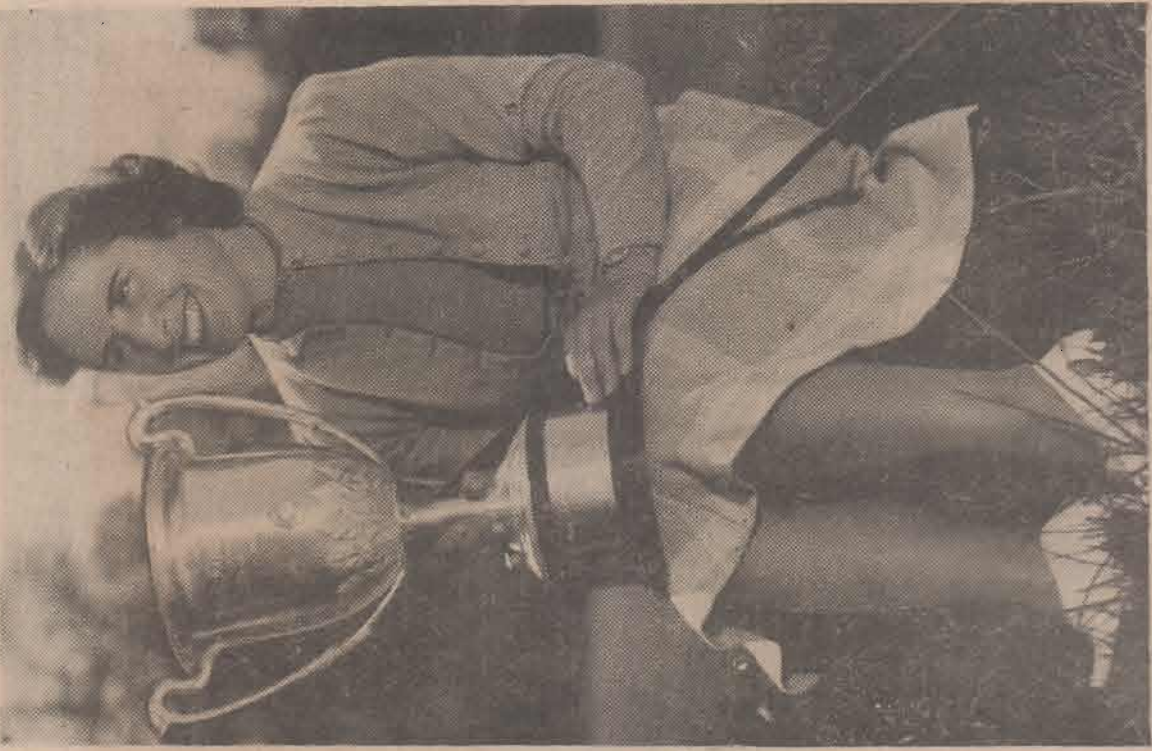

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the Maryland State titlist from Manor Club, won gross honors, but only after a half-hour's discussion over whether she should be forced to accept a score one stroke higher than she actually shot. Mrs. Stokes finished with a legitimate 86, but her playing partner, Baroness de Gruenberg, gave her a four on the thirteenth hole instead of a three and turned the card in as 86, although it totaled 87.

When the mistake was discovered it left Mrs. Stokes with 86, 87-163 tied with Mrs. Betty Meckley, with 84, 89-163. Host Pro Bob Barnett ruled that since Mrs. Stokes had protested in time and had not signed her card, the score should stand as 86. In the meantime Mrs. Meckley had forfeited her rights to the gross prize and so Mrs. Stokes was the winner in either case.

Mrs. J. V. Brownell, mother of Bobby, the Southern Intercollegiate champion and Jimmy, an Army inductee in July, survived eight three putt greens to post the third low net total of 95-97, 28, 164, only two shots back of the winner.

Four tied at net 165 for the next three prizes and Mrs. Meckley was left out of the prize list by the

Mrs. Walper Wins Keefer Cup Golf

Cards 172-10-162,
To Sweep Tourney

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Amid a rules discussion involving the winning of the low gross award, Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring Country Club, was presented with the Mrs. Frank Keefer Cup yesterday at Chevy Chase Club.

The wife of the well known local professional posted a 36-hole net score of 162 to win the coveted award and a gross score of 172 which completely dominated play in the 36-hole tournament.

But as long as a player can accept but one award, Mrs. Walper elected to take the net prize and this automatically tossed the gross prize back into competition and it was there that the discussion over the rules began.

Dropped Into a Tie

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor Club, who was finally given the gross prize, had turned in an incorrect score which added a stroke to her score. The U.S.G.A. rules disqualify a player posting a score better than shot and rules that a card higher than scored stands as posted.

By this ruling Mrs. Stokes was dropped into a tie for low gross with Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and a playoff was called for immediately, but the Kenwood player refused to abide by the ruling and graciously allowed Mrs. Stokes to stand on her original score. Both of Mrs. Stokes' playing companions attested and turned in the score, but the Manor Club player did not attest her card, thereby overlooking the mistake in her score.

The mistake occurred on the thirteenth hole, where Mrs. Stokes holed a long putt for a par three, but a four was placed on her card. Despite the four the card was totaled as 86, the score Mrs. Stokes knew she had made.

The 86 added to her previous day's score of 86 gave Mrs. Stokes a total of 172, while Mrs. Meckley was next among the gross players with a 173 score.

Mrs. Kurtz Hanson, of the host club, looked every bit a winner until displaced by Mrs. Walper. The Chevy Chase newcomer to tournament golf had finished with a 163 total and word spread like magic that Mrs. Walper was faltering.

Finally Rallied

The Indian Spring star, who played so well on Monday in posting an opening round of 82, slumped to 44 on the outgoing nine and then started with a seven on the short par three tenth, a five at the eleventh and a bad six at the twelfth. Then when Mrs. Walper took another six at the fourteenth it looked like curtains, but the gritty professional's wife rallied and finished with a par four at the long fifteenth and fives on the remaining three holes to nose out Mrs. Hanson.

Mrs. Walper took a 90 for her final round and with her previous 82 and a five stroke handicap for each trip around the long course finished six strokes over woman's par. Mrs. Hanson posted rounds of 99 and 98 and was aided by a 32 stroke handicap to gain second position.

Third low net in the tourney went to Mrs. J. V. Brownell, of Manor Club, with 95-97-28-164. Mrs. J. F. Gross, of Columbia, showed the biggest reversal of form in the entire tournament to finish in a tie with three others for fourth low net.

Mrs. Gross, posting a 99 for her opening round, came back yesterday with an 88, to give her a 165 net and a deadlock with Eleanor Hawley, of Chevy Chase, Mrs. Betty Meckley, of Kenwood, and Mrs. Landra B. Platt, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. Walper's card:

Tee to Green

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

As a result of a suggestion which appeared in this space last winter that the Women's Golf Association should go to the pro shops for at least part of their prizes as the pros spend most all day running their tournaments, we are proud to relate that it is now in the bylaws that at least 25 per cent of the prize money must be spent in the pro shops.

WHITTLESEY

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, in her first term as president of the District Women's Golf Association, took the matter up at a recent executive meeting and it was passed by a unanimous vote.

Under the old setup, the host professional and at least one assistant would be forced to cancel engagements for the day, donate their services to the women's tournaments and then sit in on the prize presentation and watch the same merchandise which they carry in their shops—but which came from other sources—go out to the winners.

We received 100 per cent support from the local professionals following the story asking just why this situation existed. Mrs. Weible took it under advisement and then put through the amendment which gives the pros a break this season.

At last week's Keefer Cup tournament at Chevy Chase, which attracted 81 players, the low gross and second low net winners each received $10 merchandise slips on Bob Barnett's golf shop. In addition, a prize valued at $7 came from George Dittenbaugh's Kenwood shop. Last year, Barnett sold a dozen balls to the Keefer prize committee, and that was unusual.

Throughout the lengthy women's schedule this year, thus the pros will figure in on the profitable prize list of the women golfers.

... A county road will cut half of Argyle's par 3 fourth hole away, and necessitate moving the tee over several yards. ... Don's look now, but a scandal is brewing that may rock the District Women's Golf Association. It has nothing to do with the present regime but is an old feud. ...

Mrs. Neblett, Newcomer, Will Play No. 1 For W.D.G.A. Team Against Baltimore

By MAURY FITZGERALD

When Washington meets Baltimore in the first match of the annual intercity home and home series on May 14 at Suburban Country Club, Mrs. Alberta Neblett will be playing the Number One position for the Women's District Golf Association team.

Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the W.D.G.A., announced last night that Mrs. Neblett had just moved to Washington and had joined Manor Country Club.

"Mrs. Neblett has a national ranking and will not only compete from now on in all local feminine tournaments but is also going to accept an appointment as handicap chairman of the Women's District Golf Association," said the energetic local prexy.

Mrs. Neblett was prominent in the Louisiana State Women's Golf Association and very willingly offered her services to the District body. Helen Dettweiler, prominent Washington professional, sent Mrs. Neblett to Mrs. Weible, and in her letter of introduction the former Congressional Club star informed the W.D.G.A. head that the former Louisiana State champion of 1939 and 1940 was a topnotch player.

The newcomer is a licensed airplane pilot and is as well known in that field as she is as a golfer. Formerly of Minneapolis, Minn., the same town that fostered Patty Berg, Mrs. Neblett went to Louisiana in 1935 and it was there that she swung her first golf club and four years later won the State title.

Last fall at Linville, N. C., Mrs. Neblett won the Women's North Carolina State Open from a large field which included Miss Dettweiler and the prominent star, Mrs. Opan Hill, of Kansas.

She also won the 1938, 1939 and 1940 Southeastern championships at Nashville, Tenn., and in the 1938 tournament it was Miss Dettweiler whom she beat in the final round.

Mrs. Neblett informed Mrs. Weible that Joseph Dey Jr., executive secretary of the United States Golf Association, was mailing her handicap rating of one with which she played in the last women's championship. She also informed Mrs. Weible that she was ready to play in the next scheduled tournament of the Women's District Golf Association.

Louisiana Champion To Compete in Star Trophy Event

Four-Ball Matches

Coming tournaments of the Women's District Golf Association, notably the competition for The Evening Star Trophies, in the class A division May 19, and the District championship, will find a new competitor who will, it is expected, play a major role in these and other affairs.

The newcomer to feminine golf around town is Mrs. T. F. Neblett, a member of the Manor Country Club, and a woman with considerable links ability on her recent record. Mrs. Neblett, according to President Weible of the District association, hails from Louisiana, where she won the State championship in 1939 and 1940, and has a United States Golf Association handicap of one stroke. She also won the Southeastern championships of the past two years and won a tournament at Linville, N. C., last year.

Mrs. Neblett, according to Mrs. Weible, will be a valuable member of the intercity team which plays its first match next week at the Baltimore Suburban Club with an all-Baltimore outfit.

Next Affair For Star Cup.

Next tourney for the feminine golfers is The Star Cup affair, oldest women's event held around Washington. The initial tourney was held in 1917. As usual nowadays in the major feminine tourneys, The Star Cup affair will be divided into two classes.

Class A players will compete at the Washington Golf and Country Club May 19, while class B players will play at the same club May 23. Entries will be taken by Mrs. R. E. Hotze at Chestnut 8755 for both sections of the tourney, with entries for class A to close May 16, while those for class B will close May 21. The Star, as it has done for many years, will present trophies to the winners of both gross and net in each class.

Mrs. Neblett Unable to Play With D. C. Against Baltimore

Mrs. T. F. Neblett, the Louisiana State champion, will not play with the Women's District Golf Association intercity team today at Baltimore, according to an announcement made last night by Mrs. Myron Davy, captain.

Mrs. Davy, in her announcement, said that Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the association, had called to inform her that Mrs. Neblett's handicap had not been cleared and that she was ineligible to compete. Baroness de Gruben, of Chevy Chase, will be assigned to the team in a substitute role, while Mrs. Davy herself will play the No. 1 position originally assigned to Mrs. Neblett.

More Than 80 Linkswomen to Play in The Star Cup Class A Tourney

Barbara Simons, Victor
Last Year, Probably Will Defend Title

By WALTER McCALLUM.

One of the major golf tournaments sponsored by the Women's District Golf Association, the 25th renewal of the tournament for The Evening Star trophies, comes up Monday at the Washington Golf and Country Club when 80 or 90 class A golfers, handicapped at 18 strokes and below, play for the championship. Barbara Simons, winner of the tourney last year, probably will defend, although the Manor Club youngster, one of the personable members of the youthful golf group, has not yet entered the tourney.

The affair at Washington Monday is the first of two tournaments for The Star trophies, limited as to handicaps. But the class B members of the feminine group will have their own day May 23, also at Washington, when they will compete for another group of prizes donated by The Star in the 18 to 36 handicap class. Mrs. H. E. Davies of Bannockburn, winner of the class B affair last year, will defend.

Entries for the twin Star trophy tourneys are being taken by Mrs. R. E. Hoize at Chestnut 8755 and will close for class A day after tomorrow at 1 p.m. Class B entries for the May 23 event will close with Mrs. Hoize at 1 p.m. May 21.

One of Top Tourneys.
The Star Cup is one of the classic tournaments of the feminine season. Started back in 1917, when Rudolph Kauffmann, then managing editor of The Star, put up prizes for all feminine golfers around Washington, the tourney has continued without interruption ever since. The original cup was destroyed in a fire which burned the Beaver Dam clubhouse in 1934, but has been replaced. Since that time the tourney has been split into handicap classes by the Women's District Golf Association, but the competition for The Star trophies goes on.

One of the major golf tournaments for the feminine players around Washington comes up tomorrow over the tricky course of Washington Golf and Country Club when a strong field will compete in the 24th annual event for The Evening Star trophies.

Oldest consecutive tournament for women golfers held around Washington, with the single exception of the District championship. The Star tourney this year is split into two classes, based on Women's District Golf Association handicaps. Class A players, with handicaps of 18 strokes and below, will compete tomorrow. Class B players, with handicaps 19 to 36, inclusive, will compete over the same course on May 23. The Star will give prizes for best gross and net scores in both classes.

The Star tourney started in 1917, when the beloved Rudolph Kauffmann, then managing editor, presented to the feminine golfers of Washington a trophy for which all women golfers are eligible to play. The tourney has been played each year since, except in 1918.

On the Star cup are the names of nearly all the top linkswomen since 1917, although, strangely enough, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Helen Detweiler, Marion Brown and Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, all former District champions, were not able to win the tourney.

Barbara Simons Defends Title.

Present class A champion is winner Barbara Simons, youthful Manor Country Club star, who will defend in the tourney at Washington tomorrow. It will be the first tournament this year for the Simons youngster. Mrs. H. E. Davies of Bannockburn won the class B tourney last year over her own course.

Previous winners of The Star Trophy: 1917, Mrs. Charles L. Pringle; 1919, Louisa Pierce; 1920, Mrs. J. R. De Farges; 1921, Mrs. J. W. Rankin; 1922, Mrs. L. O. Cameron; 1923, Carolyn Warner; 1924, Ruth Tanner; 1925, Mrs. Alma Von Steinhilber; 1926 and 1927, Dorothy White.

Mrs. Meckley's Net 73 Captures Star Cup Play

Gross 77 Near Course Mark; Mrs. Maxwell Gets 2d After Tie

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley, of Kenwood, negotiated the rolling hills of Washington Golf and Country Club's course in 77 strokes yesterday to capture the Women's District Golf Association tournament for the Star Cup. Her score missed a tie for the Virginia club's course record by a single shot.

The veteran star and former holder of the Maryland State, Middle Atlantic and District championships came to the last hole needing a 4 to tie the record of 76 hung up nearly a decade ago by Mrs. Dorothy White Nicholson, but her deciding putt to tie the mark stopped inches short.

Third Straight Year

It was the third straight year that Mrs. Meckley has posted the lowest score in the Star Cup, and the sixth straight she has been low gross in tournaments over the Washington course.

Several weeks back the Kenwood star posted a 79 to win her fifth straight gross prize in the Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Tournament and yesterday's 77 made it an even half dozen. Getting to the turn in 40, Mrs. Meckley made the journey home in 37 strokes to finish in a tie for the cup, which is for net only, with Mrs. M. M. Maxwell of Army and Navy Country Club.

Cards were matched and when it was discovered that they were still even, the prize automatically went to the low handicap player as ruled by the Women's Golf Association. The pretty little service club player posted a gross score of 90 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 17 strokes for a net of 73, while Mrs. Meckley used a four-stroke deduction to become the victor.

Mrs. Walper Wins

Mrs. Maxwell, whose only winning effort so far has been in the sixth flight of last year's District championship, was moved back to second place, and low gross in the tourney automatically went to Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring, with an 82.

Mrs. Marion Falls of the host club, finished third low net with a gross round of 94 minus a handicap allowance of 17 strokes for a net 77. Fourth and fifth place net awards also went to Washington Club players.

Mrs. W. S. Masten took fourth with 92-14-78, while Ann Reh took fifth with 93-15-78. Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, came in for the last new award with 83-5-78. Mrs. Walper in winning the low gross award was out in 43 and back in 39, while Mrs. Maxwell was out in 46 and back in 44 in her final round.

