

DEDICATION

This 1978 Year Book is most lovingly dedicated to Ann Heuer (Mrs. Scott Jr.), outgoing President of The Women's District of Columbia Golf Association, and to the staff who served with her in 1977 and 1978. Ann has devoted ten (10) years of service to our outstanding organization as an officer. She has been supremely efficient and successful in all five positions in which she has served.

Treasurer	with Ruth Emmerich	(Brooke Manor)	as President
Secretary	with Anne Schattman	(Indian Spring)	as President
Second Vice President	with Lynn Hoddinott	(Bethesda)	as President
First Vice President	with Sallie Norman	(River Bend)	as President
PRESIDENT	with Ann Heuer	(Congressional)	as PRESIDENT

Ann is a member of Congressional Country Club. The WDGA thanks Congressional for the hospitality extended to The WDGA during Ann's tenure as President especially and for all of the years prior thereto when Congressional has hosted WDGA tournaments. The WDGA Championship was held at Congressional in 1978 and a fine tournament it was.

Without Ann's devotion, persistence and expert lensmanship, this book would be infinitely less well pictorially illustrated.

Gratefully and nostalgically yours,

Sallie Bell Norman, Year Book Editor

November, 1978

Army Navy Is Off To a Strong Start

Army Navy Country Club, seeking its 10th straight championship in the first division of the Women's District Golf Association team matches, opened defense of the title with an impressive 7½-1½ victory over Manor CC yesterday at Congressional.

In two other first-division matches at Congressional, Columbia edged Argyle, 5½-3½, and Bethesda and Westwood played to a 4½-4½ split.

Area Golf

Second-round matches in the top division will be played tomorrow at Manor.

IN ALL the last nine years that Army Navy Country Club has won the Women's District Golf Association team championship, it might never have lost two straight matches. It happened yesterday in the first-division competition at Argyle.

As Argyle had done last Thursday, Westwood laid a 5½-3½ defeat on Army Navy and dropped it out of first place in the standings.

Columbia moved into first with 15½ points, following a 5½-3½ defeat of Congressional, while Westwood pulled into a tie with Army Navy for second place with 14½ points each.

Bethesda, which edged Manor, 5-4, took fourth with 11½ points, followed by Congressional with 10½, Argyle with 9 and Manor with 5½. Summaries:

Sixth division at Springfield — Lakewood 7, Columbia 2; Washington G&CC 7½, Brooke Manor 1½; Montgomery Village 8, Rossmoor 1.

Argyle's Women Surprise

Trish Horan, a young power-hitter, teamed with Cloey Hardesty to win 2½ of a possible three points from Army Navy's two lowest-handicap players yesterday and help Argyle Country Club to a 5½-3½ upset of the defending champions in the Women's District Golf Association team matches at Manor CC.

Hardesty and Horan won the front nine and 18-hole point and halved the back nine with Army Navy's Nancy Hollenbeck and Fran Schultz.

However, Army Navy retained its position at the top of the point standings after two rounds of matches in the first division, totaling 11 points.

Columbia, which split with Westwood, 4½-4½, yesterday, is in second place with 10 points, followed by Argyle and Westwood with 9 each, Congressional with 7, Bethesda with 6½ and Manor with 1½.

Congressional defeated Bethesda,

7-2, in the other first-division match at Manor yesterday. Summaries:

Club Matches Lead Knotted

Although suffering defeat in a surprising third straight match yesterday, Army Navy Country Club gained a first-place tie after four rounds of the Women's District Golf Association's first-division team matches.

Columbia CC, the leader after Tuesday's round, was a 6½-2½ victim of last place Manor in the first-division matches yesterday at Westwood.

Area Golf

This helped defending champion Army Navy, a 5½-3½ loser to Congressional, to pull into a tie with Columbia atop the standings with 18 points.

Bethesda is only a point behind after a 5½-3½ victory over Argyle, and only six points separate first and last place, with three rounds remaining. Congressional is fourth with 16 points, Westwood next at 14½, then Argyle 12½ and Manor 12.

The fifth round will be Tuesday at Army Navy, where the host team will be idle and certain to fall from first position. Summaries yesterday:

THE HARD RAIN yesterday forced postponement of the Montgomery General Hospital Celebrity tournament at Manor CC and half of the six divisions in the Women's District Golf Association team matches.

The field of 124 starters at Manor completed only five holes in the shotgun start and will try again next Thursday.

The WDGA first division will resume May 16 at the point of interruption at Bethesda CC. The fourth division also was postponed to May 16 and the sixth division to May 11. Results of divisions which played:

Second division at Montgomery Village — CC of Fairfax 5, Prince George's 4; Brooke Manor 5, Washingtonian 4; Kenwood 5, Army Navy 4.

Third division at Indian Spring — Springfield 6½, Belle Haven 2½; Bethesda 7½, Lakewood 1½; Argyle vs. Tantallon, incomplete.

Fifth division at Kenwood — Congressional 8½, Bethesda ½; International 5½, Manor 3½; CC of Fairfax 5½, Argyle 3½.

Army Navy Victory

At the end of very likely the tightest race in the history of the Women's District Golf Association first-division team championship, it was only fitting that the 18-hole playoff between Army Navy and Congressional country clubs wound up tied and required extra holes.

The two teams were tied at the end of seven rounds last week and returned to Bethesda CC yesterday for the playoff, which again produced a tie at 4½ points each.

However, the playoff required only one extra hole as Army Navy won its 10th straight title, and 14th in 15 years, when Fran Schultz scored a point with a conceded par-4 in the first foursome and Marian Whorton also parred in the next foursome to win the second and clinching point.

Hollenbeck, Looney Lead

By Ben Gieser

Two Army Navy clubmates, Nancy Hollenbeck and Betty Looney, coped with gusty winds and fast greens in carding net 72s to share the first-round lead in the Women's District Golf Association Class A Keefer Cup yesterday at Chevy Chase Club.

Hollenbeck, who won the Keefer in 1975, had the lowest gross round of the day, 79, and subtracted her seven handicap for her one-over-women's-par score. Looney, two time WDGA champion, had 83-11-72.

"It's just a tough old course," said Looney of the Chevy Chase layout, made more difficult because of the wind and because the lush rye-grass fairways, seeded in the offseason, allowed tee shots little roll. "The fairways were very heavy."

Looney said she hit the ball solidly but her putting was only so-so. She needed 36 putts.

Looney double-bogeyed the 390-yard, par-four finishing hole when she "chili-dipped" a chip shot and three-putted after hitting two fine shots to be close to the final green.

Hollenbeck was pleased with her work around the greens as she one-putted six times for 31 putts. She three-putted the par-three ninth hole.

Marian Lewis of Woodmont (89-14-75) and WDGA President Ann Heuer of Congressional (86-11-75) shared second place, followed at net 76 by Barbara Leonard of Westwood, four-time champ Rebecca Doman of Argyle, Diane Rankin of Montgomery Village and Tina Marlowe of Argyle.

Marlowe's mother, Rosemary, was one of five cancellations in the field, which dropped to 56. She locked her keys in her car and was unable to get her golf bag from the trunk.

She Keeney, last year's champion, took her many WDGA trophies and moved to Orlando, Fla., where she is now a teaching professional.

Keefer Cup Following Format

Army Navy Country Club, which has produced three of the last four winners of the Keefer Cup, is in an ideal position today to continue its dominance in this ancient 36-hole tournament of the Women's District Golf Association.

Yesterday's first round at Chevy Chase Club found only one of the 56 starters able to break 80, and two contestants were tied at net 72 with a three-stroke lead. Both are from Army Navy:

Area Golf

Nancy Hollenbeck, the 1975 winner who scored 79 with her 7-handicap, and Betty Looney, a two-time WDGA champion who deducted 11 handicap strokes from her 83 score.

They have a three-shot advantage on Ann Heuer of Congressional and Marion Lewis of Woodmont, with four others bunched at 76. Heuer shot 86-11-75 and Lewis 89-14-75. No one above net 76 seemed in contention.

The cut to the low 32 and ties was made at net 83, with 35 players surviving for today's final round. Carol Davies would have been in contention, were it not for four penalty strokes because she had an extra club in her bag for two holes. Davies shot 82 with her 6-handicap, but had to take an 86 with the penalties.

Both of the co-leaders had much difficulty finishing yesterday. Looney was eight over par on the last seven holes, thanks largely to a pair of double bogeys and Hollenbeck bogeyed four straight holes starting at No. 14. Leading scores:

72 — Betty Looney, Army Navy, 83-11; Nancy Hollenbeck, Army Navy, 79-70.
75 — Ann Heuer, Congressional, 86-11; Marion Lewis, Woodmont, 89-14.
76 — Tina Marlowe, Woodmont, 82-6; Barbara Leonard, Washingtonian, 86-10; Diane Rankin, Montgomery Village, 81-5; Rebecca Doman, Argyle, 84-8.
78 — Juanita Varnell, Manor, 92-14.
79 — Betty Torray, Bethesda, 92-13; Dot Gates, Columbia, 93-14; Metty Tucker, Argyle, 93-14; Helen Konopa, Argyle, 92-13.

Looney Wins Keefer Cup

By Ben Gieser

Betty Looney of Army Navy survived a shaky start, then settled into a reliable pitch-and-putt game on the back nine and carded net 84-11-73 to win her first Women's District Golf Association Keefer Cup with a 36-hole net total of 145 yesterday at Chevy Chase Club.

Marian Lewis of Woodmont finished second at 147, followed by WDGA President Ann Heuer of Congressional at 150.

Nancy Hollenbeck, tied for the first-round lead with clubmate Looney at 72, skied to 86-7-79 and tied at 151 with Tina Marlowe of Argyle and Dot Gates of Columbia.

"I shanked by wedge shot on the first hole," said two-time WDGA champion Looney, "and I never shank. Everytime I picked up an iron after that, I was terrified."

Looney took a disconcerting double-bogey six on that par-four, 361-yard first hole and followed that with two bogeys. "I thought I had lost the tournament right there," she said.

