FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1999

■ WDCGA CHAMPIONSHIP: Leland Beckel and Jessica Lewis breezed through their semifinal matches in the Women's District of Columbia Golf Association Amateur Championship at Columbia Country Club, setting up a final between two Columbia members. And on the 75th anniversary of the WDCGA's first tournament, today's championship matchup fits the occasion quite well.

Columbia is one of the five original clubs that made up the WDCGA, one of the first independent women's golf organizations in the country. Beckel, the No. 4-ranked women's amateur golfer in the United States, and Lewis, an 18-year-old in the middle of her best season, will play together for the first time today.

Beckel won her matches, 6 and 5 and 5 and 4, this week before defeating defending champion Nancy Gallagher-Jones, 7 and 6. Beckel birdied four of the 12 holes she played and parred the rest. Beckel was an amateur in 1989 and '90, turned pro, then recovered her amateur status in 1994. She won a WDCGA title in '96 and has competed in three U.S. Women's Amateurs.

So far in 1999, playing primarily in national amateur tournaments—the Eastern, Southern, Western and Trans-National amateurs—Beckel has been in two semifinals and finished no lower than a quarterfinalist. And with her round-of-16 finish in last year's U.S. Women's Amateur she earned an automatic berth into this year's tournament, which will be held next week.

Lewis won her first two rounds, 5 and 4 and 4 and 2, before defeating qualifying medalist and three-time champion Shawn McCullough, 5 and 3, yesterday in the semifinals, shooting par through 15 holes.