Mrs. Fall combined nines of 50 and 44 to walk off with the third prize, while the three players with nets of 78 were separated via the draw. The first, Mrs. Masten was out in 48 and back in 44, the second, Miss Reh, was to the turn in 48, and returned in 45, while Mrs. Pray missed tying for low gross by a shot with her 40-43.

Second Group Is Eager for Star Trophy Golf; Mrs. Meckley 'A' Victor With Near-Record 77

By WALTER McALLUM.

Feminine golfers with handicaps over 18 strokes will have their innings Friday when the second section of the tournaments for The Evening Star trophies will be played over the rolling Washington Golf and Country Club layout.

There isn't much chance that the scoring will be as good as that in the class A tourney yesterday at Washington, but the competition may be just as close. It couldn't be closer, however, for Betty P. Meckley, the woman of the moment in local women's golf, the winner of two of three tournaments played, is the victor again.

In winning The Star event Betty set one record and came within a stroke of tying another. She scored 77-4-73. Petite Mrs. M. M. Maxwell of the Army Navy Country Club, a newcomer to the winning group among the feminine players of Washington, scored 90-17-73. So they were tied for top net award. Betty never before had won The Star Cup, nor have few low-handicap players.

Under the new rules of the Women's District Golf Association their scores were matched against par for the course, Mrs. Meckley getting 4 strokes and Mrs. Maxwell getting 17. Again they were even, both finishing 2 up on par. But the new rules cover this situation. They specify that in case of a second tie the lower-handicapped player is declared the winner. That was Betty Meckley. Her 77 was a single stroke above the competitive women's course record, made by Dorothy White Nicholson about 15 years ago.

Mrs. Walper Gross Winner

To Mrs. Leo Walper, recent winner of the Keeler Trophy, went the gross award, also presented by The Star. Mrs. Walper's 82 led the 83s scored by Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. H. Pray of Manor.

And next Friday the higher-handicapped women will have their day. If it brings out as close a race for the twin trophies again to be presented by The Star, the 1941 tourneys will bring new records into the 25-year history of the traditionally interesting events for The Star cups. Entries for the class B affair, as that for the women golfers with high handicaps is called, will close at 1 p.m. tomorrow with Mrs. R. E. Hotze at Chestnut 8755.

So far this year two women golfers stand out on their records. Mrs. Meckley, scoring a 79, won the Keeler Cup tourney at Washington late in April. Yesterday she scored a 77 to win The Star Trophy. That adds up to considerable golf for any feminine competitor over a course abounding in trouble, where only a few bad shots can add a dozen strokes to the card. Mrs. Walper won the gross award in the Keeler Cup affair, and the gross award in the class A Star Cup tourney. She also won the Keeler Cup event at Chevy Chase. If that doesn't make these two the top feminine golfers of the early season we've had a rainy spring. And the present parched condition of the courses say that isn't so.

Mrs. Walper had quite a streak of golf over the last nine. She scored seven consecutive men's pars and seemed on the way to a 35 or 36 after an out nine of 43. Then she popped one in the ditch at the 17th, took a 6, and wound up with a 6 for a 39.

Mrs. Meckley Was Consistent

But Mrs. Meckley was steadiness itself. She didn't have a 6 on her card. Here it is:

Out—435 555 553-40
In—435 435 445-37

Mrs. Maxwell is the wife of a Navy officer and is ranked as one of the leading players at the Army Navy Country Club. Prizes were presented to the victors by Walter McCallum of The Star staff.

Here were the leading scores in the class A section of the tourney:

Gross—Mrs. Leo Walper, Indian Spring, 82; Net—Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood 77-4-73; Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, Army Navy, 90-17-73; Mrs. W. Marion Falls, Washington, 94-17-77; Anne Reh, Washington, 93-15-78; Mrs. W. S. Masten, Washington, 92-14-78; Mrs. L. G. Pray, Manor, 83-5-78; Mrs. Charles Lynch, Washington, 90-11-79; Mrs. Harold Smith, Washington, 91-12-79; Mrs. McCook Knox, Chevy Chase, 95-15-80; Mrs. D. H. Henderson, Congressional, 94-14-80; Mrs. Hume Peabody, Kenwood, 98-18-82; Mrs. L. T. Hansen, Army Navy, 99-18-81; Mrs. Milton Harris, Woodmont, 100-18-82; Mrs. Hume Peabody, Army Navy, 91-5-82; Mrs. M. A. Dent, Beaver Dam, 96-14-82; Mrs. C. T. Frownfelter, Beaver Dam, 96-14-82; Mrs. W. B. Jarvis, Columbia, 101-18-82; Mrs. William E. Hall, Columbia, 97-14-83; Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, 94-11-83; Mrs. M. J. Mrs. Betty P. Meckley Wins Cup

Mrs. Walper Takes Gross With an 82

Mrs. Maxwell Loses Play-Off to Kenwood Player; Champion Nears Course Mark

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley, who plays good golf anywhere but is best over the rolling turf of Washington Golf and Country Club, won the Star Cup there yesterday and took it to Kenwood for the first time since its inception in 1917.

Mrs. Meckley, who once held the District, Maryland State and Middle Atlantic titles in one year, was within a shot of Dorothy White Nicholson's course record 78 as she played the nines in 40 and 37 for a 77.

The Kenwood player deducted four handicap strokes for a net 73, which was tied by Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, of Army and Navy, with 80, 17-73. Under the new District women's ruling the cards of the deadlocked players were matched to decide the title but this method still left the players in a tie and then Mrs. Meckley was awarded the cup by having the lowest handicap.

Mrs. Walper Scores

Mrs. Maxwell, who is still in her first year of competition here, started with a birdie three on the first hole and finished with nines of 46 and 44. The Service Club player was awarded second low net prize.

Mrs. Leo Walper, wife of the former Middle Atlantic P. G. A. champion, won low gross with an 82. The Keifer Cup champion was out in 43 with all fives and fours but played the first seven holes of the back nine in even par figures before running into a ditch and three-putt green on 17 and 18 and finishing with two sixes for a 39 and 82. Manor's teammates, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray missed a tie by a shot with 83s.

Mrs. Walper also won gross honors in the Keeler Cup play last month at Washington when Mrs. Meckley won the trophy. The former then won the Keeler Cup at Chevy Chase.

The host club took over in the late afternoon prize presentations by furnishing winners of third, fourth and fifth low net; Mrs. Marion Falls, 50-44, 94-17, 77; Mrs. W. S. Masten, 48-44, 92-14, 78, and Ann Reh, 48-45, 93-15, 78. Mrs. Pray completed the prize list with 83-5, 78.

Miss Simmons Picks Up

Barbara Simons, defending champion from Manor Club, who has played little golf this year, did not return a card.

It was the fourth consecutive year in which Mrs. Meckley has posted the lowest score in the Star Cup play but it was the first time she was in the running for the net award. After playing the first nine in 40, starting 4-3 and then sandwiching a half-dozen fives before a par three on the ninth, Mrs. Meckley went to work on the return trip. The new champion was only one over par for five holes when she flubbed an approach on the fifteenth but one putt saved a par five. On the seventeenth a great shot out of the ditch saved at least a stroke or two and she finished with a five for the 37.

The tournament was the first played under the new system of making the pairings by drawing names out of a hat, the one to ten handicapped players together and the 11 to 18. Mrs. W. L. Weible requested any complaints be turned over to the club chairman.

Star Cup Won By Mrs. Kramer With Net 70

Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, first vice president of the District Women's Golf Association, took time out from her official duties to win the Class B section of the Star Cup tournament yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. Kramer, tournament chairman of the association in 1939 and '40, put together nines of 50 and 56 for a 106 total and deducted 36 handicap strokes for a net 70, one of the lowest net scores in some time.

Low gross went to Mrs. J. S. Connolly, of the host club, who was out in 51, but returned in 45 for a 96. A field of 81 competed in the second half of the tournament for the 19 and over handicapped players and, although several quit because of the heat, most of them completed their rounds before the afternoon storm.

Mrs. W. D. Barkdull, of Columbia, finished four shots back of Mrs. Kramer to win second low net with 107-33, 74, while Kay Jones Argyle, won third low net over Mrs. Richard Thornburg, of Kenwood, by matching cards. Miss Jones had 103, 26, 77, and Mrs. Thornburg, a consistent prize winner over the last two years, had 99-22, 77.

Mr. Robert Keebler, Kenwood, with 101-22, 79, won fifth low net with Mrs. L. A. Wells, Kenwood, next with 108-20, 79, and Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, Washington, completing the prize winners with 99-20, 79.

Victory in Star Golf 'B' Group Mrs. F. H. Kramer's Reward For Work on Tourney Job

By WALTER McCALLUM.

For the two years of 1939 and 1940 Mrs. Frank H. Kramer held the important post of tournament chairman for the Women's District Golf Association. Her job was the irksome one of compiling and arranging entries, of taking scores, listening to alibis and complaints and otherwise making herself useful in the smooth operation of feminine tournaments. And she did a very swell job of it until last winter, when she was elevated to the post of vice president of the feminine links organization and was succeeded by Mrs. Edward Fox in the tournament post.

During those two years Mrs. Kramer, tied down by her duties as tournament chairman, played in only two tourneys. Her golf suffered, but never her disposition. She always has been the unruffled, smooth-working executive. No one ever heard her complain because the other gals played while she did the work.

Does Well as Winner, Too.

Now her time for playing has come and she is doing all right in her new role as she did in the irksome but highly important tournament chairman's job. She is doing so well that today she is the winner of the class B section of the twin tourneys for The Evening Star trophies.

In a tournament at the Washington Golf and Country Club, interrupted by a terrific rain and windstorm, Mrs. Kramer, who finished before the storm struck, scored 106 with a 30 handicap and a net of 70, to win the section of The Star tourney devoted to women with handicaps from 19 to 36, inclusive. The class A section, for women with handicaps 18 and below, was won Monday at Washington by Mrs. Betty P. Meckley of Kenwood, with 77-4-73, after a tie with Mrs. M. M. Maxwell of Army Navy.

"My golf has suffered because of inability to play very much, but I am certainly thrilled to win," said Mrs. Kramer. "And above the thrill of coming out on top I am doubly thrilled that I will be able to reduce my handicap now."

Mrs. W. D. Barkdull Second.

In second net position was Mrs. Walter D. Barkdull of Columbia, with 107-33-74. The gross award, for a prize also presented by The Star, went to Mrs. John S. Connolly of Washington, with 96. Other low scores in The Star class B tourney:

Mrs. E. Jones, Argyle, 103-26-77; Mrs. E. S. Thornburg, Kenwood, 99-23-77; Mrs. Robert Keebler, Kenwood, 101-20-73; Mrs. L. A. Wells, Kenwood, 108-24-79; Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, jr., Washington, 99-20-79; Mrs. W. A. Hill, Manor, 109-24-81; Mrs. G. K. Heiss, Army Navy, 110-29-81; Mrs. Betty Nutman, Army Navy, 100-25-81; Mrs. R. D. Young, Washington, 101-18-82; Mrs. C. E. McGowan, Manor, 104-21-83; Mrs. F. Williams, Argyle, 104-21-83; Mrs. M. Southworth, Washington, 115-31-84; Mrs. Gorham Fraser, Washington, 104-19-83; Mrs. Allan B. Laing, Bannockburn, 110-26-84; Mrs. H. M. Radio, Washington, 117-31-86.

That thunder and wind storm which swept the course during the middle of the afternoon was a honey. Two hours earlier and it would have ruined the tournament. But as it was only three or four players were on the course and they had no chance to win.

Now the women look ahead to the District championship, to be played at Manor June 2-6, inclusive, for the title held by Elizabeth Houghton of Chevy Chase.

Mrs. Connolly Low
Gross Winner With
96 in High Handicap

Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, of Manor Club, for two years tournament chairman of the Women's District Golf Association and present vice president, won her first tournament yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club, where she posted a net score of 70 to win the Class B division of the Star Cup tourney.

Posting a gross score of 106, Mrs. Kramer was armed with a 36-stroke handicap to top the field of 81 players by a margin of four shots. Mrs. J. S. Connolly, of the host club, was the low gross winner, with a score of 96, which included nines of 51 and 45.

Mrs. W. D. Barkdull, of Columbia, finished with a gross of 107 and a handicap allowance of 33 strokes for a second-place winning net score of 74. Next in line for scoring honors came Kay Jones, of Argyle, with 103-26-77, and Mrs. Robin Thornburg, of Kenwood, with 99-27-77.

Three players—Mrs. Robert Keebler, of Kenwood; Mrs. Laff Franklin, of Washington, and Mrs. L. A. Wells, of Kenwood—took down the remainder of the prizes with net totals of 79. Mrs. Franklin finished with a gross of 99 and a 20-stroke handicap. Mrs. Keebler posted a gross of 101 and used a 22-stroke handicap, while Mrs. Wells finished with a 108 score and was allowed a 29-stroke deduction in handicap.

Women's District Championship

Mrs. Neblett's Entry Heightens Interest In Starry Event

Louisiana State Champ Of Uncertain Status; Mrs. Meckley Zips

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Almost without warning a links affair that may prove the most torrid event of the year (and we don't mean the temperature) has crept up on the feminine golfers of the town. The District women's championship will be played next week for the most coveted title of them all, with those woods-enshrouded fairways at the Manor Country Club to be the scene of a tournament that may pale into insignificance all the District championships that have gone before.

For one thing, a newcomer and possible winner has been projected into the local scene in the person of Mrs. Thomas F. Neblett, Louisiana State champion, who will enter the event.

Second, the early season has been spiced by the sparkling golf of Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, a former winner of all the titles in this sector, but a competitor who hasn't boasted a State or local title for several years. And third, Mrs. Myron Davy, lowest handicapped local feminine golfer, will be making her second competitive start of the year. These factors, plus the presence of Mrs. Leo Walper, winner of two gross prizes so far this year and victor in another handicap tourney; plus the presence of Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, the Maryland State champion, playing over her own course; plus the presence of Mrs. L. G. Pray, always a consistent performer in big tournaments, promises a knock-down, drag-out meeting for the feminine links title. Entries were to close today for the tourney to open Monday morning at Manor.

Mrs. Meckley Has Played Best.

There is, of course, no secret about the fact that Mrs. Meckley has played just about the best golf of any competitor in the three tournaments held so far, all of them handicap events. She won the Keeler Cup Tourney at Washington with a 79-4-75. A few days later she tied for the gross prize at Chevy Chase with Mrs. Walter R. Stokes in the Keeler Cup Tourney. And last week she won the class A event for The Star Trophies, also at Washington, with 77-4-73. Mrs. Davy did not play in two of these events, but over the last few days she twice has scored that long Congressional course in 79 whacks. That happens to be quite a chunk of golf for any woman.

Elizabeth Houghton, the defending champion, has not played in the tournaments so far, but has kept her hand in by competing for Chevy Chase in the team matches. She licked Mrs. Walper in the final of the 1940 event at Kenwood, after Mrs. Walper had scored a 74 in an earlier round.

Mrs. Neblett's Game Not Known.

Little is known locally about the game of Mrs. Neblett, who hasn't played in previous tourneys because her handicap was not "cleared," according to the quaint phraseology of the gals. It means that it hasn't been definitely established. But a woman who holds a State title must be regarded as a potential threat to win any other sectional tourney. And Mrs. Neblett, according to Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, is the Louisiana State champ.

Later in June the gals again will have a big championship coming up, with even sterner opposition, when the Maryland State Golf Association holds its title tourney at the Chevy Chase Club. But for the present the District championship, biggest of the year in the eyes of many, is the immediate job. It promises to be a torrid tourney, in every sense of the word.

D. C. Women's Golf Entries Close Today

Mrs. Doran S. Platt will close entries for the District Women's Championship promptly at 1 o'clock this afternoon, according to Mrs. Edward Fox, tournament chairman.

The annual championship affair starts Monday at Manor Club with an 18-hole qualifying round. A field of more than 150 is expected as Mrs. Platt had received 118 names early last night. Elizabeth Houghton, of Chevy Chase, is defending champion. The tournament will extend from Monday through the final round on Friday.

Fine Field of 125 Linkswomen To Play for District Crown

A banner field of feminine golfers, topped by Elizabeth Houghton of Chevy Chase, the titleholder, will start tomorrow in the qualifying round for the women's District championship at the Manor Country Club.

All the top linkswomen of the city are included among the 125 entrants.

Players are requested to bring caddies.

Woman Golfers Plan Tourney To Aid British; Another Hair Triumphs at Washington

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Another feminine tournament, to be added to the lengthy list of affairs staged by the Women's District Golf Association, is ready to be announced. According to present plans, it will be an affair for British war relief, with all entry fees to go to that cause. The course probably will be the Army Navy Country Club layout, which hasn't been included on the list of courses used for major events of the women's organization.