Looney parred-holes eight and nine and finished the front nine in gross 44. She parred 10 and 11 and settled down for 40 on the back nine, finishing her round by holing a 25-foot par putt on the 18th green.

Marlowe, with 82-83, won low gross on a draw against Hollenbeck, 79-86 after both shot 36-hole totals of 165.

Carol Davis of Washingtonian, 86-83, outdrew four-time Keefer champion Rebecca Doman of Argyle for third after they finished at 169.

A Sloppy Start Fails to Deter Betty Looney

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

Having finished eight-over par on her last seven holes Wednesday, and having startled herself by tying for the lead with net 72, Betty Looney embarked on the final round of the Keefer Cup yesterday at Chevy Chase Club with hopes for improvement.

On the first hole yesterday she shanked a wedge shot and soon stood eight-over par for the first seven holes in that round. Then she really startled herself. She won.

"I had never shanked before in my life," said the two-time Women's District champion from Army Navy CC, recalling her 21 years in the game. "And from then on, every time I picked up an iron I was terrified."

Nancy Hollenbeck, Looney's Army Navy clubmate with whom she was tied after the first round, was having even more trouble, and was soon out of the hunt. But Looney's companion yesterday, Marion Lewis of Woodmont, pulled a stroke in front after nine holes.

Looney then closed with an imperfect 40 on the back side to score 84 for 167 total, minus 11 handicap strokes each day for a net 145. Lewis shot 43 on the back for 86 and 175, minus 28 strokes for 147 to lose by two.

Area Golf

"After nine holes, I was expecting Marion to win; I had no idea of winning," Looney said, after accepting the old silver cup for the first time.

Hollenbeck, who shot 79-86-165, not counting her 7-handicap, didn't even win low gross prize. Tina Marlowe of Woodmont outdrew her after scoring 82-83-165. Carol Davies of Washingtonian scored 86-83-169 and took third gross by outdrawing Becky Doman of Argyle, 84-85-169.

Tucker Makes Amends For Her Sloppy Start

The calendar said it was June 13 when the field teed off in the 61st Washington Star Cup tournament yesterday morning at Westwood Country Club, a fact that was challenged by the contestants in the Women's District Golf Association's Class A event who bucked the remnants of an early rain, gusty winds, and a chill temperature.

Melly Tucker of Argyle started with a double-bogey six, but that was before her putter warmed up. "I oneputted five in a row, none of them under five feet," she said after winning the oldest cup tournament on the WDGA schedule.

Area Golf

Tucker had a pair of 44s for an 88, deducted 14 handicap strokes, and with a net 74 finished in a tie with Sheila Kinsella of Montgomery Village, who had 41-44—85 and deducted an 11 handicap for a net 74. Tucker won the playoff with a five on the first extra hole when Kinsella missed a short putt.

It was Tucker's first victory in a WDGA event, although she teamed with Helen Konopa to win all but six points over the spring schedule playing for Argyle's first team.

Kinsella, an employee of the World Bank, barely fitted the tournament into her schedule. She leaves tomorrow on a business trip to Paris.

Amy Geithner, 18-year old upcoming sophomore at Wake Forest, won low gross by matching cards over Diane Rankin of Argyle. Geithner, from CC of Fairfax, had 43-39 and Rankin 40-42.

Geithner played No. 1 or 2 for the Wake Forest women's team and won the North Carolina Women's Inter-collegiate championship at Grandfather Mountain.

Geithner is among the crop of young players that will add some spice to the Women's District championship next week at Congressional. Rankin also is entered but may have to withdraw because of business.

Turning to Pro Golf or Nursing? This Time, There's No Debate

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

Alice Kelly was graduated from the Georgetown University School of Nursing this year, after qualifying last fall as the first girl ever to play on the Hoyas' golf team.

She won the Massachusetts State high school girls championship while growing up in Norwood, Mass., south of Boston. She will decide at the end of the year whether to seek a career in golf or nursing, but in the meantime she is working at Chevy Chase Club in the pro shop and has joined Montgomery Village Golf Club in order to gain entry to area tournaments.

She lost in the first round of the Women's District Golf Association championship last month at Congressional, and last week she reached the quarterfinals of the Maryland Women's Amateur at Woodmont.

Yesterday, Kelly played in her first WDGA cup event at Bethesda CC. She couldn't have picked a more ideal event, because the Carpenter-Williams Cup is the only WDGA cup tournament conducted without stroke allowances.

She had reason to question the venture immediately, because she started on the 10th hole and had to drop a 35-foot putt for a double-bogey 6.

Kelly also one-putted the next six greens, for five pars and a birdie, and, after three-putting twice for bogeys and encountering another double bogey, finished strongly with seven straight pars to complete a 39-38-77, five-over par at Bethesda.

Carol Davies of Washingtonian was the only other contestant in a huge field of 61 to break 80 on one of the area's more challenging courses for women. Davies won second gross prize with 78, while Kathy Thompson of Kenwood was third at 80.

Throughout Sally Voss' marvelous summer on area golf courses, she has had an overriding concern. She has been trying to find some way to plug her supervisor in the microbiology laboratory at the National Institutes of Health, who has excused Sally from her part-time job to compete on countless occasions.

"Please mention Nancy Murray, she's been so nice to me," Voss pleaded yesterday after winning the Women's District Golf Association's class A Cory Cup at Columbia Country Club.

Area Golf

For something special, OK. And Voss' performance yesterday was particularly special. Voss, this year's District and Maryland champion from Congressional, broke the women's course record with 37-32—69, five-under women's par at Columbia.

The only green Voss missed was on the second hole, where she dumped her second shot into the water and sank a 15-foot putt to rescue a bogey 5. From there she played almost flawlessly.

Voss won the old Corby Cup with a net score of 69-1—68 and was 10 strokes under the next best score, a 79 by Argyle's Trish Horan, who won low gross prize. Other gross awards went to Tina Marlowe of Woodmont, who shot 80; Alice Kelly of Montgomery Village, 82, and Fran Schultz, Army Navy, 83.

Columbia's Virginia Kreuzberg shot 84-12—73 for second net; Jody Evans of Chevy Chase, 86-14—72 for third, and Dot Gates of Columbia, 86-12—74 for third net.

Voss Captures Medal By 7 Shots in WDGA

Sally Voss played her home Congressional Country Club course in 73, one under women's par, and won the medal by seven shots in qualifying for the Women's District Golf Association championship yesterday.

Voss will play Beth Carpenter of Columbia, who shot 84, in this morning's opening match at 8:40. The match-play event concludes Friday.

Kathy Thompson, wife of new Kenwood pro Rod Thompson, and Diane Rankin, wife of Montgomery Village pro Howard Rankin, tied for second at 80 in the field of 140. Eighty women qualified for five flights.

Voss Is on Course for District Women's Title

By Merrell Whittlesey
Washington Star Staff Writer

In her last five rounds of competitive golf over the last six days, Sally Voss has scored 77-74-77-74-73. Anything approaching those scores over the next four days virtually will assure the 20-year old Stanford University student of the District Women's Championship.

Voss won the medal by seven strokes over her home Congressional Country Club course with a 73 yesterday, and nobody could remember the last time the medalist beat the field by that margin.

Match play begins today and while that is a different game, Voss has played more competitive golf this year than anybody in the field, will be playing her home course and probably is the best shotmaker in the championship, even without the other advantages.

Last week Voss finished seventh in the AIAW championship at Haines City, Fla., the women's equivalent of the Intercollegiate. Her final-round 77 included an outgoing 43 before she came back in 34.

She flew home Sunday night without her clubs, but they were delivered later. Earlier in the season, she won the San Francisco women's championship over a predominantly young field.

Diane Peden Rankin of Montgomery Village, a former junior star, and Kathy Thompson, wife of Kenwood pro Rod Thompson, were second to Voss with 80s.

The qualifying round produced some surprises. Lene Jordan, the 18-year old from Army-Navy who was one of the co-favorites, withdrew because of an injured shoulder. Argyle's Tina Marlowe missed with a 91.

FOR THE first time in many years, Army Navy's perennial team champions will not have a player in the championship flight. Nancy Hollenbeck, the former Virginia State champion, was one stroke too high with an 88.

Betty Looney, a former District champion had 93, and Fran Schultz became involved with the lip of a trap on the 18th hole and took a 10 that gave her 90 despite an outgoing 39.

The upper bracket appears loaded with Voss; Amy Geithner, the North Carolina women's intercollegiate champion; Alice Kelly, the newcomer who works in the Chevy Chase golf shop; Thompson and former champion Ritz Weitzen in the upper half.

Championship flight pairings:

Sally Voss, Congressional (73) vs. Beth Carpenter, Columbia (84); Amy Geithner, CC of Fairfax (81) vs. Alice Kelly, Montgomery Village (86); Kathy Thompson, Kenwood (80) vs. Pat Thurner, Congressional (86); Trish Horan, Argyle (83) vs. Rita Weitzen, Indian Spring (87).

Diane Rankin, Montgomery Village (80) vs. Rebecca Doman, Montgomery Village (84); Ruth Ann Verell, Belle Haven (81) vs. Melly Tucker, Argyle (87); Bernice Fedder, CC of Fairfax (81) vs. Kathryn Williams, Manor (86); Lisa Abood, Kenwood (83) vs. Donna Coulter, Tantalion (87).

The Women's District Golf Association championship will have a new look this week at Congressional Country Club with teen-agers and college girls expected to dominate the event.

A field of 140, the largest in years, will qualify for the championship and four other flights of 16 tomorrow. Match play runs Tuesday and continues through Friday's finals.

Sue Keeney, who was in the final four straight years and won the title three times, is a teaching pro in Florida and will not defend.

The favorite is Sally Voss, who won the San Francisco women's championship in the spring as a student at Stanford. She will be playing her home course.

Amy Geitner, the 18-year-old from the County Club of Fairfax who won the North Carolina women's collegiate title this spring while a student at Wake Forest, and Lene Jordan of Army Navy, eligible upon reaching her 18th birthday, are among the new faces in the championship.