Upper Half in D. C. Women's Golf Stronger Than Lower; Mrs. Brandon Medalist

Match play rounds in the District women's championship at Mano today found the upper half of the draw in the championship flight apparently stronger than the lower half. Up in the top half of the seeded draw, made according to qualifying positions, were Medalist Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon of Columbia, Mrs. Leo Walper, last year's runner-up; Mrs. Myron Davy, holder of the Payne cup; Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Maryland State champion, and Mrs. T. F. Neblett, the newcomer to Washington who is in her first test (and doing all right) as a local competitor.

Apparent standouts in the lower half of the draw are Betty P. Meckley, several times District champ; Mrs. L. G. Pray, and Elizabeth Houghton, the defending titleholder. But in match play golf you never can tell. It is the unexpected, the upset of the favorite, that spices match play golf tournaments, and gets away from the deadly sameness of the uninspiring medal play form of the game.

Mrs. Brandon Is Medalist.

Mrs. Brandon, a formidable competitor from Columbia, scored her first major victory in a local tourney yesterday when she outscored a fine field to win the medal with a card of 85. The scoring was far from good on a day when everything seemed made to order for good golf. But Mrs. Brandon's 85 remained low, although four others tied at 86. Here are the qualifying scores, with today's championship flight pairings:

Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, Columbia (85) vs. Mrs. Leo Walper, Indian Spring (90); Mrs. Myron Davy, Columbia (86) vs. Mrs. M. K. Barroll, Army Navy (85); Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Manor (80) vs. Mrs. Charles Lynch, Washington (91); Mrs. Thomas F. Neblett, Manor (88) vs. Mrs. J. W. Jago, Kenwood (97); Mrs. L. G. Pray, Manor (85) vs. Mrs. Hume Peabody, Army Navy (91); Mrs. H. J. Simons, Manor (88) vs. Mrs. F. D. Letts, Chevy Chase (95); Mrs. B. P. Meckley, Kenwood (86) vs. Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Woodmont (92); Elizabeth Houghton, Chevy Chase (89) vs. Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, Kenwood (98).

Mrs. Neblett, playing in her first Washington tournament, was only three shots off the medal winning pace, which indicates that the former Louisiana woman may go places in the local field. According to a letter received by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, she has a handicap of two strokes, which places her up around the crest of the heap around this town. And her golf seems good enough to justify such a handicap. Mrs. Thomas won her place in the top flight in a one hole playoff against Jerry Weible.

Getting in on the tournament was Mrs. Bernard R. Howe, who capably runs the Mason and Dixon women's championship to be held at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., later in the year. The date for this tourney is August 26-30, inclusive, this year. She will also run a women's tourney at the Whiteface Inn on Lake Placid, and a big "open" tourney for women, in which the pros will be eligible to play, at Bluff Point on Lake Champlain, N. Y., September 1 to 5. In past years the field in the Mason and Dixon event has included many Washington women.

Mrs. Leo Walper And Mrs. Page Eliminated

Mrs. Brandon and Mrs. Peabody Score First Round Upsets

Two startling upsets occurred this morning in the first round of the Women's District Golf Association's tournament at the Manor Club.

Mrs. T. O. Brandon, medalist yesterday with 85, returned to the links this morning to eliminate Mrs. Leo Walper, consistent finalist from Indian Spring, 3 and 2, while Mrs. Hume Peabody, of the Army and Navy Country Club, broke through with a stunning surprise triumph over Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Brandon, who has been playing golf for a number of years, only recently began to show form in tournament competition, and her victory today puts her in line for the title.

Mrs. Peabody also gained an advantageous position as a result of her victory.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, another favorite, came through with a 5-and-4 victory over Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, of Woodmont. Other first-round matches ran true to form.

FIRST FLIGHT

Mrs. T. O. Brandon (Columbia) defeated Mrs. Leo Walper (Indian Spring), 3 and 2; Mrs. Myron Davy (Columbia) defeated Mrs. M. K. Barroll (Army and Navy), 5 and 4; Mrs. W. R. Stokes (Manor) defeated Mrs. Charles Lynch (Army and Navy), 3 and 2; Mrs. T. F. Neblett (Manor) defeated Mrs. J. W. Jago (Kenwood), 4 and 3; Mrs. Hume Peabody (Army and Navy) defeated Mrs. L. G. Pray (Manor), 2 and 1; Mrs. H. J. Simons (Manor) defeated Mrs. F. O. Letts (Chevy Chase), 1 up; Mrs. Betty P. Meckley (Kenwood) defeated Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith (Woodmont), 5 and 4; Elizabeth Houghton (Chevy Chase) defeated Mrs. Woodlief Thomas (Kenwood), 5 and 4.

Mrs. Brandon's 85 Wins D. C. Medal

Ex-Hawaiian Player Tops Field of 105

Mrs. Meckley, Stokes, Davy, Pray Post 86's; Mrs. Neblett, Simons Tie With Scores of 88

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon, a three-time finalist in the Hawaiian Women's Championship who has been playing here less than a year, posted an 85 for medal honors in the District Women's Tournament yesterday at Manor as scores soared without reason and 98s made the first 16. Mrs. Brandon, representing the Columbia Country Club, played in consistent fashion with nine of 43 and 42 for the best score of the field of 105. The course was heavy from a night of rain but was in perfect scoring condition and the players could not figure how the medal was won with a score seven shots higher than last year and totals eight shots higher made in the championship flight.

Score Breaks Four-Way Tie

Mrs. Brandon's 85 was just in time to break a four-way medal tie between a quartet of the tourney favorites who were locked with 86s; Mrs. Betty Meckley, a former champion; Mrs. Stokes, the Maryland titlist; Mrs. L. G. Pray, the host club champion, and Mrs. Myron Davy, whose out nine of 40 was best of the day.

The mystery contender in the championship bracket, Mrs. T. F. Neblett, late of New Orleans, was extremely disappointed with an 88, which qualified with ease, but was ten or more shots off her practice round pace of the past two weeks. Mrs. Neblett, who holds numerous Southern titles, played the back nine first in 43 and then took 45 on the woods nine.

Mrs. Thomas Wins Playoff

Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, a member of the leading Kenwood team in the first team matches, won a playoff for the second time in two years for the sixteenth berth in the first flight. Mrs. Thomas, Jerry Weible, the American U. co-ed, playing one of her first rounds of the year and Mrs. H. A. Knox, Congressional, were tied with 98s but Mrs. Knox withdrew and Mrs. Thomas won the place on the first hole with a 5 as Miss Weible was trapped in 3 and again in 4.

The medalist played just an average round of golf in posting the lowest score of the day. Mrs. Brandon's round included nothing spectacular, but on the other hand she escaped serious trouble. In addition to her trio of runner-up berths in the Hawaiian tournament Mrs. Brandon has held four club championships in California and the State of Washington in addition to the Service Women's Championship of Hawaii.

Mrs. Davy Finds Trouble

Mrs. Davy, out in 40, ran into a trio of three-putt greens on the return trip and took three from the edge of two others for a 46 coming back. Mrs. Pray was out in 42, but hit trouble and had a 44 on the second nine, while Mrs. Meckley encountered an eight on the ninth hole and Mrs. Stokes a seven on the second to knock them out of medal contention.

Mrs. H. J. Simons, of the host club, and Mrs. Neblett were next with 88's and Defending Champion Elizabeth Houghton was the only other 90-breaker with an 89, including a seven on the finishing hole of the woods nine. Mrs. Leo Walper, the 1931 winner and 40-finalist, had nines of 44 and 46 for a 90.

The luck of the draw finds five of the outstanding players in the upper bracket and the first match of the day would be best Fridays final, Mrs. Brandon against Mrs. Walper. The top match of the day in the lower bracket should be between Mrs. Pray and Mrs. Hume Peabody, of Army and Navy.

Six flights of 16 qualified for the match play rounds as 20 of the original field of 125, compared to last year's 158, did not start and nine did not turn in cards. Championship flight matches start at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Brandon, Mrs. Peabody Score Upsets in D. C. Tourney

Medalist Wins Over Mrs. Leo Walper, Army-Navy Player Defeats Mrs. Pray

By MAURY FITZGERALD

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. T. O. Brandon, of Columbia, and Mrs. Hume Peabody, of Army and Navy, upset the dope yesterday in the opening match play rounds of the Women's District Golf Association championship at Manor Country Club by shuffling to the sidelines two of the tournament favorites.

Mrs. Brandon, who won the medal with a great round of 85, started the shuffle by eliminating Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring, 3 and 2, and Mrs. Peabody completed it by ousting Mrs. L. G. Pray, of the host club, 2 and 1. The Columbia golfer, playing the same brand of methodical golf that won for her the qualifying medal, took an early lead on the 1940 finalist and never relinquished it until the match ended on the sixteenth green.

Fights Back to Win

Mrs. Peabody scored her upset after appearing a certain loser. Two down at the turn to a great nine-hole score of 41, Mrs. Peabody won the tenth and eleventh holes to square the match, only to be at a disadvantage again by losing the thirteenth. Undaunted, the service club golfer began another rally on the very next hole and won two in succession to close out the host club star on the seventeenth green.

Elizabeth Houghton

While Mrs. Brandon and Mrs. Peabody were performing their giant-killing act, the other favorites, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Mrs. Myron Davy, Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, and Mrs. T. F. Neblett, were all surviving play.

Mrs. Davy, who plays Mrs. Brandon this morning, gained the second round by defeating Mrs. M. K. Barroll, of Army and Navy, 6 and 4.

Mrs. Davy, who is a teammate of Mrs. Brandon's on Columbia's golf team, reached the turn in 41 against Mrs. Barroll to hold a four-up lead. She finally finished the round out in 84, although the match officially closed on the fourteenth.

Beats Mrs. Goldsmith

Mrs. Meckley, who draws Defending Champion Elizabeth Houghton, of Chevy Chase, in the second round, played in top form to win over Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, of Woodmont, 5 and 4. The Kenwood player was out in 41 to hold a two-up lead after having lost the eighth to a birdie and the ninth to a par five.

Miss Houghton advanced at the expense of Mrs. Woodlief Thomas of Kenwood, 6 and 4. Out in 43 the champion had rolled up a commanding four up lead and then coasted in to an easy victory.

Mrs. Neblett advanced by eliminating Mrs. J. W. Jago of Kenwood. It was Mrs. Jago's first time in a championship flight. She was four down at the turn and finally lost on the thirteenth green, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Stokes, out in 40 for the low nine of the day, was three up on Mrs. Charles Lynch of Washington and was forced to continue that brand of golf to win out on the sixteenth, 3 and 2. In today's match Mrs. Stokes plays Mrs. Neblett while Mrs. Peabody draws Mrs. H. J. Simons of Manor.

Mrs. Simons made her way to the second round by winning a close, 1 up, decision over Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts of Chevy Chase.

Elizabeth Houghton Loses in 2d Round of Manor Club Golf

'40 Women's Champion Beaten, 7 and 6, by Mrs. B. P. Meckley

Elizabeth Houghton of Chevy Chase, 1940 District women's golf champion, was beaten in the second round of the title tournament today at the Manor Country Club, losing to Mrs. Benny P. Meckley of Kenwood, 7 and 6, in a match marked by the accurate golf of the winner.

Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon of Columbia, medalist, also was a second round victim, losing to Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, 4 and 3.

Other winners in the championship flight were Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Manor, who won on the 19th hole from Mrs. Thomas Neblett, a clubmate; and Mrs. Hume Peabody, Army-Navy, who defeated Mrs. H. J. Simons, Manor, 1 up.

Tomorrow's semifinal pairings at Manor are 9:40 a.m., Mrs. Davy vs. Mrs. Stokes; 9:45, Mrs. Peabody vs. Mrs. Meckley.

Second-flight results—Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, defeated Mrs. H. A. Knox, Congressional, 5 and 3; Mrs. J. R. Daily, Manor, defeated Mrs. J. T. Powell, Manor, 8 and 7; Mrs. O. M. Reed, Washington, defeated Mrs. W. S. Masten, Washington, by default; Mrs. C. E. Hill, Argyle, defeated Mrs. H. J. Beech, Manor, 2 and 1.

Third-flight results—Mrs. McCook Knox, Chevy Chase, defeated Mrs. Allan Laing, Bannockburn, 3 and 2; Mrs. H. A. Neff, Manor, defeated Mrs. Chester Morrill, Kenwood, by default; Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Woodmont, defeated Mrs. R. T. Schlossberg, Army and Navy, 5 and 4; Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, Army and Navy, defeated Mrs. William Baker, Manor, 1 up in 19 holes.

Miss Houghton Defeated in Tourney, 7-6

Mrs. Betty Meckley Eliminates Defender; Mrs. Stokes Scores

By MAURY FITZGERALD

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Elizabeth Houghton, defending champion in the Women's District Golf Association tournament, went down to defeat this morning in the second round of title play at Manor Country Club at the hands of Betty Meckley, of the Kenwood Club.

The match ended on the twelfth hole when Mrs. Meckley carded a birdie to win, 7 and 6. Mrs. Meckley was five up on her rival from the Chevy Chase Club at the turn.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of the host club, turned in a brilliant victory by eliminating Mrs. T. F. Neblett, also of Manor, 1 up in 19 holes.

Mrs. Stokes had to fight off a rally by Mrs. Neblett to emerge victorious. She was 2 up at the 16th hole, but lost the 16th and 17th holes where Mrs. Neblett tied her. The players halved the 18th, but Mrs. Stokes won out on the 19th.

Mrs. Myron Davy, of Columbia, out with a card of 38, was returned victorious over Mrs. T. O. Brandon, also of Columbia, 4 and 3. Mrs. Brandon scored one of the upsets in the first round of the tournament by eliminating Mrs. Leo Walper after also winning medal honors.

Another upset-scorer in the early rounds, Mrs. Hume Peabody, of Army and Navy, galloped into the semi-final bracket by defeating Mrs. H. J. Simons, of Manor, 2 up.

The semifinal rounds tomorrow will find Mrs. Davy pitted against Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Peabody listed to fight it out against Mrs. Meckley.

Mrs. Neblett Proves Ability, Mrs. Walper Is Upset in D. C. Women's Golf

More upsets were expected today at Manor as eight survivors of the opening match round in the District women's golf championship moved through the second round, with the following pairings: Mrs. Thomas O. Brandon (Columbia) vs. Mrs. Myron Davy (Columbia); Mrs. Walter R. Stokes (Manor) vs. Mrs. Thomas F. Neblett (Manor); Mrs. Hume Peabody (Army Navy) vs. Mrs. H. J. Simons (Manor); and Mrs. B. P. Meckley (Kenwood) vs. Elizabeth Houghton (Chevy Chase).

Mrs. Neblett, an unknown quantity before the tourney started, even though she came to Washington with a reputation as a formidable golfer in Louisiana, has proved that she knows her way around any golf course. She scored an 88 in the medal round, and played the first nine against Mrs. J. W. Jago yesterday in 41 strokes, this score including a 5 on the par 3 fifth hole. But she met a tartar today in the imperturbable Mrs. Stokes, who holds the Maryland State title.

Surprises in the opening round were the defeat of Mrs. Leo Walper, last year's runner-up, by Mrs. Brandon, who won the medal Monday, and the 2-and-1 defeat of Mrs. L. G. Pray of Manor by Mrs. Peabody. But those things happen in match play. It's the factor which makes it the interesting item of sport it is.

Today's second-flight pairings were: Mrs. H. A. Knox (Congressional) vs. Mrs. A. A. McEntee (Kenwood); Mrs. J. T. Powell (Manor) vs. Mrs. J. R. Daily (Manor); Mrs. O. M. Reed (Washington) vs. Mrs. W. S. Masten (Washington); and Mrs. C. E. Hill (Manor) vs. Mrs. H. J. Beech (Manor).

Mrs. Neblett Bows Out on 19th Hole

Mrs. Stokes Scores, 1 Up, In Manor Play

Mrs. Davy's Birdies Beat Mrs. Brandon; Mrs. Meckley Meets Mrs. Peabody Today

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. T. F. Neblett's bid to add the District Women's Championship to her Southern titles was stopped by Mrs. Walter R. Stokes yesterday at Manor but the newcomer had consolation in defeat as the defending champion and medalist joined her on the sidelines.

Mrs. Neblett lost out on the nineteenth hole when she boldly attempted to get on the green from the edge of the woods but her club caught in a tree and the ball ricocheted deeper into the woods, allowing Mrs. Stokes to take the match with a bogey five.

Elizabeth Houghton, the defending titlist from Chevy Chase, was a quick victim of Mrs. Betty Meckley, the only former champion remaining who marched in from the twelfth green with a 7 and 6 victory.

Mrs. T. O. Brandon, the medalist and first-round sensation with a victory over Mrs. Leo Walper, lost to the hottest round of the tournament, a birdie-studded exhibition by Mrs. Myron Davy which was worth a 4 and 3 triumph.

Mrs. Peabody Gains Berth

The fourth berth in the semifinals went to Mrs. Hume Peabody with a 1 up triumph over Mrs. H. J. Simons, of the host Manor Club. Mrs. Peabody, who reached the round of four two years ago at Columbia, finds Mrs. Meckley in her path today as Mrs. Davy and Mrs. Stokes meet once again in the other semifinal.