The most recent champions entered are Betty Looney of Army Navy and Rebecca Doman of Montgomery Village. The field includes Nancy

Voss Pars Eliminate Carpenter

By Ben Gieser

Sally Voss, threatening to become the Nancy Lopez of the Women's District Golf Association set, was even par in eliminating Beth Carpenter of Columbia, 4 and 3, in yesterday's opening round of the WDGA Championships at Congressional Country Club.

Voss, 20, just returned from her junior year at Stanford where she is a premedical student and tops on the women's golf team, won Monday's qualifying medal by seven shots with 73, one under women's par.

"I don't think there's a soul who can beat her this week," said tournament official Barbara Henesy. Match play continues in five flights through Friday.

Voss, with a long, smooth swing that produces 240-yard tee shots, mashed a 270-yarder with the wind slightly at her back on the women's par-5, 415-yard 14th hole. She then hit a majestic five-iron and holed a 30-foot putt for eagle three to take a 4-up lead over a bewildered Carpenter.

Voss' second shot on the 435-yard following hole came to rest in front of the green and when both golfers made par 5, Voss had closed out the match.

"I played as well as I can play," said Carpenter, whose hopes of an upset were dashed by a short missed birdie putt on the first hole, three putts for a loss on the par 4 11th, and a missed six-foot birdie attempt on the uphill, par 3 12th.

Voss must be heavily favored this week with the lowest handicap in the field at three and playing her home Congressional grounds. Lene Jordan of Army Navy, a four-handicapper, canceled out with a sore shoulder and Woodmont's Tina Marlowe, a five-handicapper, shot 91 and missed the championship flight.

"It's going to be a very fun week," allowed Voss, hurrying off to her summer job at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda.

Voss goes against Fairfax's Amy Geithner, the No. 1 women's player at Wake Forest, at 9:20 this morning. In other quarter-final action, Pat Thurner, reigning two-time Congressional women's club champ, contests Rita Weitzen of Indian Spring, the only former WDGA titlist in the field; WDGA Vice President Ruth Ann Verell tests Diane Rankin of Montgomery Village, and Bernice Fedder of Fairfax takes on Liza Abood of Kenwood.

Upset Victor And a Barmaid Are Survivors

Pat Thurner, a bundle of nervous energy from the host club who looked over the survivors and said, "I'm almost twice the age of most of the winners," and Diane Rankin, who in a temporary job as bartender was up until 1:30 the previous night, were among the survivors yesterday of the first round of match play of the District Women's Golf Championship at Congressional Country Club.

While medalist and favored Sally Voss of the host club led most of the favorites into the quarterfinals, Thurner rallied from a 3-down deficit at the seventh to upset Kathy Thompson of Kenwood, wife of the club pro, 2 up.

Area Golf

Thurner, the host club champion, had never met Thompson until they teed off. "I know she is a good player and all of sudden I was 3 down," Thurner said. Thurner then played the next 10 holes in 1-over par for a 2-up victory.

Thurner has met Rita Weitzen, today's opponent. "I'm sure Rita will not remember it but I played her when I was a 20-some handicap and she was a champion," Thurner said of the former District titlist. "It was not a competitive round."

Thurner was a member of Lakewood and Tantallon before she won the Congressional title twice. The first time she beat Pam Smyth in the semifinals it was an upset, and last year in the final it was considered another upset.

AT CONGRESSIONAL, Thurner is known as a hard worker who loves to practice.

Rankin is awaiting an ICC appointment and the meantime is tending bar at the Montgomery County Police Association Bar in Wheaton. A University of Maryland graduate and wife of Howard, teaching pro at Montgomery Village, Diane keeps busy.

At the end of seven holes she was seven up on Rebecca Doman, a former District champion from Argyle. One by one the holes started slipping away and midway on the back nine Rankin started thinking about the way Andy North lost most of his lead in the U.S. Open last week.

"She almost made a hole-in-one on the 12th, and then I started three-putting and instead of 7 up I was 2 up," she said. They halved the 17th and Rankin was the winner.

Rankin's opponent today was Ruth Ann Verell of Belle Haven, twice a semifinalist in this championship.

Voss, who had played five consecutive competitive rounds of 77 or less, had par in for a 75 when she defeated Beth Carpenter of Columbia, 4 and 3. Voss went 4 up on the tough 14th when she reached the green with a drive and 5-iron and holed a 25 footer for a birdie 3.

When Thurner said she was almost double the age of the others, she was kidding. She excluded Verell and Weitzen, but even so was exaggerating.

Amy Geithner, the Wake Forest sophomore from C.C. of Fairfax, defeated Alice Kelly, the newcomer from Massachusetts to the Chevy Chase golf shop, and met Voss today in a match that would befit the final.

Voss, Thurner, Abood, Rankin in WDGA Semis

By Ben Gieser

Heavily favored Sally Voss overwhelmed Amy Geithner, 7 and 6, yesterday and gained the semifinals of the Women's District Golf Association Championships.

Lisa Abood, Pat Thurner and Diane Rankin also advanced at Congressional Country Club.

Voss, a senior-to-be at Stanford where she plays No. 1 on the women's golf team, snaked in a 45-foot birdie putt to win the opening hole and birdied two others on the front nine for a 4-up lead over Wake Forest player Geithner of Fairfax. Voss did not let up until winning on the 12th hole.

In this morning's semifinals, Abood of Kenwood tests Rankin of Montgomery Village and Voss goes against Congressional clubmate Thurner.

Thurner said, "I've played with her, but never against her. I am looking forward to it, nervously."

Thurner survived one of the day's two pressure matches when she eliminated former WDGA and 17-time Indian Spring women's champ Rita Weitzen on the final green 1 up.

Thurner, reigning two-time Congressional women's titlist, battled Weitzen throughout the back nine.

The turning point was the picturesque, downhill par-4 17th hole. With the match even, Weitzen was in front of the green and Thurner was in a greenside sand trap. Each lay two. Thurner chipped from the sand and the ball struck the flagstick and stopped a foot away for a conceded par. Weitzen fell to 1 down when she took three shots to get into the hole.

Thurner won the match when they halved the par-3 18th in regulation.

In the other dramatic quarterfinal,

Rankin held off a valiant bid by WDGA Vice President Ruth Ann Verell of Belle Haven and also won on the final green, 1 up.

Rankin held a two-hole lead heading into the long par-four 16th. Rankin hit the green in two shots, Verell fell short in two. Determined Verell got it "up and down" with a fine chip and testing five-foot putt. Rankin two-putted to remain 2 up.

Verell sank a six-footer to win the 17th and pull within one.

Verell appeared in position to send the match into extra holes when she reached the final par-three green with her tee shot and Rankin fell short. Verell's putter finally betrayed her as she three-putted and Rankin scored a halving bogey.

Abood, University of Maryland women's basketball player and like Voss a long hitter, was 3-up at the turn and won the 15th hole with birdie to turn back Bernice Fedder of Fairfax, 3 and 2.

"I'd like a crack at her," said Abood of Voss. That can occur if both win today.

In the first flight semifinals, Nancy Hollenbeck plays Pam Smyth and Cloey Hardesty faces Shellie Levine.

Youth Deciding District Laurels

By Merrell Whittlesey
Washington Star Staff Writer

The predicted new look in the District Women's golf championship was completed yesterday when four players who had never been there before made the semifinals at Congressional Country Club.

Collegians Sally Voss (Stanford) and Liza Abood (Maryland), Diane Rankin of Montgomery Village and Pat Thurner, the home club champion, give the championship its youngest look in years.

Today's Voss-Thurner winner will play the Rankin-Abood survivor for the berths in tomorrow's 9:50 a.m. final over the women's version of the course that was host to the 1976 PGA championship.

Area Golf

Voss needed only 12 holes of 1-under women's par golf to defeat Amy Geithner of CC of Fairfax, 7 and 6. Thurner lost the first two holes to Rita Weitzen, the 1970 champion from Indian Spring, was even by No. 8 and won, 1 up. Rankin lost all but one hole of a 4-up lead in a 1-up victory over Ruth Ann Verrell of Belle Haven, twice a semifinalist. And Abood was 4 up at No. 10 and won, 3 and 2, over Bernice Fedder of CC of Fairfax.

Voss and Thurner are clubmates. When Sally was home from Stanford on spring break they played several rounds together.

"We played a 50 cent nassau and because she's a 3-handicap and I'm 11, she'd give me four strokes a side," Thurner said.

"Now we have to play even," Thurner said, in a mock faint. "I can't believe I'm in the semifinals," she said. "Why, I'm twice as old as Sally." But people who know Thurner are convinced she will make a match of it.

Thurner lost the first two holes due to trap trouble against Weitzen, and was trapped again on the third but recovered. Thurner went one up at the 13th, fell one down again, and finally won with a par 3 on 18.

Geithner did not play that poorly against Voss but simply was overwhelmed by Sally's current streak of subpar golf.

Rankin cannot afford to waste any more big leads. After losing five holes of a 7-up lead on Tuesday, Rankin lost all but one of a four-hole advantage against Verrell.

Rankin is awaiting appointment to a government job and this might be the end of her competitive golf for the season, except weekends. Rankin was out in 37 before she started wasting a lead for the second straight day.

Abood and Voss played junior golf together. Liza is anxious to win today and set up a probable final against Sally. "I know she is hitting the ball a long way, but we used to be pretty close as far as distance is concerned," Liza said. "I haven't played with her in a couple of years." Abood had par for about an 80 in her quarterfinal match.

Liza does not play college golf at Maryland because the university lacks a women's program.

Rankin, Voss Gain Final

By Ben Gieser

Diane Rankin eagled the 11th hole and birdied the final one to win her semifinal match and earned the dubious pleasure of facing heavily favored Sally Voss in today's final of the Women's District Golf Association championships at Congressional.

Voss, 20, intimate with par all week, methodically eliminated the game but overmatched Congressional clubmate Pat Thurner, 6 and 5.

Rankin, 23, playing her fifth WDGA championship, knocked a 155-yard five wood second shot into the cup on the par four 11th hole for an eagle duce and curled in a 35-foot birdie putt on the final green to send Lisa Abood to the sideline.

Abood birdied the par-5 14th hole for a 1-up lead. The University of Maryland women's basketball player from Kenwood appeared to be in control when she reached the long par-4 16th hole in two shots and Rankin was short in two.

However, Abood three-putted from 20 feet above the hole and Rankin remained 1 down when she halved the hole in bogey.

Abood pushed one of her long tee shots into trees lining the right side of the 17th hole, chipped back to the fairway and reached the par-4 green in three shots.

Rankin, who receives pointers from husband Howard, a teaching pro at Montgomery Village, hit her tee shot down the middle and hit a fine fairway wood second shot on the green and putted for a winning par to even the match.

Both found the finishing par-3 with their tee shots. Rankin stroked her 35-foot putt perfectly, into the cup. A shaken Abood missed her 10-foot birdie putt and lost, 1 down.

For Voss, women's college All America at Stanford playing in her first WDGA, it was another walk in the park. She has not been extended beyond the 15th hole since she won the qualifying medal by seven shots with 73 Monday.

She won the first two holes with par for a 2-up lead over reigning club champ Thurner. After she birdied the uphill par-3 seventh hole and won the eighth in regulation par Voss was 5 up.

Still, Voss was upset with herself after pushing her tee shot on the 11th hole behind some trees which forced her to play to the left of the par-4 green with her approach shot. She got the ball down for par and went 6 up. Thurner parred the next two holes, good only for halves, and the match came to a merciful close on the 13th green.

In the first night semifinals former Virginia Women's champion Nancy Hollenback of Army Navy defeated Congressional's Pam Smyth, 6 and 5, while Cleary Hardesty of Argyle edged Shellie Levine of Indian Spring, 2 and 1.

Rankin Faces A Long Haul

In District Final

By Merrell Whittlesey
Washington Star Staff Writer

Diane Rankin said she was going to take her driver home with her last night to see if she couldn't get it straightened out before today's final of the District Women's Golf Championship at Congressional Country Club.

What she should have done was to take her 5-wood and putter home and have them bronzed because they were the clubs that put the Montgomery Village 23-year-old into today's title match against Sally Voss of the host club.

Rankin, wife of Howard, assistant pro at Montgomery Country Club, holed a full 5-wood shot for an eagle duce on the 367-yard 11th hole, and a 35-foot putt for a birdie two on the 18th to defeat Liza Abood of Kenwood, 1-up in one semifinal.

Area Golf

Voss, the 20-year-old upcoming senior at Stanford, crushed clubmate Pat Thurner, 6 and 5, in the other match. Voss was the tournament medalist by seven shots and for her three matches is a total of 17-up as she has justified her role of top-heavy favorite.

RANKIN NOT ONLY must get her driver under control before she meets a player of Voss' ability, but she also admitted she cannot afford to get into a driving contest with her.

Voss simply hits the ball too far for Rankin, and everybody else in the field with the possible exception of Abood. Rankin admitted that Abood's superior length almost cost her the semifinal match. Rankin started trying to keep up and instead was driving in trouble.

Nobody at Congressional could remember anybody ever having made a two on the 11th hole. Diane hit a good drive about five yards short of the 150-yard marker on the right side of the fairway.

She hit a perfect 5-wood shot. Her caddy, Kenny Gantt, who also works with the carts at Congressional, yelled "get up" as the ball took a bounce onto the green and rolled into the cup.

Rankin was in a state of shock, as were the hundred or more persons in the gallery.

That squared the match and they halved 12 and 13 before Abood went 1-up on the 14th when Rankin drove under a tree. They halved the 15th in par 5s and on the 16th, where Abood outdrove Rankin by 50 yards, Abood then three-putted. She missed a 2½-footer that would have put her 2-up with two to play.

RANKIN SQUARED the match on 17 when Abood drove into the trees, and on the par 3 finishing hole over the water, Rankin barely reached the green while Abood was 12 feet from the cup. It appeared Rankin's best bet was for extra holes. But she rolled in the 35-footer and Abood missed. Host pro Bob Benning walked off Rankin's putt as a 35-footer.

Abood, a 20-year-old Maryland senior, could have cried and almost did. She had the match all but locked up and let it get away.

Rankin said the two shots were birthday presents for her husband who was 28 yesterday. He was going to play in the pro-amateur at Cumberland Country Club today. He offered to withdraw to watch his wife in the final but she said no.

Thurner, the host club champion, did not feel badly about losing to Voss because Thurner's week had been complete after she won two matches, which was more than she or her friends thought she would win.

Win or lose today, Voss is going to play in four major tournaments this summer — the U.S. Women's Open and Amateur, Western Amateur and Trans Miss. In the meantime, she is working at NIH, where she was late for work yesterday afternoon. She plans to go to medical school for four years after she graduates from Stanford which means her tournament schedule will be restricted after this summer.

Voss was out in 38 and had four straight pars on the back, three of them matched by Thurner. The only mistake Voss has made on the course this week was to break her 4-iron on the fifth hole attempting to play a shot from under a tree. As an indication of how things have been going she won the hole despite breaking the club.

On First Try, Voss Takes WDGA Title

By Tommy Stinson
Special to The Washington Star

After 17½ holes of furiously contested golf over Congressional's well-groomed alleyways, Sally Voss was justifiably worried yesterday. And about several things.

Voss, playing Diane Rankin for the Women's District Golf Association championship, was guarding a one-hole advantage on the par-3 18th and had left her wind-blown tee shot on the front extremity of the green 30 feet from the pin. Rankin seized the opportunity by pushing further into her drive and lay only 10 feet out.

Leaning over her putt, Voss said later, "I wanted to be short. I didn't want to be left with a downhill putt."

Voss was short all right, a most disturbing four feet short. By sinking her first putt, Rankin could have forced extra holes as could have Voss by missing her second. But neither did as Voss dropped her uphill putt in the center of the cup after Rankin's effort failed, leaving Voss the WDGA title in her first appearance in the tournament.

Area Golf

The victory marks the first time in recent memory that an area woman has collected major local titles at opposite ends of the country in the span of only four months. The 20-year-old Voss, who will be a senior at Stanford next fall, won the San Francisco city championship in March before leading her college team to a second-place finish in the Northern California Conference.

Voss Edges Rankin In Sterling Final

By Ben Gieser

Sally Voss survived the one element she had not faced all week—pressure—and squeezed out a tense, 1-up victory over valiant Diane Rankin of Montgomery Village for the championship of the Women's District Golf Association yesterday at Congressional.

"This is as good as watching Nancy Lopez play," said a member of the sizable gallery as four birdies fell during a three-hole stretch on the back nine.

Voss, 20, an All-America from Stanford, had had a cakewalk, winning the qualifying medal by seven strokes, and three succeeding matches by scores of 4 and 3, 7 and 6, and 6 and 5.

This was no laughter. Rankin evened the match on the long par-5 ninth by sinking a 10-foot birdie putt.

"She's cool. I noticed that," said Voss's caddy, Banks Wheeler, of Rankin.

After the 10th and 11th holes were halved, the fun began.

Voss, playing her home Congressional course, pulled her tee shot off the back edge of the par-3 12th, 70 feet from the pin. She chipped the slippery downhill into the cup for birdie and a 1-up lead.

The unflappable Rankin, hit a seven-wood approach shot three feet from the pin on the following par four and evened the match with her birdie putt.

On the par-five 14th, both got their pitch shots up and down and the hole was halved in birdie.

The following hole, a 435-yard par five, was the turning point. Voss was in a greenside trap in two after a 250-yard tee shot and a long fairway wood. Rankin's long third shot found the bunker to the rear of the green. Both took three to get into the hole from the sand. Voss for winning par and Rankin for bogey.

They halved the 16 and 17th holes in par and Voss went to the 18th tee 1 up.

Voss hit her tee shot onto the green, 25 feet from the cup, and Rankin hit hers 15 feet from the hole.

Voss hit what she called a "bummer" approach putt, and left herself a five-foot putt for par. Rankin made a bold birdie bid that would have sent the match into extra holes, but the ball slid by the low side.

Voss hit her winning putt into the back of the hole and let out a yelp of joy.

"I can't believe it," Voss said as she walked off the final green.

"I thought I could do it," said Rankin.

Nancy Hollenbeck of Army Navy beat Cloey Hardesty of Argyle, 4 and 3, for the first flight title.

Other flight winners: 2, Tina Marlowe, Woodmont; 3, Sharon Briggs, Montgomery Village; 4, Ruby Woodring, Army Navy.

Double Bogeys Fail to Stop Kreuzberg's Winning Habit

In her half-century of playing golf, Virginia Kreuzburg of Columbia Country Club has captured all the titles and practically all the cups available to her in the Women's District Golf Association.

According to her records, she is the only contestant to sweep the WDGA championship, seniors and juniors titles. She also won the Class

A Star Cup twice, once with a 76 at Congressional; the Class A NBC Cup and the Class C Torlinski Cup; and yesterday she filled in a missing piece by taking the WDGA's Class B Star Cup.

Kreuzburg finished with two double bogeys at Washington G&CC but won by two shots with 41-44-85, deducting 15 handicap strokes for a net 70 to avoid a five-way playoff for the old hunk of silver.

The quartet at net 72 were split into the next four gross and net prizes, Em Kennedy of Army Navy taking first gross with 42-45-87, Barbara Martin of Kenwood second net with 89-17-72, Nancy Graves of Army Navy second gross with 45-44-89 and Patsy Skidmore, also of Army Navy, third net with 89-17-72.

Jordan Captures Title As Rookie Falls Short

By Tommy Stinson

Special to The Washington Star

As was totally expected, Michelle Jordan won her second Women's District Golf Association girls' championship at Bethesda Country Club yesterday. The fashion in which she won — or almost lost — the two-day tournament, however, was entirely unforeseen.

Cindy Davis, playing in her first tournament and perhaps the least likely to succeed in the field of 25, put on a furious charge over the final 18 holes. She improved her first-day score by 10 strokes with a six-over 78 to finish just one back of Jordan, who won with 165, 21 over par.