Mrs. Davy, who is destined to come through in this tournament if hours of constant work on her game are to be rewarded, tossed a first nine at Mrs. Brandon which was the outstanding scoring effort of the tournament thus far and which left the latter four down.

Mrs. Davy sank a wedge shot for a birdie deuce on the fifth hole, knocked a second shot stony for a birdie on the seventh and barely missed a hole-in-one with a great long iron on the eighth. The Columbia representative had par for a 77 when the match was over.

Mrs. Neblett Wins Sixteenth

Mrs. Meckley played the woods nine in 40 strokes on Miss Houghton and leading, 5 up, she started back 5-3-3, ending the match with a 12-footer for a birdie on the twelfth hole. Mrs. Peabody held a lead which varied from one to three holes on Mrs. Simons all the way around and it stood up through the eighteenth green as they halved the last two holes.

Mrs. Stokes was plenty glad to win over Mrs. Neblett on the nineteenth for she nearly tossed away the match on the eighteenth after leading, two up with three to play. Mrs. Neblett won the sixteenth with a par and the seventeenth with a bogey four when Mrs. Stokes' drive just dribbled off the muddy tee.

The eventual winner, the current Maryland State champion, then rubbed an approach shot to the green on the eighteenth but she chipped close on the next one to gain a halve in fives. On the nineteenth Mrs. Neblett pulled her drive in the edge of the woods while her opponent was down the middle but trapped in two. Here Mrs. Neblett, who said "I never play for halves," attempted to reach the green from the fringe of trees but failed and finally holed out in six.

Today's upper-bracket feature will be the third renewal of the Davy-Stokes rivalry. In 1939 Mrs. Davy won on the fifth extra hole in the District championship while last year Mrs. Stokes avenged the defeat in the Maryland State finals.

Stokes-Davy Tilt Spotlights As Women Play Semifinals For District Golf Title

By WALTER McCALLUM

The chips were down today at Manor, as the District women's championship drew toward the final round scheduled for tomorrow morning. The chips were down mostly in the meeting of two linkswomen who have come up fast over the past three years. They are Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, the woman who never has won a big championship, yet sports the lowest handicap (1) of any competitor around Washington, and Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor, who holds the Maryland State title. You could ask 10 people and get different guesses as to the winner of that match, with the winner to advance to the final.

As to the other semi-final match you'd find only one answer, if you asked a dozen people. That would be Betty Meckley. Betty played Mrs. Hume Peabody of Army Navy today in a semifinal match, and on the form she has shown so far should win without trouble.

However, there's always that question, for you don't win golf matches in the women's grill. You win 'em on the golf course. Mrs. Peabody has been a semifinalist in the last two District championships. That speaks for consistency.

The only close match in yesterday's quarter-final round was that in which Mrs. Stokes licked Mrs. Thomas F. Neblett, the newcomer from Louisiana. Mrs. Stokes was 2 up with 3 to go. But Mrs. Neblett turned on the heat and squared. Mrs. Stokes won the extra hole with a 5.

Second flight pairings were:

Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, vs. Mrs. J. R. Daily, Manor; Mrs. O. M. Reed, Washington, vs. Mrs. C. E. Hill, Argyle. Third flight pairings: Mrs. McCook Knox, Chevy Chase, vs. Mrs. H. A. Neff, Manor; Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Woodmont, vs. Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, Army Navy.

Mrs. Davy Tops Mrs. Brandon in D. C. Team Play

Meets Mrs. Stokes;
Mrs. Peabody and Betty Meckley Clash

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Playing the most remarkable golf so far in the Women's District Golf Association Championship, Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia Country Club, completely stole the show yesterday in winning a lopsided 4-and-3 victory over Medalist Mrs. T. O. Brandon to reach the semifinals at Manor Club.

Until yesterday the two tournament dark horses—Mrs. Hume Peabody and Mrs. Brandon—had held the limelight but as unexpectedly as it had come it left before the blazing play of Mrs. Davy. As Mrs. Peabody was remaining in the tournament via a close 1-up decision over Mrs. H. J. Simons of the host club, Mrs. Brandon was being ousted from further competition by one of the finest rounds ever played in a District championship.

Four Up at Turn

Mrs. Davy reached the turn in a three over men's par of 38 to hold a four up lead on the tournament medalist and when the match ended on the fifteenth green the Columbia player needed three pars in for a 77. The most remarkable part of Mrs. Davy's round was that it was played partially in the rain and over a soft, rain-soaked course.

By virtue of her brilliant victory Mrs. Davy draws Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of the host club, in today's semifinals while in the other lower bracket match Mrs. Peabody meets Mrs. Betty P. Meckley.

Mrs. Stokes may not have played the day's most brilliant golf but she did play the most grueling of all the matches. The Maryland State champion and former Middle Atlantic titlist was forced to go to the nineteenth hole before eliminating Mrs. T. F. Neblett, also a Manorite.

Boosts Advantage

One up at the turn, Mrs. Stokes increased her advantage to two up on the former Louisiana State champion, only to see that lead wiped out on the seventeenth green. Both got their pars on the home hole and then on the nineteenth Mrs. Stokes had a little putt for a par but needing two to win she played it safe for a five.

The Davy-Stokes match should turn out to be the match of the entire tournament.

Mrs. Meckley made her way into the semifinals by eliminating defending champion Elizabeth Houghton, of Chevy Chase, by a devastating 7-6 score. The Kenwood star and former holder of every title in this area, reached the turn in 43, but that score was good enough to account for a 5-up lead. They halved the tenth and Mrs. Meckley won the eleventh with a par 3 and the twelfth with a birdie 3 to end Miss Houghton's title defenses.

Mrs. Meckley Favored

Mrs. Meckley figures to have little trouble getting into the finals, but if Mrs. Peabody continues her brilliant play of this week end she may keep on with the unexpected, and make a real match of it.

In the championship flight consolation Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring, defeated Mrs. M. K. Barroll, of Army and Navy; Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Washington, defeated Mrs. J. W. Jago, of Kenwood; Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, defeated Mrs. F. Dickinson Lettis, of Chevy Chase, and Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, of Woodmont, eliminated Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, of Kenwood.

Betty Meckley, Mrs. W. Stokes Meet Today in W.D.G.A. Final

Mrs. Davy Loses, 1 Up, in 20-Hole Match;
Mrs. Peabody Beaten in Semifinals, 7-6

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

In one of the greatest matches in the history of the Women's District Golf Association Championship, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of the host club, yesterday defeated Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, 1 up, in 20 holes, to earn the right to meet Mrs. Betty P. Meckley of Kenwood, in the final round at Manor Country Club this morning.

While Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Davy were sloshing through a driving rain in their overtime match, Mrs. Meckley was sitting in the dining room having lunch after having played but 13 holes in winning over Mrs. Hume Peabody, of Army and Navy, 7 and 5.

All Even at 18 Holes

The Manor Club star wiped out an early two-up deficit to reach the turn on even terms with Mrs. Davy and then saw a lead of her own erased on the sixteenth to again make the match all square.

After halving the seventeenth and eighteenth holes, the two players started the long trek down the nineteenth hole. There, on the rain-soaked green, Mrs. Stokes missed a two and a half footer to keep the match alive.

On the twentieth, Mrs. Stokes hit a great second shot on the green and Mrs. Davy's try for the green hooked off into a trap. Mrs. Davy, after getting a fairly good out of the water-packed sand, three-putted and conceded the hole to Mrs. Stokes, who was a few feet away putting for a par four. Both players had scores of 83 for the rain-swept course to finish even at the end of the regulation 18 holes.

Mrs. Meckley Steady

Mrs. Meckley, who never has been beaten by Mrs. Stokes in tournament play, played fine golf to get to the turn in 41 and hold a six-up advantage on the service club player. Then, after losing the eleventh hole, she went on to win the next two holes in succession and end the match on the thirteenth green. Mrs. Peabody, who has been hailed as the tournament dark horse and who played fine golf to get to the semifinals, went completely to pieces against the former District titlist and never once had a chance.

Mrs. Leo Walper, of Indian Spring, meets Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, in the final round of the championship flight consolation. The wife of the East-West Highway driving range pro eliminated Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Washington, 6 and 4, while Mrs. Pray was ousting Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, of Woodmont, 5 and 4.

The championship match is slated to get under way promptly at 9:35. Cards of the semifinal matches are as follows:

MRS. BETTY MECKLEY
Gains Golf Final

Mrs. Meckley and Mrs. Stokes Are Rated Even in Golf Final; Ad Club Staging Tourney

For several years Mrs. Walter R. Stokes of Manor, and Mrs. Betty P. Meckley of Kenwood have rated around the top of the local links-women. They have met in matches before, with Mrs. Meckley usually victorious, but all previous performances were tossed out the window today as they clashed in the final round of the District women's championship at Manor.

Mrs. Stokes is the reigning Maryland State champion. Mrs. Meckley has held the District, Maryland and Mid-Atlantic titles, and is the more experienced campaigner. Today one of them was to be crowned District amateur champ for 1941.

Mrs. Stokes has had hard matches winning her way to the final. Yesterday she played and won her second straight extra hole contest, a 20-hole affair against Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, which the demure Stokes gal won on the 20th hole with a par 4. Mrs. Meckley, on the other hand played through the easiest half of the draw, and was not pressed in any of her matches preceding the final round.

The five-day-long tourney was to wind up today, with final rounds scheduled in all six flights. Mrs. Meckley won her semifinal match yesterday from Mrs. Hume Peabody by the overwhelming margin of 7 and 5, getting out in 41, and never being pressed. Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Davy, both with 83s, ended the regulation round all square, halved the 19th in fives, and Mrs. Stokes won the second extra hole when Mrs. Davy trapped her second shot.

With both women scoring approximately 83s for the regulation 18-hole distance, Mrs. Stokes won the second extra hole and the match with a par 4. Mrs. Stokes, Meckley Meet for Title

Mrs. M. Davy Loses 20-Hole Semifinal

Mrs. Meckley Wins Over Mrs. Peabody, 7 and 5; Title Match At 9:35 at Manor

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

It's a natural today in the District Women's Golf Championship finals.

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, on top of her game after two overtime battles in as many days, will meet Mrs. Betty Meckley, fresh after a march through the easy half of the draw, at Manor Country Club at 9:35 a. m. for the city title.

Mrs. Stokes advanced to the titular round after battling 20 holes through a driving rain to earn a 1 up victory over Mrs. Myron Davy, who in defeat played one of her finest matches since seriously taking to championship golf.

Mrs. Meckley, winner of the big championship mug in 1930-31 and 1936, won in easier fashion, a 7-to-5 triumph over Mrs. Hume Peabody, of Army and Navy.

Rain Hurts Match

It was a shame the Stokes-Davy match had to be played on a dreary, rainy day with only a few faithful followers for the Maryland State champion and her final round victim in that tournament last year produced great golf considering they were playing over a course absorbing its fourth consecutive day of hard rain.

It was close all the way with Mrs. Davy's two up margin after the first two holes the biggest difference of the 20 holes. They halved then through the sixth but in quick succession Mrs. Stokes won seven and eight to square the match and that's how matters stood at the turn, each out in 41.

Coming back, they divided 10 and 11 before Mrs. Davy played one of the finest shots of the match on the twelfth, an explosion from the sand which netted a four and a one-hole lead. Mrs. Stokes dropped a 30-footer to square matters on the fourteenth, and then went up on 15 after an Alphose-Gaston ace which found the eventual winner taking the hole with a six.

Mrs. Davy Squares Match

Mrs. Davy came right back with a long spoon shot and stony approach to square matters on 16, and they halved the seventeenth. Still getting unexpected distances off the tee they drove side by side on 18, but here Mrs. Davy hit one of her few poor shots of the day, a skid spoon. The Columbia player missed the green in three, but played a beautiful chip shot within inches of the hole to gain a half in fives and send Mrs. Stokes to extra holes for the second time in 24 hours.

It looked like curtains for Mrs. Davy on the nineteenth when she pulled her second shot deep into the woods, but she drove a low approach to the edge of the green for another fine halve and they went to the twentieth. Here Mrs. Davy hooked another second shot, this time into a trap, and when she blasted well past the pin and missed the first and second putts coming back Mrs. Stokes was a 1 up victor via a regulation par.

In the meantime Mrs. Meckley was a spectator as an out nine of 41 and four straight fives on the back nine were good for a 7-and-5 margin over Mrs. Peabody, who lost in the semifinals as she did two years ago.

In this same tournament two years ago Mrs. Davy defeated Mrs. Stokes in the first round on the 23, or fifth extra hole. Finals in all flights and consolations will be

Beats Mrs. Meckley For District Crown In Uphill Battle

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes made her sixth try the best try yesterday at Manor Country Club, where the host club star defeated Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, 2 up, to win her first Women's District Golf Association championship.

The former Maryland State and Middle Atlantic champion wiped out an early 2-up deficit to get to the turn holding a 1-up advantage over Mrs. Meckley, and then saw her own lead erased, only to come on again to win. Mrs. Meckley, who won the title on three occasions in 1930, 1931 and 1935, three-putted three greens and practically gave away her lead built up on pars on the first and second holes of the match. Then again, in the pinch, her erratic putter cost her her chances at the sixteenth.

Concedes Putt

The new titlist was out in 41 and back in 42 for an 83, while Mrs. Meckley's card was two shots higher. Mrs. Meckley had a putt on the home green to halve the hole and cut Mrs. Stokes' winning margin in half but instead she picked up and conceded to the Manor Club star whose ball was inches away from the cup in four strokes.

In her first match Mrs. Stokes eliminated Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Washington, and then was forced to go to the nineteenth hole before winning over Mrs. T. F. Neblett, a clubmate. In the semifinals it was a 20-hole match with Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia.

Mrs. Meckley's two pars on the first two holes gave her a 2-up lead over Mrs. Stokes and it looked like the new champion was going three down at the fourth, but a great trap shot changed the entire appearance of the match and instead she won the hole. On the next two holes Mrs. Meckley three-putted to toss the rest of her advantage away and go 1 down.

Mrs. Meckley won the seventh with a good four, but the Manor Club star came right back to again take the lead with a great five on the long wood-bordered ninth. Again Mrs. Meckley evened matters at the tenth and could have gone 1 up at the twelfth, but here again she three-putted to give Mrs. Stokes a halve on the hole.

Mrs. Walper Wins

Knocking in a 10-footer for a four on the long fourteenth, Mrs. Stokes again took a lead which she increased to two at the very next hole with a five. Mrs. Meckley had a short putt at the sixteenth to slice Mrs. Stokes lead in half, but she missed.

Mrs. Stokes tossed the seventeenth away completely with a ragged five, but on the last hole she hit the ball every bit like a champion to insure her victory.

Mrs. Leo Walper won the championship flight consolations by defeating Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, 1 up, in 19 holes. Mrs. A. A. McEntee, of Kenwood, won her first major award by defeating Mrs. C. E. Hill, of Argyle, 2 and 1, to take top honors in the second flight. The cards:

Mrs. Myron Davy And Mrs. Peabody Bow in Semifinals

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of Manor and Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, became the finalists today in the Women's District of Columbia golf tournament at the Manor Country Club.

Mrs. Stokes won, 1 up in 20 holes over Mrs. Myron Davy, of Columbia while Mrs. Meckley came through with a 7 and 5 triumph over Mrs. Hume Peabody, entered from the Army and Navy Country Club.

Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Meckley will pair off tomorrow morning in the final round for the title at Manor at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Stokes was forced to go 20 holes before she finally succeeded in eliminating Mrs. Davy. After winning the fifteenth hole, Mrs. Stokes dropped the sixteenth to her rival which evened the match. The rivals halved the seventeenth and eighteenth holes and Mrs. Stokes missed a 2½-foot putt on the nineteenth which would have settled it there.

Concedes Putt

The new titlist was out in 41 and back in 42 for an 83, while Mrs. Meckley's card was two shots higher. Mrs. Meckley had a putt on the home green to halve the hole and cut Mrs. Stokes' winning margin in half but instead she picked up and conceded to the Manor Club star whose ball was inches away from the cup in four strokes.

In her first match Mrs. Stokes eliminated Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Washington, and then was forced to go to the nineteenth hole before winning over Mrs. T. F. Neblett, a clubmate. In the semi-finals it was a 20-hole match with Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia.

Mrs. Meckley's two pars on the first two holes gave her a 2-up lead over Mrs. Stokes and it looked like the new champion was going three down at the fourth, but a great trap shot changed the entire appearance of the match and instead she won the hole. On the next two holes Mrs. Meckley three-putted to toss the rest of her advantage away and go 1 down.

Mrs. Meckley won the seventh with a good four, but the Manor Club star came right back to again take the lead with a great five on the long wood-bordered ninth. Again Mrs. Meckley evened matters at the tenth and could have gone 1 up at the twelfth, but here again she three-putted to give Mrs. Stokes a halve on the hole.

Mrs. Walper Wins

Knocking in a 10-footer for a four on the long fourteenth, Mrs. Stokes again took a lead which she increased to two at the very next hole with a five. Mrs. Meckley had a short putt at the sixteenth to slice Mrs. Stokes' lead in half, but she missed.

Mrs. Stokes tossed the seventeenth away completely with a ragged five, but on the last hole she hit the ball every bit like a champion to insure her victory.

Mrs. Leo Walper won the championship flight consolations by defeating Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, 1 up, in 19 holes. Mrs. A. A. McEntee, of Kenwood, won her first major award by defeating Mrs. C. E. Hill, of Argyle, 2 and 1, to take top honors in the second flight. The cards:

Mrs. Meckley Concedes on 18th Hole

MRS. STOKES

Manor Star, 2 Down, Goes 1 Up on the Turn

By MAURY FITZGERALD

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, of the host club, today won the Women's District Golf Association championship by defeating Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, 2 up, over the Manor Country Club links.

It marked Mrs. Stokes' first victory in the W. D. G. A. title tourney, and also her first triumph over Mrs. Meckley. She previously had won the Maryland State and Mid-Atlantic crowns.

Mrs. Meckley Takes Lead

Mrs. Meckley took a 2-up lead on the first two holes, but then she gradually began to "blow up" and at the end of nine holes was one down. She evened the score at the tenth, and the match remained even until the fourteenth, where Mrs. Stokes sank a 10-foot putt for a great four to go 1 up.

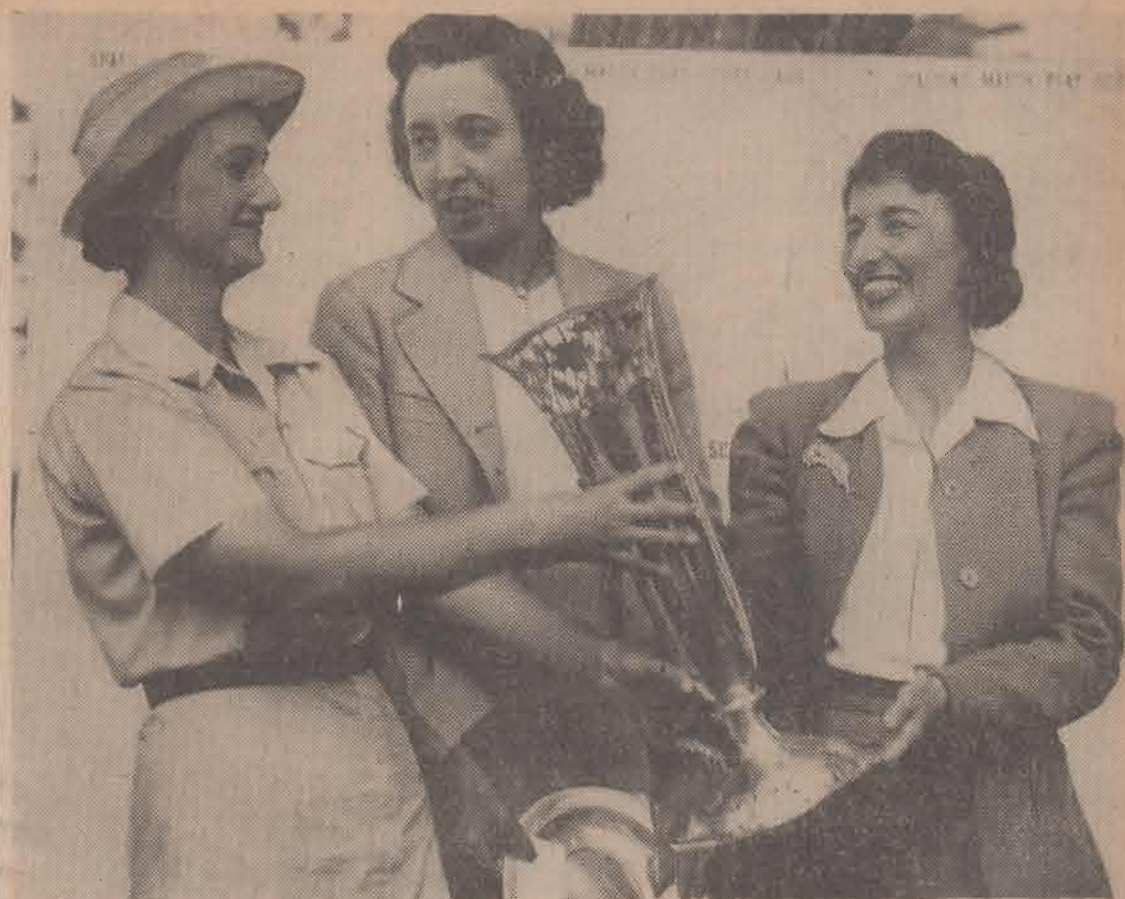

Mrs. Stokes took a 5 to Mrs. Meckley's 6 on the next hole and went 2 up. On the sixteenth, Mrs. Meckley had the hole in her grasp when she needed a four-foot putt but she was short and took a 5 to halve the hole. On the seventeenth, Mrs. Meckley took a 4 to Mrs. Stokes' 5 and cut the winner's advantage to 1 up.

Concedes 18th, Match

On the eighteenth and final hole, Mrs. Meckley topped her second and third shots and was on the green in 4, while Mrs. Stokes was up in 3, and putted within the cup for a sure 5. Mrs. Meckley then conceded the hole and match, giving Mrs. Stokes a 2-up victory.

Mrs. Meckley 3-putted three holes during the match. This occurred on the fifth, sixth, and twelfth holes. She lost the first two but halved the twelfth.

Manor Club Star Defeats Mrs. Meckley, 2 Up, To Add Another Crown to List; Match Close

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, who decided to take a fling at competitive golf just five years ago this spring, yesterday attained the maximum of local success by adding the District Women's Championship to her Middle Atlantic and Maryland State titles.

The new champion, playing over her home Manor Club course, staged one of her typical back-nine spurts to defeat Mrs. Betty Meckley, a three-time former champion from Kenwood, 2 up.

Thus the new titlist climaxed a fine week of golf which included a qualifying 86, just a shot off the medal pace, an opening-round 3-and-2 victory over Mrs. Charles Lynch and then two extra-hole conquests, over Mrs. T. F. Neblett on the nineteenth and Mrs. Myron Davy on the twentieth.

The Turning Point

Mrs. Stokes produced an 83 brand of golf yesterday and Mrs. Meckley and 85 as the girls enjoyed sunshine for the first time in five days and took advantage of it.

Although the match was very close all the way the fourteenth hole was the real turning point, as it was there Mrs. Stokes took a 1-up lead for the first time, when, for a moment, it looked as though she would go 1 down. Mrs. Meckley had tossed a five iron just that many feet from the pin from well back in the fairway when Mrs. Stokes replied with an approach some 10 feet away, dropped the putt and Mrs. Meckley missed.

Mrs. Stokes made it 2 up on the long fifteenth with a regulation par five as Mrs. Meckley missed the green in three. The latter was short with a 6-foot putt for a win on the sixteenth, but kept the match alive on the seventeenth as

Mrs. Stokes half topped a second shot over the green and took five on the par three.

Mrs. Meckley Concedes

One down on the eighteenth tee, Mrs. Meckley was never in the finishing hole as she hit a short hook off the tee and then scooted two wood shots along the fairway and finally conceded Mrs. Stokes a victory before they holed out.

What is believed to be the first golf ace ever scored by a woman at Columbia Country Club was marked up yesterday by Mrs. Walter Barkdull, a club member, who sank her tee shot on the extremely short No. 16, a water hole.

The pill dropped after a short bounce. William Geleng and Elinor Finckel shared Mrs. Barkdull's thrill.

Betty Meckley Again Golf Leader After Great Comeback

Maryland Meet Victory Stamps Veteran as Top Player of Section

On her record so far this year, steady Betty Meckley, the new (and former) Maryland women's champion, stands again at the top of the feminine links heap around here. It's a remarkable comeback the veteran Kenwood star has made this year, just when people were beginning to say the winning parade had passed her and that never again would she win a major sectional crown.

Victor in the Class A section of the tourney for The Star trophies, winner of the Keeler Cup, runner-up in the District championship and winner of the Maryland title. That is Betty Meckley's record so far this year, with a few tournaments to go.

Outstanding Performance.

It's an outstanding series of performances for a woman who admits she has passed the two-score mark in age and who has been winning golf tournaments around this town since 1928.

No matter what she does in future tournaments in this sector this year, Mrs. Meckley is sure to be ranked first or second at the close of the 1941 competitive year. Her consistency has been outstanding. Seldom does she have a really bad round, and although Betty and the other woman golfers around town aren't good enough to win national championships, they play good golf. Once in a while Betty dips down into the 70s, as do one or two of the other women.

Putting Is Strong Point.

Not the longest (nor yet the shortest) player from the tee, Mrs. Meckley's strong links point is her putting. For years she has been one of the best putters playing the game. She won the Maryland championship last week at Chevy Chase with that trenchant weapon.

Few who saw that hotly fought final match will forget the 20-footer she trundled in on the 17th green to keep her 1-up margin against hard-fighting Mrs. Myron Davy, who seemed on the point of squaring. It was one of those clutch putts that characterizes a good competitor. Mrs. Meckley has holed a lot of those.

Mrs. Franklin Wins
Low Gross Honors
With 93 Total
At Kenwood Club

Mrs. Frank Mirth, a comparative newcomer to women's tournament golf circles from Indian Spring, won the annual competition for the Duffers' Trophy yesterday at Kenwood with a professional finish.

Mrs. Mirth played the last three holes like Betty Jameson at best to finish with a 96, the lowest score of her career by five strokes. On the sixteenth hole Mrs. Mirth holed a 35-foot putt, on the seventeenth she blasted from a sand trap within 3 inches of the pin and on the eighteenth she knocked home a downhill, sidehill 30-footer for a 5.

Mrs. Mirth did not know it at the time but she needed that final putt for Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, of Washington Golf and Country Club, was in with a 93—20, 73, which was only one shot higher than the winning net total of 96—24, 72, posted by Mrs. Mirth.

Mrs. Franklin Wins Low Gross

Mrs. Franklin's 93, lowest score of the day from nines of 49 and 46, including a 4 4 4 5 finish, won low gross honors by three strokes.

Second low net went to Mrs. George Buskie, of Congressional, with 50, 52—102—27—75, while third was a tie between Mrs. R. D. Young, Washington, with 96—19—77, second lowest gross score of the day, and Madeline Bast, a former champion from Manor, with 102—25—77. Mrs. Young had nines of 47 and 49 and Miss Bast 48 and 54.

Mrs. Lou Libby, a prize winner in the mixed Scotch foursome of Tuesday, posted a 101—23—78, which was good for a tie for fifth low net with Mrs. H. H. Goodman, Washington, with 114—36—78.

Mrs. G. M. Jani, of Congressional, was apparently on her way to a cup triumph as she played the first nine in 45, but she added 10 strokes coming back for a 55 and finished with 101—21—73, which completed the prize list.

Bow to Mrs. Jani's Handicap

Mrs. M. M. Wire and Mrs. W. G. Hills, of the host Kenwood club, tied with 104—25, 79, and 110—31, 79 respectively, but lost out to Mrs. Jani's lower handicap for seventh low net. Cards of the three players who tied were matched and all finished 4 down to par, thus leaving the prize to the lowest handicapped player.

Mrs. Mirth, the new holder of the Elizabeth Harris trophy, had never before cracked the 100 mark, her lowest previous score a 101 in a ladies' guest day over the Kenwood course. After a poor start yesterday she played the first nine in 49 and came back to 47. The winner's round included two other long putts in addition to the sixteenth and eighteenth holes.

Of the original 105 entries, 81 started in the tournament for the class B players, those with handicaps of 18 or over. Class B and class A players are reminded that entries for the annual play for The Washington Post trophies close next Friday. The tournaments at Manor and Congressional will be played Monday, July 21.—M. W. W.

Blazing Links Finish Earns Mrs. Mirth Duffer's Prize

The best round of golf she ever has shot, including a hot putting streak under pressure on the late holes, leaves Mrs. Frank Mirth of Indian Spring in possession of the Elizabeth Harris Trophy, prize of the annual duffers' tournament yesterday at Kenwood.

She scored a 49—47—96—24—72, to top the 49—43—93—20—73 posted by Mrs. Lafayette Franklin of Washington, who won low gross. Second low net was taken by Mrs. George Buskie of Congressional, 50—52—102—27—75.

Mrs. Mirth staged a strong finish. She holed a 35-footer on the 16th, came out of a trap to within 3 inches of the pin on the 17th and on the 18th knocked in a downhill putt from 30 feet. The 96 she turned in was her first total under 100, her best previous score being 101 at Kenwood recently.

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Frank Mirth, of Indian Spring Country Club, armed with a handicap allowance of 34 strokes, posted a gross round of 96 yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club to win the Women's District Golf Association Duffers Tournament with strokes to spare.

The new high handicap champion made it to the turn in 49 and then showing improvement on the back nine, finished with a 47 to give her a winning low net total of 72. Her round was three shots better than her nearest competitor, despite the fact that 81 players participated in the annual high handicap classic.

Takes Low Gross Honors

Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, of Washington Golf and Country Club, playing her best round, posted a 93 to capture low gross honors. The Virginia club player had three three-putt greens to reach the turning point in 49 but then hit her stride to get back in 44 and nip her clubmate, Mrs. D. R. Young, who was holding forth at 76.

Mrs. Young, nosed out as the tournament medalist, came in for a prize as third low net with a handicap allowance of 19 strokes which gave her a net of 77. Mrs. George Buskie of Congressional, took second low net honors with 102-27-75 and she, like Mrs. Young, looked like a big winner until displaced late in the day's play.

Madeline Bast of Manor Club, a former winner of the Harris Trophy, also finished with a 77 net but was dropped to fourth when she lost out in a draw with Mrs. Young. The Manor Club player posted a score of 103 and was allowed a deduction of 25 strokes in handicap.

Three Players Deadlocked

Mrs. Lou Libby of Beaver Dam, and Mrs. H. H. Goodman of Washington, both finished with net scores of 78 but the Beaver Dam golfer was awarded the fifth place award via the draw. Mrs. Libby posted a gross score of 101 with a 23-stroke handicap while the Washington Club player came through with a 114 score and used a 36-stroke deduction.

Three players—Mrs. G. M. Jani, of Congressional, and Mrs. M. M. Wire and Mrs. M. G. Hills, of Kenwood—finished with nets of 79 to place, but Mrs. Jani proved the fortunate winner when the three cards were matched and still came out even. The rules of the association are that tying cards must be matched and if they are still even, the player with the lowest handicap is the winner.

Mrs. Jani had turned in a 100 score and had a handicap of 25 strokes while Mrs. Wire posted a card of 104 with a 25-stroke handicap and Mrs. Hills a card of 110 with a 31 handicap. The cards of the winners:

Women Golfers Play For Post Cups Today

160 Players in Two Classes in Manor, Congressional Play

Whittlesey

The Washington Post trophies will be at stake today as 160 members of the District Women's Golf Association, 76 Class A players at Manor and 84 Class B contestants at Congressional, gather for the annual 18-hole handicap tournaments.

The permanent Post trophies will go to the winner's club for a year while low net and low gross winners in each class will receive silver plates and bowls, respectively, for permanent possession. Additional net prizes in each class will be contributed by the association.

This is only the second year for the Class B section of the tournament and the only name on the trophy is that of Mrs. Ingman Harr, Washington Golf and Country Club, who won last year at Kenwood with a 99-29, 70.

Cup Introduced in 1933

The Post Cup was first introduced on the women's golf schedule in 1933 when Elizabeth Harris was president of the association. From 1933 until 1939 it was played as a week-long match play tournament, with a flight of 32 qualifying on Monday and one match a day following through the finals on Saturday.

As the tournament schedule of the association continued to grow Mrs. Robert A. Lacey, president in 1939, asked The Post to reduce the tournament to a one-day 18-hole medal play affair to relieve congestion on the card. This was done and Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, of Chevy Chase, won it the first time as a medal play affair.

Last year, as entries in The Post Cup and other tournaments neared the 200 mark, too many for a single day's play on one course, The Post Cup event was divided into a two-class affair and The Post donated a permanent trophy for the Class B golfers, the original trophy remaining in play for the Class A contestants.

One Former Champion Entered

The only former champion entered today is Mrs. Arnold McNitt, of Congressional, who won it in 1938, the last year of match play competition, held at Manor Country Club. Mrs. C. P. Medley, the defending champion from Indian Spring, has not been active in golf this year and will not defend the title won at Woodmont.

Both Class A and Class B competition will get under way today at 9 o'clock from both the first and tenth tees, with Wiffy Cox and Warner Gray supervising the starting at Congressional and Al Treder and Karl Kuster at Manor Club. All players will have started by 10:05.

The Post Cup is the first major tournament to be played in mid-summer in many years, an innovation this year of Mrs. Walter L. Weible, the active president of the District Women's Golf Association from Kenwood. Heretofore, the summer months were left free from tournaments but to avoid spring and fall congestion Mrs. Weible asked the card be spread over the entire season, and it was adopted by her committee.

The battle for the low gross prize in class A looms as the best of the season with the big names of local women's golf entered, including Mrs. W. R. Stokes, Mrs. Myron Davy, Mrs. Betty Meckley, Mrs. Leo Walper, Mrs. L. G. Pray, Mrs. T. F. Neblett and Mrs. T. O. Brandon.