Area Golf

Jordan had held a seven-stroke lead over the third-running Davis after the first day. But the perky 16-year-old redhead, who had completely forgotten that she won her first WDGA girls' title two years ago, admitted her game has not been sharp.

"I just haven't been hitting the ball solid lately," Jordan, a four-handicapper from Army Navy, said after her round. "Yesterday (Wednesday), I stayed in the fairways but today, I found the trees."

For Davis, the difference seemed to be one day. Her opening-day 88 was most disappointing and before playing the Bethesda course again, she gave the scorecard extra study.

"Today, I knew exactly where I wanted to hit it," said Davis, another 16-year-old who has only played golf two years. "I knew just what club to use."

Davis, of Bowie High School and Belair CC, finished her final round with bogeys on the 17th and 18th which could have cost her the tournament. The par-4 finishing hole was especially painful since she hit her 3-iron approach too fat and had to play a 100-yard approach shot rather than a short wedge to the green.

Jordan, whose older sister Lene won this event last year, left for San Diego today for the Junior World tournament where she finished ninth last year.

Top finishers:

165—Michelle Jordan, Army Navy, 81-84.
166—Cindy Davis, Belair, 88-78.
167—Mary Ellen Fedor, Chartwell, 86-81.
172—Cathy Eyre, Reston, 86-86.
176—Jane Abood, Kenwood, 88-88.
180—Jenny MacCurrah, Lakewood, 90-90; Cathy Crater, Lakewood, 91-89.
185—Kathy Padgett, Laurel Pines, 93-92.
186—Karen Jones, Argyle, 96-90; Angie Munno, U. of Md., 94-92.

Jordan Sisters in Tune on Links

By Ben Gieser

No, the Jordan sisters are not a singing group, rather two talented golfing teen-agers who hone their games at Army Navy Country Club-Fairfax, less than a mile from their home.

Lene, 18, and Michelle, 16, play to 5 handicaps.

Two weeks ago Michelle finished 15th in the Junior World tournament at Torrey Pines in San Diego and was selected for the U.S. team in the international team matches against teams from Canada and California. She is entered in the U.S. Golf Association girls junior in Wilmington, Del., Aug. 7-12. Cathy Eyre of Reston and Karen Jones of Rockville also made the field.

Lene also has played in scads of tournaments, including the Junior World (she was too old this year) and will attend Brigham Young on a full golf scholarship this fall.

The Jordans moved here three years ago from Kansas. Their father is Army Lt. Col. George Jordan, currently stationed at the Pentagon.

"I was born in Germany, moved to Georgia, Albuquerque, Monterey, Kansas and here," said Michelle, who ap-

Jordan Opens With 81

Washington Post Staff Writer
WILMINGTON, Del. — Michelle Jordan of Fairfax, Va., shot 81 yesterday in the first of two days of qualifying for the USGA junior girls golf championship.

Cathy Hanlon of Palos Verdes, Calif., led the first round with 71.

Jenny McCurrach of Rockville, Md., shot 82, Karen Jones of Rockville, 84, and Kathy Eyre of Reston, Va. 89.

After today's stroke-play round, the low 32 move into match play.

PETE HISKEY from the University of Maryland course shot 37-35-72 and won the first hole of a playoff with birdie 4 to win the fifth Junior Invitational at Chartwell CC in Severna Park, from Matt Nichols of Maryland G&CC, who scored 36-36-72.

Karen Jones of Argyle was best among 35 girls with 40-39-79. A field of 170 juniors from eight states competed.

Age-group winners:

Boys 18-19 — Kent Erdahl, Middleham, Va., 37-40-77; 16-17 — Nichols; 14-15 — Emlyn Aubrey, Reading, Pa., 37-38-75; 12-13 — Tommy Riley, Belle Haven, 43-35-78; 10-11 — Tom Horst, Baltimore CC, 46-48-94, after won playoff.
Girls 15-17 — Mary Ellen Fedor, Chartwell, 40-41-81; 12-14 — Kris Bannister, Richmond, 44-45-89; 10-11 — Beth Staples, Prince William, 58-56-114.

WILMINGTON, Del. — Michelle Jordan of Army Navy Country Club and Fairfax opened the day chasing Cathy Hanlon in the second of the two days of qualifying for the U.S. Junior Girls Amateur championship at the Wilmington Country Club. Hanlon, from Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., led the large field with a first day 71 to Jordan's 81. Lakewood's Jenny MacCurrach trails with 82 along with Karen Jones of Argyle at 84 and Cathy Eyre of Reston at 89.

Jordan Eliminated

Special to The Washington Post
WILMINGTON, Del. — Mary Enright of Hayward, Calif., eliminated Michelle Jordan of Fairfax, Va., 1 up, in the opening round of match play yesterday in the U.S. Golf Association junior girls championship.

Arlington Girl Wins

Special to The Washington Star

WYTHEVILLE, Va. — Michelle Jordan from Army Navy Country Club in Arlington won the 16-17 age bracket of the Virginia State girls golf championship, which concluded yesterday at Wytheville Golf Club.

Overall winner by six strokes was Kandi Kassler of Charlottesville, who scored 76-83-159 for 36 holes. Jordan shot 88-86-174 and edged Robin Andrews of Hillsville by a stroke for the 16-17 title.

Winner of the 14-15 group was Kathleen Bannister of Prince William, who shot 95-90-185. The 12-13 winner was Kristine Bannister, also of Prince William, with 96-100-196. Mary Zaleski of Warrenton won the 11-and-under title with 50-45-95 for 18 holes.

Jordan of Army Navy 3 Behind in Richmond

Special to The Washington Star

RICHMOND — Michelle Jordan, 16-year-old standout from Army Navy Country Club, trails front-runners Liz Waynick and Juanita Petrone by three strokes going into today's second round of the Virginia State Golf Association Women's Medal golf championship.

Jordan shot a four-over-par 42-36—78 in yesterday's opening round over the James River Course at the Country Club of Virginia. She was in a four-way tie in fourth Ann Patrick, Natalie Easterly and Joni Jordan.

In second were state amateur champion Jane Mack and Barbara Moran, both at 76. Fifteen-year-old Kandi Kessler of Charlottesville held third at 77. The tournament, in its first year, concludes tomorrow after 54 holes.

In the VSGA's junior championships at the Country Club of Staunton, Tommy Riley of Belle Haven CC was the only local representative in early contention. He and Tony Simpson share second place in the 12-13 bracket with nine-over-par 81s, seven strokes behind Matt Moyers of Mount Jackson.

Ernest Echols, a 15-year-old from Charlottesville, shot the lowest score of the day at one-over 73 to not only lead his age group but also the 16-17 bracket.

Jordan 9 Strokes Back In Richmond Tourney

Special to The Washington Star

RICHMOND — Fairfax's Lene Jordan started play nine strokes back in today's final round of the first Virginia State Golf Association's Medal championship at the Country Club of Virginia's James River course.

Jordan, of Army Navy Country Club, was off the board Tuesday after her opening round of nine-over-par 83. But she fired a one-over 75 yesterday which threw her into a tie with Portsmouth's Liz Rowland for fifth at 158.

Richmond's Jane Mack assumed the lead yesterday with a one-under 76-73—149, four strokes up on 18-year-old Liz Waynick, the first-day leader who slumped to a second-round 78.

Lene Jordan of Fairfax Gets a Tie for Third

Special to The Washington Star

RICHMOND — Lene Jordan of Fairfax closed out the three-day Virginia State Golf Association Women's Medal championship with a three-over-par 78 to finish in a three-way tie for third. Richmond's Jane Mack won the inaugural tournament, firing a final-round 77 for an overall two-over-par 226 at the Country Club of Virginia's James River Course.

Former State Amateur champion Kay Schiefelbein of Alexandria tied Liz Rowland of Portsmouth at 239 for fourth. Michelle Jordan, Lene's younger sister, finished at 78-84-81—243, in a two-way tie for fifth.

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. — Webb Heintzelman of Bethesda, Md., and Michelle Jordan of Fairfax, Va., failed to break 80 yesterday at Callaway Gardens and dropped far out of contention with one round remaining in the PGA Junior Championships.

JUNIOR WORLD TOURNAMENT—Michelle Jordan of Fairfax, Va., carded 77 yesterday for a four-round total of 240 in the Junior World golf championship at Torrey Pines in San Diego. The final round is today.

82 Low in Payne Cup

Pat Thurner of Congressional carded 82, tying Kay Schiefelbein of Montclair, runner-up in last week's Virginia Women's Amateur, for the first-day lead of the 36-hole Payne Cup yesterday at Congressional.

Jane Mason of Nassawango and Tina Marlowe of Argyle were next at 84.

Thurner leads the net division with 82-9-73, followed by clubmate Jean Pohanka, 88-13-75, and Joan Gould, Bethesda, 88-12-76.

KAY SCHIEFELBEIN of Woodlawn, who found herself tied for the first-round lead after scoring 82, added 73 for a 155 total to win the 24th annual Payne Trophy tournament by nine shots at Congressional CC.

Jane Mason of Nassawango was second with 84-78-162, followed by Rebecca Doman of Argyle, 88-77-165; Tina Marlowe of Woodmont, 84-84-168; Bonnie Johnson, Maryland G&CC, 85-83-168; and Fran Schultz, Army Navy, 85-84-169.

Winner of the net division in the field of 76 was Kitty Thompson of River Bend with 176-28-148. Joan Gould of Bethesda shot 180-24-156 and Pat Tyrrell of Manor had 178-22-156.

THE MONTGOMERY General Hospital Celebrity tournament at Manor CC is only in its second year, yet it has already established a net score which might never be lowered.

Henry Woodfield, the Ford dealer, shot 95-34-61 and thought he won easily in the field of 123 starters. He lost by 10. Paul McKenzie scored an incredible 85-34-51.

Winners in the women's division were LuClare Lee with 77 net and Kit Williams, 88 gross.

THE OLDSMOBILE OPEN

women's tournament drew a total entry of 1,118 participants who donated $3,647 to Heroes, Inc., this year, for a total of more than $20,000 collected for this charity in the event's six years.