Mrs. Weible and a representative of The Post will present the prizes in class A and Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, first vice president, will handle the class B presentation ceremonies.

Cup Golf Won By Washington, Kenwood Stars

Mrs. Butler, Meckley Goodman, Connolly Take Down Awards

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Kenwood and Washington made field days of the Women's District Golf Association tournaments for the Post Cups yesterday at Manor and Congressional. Kenwood's Mrs. R. S. Butler won low net honors with a 76 and Mrs. Betty P. Meckley low gross with an 80 in class A at Manor; while Washington's Mrs. H. H. Goodman was winning low net with a 77 at Congressional in Class B and Mrs. J. S. Connolly was taking gross with a 101 score.

Kenwood's monopoly at Manor Country Club was started off when Mrs. Butler made it to the turn in 46 and returned in a 48 for a gross of 94 and her 18 stroke handicap enabled her to beat out clubmate Mrs. Meckley by a shot for the main award. But Mrs. Meckley's 80, which included nines of 39 and 41, was good enough to win the gross award by two shots.

High Scoring Class

In carrying off the two main awards at Congressional, Mrs. H. H. Goodman topped a high-scoring Class B division with nines of 56 and 55 for a 111-score and was aided by a handicap deduction of 34 strokes. Mrs. Connolly completed the Washington corner on prizes at Congressional by turning in the lowest gross score with nines of 53 and 48. And in that high scoring melee at the long River Road course Mrs. Connolly was one of two women able to break 50 on either nine.

Mrs. F. J. Hopkins, another Kenwood player, posted 93-17-76 at Manor, but her score was not posted as she did not have an official Women's D.G.A. handicap card. According to the rules of the association a player must be a resident of the District for three months and Mrs. Hopkins fell short of that requirement.

Five Way Deadlock

Mrs. L. G. Pray of Manor, and Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, were second to Mrs. Meckley in the low gross race with 82's, and for a time it looked like Mrs. Davy was a cinch to win. The Columbia star was out in a great nine of 37, but slumped badly on the journey home for a 45.

Five players tied for second low set in Class A with 78's, and again Kenwood came in for a major portion of the prizes, when Mrs. Harry W. Sharpe was drawn into second place. Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, of Washington, was drawn into third place; Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, fourth; Mrs. Henry Goodman, of Woodmont, fifth, and Mrs. Kutz Hanson, of Chevy Chase, sixth.

Other prize winners at Congressional in Class B were: Betty Nuttman, of Army and Navy, 102-22-79; Mrs. Cochran Fisher, Columbia, 111-28-83; Mrs. R. D. Young, Washington, 103-19-84; Madeline Bast, Manor, 103-24-84, and Mrs. J. J. Corson, Washington, 104-20-84.

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Goodman Win Post Cups

Takes Gross
In Class A

Mrs. Connolly Wins
Class B Gross Honors
At Congressional Club;
Ties Mark Net Prizes

By Merrell W. Whittlesey
The Washington Post trophy tournaments brought out the best golf ever played by Mrs. R. S. Butler, of Kenwood, and Mrs. H. H. Goodman, of Washington, and as a result they were crowned Class A and Class B champions, respectively, yesterday at Manor and Congressional clubs.

Mrs. Butler, who first took up the game three years ago, broke her own personal scoring record by a stroke at Manor Club with a 94 and minus a handicap of 18 gave her a net 76, low for the day by a single stroke.

Mrs. Goodman, who has been playing only since Easter of this year, also posted her lowest score over the long Congressional course, a 111, and minus 34 handicap strokes her net 77 won the Class B cup by a 2-shot margin.

Diffenbaugh Protégés

The victories were somewhat of a personal triumph for George Diffenbaugh, the Kenwood Club professional, who has started hundreds of District golfers off on the right foot, for they have both been under his tutelage since first swinging a club.

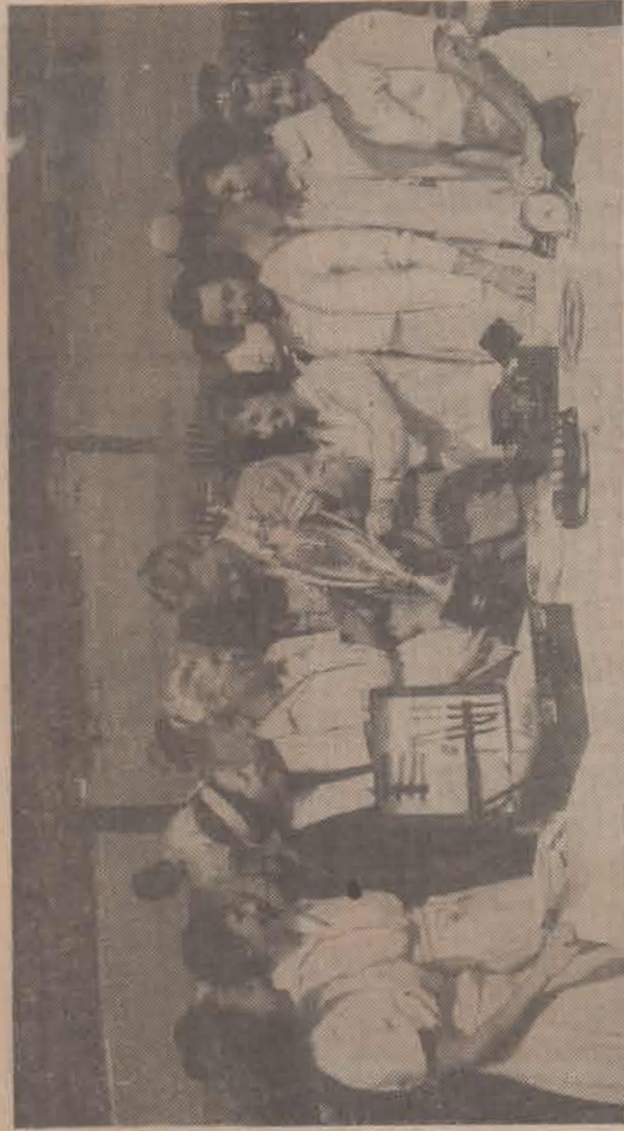

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, the current and three-time Maryland State champion, captured gross honors in the ninth annual Class A competition at Manor with a fine round of 80, a round where she hit all shots like a champion. With a little more luck on the greens she could have carded a 75. Mrs. Meckley just missed a tie for the cup by a shot with 80-3, 77.

Mrs. John S. Connolly, winner of low gross in the recent Star Cup play, came back in The Post Cup competition to again pace the Class B players, this time with a score of 101. Mrs. Connolly, wife of the Fairfax Golf Club owner, has been a golfer for only four years.

Of the original 80 entries in Class A, 42 played but 29 returned no cards. In Class B, 62 of the 84 entries competed but 33 returned no cards. Scoring was higher than expected in both low and high handicapped divisions of the tournament.

The annual competition for The Washington Post trophies yesterday at Manor and Congressional attracted near-record fields, good golf and most important—good weather. the next five prizes. Winners were determined, first by matching cards and then, after more ties resulted, the lowest handicapped players received a preference.

Kenwood Woman Star

Kenwood continued its prize monopoly as Mrs. H. W. Sharpe won second low net with a consistent 20, 12 handicap for a net 78. Third went to Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, of Washington, with 95-17, 78. Mrs. Franklin was low gross winner in the recent Duffer's tournament and that score promoted her to Class A for yesterday's play.

Mrs. L. G. Pray, a former host club champion, posted the second-best round of the day, a 40, 42-82, and minus four handicap strokes for a net 78; won fourth low net.

Mrs. Henry Goodman, of Woodmont's championship second team, was next with 90-12-78, and Mrs. Kurtz Hanson, of Chevy Chase, completed the prize bracket with 94-16-78, including a back nine of 45 after a 49 start.

Mrs. Myron Davy, Columbia's State finalist, included three birdies in an out nine of 37, best nine of the day, but after a delay on the tenth tee Mrs. Davy required 45 strokes on the back nine for an 82.

Mrs. W. R. Stokes, the District and host club champion, was unable to compete.

Betty Nuttman, of Army and Navy, finished second to Mrs. Goodman in the Class B net competition with 102-23-79, just missing gross honors by a stroke. Mrs. Cochran Fisher, of Columbia, was the third low net victor with 111-28-83.

Ties also marked the net prize winners in Class B, including Mrs. R. D. Young, a Washington club committeeman and prize winner in the Duffers' competition, with 103-19-84; Mrs. J. B. Foy, Army and Navy, 110-26-84; Madeline Bast, Manor, a former Duffers' Trophy champion, and Mrs. J. J. Corson, Washington, with 104-20-84, including the second lowest back nine of the day, a 49. Mrs. Connolly came back in 48 for the best nine-hole effort.

Mrs. F. J. Hopkins, a newcomer to tournament golf from Kenwood, posted a 93-17, 76, which would have tied for the trophy at Manor but Mrs. Hopkins' handicap had not cleared the proper channels and had not complied with the three-month ruling on new players and her score was not official.

Mrs. Butler Thrilled

Mrs. Butler, first of the attractive new champions to finish, was thrilled with her lowest round of golf and proud that it was in competition. Her best previous competitive effort was a 96 in the Diffenbaugh trophy play at Kenwood and a 95 in an informal round.

Mrs. Butler was a Class B player until one of her best previous scores in the recent Maryland State Tournament, where she was runner-up in the fourth flight, earned a promotion to Class A. The new champion was third in Class B of The Post Cup event last year. Yesterday she played good golf, excepting four bad holes, and had only a single one-putt green. After playing the back nine first, Mrs. Butler came to the ninth hole, the eighteenth she had played, with 5 for a 92 but visited the woods twice and finished with a 7, which she feared would cost her the trophy.

Started Playing Easter

Mrs. Goodman, who took up golf at the insistence of her husband on Easter, has a promising long game and needs only a little more short game play and experience to develop among the better players. Mrs. Goodman played competitive tennis in high school and college, and was runner-up in the Northern California high school championship. She had planned to visit California this week but stayed to compete in the tournament.

The Class B trophy will remain at Washington Golf and Country Club where Mrs. Ingman Harr took it last year in its first year of play. Mrs. Butler will take the big Class A cup to Kenwood for the first time in nine years. Mrs. W. L. Weible and Merrell Whittlesey officiated at the Class A presentation ceremonies and Mrs. Frank Kramer at the Class B prize time.

Mrs. Fox Quits as Chairman Of Golf Tourney Committee; Mrs. Meckley Stars Again

By WALTER McCALLUM.

An appointment will be made within a few days to fill the important post of tournament chairman for the Woman's District Golf Association. Announcement of the resignation of Mrs. Edward Fox of Kenwood from that post was made today by Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the association. Mrs. Fox's resignation was accepted several hours ago. According to Mrs. Weible, she resigned over the mooted question of pairing contestants in feminine tournaments according to handicaps. The resignation is the first since the complete line-up of committees by the women early this year.

Several candidates are in line for the post, Mrs. Weible said, and an appointment will be made within a few days, certainly before the British war relief tourney to be held at Army Navy August 15.

The golfing gals around town have a big month during August for, in addition to the war relief tourney, they have a woman-pro affair coming up at Congressional August 18, to be followed August 19 by the affair for the Columbia Broadcasting System Trophy at Chevy Chase.

Mrs. Meckley Stars Again.

But it seems sure now that no one is going to put the stop light this year on the veteran Betty Meckley, who appears to improve as the years pass. It has been 12 years now since Betty won her first District championship, and not only is she winning but apparently she grows better as the years roll on. All she did yesterday was establish a new competitive course record at Columbia, with a 1-under-par 75 in winning the gross and net prizes in the National Broadcasting Co. tourney. It's getting to be a habit with the Maryland State champion, this winning of both gross and net awards. She did it in The Star tourney in May, and now she has done it again.

The 75 recorded by the victor ties a score made by Mrs. Elsie Haynes a decade ago, but since Mrs. Meckley's card was made in medal play competition it will stand as a record. Here is the card:

Wins by Three Strokes.

With her handicap of three strokes deducted the Kenwood woman won by three strokes, and elected to take the main prize, with the gross award going to Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, at 87. Second net went to Elinor Finckel of Columbia, also a local tennis star, who had 91-16-75. Others in the prize list were:

Gross—Mrs. T. F. Neblett (Manor), Mrs. Leo Walper (Indian Springs), Mrs. W. R. Stokes (Manor), 88. Net—Mrs. E. W. Sharpe (Kenwood), 92-12-80. Mrs. William E. Hall (Columbia), 93-13-80. Mrs. F. J. Godfrey (Congressional), 89-15-80. Mrs. Arnold McNitt (Congressional), 95-15-80. Mrs. Gilbert Rahn (Wood-mont), 93-12-81. Mrs. Edgar Pursey (Manor), 98-17-81. Mrs. R. C. Jones (Army Navy), 98-16-82. Mrs. M. M. Maxwell (Army Navy), 97-15-82.

One of those unfortunate happenings marred the smooth progress of the tourney, in the case of Jerry Weible, promising Kenwood youngster. Jerry didn't check over her card before turning it in, as required by the rules, and was disqualified. She would have won third net with her 90-12-78, but her score as turned in was not correct.

Mrs. Rutledge New Net Head

Mrs. Fox' Successor
As Tourney Chairman

Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, of Army and Navy Country Club, was named tournament chairman of the Women's District Golf Association last night to succeed Mrs. Edward Fox, of Kenwood, who recently resigned.

This was announced by President Mrs. W. L. Weible. The women's prexy also stated that entries for the British War Relief Tournament to be played next week at Army and Navy Country Club will close on Tuesday at 1 p.m.

All entries for this tournament must be accompanied by a $1 entry fee. The scheduled lady-pro tournament which was to have been played at Congressional on Monday, August 18, has been postponed.

Although no definite date for the tournament has been set, Mrs. Weible said that she thought the best time would be September 2. Reasons given for the postponement was the conflict in dates with the annual Lancaster, Pa., amateur-pro which draws heavily from this section.

Linkswomen to Play in Tourney Monday for N. B. C. Trophy

Third tournament for the feminine J. H. Jouett at Emerson 7683, and golfers in the heretofore neglected summer months comes off next week at Columbia when Class A women will play Monday for the National Broadcasting Co. Cup. This is the tourney started four years ago to honor Helen Dettweiler as the golfer of the year among the women.

For the first time this year the feminine players have spread their tournaments through July and August instead of concentrating them into the spring and fall months. The N. B. C. tourney will be the third such affair. Others to come include the Columbia Broadcasting System tourney, and the Corby Cup affair, scheduled August 19 and September 5, respectively. Previously the women have held during July the "duffers" event, and the Post Cup tourney.

Entries for the N. B. C. tourney will close Friday at 1 p.m. with Mrs.

Capture Post Trophies.

Another golfer who has worked hard on her game, and has achieved such success that within a short time she has dropped her handicap low enough to get into class A, has reached the winners' circle.

The woman is Mrs. R. S. Butler of the Kenwood Golf and Country Club, an athletic competitor who plays golf nearly every day. She only took up golf three or four years ago, but today she is being hailed around town as one of the better competitors, following her victory in class A of the Washington Post tourney at Manor.

Victorious in class B, for players with handicaps above 18, was Mrs. Henry H. Goodman of the Washington Golf and Country Club, another who has not in past years figured in the winning of the larger tournaments.

Mrs. Meckley Sparkles.

Until a few hours before the tourney started Mrs. Butler didn't know her handicap had been sufficiently lowered to place her in class A. The class A golfers competed at Manor, while those in class B played at Congressional. But she scored a 94 over that tough Manor course, and with her handicap of 18 strokes, turned in a net score of 76. It was good enough to win by a single stroke, although Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, the consistent Maryland champion, with a net of 77, was awarded the gross prize for her card of 80, taking her out of the net competition. Five tied for second net award, with Mrs. Harry W. Sharpe winning after the cards had been matched.

N.B.C. Golf Play Has 90 Entries

Tourney Will Open
Tomorrow Morning

A field of 90 entries has been recorded for the annual N.B.C. golf tournament which gets under way at the Columbia Golf and Country Club on Monday, August 4. The first group will tee off at 8:30 a.m. with the last going off at 11 a.m.

Betty Meckley Captures Low Gross Honors

Cards 84; Army, Navy Players Annex Ten Prizes in Tourney

Mrs. Allen Minnix, of Columbia Country Club, played the wind-swept Army and Navy Country Club course in 92 strokes yesterday and, armed with a handicap allowance of 15 strokes, posted a net of 77 to win first low net honors in the Women's District Golf Association sponsored British war relief tournament.

A field of 55 players, the smallest of the year, turned out for the benefit event, which found Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood, adding another low gross award to her collection with an 84. Mrs. Minnix, in recording her winning net score, was out in 48 and back in 44, while Mrs. Meckley's card showed nines of 40 and 42.