The final round of the 1978 competition drew 122 starters to Tantallon CC yesterday, and Ruth Ann Verell of Belle Haven turned in one of her finest rounds, a 76 minus 9 handicap strokes for a net 67.

The next two net prizes went to Alma Peck of Washington G&CC, 97-27-70, and Marge Nuess of Cedar Crest, who scored 89-18-71. Winner of the gross division was Fran Schultz, Army Navy, with an 83, followed by Congressional's Pat Thurner with an 85.

LENE JORDAN of Fairfax shared the lead with Kandi Kessler going into today's second round of the Farmington Women's Invitational tournament in Charlottesville, Va. Jordan, of Army Navy, and Kessler, of the host club, finished the first day with 77s with two more rounds to play.

Host Team Dominates Mixed Scotch Tourney

The District Golf Association's first mixed Scotch tournament of the season drew only 31 teams yesterday to Robin Dale Country Club, and the host club dominated the results with 10 twosomes contesting.

Robin Dale's Martha Murphy and Gene Dunlop won with 43-40-83, minus 14 handicap strokes for net 69, two in front of Trish Horan and Mel Willard of Argyle, 77-6-71. Robin Dale also produced the gross winner, Judy Carpenter and Frank Stoppa scoring 38-38-76.

THE DISTRICT GA'S mixed Scotch tournament at Argyle CC resulted in a tie at net 65 between the teams of Nita Conway and Tommy Nolan of Argyle and Rose and Dick Helander of Manor. Melly Tucker and Brian Willard of Argyle won the low gross prize with 73.

BELLE HAVEN — Bob Kocher and Alice Knowles of Robin Dale topped a field of 88 teams in the District GA mixed scotch event. George Andre of International and Bernice Feder of CC of Fairfax won low gross with a 36-37-73.

There was a six-way tie at second net at 70 — Don and Irene Packer of Bell Haven, 82-12; G.H. and Doris Carpenter of Lakewood, 82-12; John and Rochelle Weaver of Bethesda, 82-12; Spike and Pat Neill of River Bend, 86-16; Bob and Ann Lewis of Washington, 78-8; and Graham and Joan McNamee of CC of Fairfax, 91-21.

Carol Davies and Steve Lillie of Washingtonian won second gross with a pair of 39s for 78.

Rain Didn't Hinder This Pair

Yesterday morning's rain caused a 30-minute delay in starting times at International Town and Country Club and the soggy fairways inflated almost every player's scores. Neither development, however, seemed to bother Jane Featherston and Nancy Hollenbeck.

Featherston of Farmington CC in Charlottesville, and Hollenbeck of Army Navy, tacked a better-ball 82 on their first-day 73 for gross 155 to win the two-day Women's Four-Ball Invitational tournament. Kay Schiefelbein of Montclair and Ann Templeton of Westwood took second at 79-77-156.

In net results, a Belle Haven team of Irene Packer and Ruth Ann Verell posted the winning score of 67-71-138. Margie Willoughby and Betty Wren of Williamsburg CC were second at 68-71-139.

INTERNATIONAL — Pattie Locke, Gladys Savage of Andrews Air Force tied at net 67 with Jane Featherston of Farmington and Nancy Hollenbeck of Army Navy, and Irene Packer and Ruth Ann Verell of Belle Haven after the first day of a 36-hole women's four ball invitational. Featherston and Hollenbeck led gross, 73.

INTERNATIONAL — Jane Featherston, Farmington, and Nancy Hollenbeck, Army Navy, captured gross in a 36-hole invitational four-ball with 73 82-155. Second were Ann Templeton, Westwood, and Kay Schiefelbein, Montclair, 79 77-156. Irene Packer and Ruth Ann Verell, Belle Haven, won net, 67 71-138. Second net were Margie Willoughby and Betty Wren, Williamsburg, Va., 68 71-139.

INTERNATIONAL — Three teams were tied for the net lead going into today's second round of the Women's Four-ball Invitational. The duos of Pattie Locke and Gladys Savage of Andrews AFB, Jane Featherston of Charlottesville and Army Navy's Nancy Hollenbeck and Irene Packer and Ruth Ann Verrell of Belle Haven all stood at 67 going into the final round. Featherston and Hollenbeck lead the gross with 73.

Voss Sets Another Record

Special to The Washington Star

TOWSON, Md. — Although Nelson Bell of Swan Creek won the pro-sweepstakes with six-under-par 65 in the Middle Atlantic PGA pro-lady tournament yesterday, Sally Voss of Congressional set a women's record for the second time in four days with 67, five under women's par at Towson Golf & Country Club.

Voss, who shot 69 at Columbia CC Tuesday, had five birdies without a bogey. Bell scored eight birdies with two bogeys in winning his first pro-am of the year. Congressional pro Bob Benning was second while matching Voss, one of his amateur partners, with 67. Leading scores:

Voss, Rusk Tied In Middle Atlantic

Special to The Washington Post

EASTON, Md.—Sally Voss and Laurie Rusk tied for the lead yesterday after the first half of the 36-hole Middle Atlantic Women's Golf Championship. Voss, of Congressional Country Club, and Rusk, representing the host club, Talbot, each shot 76, one over par.

Voss, 20, who has won the District and Maryland championships, attends Stanford University. Rusk, 22, is a law student at the University of Florida.

Third was Eileen Kelly of Towson, with an 80, while defending champion Nancy Maunder of Crofton was fourth at 81.

Karen Smith of Potomac Valley, Donna Kostens of Talbot and Cora Hans of Rolling Road all concluded the day with 83.

Maunder Beats Voss in Sudden Death

Special to The Washington Post

EASTON, Md.—Defending champion Nancy Maunder of Crofton Country Club set a women's course record of 73, then sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the ninth hole of sudden death to beat Sally Voss of Congressional and win the 36-hole Middle Atlantic Women's Golf Championship yesterday at Talbot Country Club.

Maunder birdied the 18th hole of regulation to finish with a 154 total.

Voss had a par on the closing hole for a 78—154.

Other area finishers included Alice Kelly of Montgomery Village, 164, Karen Smith of Potomac Valley, 168, and Beth Carpenter of Columbia, 169.

Chris Lebiez of Army Navy won the Division II prize at 169. In Division III, Linda Meyer and Pat Gates of Columbia finished fourth and fifth, respectively, with scores of 180 and 181.

Crofton Player Keeps Middle Atlantic Title

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

EASTON, Md. — Nancy Maunder's problem, in a sense, is that she lives too fast. "My whole temperament is like that," she said. "I swing fast, drive fast, walk fast, play fast."

This was after Maunder beat Sally Voss in extra holes for the Middle Atlantic Women's golf championship here yesterday at Talbot Country Club. A sturdy 20-year-old from Crofton CC, Maunder was explaining how it was that she scored 81 in the first round Wednesday in defense of the title. Specifically, her backswing was too quick.

Area Golf

"I was really upset with my round yesterday (Tuesday)," she said. "Everything I hit went dead left."

That's one of the exaggerations golfers use occasionally, meaning that she was hooking the ball too much. She was often in trouble in the left rough and she appeared out of the running for the championship, because Voss and Laurie Rusk of the host club were five strokes in front after the first 18 holes.

However, Voss, from Congressional CC, and Rusk also would be paired in the final twosome yesterday and maybe not worrying about anyone else catching them, either Beans Kelly of Towson at four strokes back or Maunder at five.

"This happened to me in the Middle Atlantic Junior one year," Maunder recalled. "Tina Marlowe and I were playing together at Chantilly in the last round, and Becky Noga shot 73 and beat both of us."

"So, I knew I had a chance for the same reason. I was five shots behind and I really had to play well."

That is eerily similar to what happened yesterday. Maunder almost sneaked in with a women's course-record 73 for a 154 total. Rusk double bogeyed the 17th hole, but Voss finished par-par for 78 to tie at 154, creating the playoff.

Voss admitted that she wasn't exactly sure what Nancy had shot, only that it was something at or under women's par of 75, and that maybe she and Rusk were paying too much attention to each other.

The playoff, only the second in this championship since it was first conducted in 1935, dragged on for nine holes between these two college girls and, like any playoff of that length, each missed several chances to end it earlier.

At least Maunder won it with a birdie. She lofted a 7-iron approach into the ninth green and sank a putt of about seven feet in length. Voss had approached too strongly and chipped back six feet short of the hole and never got to putt.

Maunder is the sixth to repeat as champion.

Leading scores:

Division I — Nancy Maunder, Crofton, 81-73—154; Sally Voss, Congressional, 76-78—154 (Maunder won playoff); Laurie Rusk, Talbot, 76-80—156; Jane Mason, Nassawango, 82-76—158; Donna Kostens, Talbot, 83-81—164; Alice Kelly, Montgomery Village, 84-80—164; Beans Kelly, Towson, 80-85—165.

Division II — Chris Lebiez, Army Navy, 87-82—169; Pat Hendrickson, Green Hill, 86-84—170.

Division III — Cora Baus, Rolling Road, 83-87—170; Sue Kaffenburgh, Turf Valley, 87-84—171.

Division IV — Madeline Perdue, Green Hill, 90-86—176; Paula Brown, Cumberland CC, 86-90—176.

Division V — Doris Merck, Talbot, 89-95—184; Joan Butler, River Bend, 89-98—187.

Voss Qualifies

Special to The Washington Post

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa.—Sally Voss of Bethesda, Md., carded 76, four strokes behind medalist Mrs. I. C. Robertson's 72, and qualified for match play in the U.S. Women's Amateur yesterday.

Nancy Maunder of Crofton, Md., shot 77 and Liza Abood of Bethesda, Md., had 80. They also qualified in the field of 64.

Three Share Lead In Women's Golf

Curtis Cup players Judy Oliver and Lancy Smith fired 3-over-par 75s to join Julie Greene in a three-way tie for the first-round lead in the 54-hole Women's Eastern Amateur Golf Championship at Hillendale Country Club outside Baltimore.