First Hole Bad

The Columbia player played consistent golf to win the net. The only bad hole on her card was the very first, and there she took a four-over-par nine. Her round was two shots better than her nearest competitor, Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, the new District Association tournament chairman, who posted a gross of 93, and using a 15-stroke handicap to an advantage, finished up with a 78 net, to get second.

As it turned out, Mrs. Rutledge was one of 10 Army and Navy Country Club players to break into the prize-winning column. The service club parade started with Mrs. Rutledge, and then in succession came Mrs. W. E. Mackintosh, 99-21-78; Mrs. L. Y. York, 99-20-79; Mrs. Eric T. King, 98-17-81, and Mrs. John Foy with 106-25-81.

Mrs. W. P. Tompkins, of Chevy Chase Club, halted the Army and Navy monopoly by taking seventh place with 93-12-81, and in eighth place, via the draw, came another Army and Navy player, Mrs. E. S. Lyons, with 94-13-81. Three players finished with nets of 82, and Mrs. H. J. Beech, of Manor, won out in the draw to get ninth place with 94-12-82, while Mrs. H. N. Goodman, of Washington, took tenth with 109-27-82, and Mrs. C. B. Magruder, of Army and Navy, was awarded eleventh prize with 96-14-82.

Mrs. Heiss Twelfth

Mrs. G. K. Heiss, with 109-26-83, garnered twelfth place, and thirteenth place went to Mrs. E. P. Moore, with 92-9-83, to give the service club another two places. Mrs. Theodore Peyser, of Woodmont, took fourteenth prize with 96-12-84, and next came Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, another service club player, with 95-11-84. Other winners were Mrs. R. F. Nicholson, Washington, 105-20-85; Mrs. Ingman Harr, Washington, 109-24-85; Mrs. Fred Evans, Kenwood, 95-9-86; Mrs. Edgar Puryear, Manor, 113-17-86, and Mrs. R. A. Lacey, Columbia, 105-19-86.

Mrs. D. B. Fronheiser and Mrs. Henry Pratt, both of Manor, finished with nets of 86, but lost out in the draw.

Mrs. Jani Wins C.B.S. Tourney

Congressional Player Has Low Net of 73

Mrs. J. M. Jani, of Congressional Country Club, captured the annual Columbia Broadcasting System golf tournament yesterday at Chevy Chase Club with a low net score of 73. The winner of the Women's District Golf Association-sponsored tournament posted a round of 94 and was aided by a 21-stroke handicap.

Getting to the turn in 46 the new holder of the coveted trophy returned in 48 strokes to win all by herself. Nearest in pursuit was Mrs. N. F. Hollander, of Bannockburn, who finished with a gross of 101, a handicap of 19 strokes for a net of 82.

Low gross honors in the Class B tournament was Mrs. Milton Gladstein, of Woodmont Country Club, with a score of 100, which included nines of 50. Manor Club came in for some honors when Mrs. J. E. Randels finished with a gross of 110 and, aided by a 27-stroke deduction, posted an 83 to get the third low net prize.

Mrs. F. L. Williams, of Argyle, with 104-20-84, and Mrs. I. Harr, of Washington, with 107-23-84, deadlocked for fourth, but the Argyle player won out in the draw. Next came Mrs. J. P. Brantley with 110-25-85 to get sixth place via the draw from Mrs. Earle Clary, of Indian Spring, who finished with 106-21-85.

Mrs. George Jani, With Net 73, Takes N. B. C. Golf Tourney

Feminine golf tests are over for August, but before they closed the book on the month's events the women handed the top prize in the Columbia Broadcasting System tourney to a competitor who hasn't often been in the winning list.

Winner of the C. B. S. Cup, presented to her by no less a personage than tall, handsome A. D. Willard, manager of Station WJSV, was Mrs. George M. Jani of Congressional. Mrs. Jani played the Chevy Chase course in 94, her all-time best score, to collect the C. B. S. Trophy with a net of 73. She was aided by a handicap of 21 strokes. The tourney was a class B affair. Just as happy as the victor was Mrs. Jarrett White of Chevy Chase, who played in her first golf tourney and won a prize.

Other winners were:

Posts a 94 To Capture First Prize

Marks First Time
She Has Beat 100;
Mrs. Hollander Is Second-Place Victor

Mrs. George M. Jani, who had never before broken the 100 mark in her golfing career, picked the District's hardest test for golf—Chevy Chase—to do it, and won the C. B. S. Cup play yesterday by a nine-stroke margin.

The Congressional Club player, who takes lessons from Warner Gray, took six strokes off the century mark with nines of 46 and 48 for a 94 and minus a 21-stroke handicap allotment won the trophy with shots to spare.

Mrs. Jani was the only player in the Class B starting field of 78 players to break 100, with gross honors thus going to Mrs. Milton Kladstein, Woodmont, with a pair of 50's for an even 100 score.

New Champion Thrilled

The new champion was so thrilled over her debut into the 90s that she could not even add her score when she finished the round. She was afraid it wasn't true. Her 94 included five three-putt greens but she more than made up for it with eight one-putters. Mrs. Jani's woods, however, were her best shots and accounted for her low score.

Second low net winner in the second annual tournament was Mrs. N. F. Hollander, Bannockburn, with the third lowest round of the day, 101, minus 19 handicap strokes for a net 82. The players were fortunate in finishing just before the afternoon storm which drove the presentation of prizes into the clubhouse.

The first eight prize winners represented as many different clubs, an extremely unusual occurrence for the women's tournaments. In third place was Mrs. J. E. Randels, Manor, with 110-27, 83, while Mrs. F. C. Williams, Argyle, with 104-20, 84, won fourth low net over Mrs. Ingman Harr, Washington, a former Washington Post Cup Class B champion, by the matching cards method. Mrs. Harr had 107-23, 84.

Mrs. Brantley Wins

Mrs. J. P. Brantley, Kenwood, also won by matching cards over Mrs. Earl Clary, Indian Spring, for sixth low net. They had respective scores of 110-25, 85, and 106-21, 85. Mrs. Frank Mirth, the Duffer's Cup champion from Indian Spring, was next with 106-20, 86.

Mrs. Jarrett White, the only player entered from the host club, was playing in her first tournament and just made the prize list with a score of 112-25, 87, despite a "horrible" 10 on the sixteenth. Mrs. Charles Chauncey, Kenwood, lost out in the draw with a 107-20, 87 total.

Mrs. Jani's winning card:

Out 547 455 574—46

Worsham, Hottest District Golf Pro of Year, Adds More Coin With Woman as Partner

All golf courses seem to be alike to young Lew Worsham, jr., the Burning Tree professional. Fresh from a good showing in the rich Hershey, Pa., open, Lew took down most of the marbles in the woman-pro tourney at Congressional yesterday, winning the pro sweepstakes affair with a booming four-under-par 68, and with Mrs. F. J. Godfrey as partner, winning the woman-pro tourney.

Mrs. Godfrey, who holds the Congressional Country Club title, furnished a 92-9-83 to add to Lew's 68 for a winning net total of 151, good enough to lead by two strokes.

The Worsham youngster, only a few years out of the caddy ranks, unquestionably is the pro golfer of the year around Washington. He has taken over the spot occupied by Al Houghton, who last year spread-eagled the pros in a series of victories near and far which netted him more than $1,500. Lew hasn't won that much—yet—but he may. So far he has won three or four pro-amateur affairs, the woman-pro, the Baltimore Open championship, has qualified for the National Open, and was the top local pro at Hershey, with 294. The boy is good, and he will get better. For one thing, nowadays he is knocking those tee shots so far he converts the ordinary drive and iron hole into a drive and short-pitch affair.

He blew a 4-foot putt on the final green at Congressional yesterday. Of course no golfer makes 'em all, but had Worsham holed that one his score would have been 67, only two shots above the official record for the course, set in May, 1939, by Sam Snead. As it was, however, the 68 earned Lew a nice chunk of folding money.

Two Pairs Tie for Second.

Tied for second in the woman-pro affairs were Cliff Spencer, who finished second in the pro sweepstakes with 72, and Mrs. W. Marion Falls of Columbia and Wiffy Cox and Mrs. A. C. Minnix of Columbia. Mrs. Falls contributed a 94-13-81 to Spencer's 72 for a net total of 153, while Mrs. Minnix added a 93-14-79 to Wiffy's 74 for their net of 153. George Duffenbaugh and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, the Kenwood pair, were fourth, with Duffenbaugh shooting a 73, and Mrs. Thomas scoring 92-11-81 for a total of 154. Among the women Mrs. Betty Meckley had the best score, an 83, with Mrs. T. O. Brandon of Columbia second at 84. Other leading scores were:

Al Houghton, Beaver Dam (73), and Mrs. J. F. Gross, Columbia, 92-10-83-155; Al Treder, Manor (73), and Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Columbia, 83-4-80-155; Wiffy Cox, Congressional (74), and Mrs. Betty Meckley, Kenwood, 83-3-81-155; Cliff Spencer, East Potomac (73), and Mrs. M. K. Barroll, Army Navy, 90-7-83-155.

Worsham and Mrs. Godfrey Golf Victors

Post Net 151 to Win Lady-Pro Tourney

By MAURY FITZGERALD
Times-Herald Staff Writer

Lewis Worsham, tousle-haired Burning Tree professional, and Mrs. J. F. Godfrey of Congressional, collaborated in posting a net score of 151 yesterday at Congressional Country Club to win the Lady-Pro tournament held jointly under auspices of the Women's District Golf Association and the Middle Atlantic P.G.A.

The 23-year-old kid, who is only a few years out of the caddy ranks, chiseled four strokes off Congressional's par with a great round of 68 while Mrs. Godfrey reeled off a 92 which was lowered even further by a nine stroke handicap. Not only did Worsham's brilliant 68 register the telling blow in the Lady-Pro but was also low among the professionals to earn still another chunk of the prize.

The powerful built lantern-jawed youngster knocked two strokes off the outgoing nines par with a 35 and then toured the back nine in 33 to be four under for the journey. And to make his performance even greater, Worsham missed a four-footer on the very first hole and then after having three-putted the twelfth green from 20 feet, missed one on the last hole that was not the length of his putter.

Six birdies made their way into his fine card and only one bogey

LEW WORSHAM

—and that came at the twelfth where his bold effort to get a birdie cost him his only three-putt green. Mrs. Godfrey, in her round, was to the turn in 45 and back in 47.

Second money among the professionals was taken by Spencer's 72, while third money was divided between Diffenbaugh and Al Houghton of Beaver Dam. The cards of the winners and par for the course is as follows:

Looking Over Card That Won Tourney

Worsham and Mrs. Godfrey Golf Winners

Lewis Worsham, Jr., may not have made the grade at Hershey but he came back here to win another one-day tournament yesterday, pairing with Mrs. J. F. Godfrey to take the Lady-Pro affair at Congressional Country Club. Play was three partners, combined score.

Worsham missed a little putt on the eighteenth green and still played the long par 72 course in 68 shots, four better than regulation figures for the only sub-par score of the day among the 12 professionals.

Worsham's 68 and Mrs. Godfrey's 92—9, 83, gave the team a 151 total, low for the day by two shots.

Two duos tied for second, Host Pro Wiffy Cox, with a good tee-to-green round but no putting for a 74 and Mrs. A. C. Minnix, Columbia, with 93-14, 79, 153. Cliff Spencer, East Potomac pro, and Mrs. W. Marion Falls, Columbia, were included in the tie, Spencer with par 72 and Mrs. Falls, 94-13, 81 for a net 153.

The Kenwood combination of George Diffenbaugh and Mrs. Woodlief Thomas made the prize list with a 154 total, Diffenbaugh with 73 and Mrs. Thomas, 92-11, 81, for 154.

Spencer, who was even par at the twelfth hole and finished with three birdies for his 72, took second money in the pro sweepstakes. George Diffenbaugh, out in 39 and back in 34 despite a quartet of three-putt greens had 73 to tie Al Houghton, who was 3 under par playing the ninth hole, for third.

Worsham's round included five birdies as he dropped several 15-foot putts but he also missed a short one on the first hole and three-putted the twelfth green. It was Lew's third victory in the last four pro-partner tournaments.

Roberts T. Barnett (Chevy Chase), 74; Barnett and Mrs. Leo Walper (Indian Springs), 95-5-83-157; Barnett and Mrs. Fred Evans (Kenwood), 92-9-85-157; Barnett and Mrs. J. W. Jaso (Kenwood), 103-15-88-162.

Mrs. J. C. Dale Wins Corby Cup With 77 As Kenwood Golfers Monopolize Tourney

By MAURY FITZGERALD

Times-Herald Staff Writer

Kenwood Golf and Country Club's golfers completely monopolized the fourteenth annual playing of the Corby Cup tournament yesterday at Columbia Country Club where Mrs. J. C. Dale posted a net score of 77 to win the coveted trophy.

While the Kenwood player was registering nines of 45 and 43, four of her clubmates also were grabbing off prize places in the tournament played each year on the birthday of former president of the Women's District Golf Association Mrs. W. S. Corby. Mrs. Dale's gross of 88 and her handicap allowance of 11 strokes were good enough to give her a five-stroke advantage over the field.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, the Maryland State champion, carried off low gross honors in the tournament with an 83. Kenwood Club's ace player was out in 41 and back in 42 to win her eighth low gross prize of the year in local tournaments.

To continue the Kenwood parade of winners, Mrs. Woodlief Thomas finished in second low-net position with a score of 81. Mrs.

Thomas, getting to the turn in 45 and returning in 48 for a 93, was aided by a handicap reduction of 11 strokes.

Mrs. J. Franklin Gross, of the host club, halted momentarily the Kenwood monopoly, but that was accomplished only by a draw. Mrs. Gross, finishing with a net of 83, deadlocked with three other players at that score, but won out in the draw. The Columbia representative was out in 46 and back in 47 for a gross of 93.

Mrs. A. A. McEntee, another Kenwood golfer, was drawn into fourth position. She posted a score of 45-48-93-10-83 to earn her place in the four-way tie.

Washington Golf and Country Club came in for a share of the glory when Mrs. Charles Lynch's 47-49-93-10-83 earned her fifth place. Last to be drawn in the foursome at 83 was Mrs. Richard Butler, of Kenwood, who posted a score of 49-50-99-16-83.

Two players—Mrs. Leo Butler, of Manor, and Mrs. W. L. Weible, of Kenwood—finished in a tie for the last remaining prize, and the Manor Club golfer won on the draw. Mrs. Weible, president of the Women's District Golf Association, finished with 49-52-101-17-84, while Mrs. Butler posted a score of 48-51-99-15-84.

Just one stroke out of the prize-winning circle came Eleanor Finckel, of the host club, at 48-52-100-15-85.

Mrs. Dale's and Mrs. Meckley's cards follow:

Bags Net 77 For Victory At Columbia

Mrs. Betty Meckley Is Runner-up With Net 81, but Wins Gross With an 83

The girls from Kenwood, who've been collecting most of the silver in the District Women's Golf Association tournament this season, were on top again yesterday as Mrs. J. C. Dale won the Corby Cup at Columbia with an 88-11-77.

Only two players out of the 74 starters were able to break 90. Mrs. Dale and clubmate, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, who continued her uninterrupted string of low gross victories with an 83.

The closest thing to Mrs. Dale's winning net 77 was a net 81 by Mrs. Meckley but as she chose the gross prize, second low net went to Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, also of Kenwood, with a 45-48, 93-11-82.

Mrs. Dale played consistent golf on the out nine to turn in 45 and coming back she posted a 43, including a four on the fourteenth hole, where the new champion took a putter from off the edge of the green and rolled the ball into the cup. She stayed away from any real trouble throughout the round and made only the one putt of any length.

Lowest by Five Strokes

Mrs. Meckley, who played the same course in 75 in the N. B. C. Tournament, had nines of 41 and 42 for 83 total, lowest of the day by five shots. The round included a quartet of three-putt greens, but otherwise fine golf from tee to green.

A four-way tie for third low net was broken by the matching-cards method and Mrs. J. F. Gross, the host club champion, won out with 46, 47-93-10-83. Kenwood took another prize, Mrs. A. A. McEntee at fourth low net with 45, 48-93-10-83. Mrs. Charles Lynch, Washington, won out for fifth low net with 47, 46-93-10-83, and Mrs. R. S. Butler, The Washington Post Cup champion from Kenwood, was sixth with 47, 46-93-10-83.

Complete Prize List

Mrs. Leo Butler, of Manor, completed the net prize list with 48, 51-99-15-84, as Mrs. W. L. Weible, president of the association, was drawn out with her total of 49, 42-101-17-84.

Only 33 cards were turned in by the starting field of more than twice that number. Mrs. T. F. Neblett's 90 was the third best score of the day, while Mrs. W. R. Stokes, the District champion, required 91 strokes. Two of the more prominent players, Mrs. Myron Davy and Mrs. L. G. Pray, were not on hand as they will compete in the Women's National starting Monday in Brookline, Mass. M. W. W.

Star

For years a Kenwood woman named Mrs. Judson C. Dale, long a feminine association executive, has threatened to win a tourney. She hadn't done so up to yesterday, but she did a fine job of it when she finally topped the barrier.