All three scratch players held a two-stroke advantage over Michelle Jordan, Donna Kines and Lucille Ray.

Representatives from Maryland included Jane Mason and Nancy Maunder with 75s, and Karen Smith with an 80.

The second-round of play on the 6,002-yard, par-72 course continues today.

Voss Is Ousted By Floridian in Trans National

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Chris Desch of Sarasota, Fla., dropped pressure putts on the 17th and 18th holes yesterday, posting a 1-up victory over medalist Sally Voss of Bethesda, Md., in the second round of the Women's Trans National golf championship.

In the other championship bracket, Jeanne-Marie Bolan of Milton, Mass., cruised past Cathy Cook of Columbus, Ohio, 6 and 5, taking the lead with a birdie on the first hole at the Wolferts Roost Country Club and never relinquishing the honor.

Voss Victor

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa.—Sally Voss of Bethesda, Md., the reigning Maryland Women's Amateur and Women's District champion, defeated Sally Austin of Wesley Chapel, Fla., 3 and 1, yesterday in the opening round of the U.S. Women's Amateur.

Nancy Maunder, 1977 Women's Middle Atlantic champ, lost to Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald of Indianapolis, 1 up. Defending champion Beth Daniel of Charleston, S.C., eliminated Liza Abood of Bethesda, 6 and 5.

Voss Advances In U.S. Amateur

Special to The Washington Star

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa. — Sally Voss of Bethesda, Md., defeated Nancy Porter of Ardmore, Pa., 1 up, in the U.S. Women's Amateur championship at Sunnybrook Golf Club yesterday, thereby advancing to today's third round.

Voss, a member of Congressional Country Club, was to face Canadian Kathy Sherk in this morning's round. Sherk last year was the runner-up in this tournament and the Canadian Women's Amateur champion.

Voss Area's Last Hope

Greene Sheds Her Rustiness Under Pressure

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

PHOENIX, Md. — Julie Greene was only a few days past the spring term at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y., where she is a professor of physical education, when she decided last week to enter the Women's Eastern Amateur golf championship here at Hillendale Country Club north of Baltimore.

The decision was not without misgivings because her game was not yet ready to battle the shot-making of three Curtis Cup players and the rest of the talented crowd for 54 holes in this championship.

"I came down here," she said, "with the idea of getting my game in shape by playing under sure. I'm a good pressure player, but now I'm a very surprised champion."

Area Golf

After a pair of three-over-par 75s, Greene held stroke lead over four-time winner Lancy Smith and Judy Oliver, two of the Curtis Cuppers. Another Curtis Cup contestant was Noreen Uihlein, who was never a threat while trying to defend the title the last three days.

If Greene was seeking pressure, she found abundance yesterday afternoon, mostly after hard rain began on the 14th hole. Oliver, playing immediately in front of Smith and Greene, herself out of contention with a double-bogey on the 14th, but Greene and Smith were tied.

Greene saved the pars by one-putting the 15th and 17th holes, sinking about an eight-foot putt to start that stretch, and when Smith double bogied the 17th after her club slipped on her approach shot, the result was imminent. Greene birdied the par-5 18th to close with 38-37-75 a total of 225, winning by three strokes.

Karen Smith of Potomac Valley CC won on the daily prizes, her 75 of Wednesday earning gross for opening day. Michelle Jordan, the year-old whiz from Army Navy CC, easily won the junior division with a total of 237. Low finishers:

225—Julie Greene, Barrington, R.I., 75-75-75.
226—Lancy Smith, Snyder, N.Y., 75-76-75.
230—Judy Oliver, Sewickley, Pa., 75-76-79.
231—Cindy Ferro, Bloomfield, N.J., 80-76-75.
234—Leslie Shannon, Miami, Fla., 82-77-75.
235—Nancy Maunder, Crofton CC, 79-78-78.
236—Reggie Hawes, Rye, N.Y., 82-80-74; Mary Lawrence, Canton, N.Y., 81-77.
237—Cynthia Kessler, East Aurora, N.Y., 79-81-77; Angeles Alcantara, Caracas, Venezuela, 81-78-78; Michelle Jordan, Army Navy CC, 77-82.
238—Noreen Uihlein, Barrington, R.I., 82-79-77; Mindy Moore, Chapel Hill, N.C., 79-77-82; Donna Kimes, Exton, Pa., 77-82-79; Mary Rochester, N.H., 78-79-81; Mary Kathryn Baker, Clover, S.C., 82.

Three Area Women Qualify for Amateur

Special to The Washington Star

PHILADELPHIA — Three area women qualified Tuesday to play in the USGA's Women's Amateur championship to be held at Sunnybrook Country Club in Plymouth Meeting, Pa., Aug. 14-19.

Liza Abood of Kenwood, Sally Voss of Congressional and Nancy Maunder of Crofton all qualified from a field of 36 at Philmont CC and will join over 150 entrees later in the month at Sunnybrook.

Abood was the lowest of the group with an eight-over-par 43-39—82, followed closely by Voss at 44-39—83 and Maunder at 42-42—85. Nancy Rubin of Lower Burrell, Pa. was the medalist at 76.

Champion, Voss

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa.—Cynthia Hill of Colorado, Colo., eliminated defending champion Beth Daniel of Charleston, S.C., in U.S. Women's Amateur championship quarterfinal play yesterday.

Hill, who won the championship in 1974, sank a 12-foot birdie on the 16th hole to gain a 1-up lead over two players each shot par on the remaining holes.

Hill shot a one-over-par 73 on the 17th hole.

Hill faces Canadian champion Kathy Sherk of Port Colborne today in a semifinal match.

Sherk, runner-up last year, was eliminated by Sally Voss of Bethesda, Md., in the fourth round.

A REMATCH of the WDGA final appears in the offing for the Maryland State Women's Amateur championship currently in progress at Woodmont. Sally Voss, the WDGA winner last month at Congressional, and Diane Rankin, the runner-up, made their way through first-round competition yesterday at Woodmont's south course in convincing one-over-par fashion.

Voss of Congressional made the turn leading Rebecca Doman just 1 up, but birdies on the 14th and 15th helped her close out the match, 4 and 2, by halving the 16th. Montgomery Village's Rankin opened her match with Tina Marlowe with bogeys on the first two holes but retaliated with birdies on the third and fourth and went on to a 5-and-4 victory.

Yesterday's results:

First round

Sally Voss, Congressional def. Rebecca Doman, Argyle 4 and 2; Liza Abood, Kenwood def. Trish Horan, Argyle 5 and 4; Bonnie Johnson, Maryland G&CC def. Beth Hughes, Green Spring Valley 6 and 5; Alice Kelly, Montgomery Village def. Carol Taylor, Worthington Valley 1 up.

Diane Rankin, Montgomery Village def. Tina Marlowe, Woodmont 5 and 4; Karen Smith, Potomac Valley def. Sharon Briggs, Montgomery Village 2 and 1; Jane Mason, Nassawango def. Jennifer MacCurrach, Lakewood 5 and 4; Nancy Maunder, Crofton def. Andrea Francus, Chestnut Ridge 3 and 2.

SEVERAL NOTABLE names were missing from this morning's semifinal matches of the 58th Maryland State Women's Amateur championship at Woodmont CC's south course. Two-time champion Jane Mason and WDGA finalist Diane Rankin both were toppled yesterday, albeit it in tightly contested matches.

Mason fell, 2 and 1, to Crofton's Nancy Maunder, Middle Atlantic champion and winner of the first flight in her initial appearance in this tournament last year. Karen Smith of Potomac Valley took the 18th hole with par against Rankin to force a play-off and then the match by getting up and down from a trap on the 19th while Rankin bogeyed from the same bunker.

Medalist Sally Voss and Bonnie Johnson advanced without incident, both gaining 4-up advantages by the turn and closing off their opponents by the 14th hole.

Yesterday's results:

Sally Voss, Congressional def. Jane Abood, Kenwood 6 and 5; Bonnie Johnson, Maryland G&CC def. Alice Kelly, Montgomery Village 5 and 4; Karen Smith, Potomac Valley def. Diane Rankin, Montgomery Village 1 up (19 holes); Nancy Maunder, Crofton def. Jane Mason, Nassawango 2 up.

Quadruple Bogey May Not Be All Bad

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

Jane Mason, who has won the Maryland State Women's Amateur Championship on two occasions, scored an eight yesterday on the par-4 ninth hole of the south course at Woodmont Country Club.

That quadruple bogey helped in no small way to deny her the medal in qualifying for the 58th Maryland Women's Amateur. She shot four-over-par 39-38-77 while Sally Voss of Congressional made off with the medal by scoring 38-37-75. Voss, you see, had only six on the ninth hole.

However, Mason was quick to find a blessing from her excess of unfortunate strokes: She landed in the opposite bracket from Voss in pairings for the start of match play today at Woodmont.

She was comforted by not having to play Voss until at least the final round, if they get that far, because Mason has lost to her the last two times she played in this championship.

Mason didn't play last year at Chestnut Ridge because of abdominal surgery, but in 1975 at Rolling Road, Voss beat her in the semifinals and in 1976 at Lakewood Voss bumped her in the very first round, 1 up.

"She's tough," Mason said of the Stanford University senior, who is the new Women's District titlist. "At Lakewood, I shot 75 and missed the medal by one shot. Then I shot 74 in the first round and I was going home."

Mason this time faced 16-year-old Jennifer MacCurrach in today's first round. MacCurrach, of Lakewood, is making her first appearance in the Maryland Women's and it could be large, the winner of the last two years, did not enter because of a recurrence of an old back injury.

Although Mason and Voss had their difficulties at No. 9 yesterday, it measures only 303 yards from the women's tees and is not a fearsome test in any competition.

Voss double-bogeyed it by driving behind a tree, hitting into a bunker, leaving her ball in the sand, blasting out and missing a six-foot putt. Mason scored eight by also visiting the bunker, skulling her third shot into a hedge, taking a penalty drop and wasting still another stroke before finally reaching the green. Otherwise, Mason and Voss each had three birdies and three bogeys.

Three players scored 84 and played off for the last two berths in the championship flight of 16. Carol Taylor of Worthington Valley and Andrea Francus of Chestnut Ridge got in with pars after Pat Thompson of Cumberland double-bogeyed the first extra hole.

Kitty Alexander of Green Spring Valley won the senior championship by scoring 45-40-85, but landed in the second flight.

Pairings today:

Sally Voss, Congressional (75) vs. Rebecca Doman, Argyle (80); Liza Abood, Kenwood (79) vs. Trish Horan, Argyle (83); Bonnie Johnson, Maryland G&CC (77) vs. Beth Hughes, Green Spring Valley (81); Alice Kelly, Montgomery Village (79) vs. Carol Taylor, Worthington Valley (81).

Diane Rankin, Montgomery Village (77) vs. Tina Marlowe, Woodmont (80); Karen Smith, Potomac Valley (79) vs. Sharon Briggs, Montgomery Village (83); Jane Mason, Nassawango (77) vs. Jennifer MacCurrach, Lakewood (81); Nancy Maunder, Crofton (79) vs. Andrea Francus, Chestnut Ridge (84).

Voss, Maunder in Final

Sally Voss of Congressional and Nancy Maunder of Crofton eliminated semifinal opponents yesterday and will meet at 9:45 a.m. today for the Maryland Women's Amateur championship at Woodmont's South Golf Course.

Voss, who was 4 down with five holes to play, defeated Bonnie Johnson of Maryland Golf and Country Club, 1 up, with a 40-foot birdie putt on the final hole. Maunder led at the turn, 2 up, and held on for a 3-and-2 triumph over Karen Smith of Potomac Valley.

In championship consolations, Tina Marlowe of Woodmont defeated Andrea Francus of Chestnut Ridge, 8 and 6, and Carol Taylor of Worthington Valley beat Trish Horan of Argyle on the 20th hole.

Finalists today in the Maryland Women's Amateur championship on Woodmont's south course were a pair of 20-year-olds, Sally Voss of Congressional and Nancy Maunder from Crofton. Since Voss is the Women's District champion and Maunder the Middle Atlantic women's titlist, there was no surprise in this state of affairs, excepting the manner in which Voss survived yesterday.

Bonnie Johnson, a 25-year-old physical education teacher from Maryland G&CC, led Voss by 4 up with five holes remaining, but Voss won all five for a 1-up triumph. Maunder was three-over par with four three-putt greens in winning the other semifinal from Karen Smith, Potomac Valley, 3 and 2.

Voss won those five critical holes with three pars plus birdies on the par-5 16th and 18th, the last with a 40-foot putt that barely dropped into the cup. The winner finished two-over par.

Voss, Mason, Rankin Win

Sally Voss birdied the 15th and 16th holes and eliminated Rebecca Doman, 4 and 2; Jane Mason eased past Jennifer MacCurrach, 5 and 4, and Diane Rankin bested Tina Marlowe by the same score in first-round matches of the Maryland State Women's amateur golf tournament yesterday at Woodmont's South course.

Voss, Women's District Golf Association champion, would be playing in the U.S. Women's Open at Indianapolis this week if she had taken one less stroke in qualifying.

Voss of Congressional, took a 2-up lead with par at the 10th and went 3 up at 13. After losing the 14th, Voss hit her tee shot 15 inches from the cup on the 15th for a conceded birdie and sank a 15-foot putt for birdie on the par-5 16th.

Mason, of Snow Hill, won this event in 1965 and 1974 and was 3 up after a front nine of 39. She was one over par for the five holes of the back nine.

Rankin, loser to Voss in the WDGA final, played the best golf of the day. Wife of Montgomery Village assistant pro Howard Rankin, she lost the first two holes to Marlowe's pars, but played the next 12 holes in one under par. Marlowe is daughter of Woodmont head pro Tony Marlowe.

In a matchup of long hitters, Voss goes against Kenwood's Lisa Abood in today's 9 a.m. opener, followed by Bonnie Johnson of Maryland Golf and Country Club vs. Alice Kelley of Montgomery Village, Rankin vs. Karen Smith of Potomac Valley and Mason vs. Nancy Maunder of Crofton.

Two-time defending champion Mary Ann Battle and former titlist Joan Winchester were unable to play this year because of injuries. The tournament will end Friday.

A Rebounding Voss Takes Md. Amateur

By Dick Slay

Washington Star Staff Writer

It might be mentioned that the worst thing that happened to the other contestants in the Maryland Women's Amateur championship was when Sally Voss bogeyed the last eight holes at Pittsburgh two weeks ago, shot 81, and missed qualifying for the U.S. Women's Open by a stroke.

In other words, if Voss had taken her golf game to the Women's Open this week in Indianapolis she couldn't have been at Woodmont Country Club winning her first Maryland championship yesterday.

All things considered, Voss probably would have preferred being in Indianapolis, gaining national recognition. She strives to be chosen for the U.S. Curtis' Cup team in 1980, which she hopes will be between her first and second year at medical school and quite likely her last opportunity to play serious golf for years.

While critics are beginning to rank Voss as among the finest of the woman strikers of the golf ball in this region's history, and she herself is beginning to think on a national level, she might pause to hear what Nancy Maunder said yesterday.

"Sally has two other players around here as good as she is. Me, for one," Maunder said. "I beat her in the Middle Atlantic last year. And Tina Marlowe for another. It's always been between Sally, Tina and me around here."

This was shortly after Maunder was mauled, 5 and 4, by Voss in the 18-hole final for the Maryland title. Maunder reasoned, apparently, that Voss had caught her on one of her off-days.

"I didn't hit the ball well. I think I was swinging too fast. I don't know why," Maunder said. "Maybe I was nervous."

But if Maunder didn't exactly play her best, Voss was particularly outstanding in this match of 20-year-olds. She was two under par for the 14 holes the final lasted, missed only the ninth green on the front edge, and three-putted the 10th hole for her only bogey.

Schiefelbein, Mack, Youel Win Twice

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)

—Defending champion Jane Mack of Richmond and tournament medalist Kay Schiefelbein of Mount Vernon produced 2 and 1 victories yesterday to lead a field of eight survivors to the quarterfinals of the 53rd Virginia Women's Amateur golf championship.

Mack mounted a late charge to beat Mrs. Jackson Verrell of Alexandria. Schiefelbein's birdie 3 on the 17th hole of the Cascades course closed out Penny Stallings of Roanoke.

Joining Mack in the top bracket of the championship flight were six-time champion Robbye Youel of Charlottesville, 16-year-old Joni Jordan of Lynchburg and 15-year-old Kandi Kessler, of Charlottesville. Youel built a 3-up half-time lead over 1975 winner Nancy Hollenbeck of Arlington and won, 2 and 1.

Others advancing were Sandy Lemon of Covington, Jane Featherstone of Charlottesville and Lynn Silverstein of Reston.

Carney Ousted

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — Medalist Audrey Najjum of Roanoke routed Mrs. Robert Carney of Arlington, 7 and 6, to reach the semifinals of the 23rd Virginia Senior Women's golf championships at the Homestead yesterday.

Betty Wren from Williamsburg, Mrs. Herbert Smith III of Virginia Beach and Mary Alice Rawls of Virginia Beach also won semifinal berths. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Rawls are sisters.

Schiefelbein Gains the Semifinal

HOT SPRINGS, Va. — Kay Schiefelbein of Mount Vernon was to face Sandy Lemon while Reston's Lynn Silverstein was paired with Jane Featherstone in this morning's quarterfinal round of the 53rd Virginia Women's Amateur Golf championship at the Cascades Golf Course.

Schiefelbein, the tournament's medalist, defeated Penny Stallings of Roanoke, 2 and 1, yesterday.

Schiefelbein Duels Mack in

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Defending champion Jane Mack of Richmond and medalist Kay Schiefelbein of Mount Vernon beat the kiddie corps yesterday to gain the finals in the 1978 Virginia Women's Amateur golf championship.

Mack, in the morning quarterfinals, parred the 145-yard, par-3 18th to beat Joni Jordan, 16, of Lynchburg, 1 up. Then Mack beat Kandi Kessler, 15, of Charlottesville on the 19th hole of their afternoon semifinal.

Schiefelbein beat Sandy Lemon of Covington, 6 and 4, then whipped Jane Featherstone of Charlottesville, 5 and 4. Lemon just turned 20.

Kessler made it to the semifinals with a 2 and 1 morning victory over six-time champion Robbye Youel of Charlottesville. Featherstone posted a 4 and 2 quarterfinal victory over Lynn Silverstein of Reston.

old division, finished second in yesterday's championship of the All-American National Junior golf tournament at Whispering Pines Country Club. Randy Griffin of Charlotte, N.C., won the title by defeating Saathoff in a sudden-death playoff.

Smith, Najjum in Final

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Smith III of Virginia Beach and Audrey Najjum of Roanoke won semifinal matches yesterday to move into today's final in the Virginia Women's Senior golf championship. Smith rallied from two down at the ninth hole to beat Betty Wren of Williamsburg, 2 and 1. Najjum built up a six-hole midway lead over Mary Helen Rawls of Suffolk for a 5 and 3 win.

Mack Tops Scheifelbein in Va. Final

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Jane Mack of Richmond shot two-under-par golf in the afternoon round yesterday and defeated medalist Kay Scheifelbein of Mount Vernon, 5 and 4, for her second straight Virginia women's amateur golf championship.

Mack's victory marked the first time back-to-back state women's titles had been won since Robbye King Youell of Charlottesville took her fifth and sixth championships in 1971 and 1972.

It also climaxed a spectacularly successful year for Mack. Her 1978 successes also include a sixth Richmond City championship, the Virginias' stroke competition and the Hermitage Country Club championship.

"It all began on this course the Upper Cascades last year. Once I proved to myself I could win here, the rest of the championships have come much easier," she said.

In the scheduled 36-hole final, Mack sped to a 3-up lead by capturing three of the first four holes, and never trailed although Scheifelbein wasn't out of it until the Richmonder summoned up her best golf in the afternoon round.