Mrs. Dale Corby Cup Victor

Mrs. Dale won the Corby Cup tourney at Columbia with a card of 88-11-77, leading by four shots. As usual Betty Meckley of Kenwood won the gross award with 83.

Second in the net tourney was Mrs. Woodlief Thomas of Kenwood with 93-11-82. Other leaders were:

81—Mrs. A. A. McEntee, Kenwood, 93-10-
82—Mrs. J. Franklin Gross, Columbia, 93-10-82
83—Mrs. R. S. Butler, Kenwood, 99-16-83
84—Mrs. W. L. Weible, Kenwood, 101-17-84
85—Mrs. W. M. Falls, Columbia, 98-13-85
86—Mrs. Kurtz Hanson, Chevy Chase, 87-12-86
87—Mrs. M. M. Maxwell, Army Navy, 98-13-87
88—Elinor Finckel, Columbia, 100-15-88

Women's Lowest Net Scores Of Year Feature Golf Here

Mrs. Franklin's 71 Takes Class A Honors; Mrs. Welch Cards 69 for First in Class B

The two lowest net-score rounds of the women's competitive golf season crowned Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, Washington, and Mrs. W. E. Welch, Bannockburn, as Times-Herald Class A and B cup winners, respectively, in the semiwindup event on the D. C. W. G. A. card yesterday. The low handicapped play was at Congressional and the Class B at Kenwood.

Mrs. Franklin, who only two months ago won low gross in the Duffer's and then graduated into Class A in time to finish well up in The Post Cup, surprised with the second lowest score of the day at Congressional, a 45, 40-85, to win easily with 85-14-71. It was the best round of her golfing career. Mrs. Franklin had six men's pars on the back nine.

Mrs. Welch trooped around Kenwood with nines of 49 and 53 for a 102 and deducted 33 handicap strokes for a net 69, at that low by only three strokes.

Low gross in the Class A play again went to Mrs. Betty Meckley, of Kenwood, who was in form with a 44, 39-83, to win over such performers as Mrs. Myron Davy, with an 86, Mrs. W. R. Stokes, an 88 and Mrs. L. G. Pray, 89.

Class B gross scores were led by the 92 of Mrs. E. L. Williams, of Argyle, who was four strokes better than Mrs. G. M. Jani, the C. B. S. Cup winner from Congressional, with 96.

Other prize winners in class A were: Mrs. Wilda Martin, Washington, 87-19-77; Mrs. C. L. Vail, Kenwood, 96-14-82; Mrs. Don Hess, Argyle, 99-17-82; Mrs. Kurtz Hanson, Chevy Chase, 94-12-82; Mrs. Fred Evans, Kenwood, 92-9-83; Mrs. Woodlief Thomas, Kenwood, 93-10-83; Mrs. Norman Frost, Columbia, 96-13-83, and Mrs. H. J. Simons, Manor, 95-11-84, who won out in a five-way tie for the last net prize.

Second low net in class B went to Mrs. John Barron, Kenwood, with 100-23-82, followed by Mrs. W. E. Barkdull, Columbia, 103-23-84; Mrs. Jani, 96-19-77; Mrs. E. Ricem, Washington, 101-22-79; Mrs. H. H. Goodman, Washington, 103-24-79; Dr. Elizabeth Chickering, Kenwood, 99-19-80; Mrs. E. Duffies, Kenwood, 101-21-80; Mrs. Frank Mirth, Indian Spring, 99-19-80; Mrs. Allen Laing, Bannockburn, 104-24-80, and Mrs. C. A. Olmstead, Washington, 111-31-80.

Mesdames Franklin-Welch Victors.

Two new candidates for feminine links laurels emerged today as the women golfers of the Capital wound up their Women's District Golf Association open tourneys. Four feminine golfers—Mrs. Lafayette Franklin, of Washington; Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of Kenwood; Mrs. W. E. Welsh, of Bannockburn, and Mrs. F. L. Williams, of Argyle—carried off top honors in the annual Times-Herald Cup Tournament yesterday at Kenwood and Congressional Country clubs. Mrs. Franklin, the most improved golfer around Washington, posted a fine round of 85 and, aided by a handicap allowance of 14 strokes, won low net honors in Class A at Congressional with shots to spare. The Washington Golf and Country Club player was out in 45 and back in 45 and her net score of 71 was six shots ahead of her nearest competitor.

Mrs. Meckley Takes Low Gross

Low gross honors in the Class A event for low handicappers was taken by Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, the Maryland State champion from Kenwood. Starting off with a bad seven on the very first hole, Mrs. Meckley reached the turn in 44, but then proceeded to play the back nine in 39 to barely nose out Mrs. Franklin for low gross honors.

Mrs. Welsh, in carrying the Class B trophy back to Bannockburn Country Club, posted a gross round of 102 and, with her handicap of 33 strokes, posted a winning net of 69. It was the first time the Bannockburn player has ever won a tournament and was out in 49 and back in 53 in turning the trick.

Low gross in Class B was taken by Mrs. Williams, who played the outgoing nine in 49 and then returned in 43. The Argyle player also finished in a tie for second low net at 72, but elected to accept the low gross which was one of the four major prizes.

Lower Scores at Kenwood

The prize-winning scores at Kenwood were much lower than those at Congressional. One score of 74 received an award in the Class A event at Congressional, while four 80's in Class B got into the winning circle at Kenwood.

Times-Herald Staff Writer

The Maryland State Golf Association closed its feminine schedule yesterday at Kenwood Golf and Country Club with a field day event, and after the grand finale, Mrs. Arnold McNitt, of Congressional, and Mrs. H. C. Fisher, of Columbia, had walked off with the main awards.

Mrs. McNitt captured low net honors among the Class A players with a net score of 71, while Mrs. Fisher was turning in a net of 68 to top the Class B field. The Congressional player posted a fine round of 43-42-85 and was aided by a handicap allowance of 14 strokes, while the Columbia representative finished with a score of 46-49-95 and was allowed a 27-stroke handicap.

Low Gross to Mrs. Meckley

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood's Maryland State titlist, and Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Manor, tied for low gross honors, in Class A, while Mrs. Frank Mirth, of Indian Spring, who earlier in the year won the Duffers Championship, posted a 94 to win the gross award among the higher handicap players. Mrs. Meckley's 40-42-82 took down the low gross after Mrs. Pray, who had 39-43-82, decided to accept the sixth low net award with her net 78.

Eleven low net awards were made in both divisions and one low gross prize in each class. Mrs. A. A. McEntee, of the host club, who appeared the winner until Mrs. McNitt, a late starter, showed up to displace her, finished with an 83-10-73 to take second low net in the upper class.

Second low net in class B was taken by Mrs. H. D. Wolf, of the Country Club of Maryland, whose score of 107-30-77 won out in the draw over Mrs. Charles Price, of Bonnie View Club, who had 102-25-77. Mrs. Richard Krueberg, of Kenwood, with 83-7-76, and Mrs. J. Franklin Gross, of Columbia, with 86-10-76, deadlocked for third low net in class A but the Columbia Country Club player won out in the draw.

Miss Nuttman Wins Draw

Miss Betty Nuttman, of Kenwood, 98-19-79; Dr. Elizabeth Chickering, of Kenwood, 98-19-79, and Mrs. Paul Lion, of Kenwood, 97-26-79, deadlocked for fourth place and were drawn for places in the above order. Golf Swings Into Last Big Week

Golf swings into its last big week of the season this morning at Congressional Country Club when the feminine players of Washington and Baltimore meet in their annual inter-city match.

Also on today's card is the annual Pro-Sports Writers tournament at Kenwood. Then tomorrow at Kenwood the Women's District Golf Association President's Plate tournament is on tap.

The big event of the week is the Middle Atlantic P.G.A. championship, to be played Thursday at the Country Club of Virginia James River course. Bobby Cruickshank, Middle Atlantic P.G.A. vice president for the Virginia district, wired Secretary Treasurer Gene Larkin last night that the James River course was ready for play.

Mrs. Myron Davy, captain of the Women's District Golf Association team, announced her team last night and revealed Washington has a much stronger team than the weakened Oriole City aggregation. Mrs. Davy, recently crowned Middle Atlantic champion, plays with Maryland State Champion Mrs. Betty P. Meckley against the Baltimore first team of Mrs. M. L. Bell and Mrs. T. E. Schluderberg in the feature match.

Mrs. W. R. Stokes and Mrs. L. G. Pray make up Washington's second team, Mrs. T. F. Nebblett and Mrs. T. O. Brandon the third, Mrs. Leo Walper and Mrs. M. K. Barroll the fourth, Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith and Mrs. Wilda Martin the fifth, and Mrs. E. P. Moore and Mrs. Fred W. Evans the sixth. Baltimore's team will be composed of Mrs. M. L. Bell, Mrs. T. C. Schluderberg, Mrs. Maurice Glick, Jeanette Myers, Mrs. E. B. Mower, Mrs. H. C. Trace, Effie Bowes, Mrs. R. Holman, Gladys Greiner, Mrs. Alexander Gordon 3d, Mrs. W. L. Evans, and Mrs. W. R. Jackson.

Women's Golf Match Again Is Postponed

For the second time in as many days the Women's District Golf Association yesterday announced a change in the dates of the annual inter-city team match with Baltimore. Reset for October 13 the match has now been shifted to the following day because October 14 is Columbus Day and a legal holiday in Maryland.

D. C. Linkswomen Finish Battle With Baltimore Next Week

Final team tournament of the season for the feminine golfers comes up at Congressional next week when an all-star team from Washington clashes with the best from Baltimore in the second of a two-match series. There isn't any reason to suspect that Baltimore women will reverse the 14-4 licking handed them by the Washington women last May at Baltimore.

Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia heads the local outfit. She has not yet announced the line-up of the Washington team. Playing in the match last May were the following: Mrs. Davy, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Mrs. Leo Walper, Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. L. G. Pray, Mrs. T. O. Brandon, Mrs. L. B. Platt, Mrs. K. S. Giles, Mrs. J. W. Godfrey, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Mrs. F. W. Evans and the Baroness de Gruben.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Kenwood star, was not available for the match in May, but will be for this one and undoubtedly will be on the team.

Present and past officers of the Women's District Golf Association will gather next Tuesday at Kenwood to play in the President's Plate tourney, an annual feature of the association year. The event is open to past presidents, officers, executive committee members and holders of presidential appointments. Entries will close Saturday, October 11, with Mrs. P. W. Rutledge, tournament chairman, at Chestnut 8431.

Betty Meckley Stars In Capital Women's Handicap Golf

Kenwood Player Is Only
One to Take Two Such Events This Year

Betty Meckley, Kenwood star, was the only linkswoman to win more than one handicap tournament on the regular schedule of the Women's District Golf Association this year. The women wound up their tourneys yesterday with a "bonus" affair at Congressional.

Mrs. Meckley, a veteran of the links wars around the Capital, won The Evening Star Trophy at Washington in May with a card of 77-4-73, and tied a women's course record at Columbia in winning the National Broadcasting Co. Trophy in August, scoring 75-3-72. She also won many gross prizes in the one-day affairs staged by the feminine golf association, which held 10 cup tourneys and the District championship and the Keeler Cup affair, held this year by the women of the Washington Golf and Country Club outside the regular association schedule.

Here is the way the tournaments of the women have been won this year:

Keeler Trophy, Mrs. Meckley; Keeler Cup, Mrs. Leo Walper, Indian Spring; Star Cup, Class A, Mrs. Meckley; Class B, Mrs. F. H. Kramer, Manor; Duffess' Cup, Mrs. Frank Mirih, Indian Spring; Post Cup, Class A, Mrs. B. E. Butler, Kenwood; Class B, Mrs. H. B. Goodman, Washington; National Broadcasting Co. Cup, Mrs. Meckley, Kenwood; Columbia Broadcasting System Cup, Mrs. George M. Jani, Congressional; Corby Cup, Mrs. J. C. Delle, Kenwood; Times-Herald Cup, Class A, Mrs. L. Franklin, Jr., Washington; Class B, Mrs. C. E. Welch, Sannockburn; President's Plate, Mrs. W. M. Baker, Manor, and Mrs. W. P. Patterson, Indian Spring, tied.

District women's championship, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, Manor, defeated Mrs. Betty Meckley, Kenwood, 2 up.

Two major outside tourneys went to Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, who did not play in all the District association-sponsored affairs. Mrs. Davy won the Maryland State Golf Association medal play tourney and the Middle Atlantic championship, winding up the season with a winning streak.

Within a few days a complete slate of officers of the feminine association for 1942 will be made public.

Second Term Looms For Mrs. Weible As Golf Leader

W. D. G. A. to Nominate Slate Tuesday; Bonus Tourney Planned

Feminine golfers will get together Tuesday afternoon at Kenwood, following the President's plate tournament, to choose a nominating committee, which in turn will select the 1942 slate of officers for the Women's District Golf Association.

Monday a Washington feminine team will meet a Baltimore team at Congressional in a re-match of the intercity feud and Tuesday present and past officers of the feminine association will gather at Kenwood for their annual closed tournament.

So successful have the women's events been this year in point of money paid in entry fees that the gals now are talking about a "bonus" tournament to spend in prizes the extra money taken in. Sales of budget books and entry fees have reached a new high this year. The "bonus" tourney is not certain, but may be held, according to Mrs. Walter L. Weible, president of the association.

Mrs. Weible probably will be re-nominated for a second term as president of the association, although the choice will rest with the nominating committee, which must make its report by early November. If the custom of other years is followed the president will serve two terms.

Star Nov. 4, 1941

Out of a general meeting of chairmen of feminine golf committees of the 13 member clubs of the District Women's Golf Association tomorrow may come a slate of officers for the 1942 season of the association. Mrs. Theodore Peyser, chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1942 officers, has called a meeting of committee chairmen at her home tomorrow. She hopes the delegates will agree on a slate before they break up their meeting.

The committee forms the Executive Committee of the women's association, which has worked through the year with the officers of the organization. Present officers are: President, Mrs. Walter L. Weible; first vice president, Mrs. F. H. Kramer; second vice president, Mrs. F. D. Lettis; secretary, Mrs. H. J. Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. P. J. Winkler; and handicap chairmen, Mrs. H. J. Beech and Mrs. E. A. Swingle. "Bonus" Affair Ends Competition.

Final tournament of the year for the feminine players has gone into the record books with the most generous prize distribution of any affair of the year. The "bonus" tourney to spend money over expenses was held at Congressional yesterday, where many high handicapped golfers came into the prize list. There was no distribution of gross prizes, although the scoring was not too good. Mrs. Betty P. Meckley and Mrs. Leo Walper had the top scores with 88s.

Mid-Atlantic Golf Title

Mrs. Davy Beats Mrs. Meckley

District Woman Wins, 1 Up, in Baltimore

Winner Comes From Behind for Victory; Rain Hinders Match

By the Associated Press

Baltimore, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Myron Davy, of Washington, overcame the double hazards of rain and wind today to win the Middle Atlantic Golf Association's women's tournament for the Charles E. McPhail Memorial Trophy at Five Farms.

It was the first major match play championship for Mrs. Davy, who outlasted her fellow Washingtonian, Mrs. Betty Meckley, the Maryland State champion and twice winner of the Middle Atlantic event.

Shooting steady golf, Mrs. Davy came from behind to emerge the victor, 1 up, in an 18-hole match that began in a soaking rain and ended in a high wind.

Mrs. Davy won the very first hole and also the fifth, but her opponent took the second, fourth and sixth and rounded the turn with a 1-up advantage.

Concedes Hole

Disaster very nearly overtook Mrs. Meckley on the twelfth, where she hit into a trap and had to concede the hole to even the match. She went ahead again, however, on the thirteenth, by sinking a 10-foot putt for a 3 to Mrs. Davy's 4.

Mrs. Davy evened it again on the fourteenth with a par 5 to Mrs. Meckley's 6. They halved the fifteenth with 6s but on the next hole Mrs. Davy fired a birdie 4 to Mrs. Meckley's 5 to take a 1-up advantage which she held as they halved the last two holes.

In the second flight finals Mrs. M. Manning Parsons, jr., of Elkridge, defeated Mrs. J. W. Latham, of Baltimore, 3 and 2. Mrs. L. G. Pray, of Washington, the tournament medalist, defeated Mrs. Richard R. Jackson, of Elkridge, 3 and 2, in the first flight consolations.

MRS. MYRON DAVY

Mrs. Davy Has a 76

Mrs. Myron Davy, the Middle Atlantic and State medal play champion, played one of her finest rounds of the year yesterday at Kenwood, a 76. Mrs. Davy played the out 9 in 36 strokes, one over men's par, and was back in 40 for the 76. Mrs. W. L. Weible and Mrs. J. W. Godfrey were her playing partners.

Short Shots—Mrs. Walter Barkdull's scrapbook on the Women's District Golf Association activities for the year is a marvelous job. It carries clippings from every paper and every tournament and is very colorfully arranged. She showed it at the recent Women's District Golf Association annual luncheon-meeting and it brought heap of compliments. . . Mrs. Helen Hicks Harb, the former amateur champion and now a professional, was there—as were a lot of funny looking hats. . . An-
